Pursuant to appropriate orders, and after due notice to interested persons, a hearing in this matter was first held on November 7, 1941, before Charles S. Mitchell, a duly designated Examiner of the Division at a hearing room thereof in Clarksburg, West Virginia.[4] District Board 3 and the interveners appeared, and at the conclusion of the hearing waived the preparation and filing of a report by the Examiner. On December 27, 1941, an order was entered (6 F.R. 6808) granting the petition of the interveners for an increase in the prices of the Duffey Mine in Size Groups 2, 5 and 7.

On January 10, 1942, District Board 3 filed a petition to reconsider and modify, or in the alternative, to vacate the order dated December 27, 1941, and to reopen the hearing for the purpose of taking additional evidence, together with a motion to stay the effect and operation of said order. On January 24, 1942, the interveners filed a "Protest" in opposition to the petition and motion of District Board 3. On February 19, 1942, an order was entered (7 F. R. 1136) vacating and setting aside the order, dated December 27, 1941, re-establishing temporarily, pending final disposition of this proceeding, the minimum prices granted by the order dated March 25, 1941, and directing that the hearing be reopened for the purpose of taking additional evidence.

Pursuant to appropriate orders, and after due notice to all interested persons, the reopened hearing was held on April 16, 1942, before D. C. McCurtain, a duly designated examiner of the Division at a hearing room thereof in Clarksburg, West Virginia. All interested persons were afforded an opportunity to be present, adduce evidence, cross-examine witnesses, and otherwise be heard. District Board 3 and the Office of the General Counsel of the Division appeared by representatives. The preparation and filing of the Examiner's report were waived, and the record was thereupon submitted to me for consideration.

On December 27, 1941, an order was entered herein granting the request of the interveners to increase the price of the Duffey Mine in Size Groups 2, 5 and 7. Upon petition of District Board 3, the proceedings herein were reopened for the purpose of adducing additional evidence by order, dated February 19, 1942. The opinion upon which this order is based makes evident that the findings and conclusions therein contained turned in part at least, upon the insufficiency of the evidence offered by District Board 3, the lack of knowledge of its witness and his personal unfamiliarity with all the facts and circumstances pertinent to the production and marketing of coal by the Duffey Mine and the mines of the interveners. As was also indicated in the order of February 19, 1942, the evidence adduced in the first hearing with respect to the impairment of the coordination in prices of the mines operating in the No. 5 Block Seam, including the Duffey Mine, and the competitive mines, including those of the interveners, appeared insufficient and unsatisfactory. This conclusion is confirmed by the testimony of Daniel T. Buckley, Chairman of District Board 3, adduced at the reopened hearing, who, it was asserted, had been unable to testify in the first hearing with the result that no competent testimony was offered on the issue of price coordination. In view thereof, I believe that the evidence adduced at the reopened hearing, considered in the light of the evidence offered at the original hearing, affords a more adequate and complete presentation of the pertinent facts, upon the basis of which a final disposition of the issue presented herewith may be made.

The evidence disclosed that the coal produced at the truck mines in Nicholas County are usually marketed locally in that county for domestic use, predominantly in the mine run size. The principal markets are the towns of Summerville and Richwood. The Duffey Mine, a truck mine operating in the No. 5 Block seam in Nicholas County, West Virginia, and the mines of the interveners, which are also truck mines operating in Nicholas County, in such seams, however, as the Peerless, Coalburg, Eagle and Sewell seams, are located from one-half to 12 miles of each other, and their coals move over the same or similar highways.

The sole issue involved in this proceeding is whether the temporary minimum prices heretofore established in Size Groups 2, 5 and 7, for the coals of the Duffey Mine should be increased to the level of the prices applicable to the coals produced by the mines of the interveners, or whether minimum prices for the Duffey Mine should be maintained at their present level on a parity with the other mines operating in the No. 5 Block Seam in Nicholas County. It is the contention of the interveners that in view of the nature of the market in Nicholas County, truck coals which move into this area are sold on a price rather than a quality basis and accordingly, should be assigned equal prices in order to preserve the fair competitive opportunities of the producers thereof. District Board 3 urges, however, that the classifications and prices originally proposed by it and presently effective in the form of temporary relief, properly relate the Duffey coals with analogous and comparable coals produced by competitive mines operating in the No. 5 Block seam.

The testimony of the witness Campbell at the first hearing indicates that domestic coals are sold in Nicholas County on a price basis with little relation to seam designation, quality, and similar factors, customarily essential to an effective establishment or revision of minimum prices, and that on this account, the establishment of lower prices for the Duffey Mine would afford it an unfair advantage over competitive mines in this area. It appears from the record, however, that the witness was unable to give any specific instance in which his own mine, the Campbell Mine (Mine Index No. 537) for example, had lost any customers to the Duffey Mine by reason of the Duffey Mine's lower minimum prices, which were in effect between March 25, 1941, the date of the order granting such minimum prices, and November 7, 1941, the date of the first hearing herein. Moreover, it appears that sales from the Campbell Mine for the first 10 months of 1941 approximately equalled sales for the first 10 months of 1940, and the total production for 1941 probably exceeded that of 1940. It should be noted also that no evidence was introduced as to the production of the mines of any of the other interveners and that no showing was made as to any losses which such mines might have suffered as a result of competition with the Duffey Mine. The record further discloses that the mines of the interveners have competed with two other truck mines in the No. 5 Block seam, i. e., the Catlette Mine (Mine Index No. 207) of R. C. Catlette and the Young Mine (Mine Index No. 962) of Young & Sons, for which the same lower minimum prices as those requested for the Duffey Mine have been established, and that no petition has ever been filed to equalize the prices of these mines with those applicable to the mines of the interveners.

The witness, Buckley, who as above stated, found it impossible to attend the first hearing at Clarksburg, West Virginia, where it was rescheduled at the request of the interveners who had failed to appear at a previously scheduled hearing in Washington, D. C., presented a detailed explanation of the coordination of the prices of the Duffey Mine with those of other No. 5 Block seam mines and also with other competitive Nicholas County mines, including the mines of the interveners. He testified that the No. 5 Block seam coals are less acceptable for domestic use than the coals produced from the Sewell, Coalburg and similar seams because these coals burn with a much heavier smoke and have a higher ash content. The inferiority of the No. 5 Block seam coals has always been recognized, the witness asserted, and these coals have always been priced lower than the better grade coals in District 3. He pointed out that with the increasing demand for coal, the practice has grown in District 3, for truck mines to build ramps on railroads and to truck coal to these ramps for railroad shipment, and that this practice affects the interstate movement of District 3 coal and makes it necessary for the coordination of these coals with coals of other districts. It was his opinion that an increase in the minimum prices of the coals of the Duffey Mine in excess of the prices applicable to other No. 5 Block seam mines would not only be unfair to the Duffey Mine, but would destroy coordination of these coals for both intra- and inter-district movement.

With respect to the interveners' contention that the truck coals in Nicholas County are sold on a price basis, the witness Buckley maintained that f. o. b. mine prices as such, have little or no significance for consumers who necessarily purchase on a delivered price basis and who consider such other factors as transportation, volatility and burning characteristics in their evaluation of the coal purchased. Since the Duffey Mine operates its own trucks, whereas the mines of interveners sell to independent truckers at the tipple, he was of the opinion that the claimed price advantages of the Duffey Mine were probably due to such factors and not solely due to its lower f. o. b. mine prices, as the interveners contend.

From my consideration of the entire record, I have come to the conclusion that it would be unjust and inequitable to increase the prices of the Size Group 2, 5 and 7 coals of the Duffey Mine without simultaneously increasing the prices for similarly sized coals produced by the other mines operating in the No. 5 Block seam in Nicholas County. I find no evidence in the record to warrant any such increase, nor has any request for such an increase been made. I am not persuaded that the production of the interveners has been curtailed or that the marketing of their coal has been adversely affected in their competition with the coals of the Duffey Mine. Incidentally, it may be noted that there is also no evidence as to transportation costs from the Duffey Mine or from the mines of the interveners to local markets, whereby it might be ascertained whether the claimed advantages of the Duffey Mine are not in fact due to lower transportation costs. On the other hand, the evidence is clear that coals produced from the No. 5 Block seam are inferior in quality to the coals of the Peerless, Coalburg, Sewell, and Eagle seams in Nicholas County, in which the interveners operate, that the No. 5 Block seam coals have always been priced lower, and that an increase in their prices would unduly disrupt the price coordination of these coals with each other and with the coals produced in other districts.

Accordingly, I find that the temporary prices presently effective for the coals of the Duffey Mine in Size Groups 2, 5 and 7[5] reflect their relative market value, properly relate these coals with comparable, competing coals, and preserve fair competitive opportunities. I find further that such minimum prices comply with the standard set forth in section 4 II (a) and (b) of the Act, are necessary to effectuate the purposes thereof, and should be permanently established.[6]

For the foregoing reasons, upon the basis of the entire record in this proceeding, and pursuant to section 4 II (d) and other provisions of the Act;

It is hereby ordered, That effective as of the date hereof, § 323.23 (General prices) is amended by establishing the following minimum prices for the coals of the Duffey Mine (Mine Index No. 1193) of A. B. Holcomb, in Nicholas County, West Virginia, in District 3:

	Size groups
	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
Price	$2.68	$2.58	$2.58	$2.23	$2.23	$2.03	$1.93

It is further ordered, That the petition of intervention of Eugene L. Campbell and others, should be denied in all respects.

Dated: August 12, 1943.

[1] Unnecessary confusion was encountered in the hearing herein with respect to the designation of these parties and the burden of proof in this proceeding. Under the Rules of Practice and Procedure before the Division, these parties are interveners and their burden of proof requires the introduction of evidence with respect to their contention, just as the burden of proof upon petitioner requires evidence in support of its petition.

[2] The interveners are Eugene L. Campbell, H. Baker, R. C. Catlette, B. H. Wiseman, J. A. Neal, Lee Matheny, and Odell & Perkins. On March 19, 1941, the interveners filed an amended petition.

[3] In their petition, the interveners requested an increase of 40 cents per ton in Size Group 7, but at the hearing amended their request to an increase of 20 cents in this Size Group.

[4] The hearing was originally scheduled for October 2, 1941 at Washington, D. C. at which the interveners failed to appear and was accordingly closed, subject to further order of the Director. On October 23, 1941, an order was entered rescheduling the hearing for the time and place, referred to in the text.

[5] No objection has been made to the temporary prices established for the Duffey Mine in Size Groups 1, 3, 4 and 6, which are presently the same as the prices for other No. 5 Block seam mines. These prices shall also be made permanent.

[6] These minimum prices shall also be increased 20 cents per net ton in each size group to give effect to the Order of the Director, dated August 28, 1942, in General Docket No. 21.

PART 328—MINIMUM PRICE SCHEDULE, DISTRICT NO. 8

ORDER OF DIRECTOR

Order of the Director in the matter of the petition of District Board No. 8 for a change of price classifications and minimum prices, for rail and truck shipment, for the coals of certain mines in District No. 8, and to remove all of Leslie County, Kentucky, from District No. 6, Southern Appalachian, and add it to Subdistrict No. 3, Hazard, in District No. 8.

Upon the findings of fact and conclusions of law set forth in the opinion of the Director, filed simultaneously herewith, wherein it appears that request was made for revision of seam and subdistrict designations and the applicable price classifications and effective minimum prices for certan mines in Putnam and Kanawha Counties, West Virginia, and Leslie County, Kentucky and for the removal of Leslie County from Subdistrict 6 (Southern Appalachian) to Subdistrict 3 (Hazard) in District No. 8, and pursuant to section 4 II (d) and other provisions of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937;

It is hereby ordered, That effective as of the date hereof, § 328.11 (Alphabetical list of code members) and § 328.34 (General prices for high volatile coals) are amended by revising the seam designations, price classifications and minimum prices for the mines in Kanawha and Putnam Counties, West Virginia, and the seam designations for the mines in Leslie County, Kentucky, in accordance with the seam designations, price classifications and minimum prices set forth in Supplements R and T, respectively, annexed hereto and made part hereof.

It is further ordered, That the subdistrict designation of Leslie County as Subdistrict 3 (Hazard) in place of Subdistrict 6 (Southern Appalachian) is denied.

It is further ordered, That the petition herein be, and it hereby is granted to the extent set forth herein and in all other respects denied.

Dated: August 12, 1943.

PART 335—MINIMUM PRICE SCHEDULE DISTRICT NO. 15

ORDER DISMISSING PROCEEDINGS

Order dismissing proceedings in the matter of the petitions of Corrigan Coal Co., et al., code members in District No. 15, and District Board No. 15, for revision of the effective minimum prices for the coals for shipment by truck of certain mines in District No. 15, pursuant to section 4 II (d) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937.

These proceedings were instituted upon petitions filed with the Bituminous Coal Division by code members in District 15 and by District Board 15, pursuant to section 4 II (d) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, for revision of effective minimum prices for the coals produced by mines in Adair and Putnam Counties, Missouri, for truck shipment. Orders granting temporary relief have been issued in each of the above-designated dockets. In Docket Nos. A-163, A-245 and A-368, heretofore consolidated by order, dated December 7, 1940, temporary relief was made final, after notice and hearing, by order, dated March 13, 1941 (6 F. R. 1588). In Docket Nos. A-676, A-797, A-919, A-1075 and A-1104, orders were entered granting temporary relief and conditionally providing for final relief (6 F. R. 1592, 2767, 3349, 5873, 6044). In Docket Nos. A-1309-II, A-1337-II, A-1376-II, A-1457, A-1621-II and A-2013-II, orders were entered granting temporary relief pending final disposition of the proceedings in Docket Nos. A-58, A-179 and A-492. Hearings have been held in Docket Nos. 163, A-245 and A-368, as aforesaid, and also in Docket Nos. A-58, A-179 and A-492. No hearings have been held in the remainder of the above-designated dockets. On September 10, 1942, after notice and hearing, a Report of the Examiner was issued in Docket Nos. A-58, A-179 and A-492. No exceptions thereto have been filed.

As above indicated, different forms of temporary or final relief have been granted in various of the above-designated dockets. Since the relief requested in each of said dockets involves the effective minimum prices of various mines in Adair and Putnam Counties, Missouri, and issues related thereto, it appears necessary that similar disposition should be made herein of each of said dockets. In view of the expiration of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937 on August 24, 1943, 12:01 a. m., it is deemed appropriate that the relief heretofore granted in each of said dockets, either temporary, conditionally final, or final, as the case may be, should be vacated or terminated and the proceedings in connection therewith dismissed.

It is, therefore, ordered, That effective August 24, 1943 at 12:01 a. m., the final relief heretofore granted in Docket Nos. A-163, A-245 and A-368 is hereby vacated.

It is further ordered, That effective as of the date and time aforesaid, the temporary and conditionally final relief heretofore granted in Docket Nos. A-676, A-797, A-919, A-1075 and A-1104 is hereby vacated and terminated.

It is further ordered, That effective as of the date and time aforesaid, the temporary relief heretofore granted in Docket Nos. A-58, A-179, A-492, A-1309-II, A-1337-II, A-1376-II, A-1457, A-1621-II and A-2013-II is hereby terminated.

It is further ordered, That effective as of the date and time aforesaid, the proceedings in each of the dockets, hereinabove designated, are hereby dismissed.[1]

Dated: August 14, 1943.

Chapter VIII—Coal Mines Administration

FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY FOR OPERATIONS

The "Regulations for the Operation of Coal Mines under Government Control" issued by the Secretary of the Interior on May 19, 1943, as amended (8 F.R. 6655, 10712) are further amended as follows:

1. Paragraph (a) of § 801.22 is amended by deleting the last sentence thereof.

2. There is hereby added two new sections designated §§ 801.25 and 801.26 to read, respectively, as follows:

§ 801.25 Interim procedure for confirmation of financial responsibility by mining company—(a) Execution and delivery of instrument of agreement and certification. Any mining company, by a duly authorized officer or agent, may execute and deliver to the Administrator an instrument of agreement and certification (in the form to be prescribed by the Administrator) confirming (as hereinafter provided) the sole financial responsibility of the mining company for its operations. Such mining company may, however, as hereinafter set forth, reserve to itself the right to assert claims for liability against the Government with respect to damage allegedly resulting from any specific direction or order of the Coal Mines Administration. The operating manager for the coal mines of any mining company for which such instrument of agreement and certification is in effect shall not be subject to the requirements as to financial transactions and current accountings set forth in § 801.26. The instruments of agreement and certification may be terminated by the mining company at any time upon ten days' written notice, as hereinafter provided.

By said instrument of agreement and certification (subject to reservation of rights to assert claims for damage allegedly resulting from any specific directions or orders as provided in paragraph (c) of this section) the mining company shall:

(1) Agree and confirm as its understanding that the operations of the coal mines of the mining company, and all acts and omissions of the operating manager, from the date of the beginning of Government possession and control to the effective date of termination of the instrument, have been and will continue to be for the financial account of the mining company and not for the account of the United States; and

[1] Docket Nos. A-1267-II, A-1559-II, A-1889-II and A-1914-II, which also concern the revision of effective minimum prices of certain mines in Adair and Putnam Counties, Missouri, were dismissed by Order of the Director, dated July 24, 1943, (8 F.R. 10514).

(2) Adopt and ratify all acts and omissions of the operating manager in the operation of the coal mines of the mining company during such period, and agree that the Government and its officials shall not be subject to any claims by the mining company or others by reason of the possession and control of the coal mines of the mining company during such period; and

(3) Certify that during such period the mining company will not make any disposition of its funds or incur any indebtedness which will impair the working capital of the company so as thereby to jeopardize maintenance of the maximum possible production of coal at its coal mines.

(b) Effect of such instrument. Subject to the reservation of rights as provided in paragraph (c) of this section, the execution and delivery of such an instrument of agreement and certification to the Administrator shall be deemed to constitute a waiver by the Government of all rights which it may have to an accounting with respect to all operations from the beginning of the period of Government possession and control to the effective date of termination of such instrument, and a discharge of the operating manager from any liability to the Government with respect to all actions taken by him as such during that period.

(c) Reservation of right to assert against the government claims for damage alleged to result from specific directions or orders. A mining company which has executed and delivered such an instrument of agreement and certification may, nevertheless, reserve to itself the right to assert a claim for damage alleged to have been suffered, or threatened to be suffered, by it as the direct result of a specific direction or order of the Administrator, as hereinafter provided:

(1) As to any specific direction or order which has been issued prior to the date of issuance of these amended regulations, such reservation of right may be made by the mining company's transmitting to the Administrator, together with its executed instrument of agreement and certification, a writing, signed by a duly authorized officer or agent which shall:

(i) Specify the particular direction or order of the Administrator which the mining company asserts directly resulted in damage to the mining company,

(ii) Specify the particular action taken pursuant to such direction or order, which action would not have been taken except for such direction or order and which action, it is claimed, resulted in damage to the mining company, and

(iii) Specify the nature of the damage asserted to have been so caused and the amount thereof,

Upon such transmission to the Administrator of such written specifications, the mining company shall be deemed to have reserved all rights to assert a claim for damage alleged to have been suffered or threatened during the period of Government possession and control as the direct result of compliance with the specified direction or order, and the Government shall be deemed to have reserved all rights to assert by way of offset against any such claim of liability the benefits resulting to the mining company from Government possession and control, and to assert any other defense against such claim.

Failure by the mining company to transmit to the Administrator such a writing, together with its executed instrument of agreement and certification (unless upon request the Administrator shall extend the time for the transmission of the writing for good cause shown) shall be deemed to constitute acquiescence by the mining company that the consequences of all specific directions and orders issued by the Administrator prior to the date of the issuance of these amended regulations shall be covered by clauses i and ii of the instrument of agreement and certification.

(2) As to any specific direction or order which may be issued subsequent to the date of issuance of these amended regulations, such reservation of right may be made by the mining company's filing a timely protest with the Administrator, as follows:

If, upon the issuance by the Administrator of a specific direction or order to an operating manager for the coal mines of a mining company, the mining company desires to reserve the right to assert a claim for damage alleged to be threatened to be suffered by it as the direct result of compliance with such specific direction or order, then the mining company shall protest such direction or order to the Administrator (as hereinafter provided), and in such written protest shall:

(i) Specify the particular direction or order of the Administrator which the mining company asserts will directly result in damage to the mining company if complied with,

(ii) Specify the action which, it is asserted, is required by such direction or order to be taken, which action would not be taken except for such direction or order, and which action, it is claimed, will result in damage to the mining company.

(iii) Specify the nature of the damage which the mining company asserts will be suffered by it as the result of compliance with such direction or order, and an estimate of the amount of such asserted threatened damage, and

(iv) Protest the specified direction or order.

Such protest shall be dispatched as aforesaid to the Administrator, Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C., by registered mail or telegram within five days of the receipt by the operating manager of the direction or order protested.

Upon the dispatch of such a protest as above provided, the effectiveness of the direction or order, as it applies to the operating manager for the coal mines of the protesting mining company, shall be suspended pending further directions of the Administrator. If thereafter the Administrator, in writing, confirms the effectiveness of the protested direction or order as it applies to such operating manager, such operating manager shall forthwith carry into effect the protested direction or order, with any modifications made by the Administrator in his confirmation thereof.

Thereupon the mining company shall be deemed to have reserved all rights to assert a claim for damage alleged to have been suffered by it during the remainder of the period of Government possession and control as the direct result of compliance with such protested direction or order, and the Government shall be deemed to have reserved all rights to assert by way of offset against any such claim of liability the benefits resulting to the mining company from Government possession and control, and to assert any other defense against such claim.

In all other respects the provisions of the instrument of agreement and certification shall continue in full force and effect and the operating manager for the coal mines of the protesting mining company shall continue not to be subject to the requirements as to financial transactions and current accountings set forth in § 801.26. The operating manager, however, shall furnish to the Administrator, on his request, such pertinent information and data relating to the effect of compliance with the protested specific direction or order as the Administrator may request.

Failure by the mining company to file such a protest within the five days mentioned (unless upon request the Administrator shall extend the time for the filing of the protest for good cause shown) shall be deemed to constitute acquiescence by the mining company that the consequences of the said specific direction or order shall be covered by clauses i. and ii. of the instrument of agreement and certification.

In the event that the Administrator shall expressly require that a specific direction or order issued by him shall be complied with prior to the lapse of the five-day interval for transmitting a protest as above provided, then the operating manager shall comply forthwith with said specific direction or order and the mining company may effect a reservation of right by transmitting, within ten days following the issuance of such express requirement, a writing in accordance with the specifications contained in subparagraph (1) above.

(d) Termination of effectiveness of instrument of agreement and certification. Any mining company having executed an instrument of agreement and certification, as above provided, may terminate the effectiveness thereof as to all future acts performed by, or omissions of, the operating manager in the operation of the properties of the mining company, by transmitting written notice of such termination, by telegram or registered mail, to the Administrator, Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C., such termination to become effective ten days after the receipt of such notice by the Administrator.

In the event of such termination, the Administrator may assume that the mining company claims or reserves the right to claim that all operations from that date forward during the remainder of the period of Government possession and control of the mining property are for the account of the Government and accordingly that the operating manager for the United States and the mining company are accountable to the Government for their custodianship and disposition of proceeds from operations accrued during the balance of such period of Government possession and control.

Upon and after the effective date of termination of the instrument of agreement and certification, as herein provided, the operating manager for the coal mines of the mining company terminating such instrument shall be subject to the requirements as to financial transactions and current accountings set forth in § 801.26.

(e) Non-acquiescence in claim of liability, and non-waiver of right to claim liability except as specifically waived. None of the provisions of this section or of § 801.26 and no action that shall be taken pursuant to any of them, shall be deemed to constitute acquiescence by the Administrator in any claim that operations during the period of Government possession and control are for the financial account of the Government, or acquiescence in any other claim that the Government or any of its officials are subject to any liability to the mining company or any other person or persons with respect to any such action, or otherwise. None of the provisions of this section or of § 801.26, nor any action taken pursuant to any of them, shall be deemed to constitute a waiver by the mining company of any right which it may have to assert a claim against the United States except as specifically waived by the execution and delivery of an instrument of agreement and certification (subject to reservation of right to assert claims for damage alleged to result from specific directions or orders, as hereinabove provided).

(f) Inapplicability of certain provisions of § 801.40 to mining companies executing an instrument of agreement and certification remaining effective at termination of government possession and control. Where an instrument of agreement and certification has been executed and delivered by a mining company and remains in effect on the date Government possession and control of its properties is terminated by the Administrator pursuant to § 801.40 of these regulations, the company will be deemed to have satisfactorily complied with the requirements of that section for the execution and delivery of Instrument No. 1 or Instrument No. 2 therein described, as the case may be.

(g) Furnishing of information and compliance. Nothing in this section or in § 801.26 shall be deemed or construed to impair in any way the right of the Administrator from time to time to direct and require the furnishing of information pertinent to the operations of any mining company during the period of Government possession and control, having regard to the purposes of such possession and control as set forth in § 801.4 of these regulations, or the right of the Administrator to enforce compliance with orders or directions issued by him. Nor is anything in this section or in § 801.26 to be deemed to limit in any way the right of the Administrator at any time to exercise his lawful authority to any degree or to any extent as circumstances arise which, in his opinion, necessitate the exercise of such authority in order to effectuate the purposes of Government possession and control as set forth in § 801.4 of these regulations.

§ 801.26 Requirements as to financial transactions and current accountings. The operating manager for the coal mines of any mining company for which an instrument of agreement and certification as provided in § 801.25 is not in effect shall not make major disbursements of an extraordinary nature or dividend payments and shall not incur indebtedness other than in the course of normal business unless:

(a) At least ten days prior to the making of such disbursement or payment or the incurring of such indebtedness, the operating manager shall have filed with the Administrator a notice of intention to make such disbursement or payment or to incur such indebtedness, specifying in detail the amount and nature of and the necessity for the proposed disbursement, payment, or indebtedness, and the effect thereof upon the preservation by the mining company of a working capital sufficient to enable it to maintain maximum possible production; and

(b) The Administrator shall have advised the operating manager that he has no objection thereto.

The Administrator may at any time request or direct such operating manager to take whatever steps may be appropriate with respect to full and periodic accountings of the operation of the coal mines; inventories of all real and personal property, franchises, rights, facilities, funds and other assets used in connection with the operation of the coal mines of the mining company and the distribution and sale of its products; the withdrawal of private management from further participation in the operation of the coal mines; and other pertinent matters. Upon the Administrator's request or direction, such operating manager shall furnish to him such data and information as he may request or direct pertaining to the period of operation under Government possession and control and a fair evaluation of the results thereof; the data requested may include such information for current periods as is specified in § 801.40 for the entire period of Government possession and control. PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order S-369]

SCOTT-KELLY FURNITURE CO.

Scott-Kelly Furniture Company, a corporation, located at 92 N. Main Street, Memphis, Tennessee, is engaged in the retail furniture business. Subsequent to August 18, 1942, said corporation sold and delivered new metal heating equipment, as defined in Limitation Order L–79, on orders which bore no preference ratings, or concerning which signed statements from the purchasers, as required by said order, had not been furnished. At the time of these sales the Scott-Kelly Furniture Company, through its officers, had knowledge of the provisions of Limitation Order L–79, and said sales constituted wilful violations of that order.

These violations of Limitation Order L–79 have hampered and impeded the war effort of the United States by diverting scarce materials to uses not authorized by the War Production Board. In view of the foregoing: It is hereby ordered, That:

§ 1010.369 Suspension Order No. S–369. (a) Scott-Kelly Furniture Company, its successors or assigns, shall not, directly or indirectly, purchase, accept deliveries of, sell, deliver, or otherwise deal in, new metal heating equipment, as defined in Limitation Order L–79, either as complete units or in the form of parts, except as specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(b) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Scott-Kelly Furniture Company, its successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition, or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, except in so far as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(c) This order shall take effect on August 14, 1943, and shall expire on December 14, 1943.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order S-402]

UNDLIN STORE FIXTURE CO.

Ragnar Undlin, doing business as Undlin Store Fixture Company, in San Francisco, California, is a general contractor and a manufacturer and installer of store fixtures. On or about December 7, 1942, he violated Conservation Order L–41, by commencing construction work on a saloon located at 1718 Fillmore Street, San Francisco, California, at an estimated cost in excess of $2,000, without authorization of the War Production Board. The nature of Mr. Undlin's business was such as to require him to become acquainted with the provisions of Conservation Order L–41, and his failure to comply with that order must be considered wilful.

This violation of Conservation Order L–41 has hampered and impeded the war effort of the United States by diverting materials to uses unauthorized by the War Production Board. In view of the foregoing; It is hereby ordered, That:

§ 1010.402 Suspension Order No. S–402. (a) Deliveries of material to Ragnar Undlin, individually, or doing business as Undlin Store Fixture Company, his successors or assigns, shall not be accorded priority over deliveries under any other contract or order and no preference ratings shall be assigned, applied or extended to any such deliveries by means of Preference Rating Certificates, Preference Rating Orders, General Preference Orders, or any other orders or regulations of the War Production Board except as specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(b) No allocation to Ragnar Undlin, individually, or doing business as Undlin Store Fixture Company, his successors or assigns, shall be made of any material, the supply or distribution of which is governed by any order of the War Production Board, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Ragnar Undlin, his successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, except in so far as the same may be inconsistent with the terms hereof.

(d) This order shall take effect on August 14, 1943, and shall expire on November 14, 1943.

Issued this 7th day of August 1943.

Section 1268.1 Allocation Order M–167 is hereby revoked, effective September 1, 1943. Capryl alcohol is one of the higher aliphatic alcohols subject to Allocation Order M–344, and applications and certificates with respect to use and delivery of capryl alcohol to be made on and after September 1, 1943 shall be filed in accordance with the provisions of Allocation Order M–344.

However the use of Bessemer or open-hearth steel in the manufacture of casing and tubing shall be optional with the manufacturer and no purchaser may specify the type of steel to be used on his order.

(e) Exceptions. (1) The provisions of paragraphs (c) and (d) shall not apply to any oil country tubular goods:

(i) The production, fabrication, delivery or acceptance of which is specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board, or

(ii) For which an order was entered prior to April 30, 1943, provided shipment of the entire order is made on or before June 30, 1943, or

(iii) Oil well casing produced by electric fusion welding.

(2) The provisions of paragraph (c) shall not prohibit:

(i) Waiver by the purchaser of any of the inspection or test requirements of the specifications prescribed in paragraph (c), or

(iv) The production, fabrication, delivery, or acceptance of any oil country tubular goods having thread dimensions or types of joints other than those prescribed in paragraph (c), provided the purchaser endorses on the purchase order a statement signed by an authorized official, either manually or as provided in Priorities Regulation No. 7, substantially as follows:

> The special threads or special types of joints specified in this order are necessary to the successful installation and operation of the pipe covered by said order, and none of the standard thread dimensions or types of joints specified in Schedule 9 to Limitation Order L–211 issued by the War Production Board, will meet the service requirements to which said pipe is to be applied.

PART 3118—CONSUMERS' GOODS INVENTORIES

[Interpretation 2 of Limitation Order L–219]

The following interpretation is issued with respect to Limitation Order L–219.

1. When the "sales trend ratio" and the "sales projection ratio" must be used. Beginning with the fourth quarterly period of his 1943 inventory year every controlled merchant must use the sales trend ratio and the sales projection ratio in computing his normal inventory, as prescribed in Appendix A attached to Order L–219.

2. Segregation of footwear by merchants whose receipts are restricted.

Question: Suppose the receipts of a controlled merchant who sells footwear are restricted during his second quarter which began May 1, 1943. In making his computations of receipts during June and July of 1943, may he exclude the footwear he received during those months?

Answer: No. Paragraph (i) (2) of the order permits a merchant to exclude footwear from his computations only if he does so consistently in his base period and current calculations. The merchant in question could not exclude footwear from his base period or other calculations in computing his normal inventory for the second quarter beginning May 1, or in calculating his allowable receipts for that quarter, since the order only permits exclusion of footwear on or after June 1. Hence, he may not exclude from his computations footwear which he received during June and July of 1943. However, he may exclude footwear in all his computations for the third quarter of 1943 since he can then do so consistently. For the same reasons, a merchant whose receipts are restricted during his second quarter which began April 1, 1943, may not exclude from his computations footwear he received during June 1943.

3. Renumbering of Forms PD–689 and PD–690 to be Forms WPB–1620 and WPB–1621, respectively. The reference in paragraph (a) (9) of Order L–219 to Forms PD–689 and PD–690 means, respectively, Forms WPB–1620 and WPB–1621, which are the new numbers which have been assigned to those forms.

PART 3270—CONTAINERS

STEEL SHIPPING DRUMS

§ 3270.15 Limitation Order L–197—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Drum" means any single walled cylindrical or bilged container with a capacity of 110 gallons or less (including but not limited to buckets, kits and pails) constructed wholly of steel. The term shall not be deemed to refer to cans, or high and low pressure gas steel cylinders, or to any container not susceptible of commercial use in the transportation and storage of commodities.

(2) "Used drum" means a drum which has been partially, or wholly filled with any product or commodity, for storage or shipping purposes, in the course of business.

(3) "New drum" means any drum which is not a used drum.

(4) "Naval stores products" means those materials which are directly derived from the oleo-resinous secretions of various species of coniferous trees; the term includes resins and liquid terpens, both crude and refined, special materials derived from these, and such related products as tall oil and pine tars.

(b) Restrictions on use. (1) No person shall use any drum, new or used, for packing any product which he had not packed in drums prior to September 14, 1942.

(2) No person shall pack in a drum any product listed without an asterisk in Schedule A.

(3) No person shall pack in a new drum any product listed with a single asterisk in Schedule A.

(4) Before October 1, 1943, no person shall pack in a new drum any product listed with a double asterisk in Schedule A. On and after that date, no person shall pack any product listed with a double asterisk in Schedule A in a new drum unless such drum has a capacity of not less than 2 nor more than 6 gallons and is constructed of 28 gauge steel or lighter, and then only provided that he does not, in any quarter, pack in drums of such capacity a greater proportion of his total pack of a product than he packed in drums of such capacity in the corresponding quarter of 1941.

(5) Nothing in this order shall prevent the purchase of ends or other parts or accessories for drums. The affixing of ends or other parts to used drums shall not cause them to be regarded as new drums.

(6) No person shall sell or deliver any empty drum which has been used for packing an edible product, and which is capable of being reused for the same purpose, if he knows or has reason to believe that it will be used for packing inedible products.

(7) No person shall sell or deliver any empty drum which has been used for packing naval stores products, and which is capable of being reused for the same purpose, if he knows or has reason to believe that it will be used for packing anything other than naval stores products.

(c) General exceptions. (1) Nothing in this order shall apply to the use of drums for storage purposes by any person having less than 5 drums in use for all purposes.

(2) The restrictions on use specified in paragraph (b) of this order shall not apply to:

(i) Drums which are used for the sale and delivery of commodities to (a) the Army or Navy of the United States, (b) the Maritime Commission, (c) the Panama Canal, (d) the War Shipping Administration, (e) any agency of the United States Government, for the account of any foreign country, under the provisions of the Act of Congress of March 11, 1941, entitled "An Act to Promote the Defense of the U. S. (Lend-Lease Act)," (f) Any point outside of the forty-eight states of the United States and the District of Columbia, in accordance with a license from the Office of Economic Warfare,

(ii) Drums which are used for the sale or delivery of commodities which are to be physically incorporated into ships, guns, tanks, military vehicles, aircraft, ammunition, armament, weapons, gunsighting devices and radio and sound equipment;

(iii) Drums which are used for the sale or delivery of commodities which are to be used for maintenance, repair or operating supplies for ships.

(3) The provisions of this order shall not apply:

(i) To drums constructed wholly of heavier than 14 gauge steel;

(ii) To used drums constructed wholly of lighter than 23 gauge steel having a capacity of 25 gallons or more.

(d) Miscellaneous provisions—(1) Applicability of priorities regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the priorities regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(2) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(3) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be filed on Form PD–717, in triplicate.

(4) Communications. All communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Containers Division, Washington 25, D. C. Ref: L–197.

(3) "Distributor" means any wholesaler, jobber, retailer or other person who in the regular course of his business sells softwood plywood.

(b) Deliveries of softwood plywood. (1) On or before June 15, 1943, and on or before the 15th day of each succeeding calendar month, every producer shall file, in quadruplicate, a report on Form WPB-2531 showing his production and delivery schedule for softwood plywood for the calendar month immediately following such filing.

(2) On and after July 1, 1943, each producer shall deliver softwood plywood only in accordance with the schedule filed pursuant to paragraph (b) (1), as the same may be changed by the War Production Board.

(c) Placing and acceptance of orders for softwood plywood. (1) On and after July 1, 1943, no person shall place an order with a producer, and no producer shall accept an order, for any softwood plywood unless accompanied by a specific authorization of the War Production Board. Such authorization may specify the manufacturer with whom the order may be placed. Applications for authorization shall be made to the War Production Board on Form WPB-2532 by the person who will use the softwood plywood or by a distributor who purchases it for inventory. Delivery shall be made in accordance with the terms of such order as authorized notwithstanding any preference rating which other orders may bear or any directive, order or regulation of the War Production Board, unless specific exception to this order is made therein.

(3) If it becomes impossible for any producer to maintain production and delivery of softwood plywood in accordance with any schedule approved by the War Production Board he shall notify the War Production Board by letter in triplicate, and unless otherwise directed by the War Production Board he shall postpone production and delivery only to the extent required by the circumstances causing his failure to maintain production and delivery as reported to the War Production Board.

(d) Other allocation and scheduling action. With respect to softwood plywood, the War Production Board may, notwithstanding any order, preference rating, directive, rule or regulation of the War Production Board:

(2) Direct changes in the delivery or production schedule of a producer;

(3) Allocate orders placed with one producer to another producer;

(4) Revoke any authorization to place an order granted by it pursuant to this order; or

(5) Take such other action as it deems necessary with respect to the placing of orders for, or the production or delivery of, softwood plywood.

(e) Application of other orders and regulations. This order does not relieve any person from complying with the provisions of any other order, directive, rule or regulation of the War Production Board, except as specifically provided in this order.

(f) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

In addition any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(i) Intra-company deliveries. The prohibitions and restrictions contained in this order shall apply not only to deliveries to other persons, including affiliates and subsidiaries, but also to deliveries from one branch, division, or section of a single business enterprise to another branch, division or section of the same or any other business enterprise under common ownership or control; and each such affiliate, subsidiary, branch, division or section shall for the purposes of this order be deemed a separate person.

(b) Unrestricted consumption of pulp, paper and paperboard in the manufacture of certain converted products. Any converter may consume any quantity of pulp, paper and paperboard in the manufacture and assembly of any converted product shown on List A of this order.

(c) Restriction on consumption of pulp, paper and paperboard in the manufacture of certain named converted products. (1) No converter shall consume in the manufacture or assembly of any converted product on List B, List C or List D of this order any quantity, in tons, of pulp, paper and paperboard greater than the quantity ascertained:

(i) For the two months period from August 1, 1943 to October 1, 1943, by applying two thirds of the percentage figure for each such converted product, as shown in paragraph (c) (2) of this order, to the quantity, in tons, of pulp, paper and paperboard consumed by such person in the manufacture or assembly of such product during the third calendar quarter of 1942;

(ii) For the final quarter of 1943, and for each calendar quarter thereafter, by applying the entire percentage figure for each such converted product, as shown in paragraph (c) (2) of this order, to the quantity, in tons, of pulp, paper and paperboard consumed by such person in the manufacture or assembly of such product during the corresponding calendar quarter of 1942.

(2) The following percentage figures shall be used for the calculations described in the preceding paragraph (c) (1):

	Percent
(i) List B products	110
(ii) List C products	100
(iii) List D products	80

(3) From and after August 1, 1943 no converter shall put into process any quantity of pulp, paper or paperboard for the manufacture or assembly of any converted product named on List E of this order, except that pulp, paper and paperboard in the converter's possession or in transit to the converter on August 1, 1943, expressly acquired for the manufacture of any converted product named on List E of this order, may be put into process provided all manufacturing or assembling operations are completed by October 31, 1943, at which time all production activities in connection with converted products named on List E shall cease.

(d) Restrictions on consumption of pulp, paper and paperboard in the manufacture of converted products not specifically listed. (1) No converter shall during the period from August 1, 1943 to October 1, 1943 consume in the manufacture or assembly of any converted product not named on List A, List B, List C, List D or List E of this order, any quantity, in tons, of pulp, paper and paperboard greater than 33⅓ percent of the tonnage consumed in the manufacture or assembly of such converted product during the first six months of 1943.

(2) No converter shall during the final calendar quarter of 1943, or during any calendar quarter thereafter consume in the manufacture or assembly of any converted product not named on List A, List B, List C, List D or List E of this order, any quantity, in tons, of pulp, paper and paperboard greater than 70 percent of the tonnage consumed in the manufacture or assembly of such converted product during the corresponding calendar quarter of 1942.

(3) In the instance of any converted products not named on any of the lists of this order, the following processes and operations shall not be considered as processing:

(i) Cutting or trimming to a different size, when such cutting or trimming is performed as part of any established finishing room procedure and provided the paper or paperboard so processed is not intended for a use which serves to defeat the purpose of this order. (Example: The cutting of plain paper to a given size for use as a tray cover, the manufacture of which is curtailed by this order).

(ii) Punching or corner cutting.

(iii) Packaging if such is the only form changing operation.

(iv) Super-calendering.

(v) Laminating.

(vi) Coating, friction calendering, flint glazing, plating and embossing.

(vii) Collating and binding.

(viii) Printing, when such contributes to the functional value of the product to such a degree that the product would be incapable of performing the use intended if not printed. (Examples: advertising streamers, posters, menus, programs, timetables, sheet music, patterns, decalcomania transfers, checks).

(e) Alternate method of calculating quotas. As an alternate method of calculating quarterly quotas for any converted product, any person may, after the filing of a notice in writing with the War Production Board, elect to apply the percentages established by paragraphs (c) and (d) (2) of this order to one fourth of his total yearly consumption of pulp, paper and paperboard in such product during 1942. When such election has been made and the required notice in writing has been given to the War Production Board, the method of determining quotas may not thereafter be changed.

(f) Converter's responsibility in determining coverage of this order. It shall be the duty of each converter to determine in the first instance which of his products are included among the converted products referred to in this order. In case of doubt he may apply to the War Production Board in writing describing the product in question, for a specific ruling determining whether or not the same is so included. The War Production Board may of its own motion in any case, by telegram or letter, issue a specific ruling determining whether or not a particular product of a particular converter is so included.

(g) Inventory restrictions. No person shall knowingly deliver to any converter, and no converter shall accept delivery of, any quantity of pulp, paper or paperboard for the manufacture or assembly of any converted product included in this order if the inventory in the hands of the converter intended for such converted product, is, or will by virtue of such acceptance become, either in excess of two car loads or if in excess of two car loads greater than 45 days' supply, on the basis of either the converter's average rate of consumption for such converted product for the preceding quarter or his average rate of consumption for such converted product as projected for the then current quarter.

(h) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(i) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(j) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provisions of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(k) Communications. All communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Pulp and Paper Division, Washington 25, D. C. Ref: M-241-a.

DOMESTIC COOKING APPLIANCES AND DOMESTIC HEATING STOVES

§ 3288.66 Supplementary General Limitation Order No. L-23-c—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Domestic cooking appliances" means gas ranges, cook stoves, and hot plates for household use; coal and wood ranges and cook stoves (including laundry stoves except water jacketed and permanently built-in coil types) for household use; fuel oil ranges, cook stoves, table stoves and hot plates for household use; combination ranges (including dual oven types, ranges with built-in kitchen heaters, and bungalow types) except electrical, for household use; camp and trailer stoves for cooking purposes; fuel oil conversion range burners; and drum and portable ovens.

(2) "Domestic heating stoves" means any above the floor devices (except electric) for the direct heating of the space in and adjacent to that in which the device is located, designed for use without heat distribution pipes or ducts, and includes, but is not limited to, circulating, radiant and portable heaters and trailer and caboose stoves. Domestic heating stoves shall not include floor or wall furnaces.

(3) "New domestic cooking appliances and domestic heating stoves" means any such appliances or stoves which have never been used by an ultimate consumer.

(4) "Accessories" means aprons, thermostats, high closets, high shelves, clocks, broiler pans other than iron or steel, storage compartments, thermometers, and any other instruments, attachments, or appurtenances (except top-burner lighters) for domestic cooking appliances not essential to any of the following three major cooking operations: top burner cooking, oven baking and oven broiling.

(5) "Steel coal or wood range or cook stove" means a coal or wood range or cook stove in which the total weight of steel is 20% or more of the total weight of metal of the unit.

(6) "Fuel oil" means any liquid petroleum product commonly known as fuel oil including Numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6, Bunker C, Diesel oil, kerosene, range oil, gas oil or any other liquid petroleum product used for the same purposes as the above designated grades.

(7) "Base period" means the 12 months period from July 1, 1940 to June 30, 1941.

(8) "Factory sales value" means the aggregate value of shipments of domestic cooking appliances and domestic heating stoves.

(9) "Class A producers" means those manufacturers of domestic cooking appliances and/or domestic heating stoves whose factory sales value for the twelve months ending June 30, 1941, including both domestic sales and exports, was $2,000,000 or more.

(10) "Class B producers" means those manufacturers of domestic cooking appliances and/or domestic heating stoves whose factory sales value for the twelve months ending June 30, 1941, including both domestic sales and exports, was less than $2,000,000 and who are not located in Labor Area Group I, as defined from time to time by the War Manpower Commission.

(11) "Class C producers" means those manufacturers of domestic cooking appliances and/or domestic heating stoves whose factory sales value for the twelve months ending June 30, 1941, including both domestic sales and exports, was less than $2,000,000 and who are not located in Labor Area Group I, as defined from time to time by the War Manpower Commission.

In authorizing the manufacture of domestic cooking appliances and domestic heating stoves the War Production Board will, in general, authorize Class C producers to produce the types they normally fabricate up to 100% of their base period unit production before authorizing the manufacture of any of the same types by Class A and Class B producers; Provided, however, That during the period from July 1, 1943 to June 30, 1944 the total number of units of each type authorized for production by all producers will not exceed the percentages of total unit production specified in Schedule A attached.

(3) No producer shall manufacture, fabricate or assemble any domestic cooking appliances (other than combination ranges) or domestic heating stoves, except in those fuel types which he manufactured, fabricated or assembled during the base period; but this provision shall not apply to such appliances or stoves manufactured, fabricated or assembled for delivery to or for the account of the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, or War Shipping Administration of the United States, or for use in a building or project authorized under Preference Rating Order P-55-b or rated under Preference Rating Order P-55 or any Order in the P-19 series.

(4) No producer shall manufacture, fabricate, or assemble any domestic cooking appliances, except those listed in Schedule B attached, and then only in accordance with the maximum weights, numbers of models or sizes and description of types set forth in such table; and no person shall manufacture, fabricate or assemble any accessories or incorporate them into any domestic cooking appliances.

(6) No producer shall

(i) Use any iron or steel in the production of cover tops or lids to cover the cooking surfaces of domestic cooking appliances when not in use; or

(8) No producer shall manufacture, fabricate or assemble any steel coal or wood range or cook stove who did not manufacture, fabricate or assemble such ranges or stoves during the period July 1, 1940 to July 29, 1943.

(c) Exceptions. (1) Nothing in paragraph (b) (4) or (b) (5) shall restrict the manufacture, fabrication or assembly of trailer or caboose stoves.

(2) Domestic cooking appliances or domestic heating stoves which do not conform to the provisions of paragraph (b) (4) or (b) (5) may be manufactured, fabricated or assembled to specifications for the account of or for delivery to the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration of the United States, or to specifications for use in a building or project authorized under Preference Rating Order P-55-b or rated under Preference Rating Order P-55, or any Order in the P-19 series: Provided, That a prior request be made to the War Production Board, Plumbing and Heating Division, Washington 25, D. C., by letter, and approved in writing.

(d) Sales restricted to rationed or rated transactions. On and after September 1, 1943 no person may sell or deliver a new domestic cooking appliance or a new domestic heating stove unless the transaction either (1) is rated A-10 or better or (2) is made pursuant to a rationing order of the Office of Price Administration.

facture or shipment of repair parts for domestic cooking appliances or domestic heating stoves.

(g) Applicability of priorities regulations. All persons and transactions affected by this order are subject to all applicable provisions of the priorities regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(h) Applicability of other orders. Insofar as any other orders heretofore or hereafter issued by the War Production Board limit the use of any material in the production of domestic cooking appliances or domestic heating stoves to a greater extent than the restrictions imposed by this order, the restrictions of such other order shall govern, unless otherwise specified therein.

(i) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be filed on Form WPB–1477 (formerly PD–500) with the field office of the War Production Board for the district in which is located the plant or branch of the appellant to which the appeal relates.

PART 3299—HIGHER ALIPHATIC ALCOHOLS

[Allocation Order M–344]

The fulfillment of the requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of higher aliphatic alcohols for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3299.1 Allocation Order M–344—(a) Definitions.

(1) "Higher aliphatic alcohol" means any one of the following:

(i) Capryl alcohol (known also as "methyl hexyl carbinol" and "2-octanol").

(ii) Octanol (2-ethyl hexanol).

(iii) Normal octanol (normal octyl alcohol).

(iv) Normal decanol (normal decyl alcohol).

(v) Lauryl alcohol (any mixture of normal aliphatic alcohols containing more than 50% normal dodecanol).

(vi) Mixed higher aliphatic alcohols (any mixture of higher aliphatic alcohols containing less than 50% dodecanol and more than 80% of normal octanol, normal decanol, and lauryl alcohol, combined).

(2) "Producer" means any person who produces or refines higher aliphatic alcohol.

(3) "Distributor" means any person who buys higher aliphatic alcohol for resale as such.

(b) Restrictions on producers and distributors. On and after September 1, 1943, no producer or distributor shall use or deliver higher aliphatic alcohol, except as specifically authorized in writing by War Production Board, upon application pursuant to Appendix A. Exception is made in the next paragraph for toll deliveries, and small order deliveries are covered by paragraph (f).

(c) Toll arrangements. In the case of any toll arrangement where raw materials are converted into higher aliphatic alcohol by another person for the owner of the materials, the owner shall be considered the producer, and the higher aliphatic alcohol may be delivered to him without restriction.

(d) Customers to file use certificates with purchase orders. (1) Each person ordering higher aliphatic alcohol from a producer or distributor for delivery on or after September 1, 1943, shall furnish a use certificate pursuant to Appendix B with his purchase order, unless he is ordering a small quantity as provided in paragraph (e).

(2) Each person furnishing a use certificate shall use or dispose of the higher aliphatic alcohol delivered on the purchase order, and products made therefrom, only as specified in the certificate or as otherwise specifically directed by War Production Board. However, any person may re-deliver higher aliphatic alcohol to any producer or distributor without specific authorization.

(e) When use certificate is not required. Any person may order the following quantities of each higher aliphatic alcohol for delivery in the aggregate by all producers and suppliers during any calendar month, without filing a use certificate:

370 pounds of octanol (2-ethyl hexanol)
50 pounds of normal octanol
50 pounds of normal decanol
360 pounds of lauryl alcohol
50 pounds of mixed higher aliphatic alcohols

(f) Instructions to producers and distributors for filling uncertified small orders. A producer or distributor may deliver an aggregate quantity of each higher aliphatic alcohol on uncertified small orders only under the following conditions:

(1) If specifically authorized, upon application pursuant to Appendix B, to deliver the aggregate quantity on uncertified small orders; or

(2) In the case of a distributor, if he acquired the higher aliphatic alcohol upon certification that it was required to fill small orders, or if he acquired it himself on an uncertified small order.

(g) Producers and distributors to notify customers of denial of applications. Each producer and distributor shall notify each customer as soon as possible of denial, in whole or in part, by the War Production Board of any item or items on a certified purchase order placed by the customer.

(h) Special directions. The War Production Board, at its discretion, may at any time issue special directions to any person with respect to:

(1) Use, delivery or acceptance of delivery of higher aliphatic alcohol; or

(2) Production of higher aliphatic alcohol; or

(3) Preparation and filing of forms and certificates required by Appendices A and B.

(i) Miscellaneous provisions—(1) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected hereby are subject to all applicable War Production Board regulations, as amended from time to time.

(2) Supplier's intra-company delivery exemption. The restrictions of this order with respect to deliveries by suppliers shall apply only to deliveries to other persons, notwithstanding the provisions of Section 944.12 (intra-company deliveries) of Priorities Regulation No. 1, as amended.

(3) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, willfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further delivery of, or from processing or using, material under priority control, and may be deprived of priority assistance.

(4) Communications to War Production Board. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Chemicals Division, Washington 25, D. C., Reference M–344.

Issued this 14th day of August 1943.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Interpretation 5 to Priorities Reg. 3]

The following Interpretation 5 is issued with respect to Priorities Regulation 3.

(a) Restrictions of other orders on use of ratings or delivery. The provisions of paragraph (f) relate only to the items which appear on the lists. When any other order of the War Production Board restricts the use of preference ratings to obtain any product, or restricts delivery of a product in any way, those restrictions are applicable even though that product is not listed in Priorities Regulation 3 (§ 944.23). This rule specifically applies to the items which were on List C before the amendment of August 10, 1943.

(b) "Masking" tape. Blanket MRO ratings may be used to get industrial pressure sensitive adhesive tape, (paper and cloth), also called "masking" tape. This type of tape is not included in item 9.h.: "Gummed stay and sealing tape, paper and cloth".

This interpretation is not applicable to adhesive tape backed with cellophane or similar transparent materials derived from cellulose (item 41 of List B) which may not be obtained with blanket MRO ratings.

PART 962—IRON AND STEEL

[General Preference Order M-21-b-1 as Amended August 16, 1943]

GENERAL STEEL WAREHOUSES AND DEALERS

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of steel for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 962.10 General Preference Order M-21-b-1—(a) Purpose and scope. This order tells how, under the Controlled Materials Plan, a distributor obtains deliveries of general steel products from producers and from other persons for stock or for delivery direct to a distributor's customers. The method by which a distributor obtains deliveries of merchant trade products is set forth in General Preference Order M-21-b-2. Deliveries of steel from stock by distributors to persons not purchasing for resale are governed by CMP Regulation No. 4. Deliveries by distributors to other distributors are governed by this order and not by CMP Regulation No. 4.

(b) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Steel" means carbon steel, alloy steel, and wrought iron, in the forms and shapes listed in Schedule I to CMP Regulation No. 1.

(2) "Alloy steel" means alloy steel as defined in Order M-21-a.

(3) "Carbon steel" means any steel (including wrought iron) other than alloy steel.

(4) "General steel product" means any of the steel products listed in Schedule A hereto.

(5) "Product group" means any of the 17 numbered groups of general steel products listed in Schedule A hereto.

(6) "Type" means (i) carbon steel, or (ii) stainless steel, or (iii) other alloy steel.

(7) "Base tonnage" of a warehouse for any product group and type means the tonnage of such product group and type delivered by such warehouse from stock during the first calendar quarter of 1941, or such other tonnage as may be specifically established by the War Production Board.

(8) "Distributor" means any person (including a warehouse, jobber, dealer, or retailer) who is engaged in the business of receiving steel for sale or resale in the form received or after performing such operations as cutting to length, shearing to size, torch cutting or burning to shape, sorting and grading, pipe threading, or corrugating or otherwise forming sheets for roofing and siding; but a person who, in connection with any sale, bends, punches or performs any fabricating operation designed to prepare steel for final use or assembly shall not be deemed a distributor with respect to such sale.

(9) "Warehouse" means a distributor who receives physical delivery of general steel products from a producer for sale or resale in the form received, and who was engaged on August 9, 1941, in the business of distributing steel from stock. If a warehouse maintains a stock at more than one location, each location shall be deemed a separate warehouse.

(10) "Dealer" means a distributor (other than a warehouse) who receives physical delivery of general steel products from persons other than producers for sale or resale in the form received, and who was engaged on August 9, 1941 in the business of distributing steel from stock. The term does not include any distributor who is primarily a scrap dealer. For the purposes of this definition a distributor shall be considered primarily a scrap dealer if the tonnage of all scrap purchased for stock by him in 1940 equalled or exceeded the tonnage of steel purchased for stock by him in that year.

(11) "Delivery" includes deliveries received on consignment.

(c) Restrictions on placing orders with producers, or other warehouses, for shipment to warehouse stock—(1) Product groups and types to be ordered. No warehouse shall order or accept delivery to warehouse stock of general steel products (except tool bits and drill rod) in any product group and type except those which have been certified to such warehouse on Form PD-83-b or PDL-2228 by the War Production Board. A warehouse handling no general steel product except tool bits or drill rod may order such materials from a producer even though it has not been certified on such forms. A producer shall not deliver general steel products (except tool bits and drill rod) to any warehouse stock unless such warehouse shall first have filed with such producer a copy of its PD-83-b or PDL-2228 certificate, or in any product group and type except those certified on such certificate.

(2) Quantity restrictions on prime quality material. No warehouse which, during 1940, purchased more than 25 per cent of its tonnage of any product group in a grade now invoiced as less than prime quality may order for delivery to warehouse stock during any calendar quarter, prime quality steel products (requiring scheduled rollings) of the same product group in an amount greater than 37½ per cent of the total tonnage of such prime quality material purchased from all producers during 1940.

(3) Quantity restrictions on product groups. No warehouse having a total base tonnage of more than 100 tons for any type of steel shall order steel in any one product group in such type for delivery to warehouse stock in any calendar quarter in excess of 150% of its base tonnage for such product group and type. No warehouse having a total base tonnage of 100 tons or less for any type of steel shall order steel in such type for delivery to warehouse stock in any calendar quarter in excess of 150% of its total base tonnage for such type.

(4) Stock replacement. No. warehouse shall place with a producer or another distributor orders for delivery to warehouse stock after June 30, 1943 (as to carbon general steel products) or after July 31, 1943 (as to stainless or other alloy general steel products) except to replace general steel products of the same type delivered from warehouse stock during the previous 90 days to warehouses and dealers as permitted by this order or to consumers as permitted by CMP Regulation No. 4, plus scrap accumulated in the course of warehouse operations and actually sold during such period and reported to the War Production Board on Form PD-83. Within the limits of paragraph (c) (3) deliveries of any product may be used to support an order for the same or any other product of the same type (carbon, stainless, or other alloy). Every order for stock must be accompanied by Form CMP-11 duly completed and signed. Deliveries from one warehouse to another are also subject to the restrictions of paragraph (c) (2) of CMP Regulation No. 4. All deliveries of steel requested on Form CMP-11 must be made to the location from which the steel being replaced was shipped.

(5) Time for specifying delivery. Orders for general steel products placed with producers for delivery to warehouse stock, and accompanied by Form CMP-11, shall specify delivery not earlier than the time authorized for the placement of authorized controlled material orders for the product in question as set forth in Schedule III of CMP Regulation No. 1, "Time for Placing Authorized Controlled Material Orders." A producer, however, may deliver such orders at any time, provided such delivery does not interfere with deliveries on other authorized controlled material orders designating shipment for the same or an earlier month, and provided that such delivery will not violate production directives then in force. Orders for delivery to warehouse stock accompanied by Form CMP-11 placed with producers for material not requiring scheduled rollings (such as rejects, wasters, waste wasters, off-heats and top cuts), or placed with other warehouses, may specify delivery at any time.

(6) Status of warehouse orders. Each order placed by a warehouse with a producer pursuant to paragraphs (c) (4) and (c) (5) shall be deemed an authorized controlled material order. Each order placed by a warehouse with another warehouse pursuant to paragraphs (c) (4) and (c) (5) may, but need not, be accepted by such other warehouse. If accepted it shall be deemed an authorized controlled material order.

(d) Warehouse purchases from idle or excess inventories. A warehouse may order for delivery to its stock, without limitation as to quantity, from idle or excess inventories pursuant to Priorities Regulation No. 13 general steel products in any product group and type which has been certified to such warehouse on Form PD-83-b or PDL-2228. Each purchase order for such material shall be endorsed in substantially the following form, and when so endorsed shall be deemed to be an authorized controlled material order:

The undersigned certifies to the seller and to the War Production Board that this order is placed pursuant to paragraph (d) of Order M-21-b-1, and is an authorized controlled material order.

---------- By ----------

---------- ----------
Name of warehouse — Authorized official

Address — Date

(e) Warehouse purchases for direct shipment to customer. A warehouse receiving an authorized controlled material order from a customer and wishing to arrange for shipment direct to such customer by the producer or other supplier shall specify delivery to a point other than its warehouse, and shall copy on its own purchase order the endorsement made to it by its customer (including the customer's name) in accordance with CMP Regulation No. 1 or other applicable regulation or order. A purchase order specifying direct shipment and so endorsed shall be deemed an authorized controlled material order.

(f) Earmarked warehouse stocks. To the extent agreed upon by the Steel Division and any claimant agency, an earmarked stock of general steel products may be established in any warehouse. Deliveries to such stock and withdrawals therefrom shall be made only in accordance with the specific directions which shall be issued at the time such stock is established.

(g) Purchases by dealers. Purchase orders for general steel products may be placed by a dealer with persons other than producers to replace in the dealer's stock steel of the same type delivered by him during the 90 days preceding the placing of such purchase order, provided the steel to be replaced was delivered pursuant to CMP Regulation No. 4. No delivery can be used more than once to support such a replacement order. Each such replacement order must carry an endorsement in substantially the following form:

The undersigned hereby certifies to the seller and to the War Production Board that the material covered by this order is to replace in stock general steel products of the same type and weight delivered by the undersigned within the 90 days preceding the date of this order and in accordance with CMP Regulation No. 4. This constitutes an authorized controlled material order.

---------- By ----------
Name of dealer — Authorized official

Address — Date

Any order so endorsed shall be deemed an authorized controlled material order.

(h) Reports. Each warehouse shall file with the Bureau of the Census, Washington, 25 D. C., on or before the 10th day of each month a report in duplicate on Form PD-83 Revised, or on such other form as may be prescribed. A warehouse having a total base tonnage of all general steel products amounting to 150 tons or less shall file such report only on or before the tenth day of April, July, October, and January for the preceding calendar quarter.

(i) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by letter referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds for the appeal. In emergency cases, appeal may be made by telegraph.

(j) Communications to War Production Board. All appeals or other communications concerning this order shall be addressed to Warehouse Branch, Steel Division, War Production Board, Washington, 25 D. C., Reference M-21-b-1.

(k) Violations. Any warehouse, dealer, or other person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(l) Special instructions. The War Production Board may from time to time issue special instructions to warehouses or dealers with respect to making, withholding, accepting or refusing deliveries.

Issued this 16th day of August 1943.

Recording Secretary.

PART 962—IRON AND STEEL

[General Preference Order M-21-b-2, as Amended August 16, 1943]

MERCHANT TRADE PRODUCTS · WAREHOUSES AND DEALERS

Section 962.11—General Preference Order M-21-b-2, is amended to read as follows, effective October 1, 1943. Prior to that date, General Preference Order M-21-b-2, as amended June 15, 1943, shall govern.

§ 962.11 General Preference Order M-21-b-2—(a) Purpose and scope. This order tells how, under the Controlled Materials Plan, a distributor obtains deliveries of merchant trade products from producers and from other persons for stock or for delivery direct to a distributor's customers. The method by which a distributor obtains deliveries of general steel products is set forth in General Preference Order M-21-b-1. Deliveries of steel from stock by distributors to persons not purchasing for resale are governed by CMP Regulation No. 4. Deliveries of merchant trade products by distributors to other distributors are governed by this order and not by CMP Regulation No. 4.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Steel" means carbon steel, alloy steel, and wrought iron, in the forms and shapes listed in Schedule 1 to CMP Regulation No. 1.

(2) "Merchant trade products" means any of the steel products listed in Schedule I hereto.

(3) "Product group" means any of the 11 numbered groups of merchant trade products listed in Schedule I hereto.

(4) "Base period" means

(i) With respect to merchant trade products in product groups 20-23, inclusive, of Schedule I, the calendar year 1940.

(ii) With respect to merchant trade products in product groups 24-30, inclusive, of Schedule I, the 12 months ending June 30, 1941.

(5) "Base tonnage" of a warehouse for any product group means the tonnage of such product group delivered by producers to the stock of such warehouse during the base period, or such other tonnage as may be specifically established by the War Production Board.

(6) "Distributor" means any person (including a warehouse, jobber, dealer, or retailer) who is engaged in the business of receiving steel for sale or resale in the form received or after performing such operations as cutting to length, shearing to size, torch cutting or burning to shape, sorting and grading, pipe threading, or corrugating or otherwise forming sheets for roofing and siding; but a person who, in connection with any sale, bends, punches or performs any fabricating operation designed to prepare steel for final use or assembly shall not be deemed a distributor with respect to such sale.

(7) "Warehouse" means a distributor who receives physical delivery of merchant trade products from a producer for sale or resale in the form received, and who was engaged during the base period in the business of distributing merchant trade products from stock. If a warehouse maintains a stock at more than one location, each location shall be deemed a separate warehouse.

(8) "Dealer" means a distributor (other than a warehouse) who receives physical delivery of merchant trade products from persons other than producers for sale or resale in the form received.

(9) "Delivery" includes deliveries received on consignment.

(10) "Minimum carload" means a carload weighing not less than 40,000 pounds.

(c) Restrictions on placing orders by warehouses with producers and other warehouses for shipment to warehouse stock—(1) Product groups to be ordered. No warehouse shall order or accept delivery to warehouse stock of merchant trade products in any product group except those for which it has a base tonnage pursuant to this order.

(2) Producers from which Merchant Trade Products may be ordered. A warehouse shall not order any product in product groups 24, 27, 28 and 29 from any producer for shipment to warehouse stock (and a producer shall not deliver such products to a warehouse) unless the warehouse has a base tonnage for that product group with that producer. A warchouse may place orders for any other merchant trade product for which it has a base tonnage with any producer, but if it wishes to take advantage of the mill tonnage reserved for it as explained in paragraph (d) of this order, it must place orders up to the amount of the reserved tonnage only with its base period supplier. By the use of Form WPB–2889 (PD–83–e) a warehouse can shift its total base tonnage for any product group from one producer to another.

(3) Stock replacements. The following rules must be observed by all warehouses when ordering merchant trade products from a producer or another warehouse:

(i) Every order placed with a producer or another warehouse for shipment after September 30, 1943 to warehouse stock must be accompanied by Form WPB–2444 (CMP–11) duly completed and signed.

(ii) For the purpose of Form WPB–2444 (CMP–11) merchant trade products previously delivered from stock in one or more product groups may be accumulated by a warehouse to support an order for any one or more merchant trade product groups for which it has a base tonnage. All deliveries from stock made pursuant to CMP Regulation No. 4 plus deliveries to the stock of other warehouses and dealers made pursuant to this Order, and not previously replaced, may be used to support a form WPB–2444 (CMP–11).

(iii) Form WPB–2444 (CMP–11) may be used only to replace merchant trade products delivered from warehouse stock during the 12 months preceding the date of order placement, but in no event may be used to replace deliveries made before April 1, 1943. No warehouse may use any deliveries from stock to support a stock replacement order more than once. If any deliveries from stock made after March 31, 1943, have been replaced before October 1, 1943, by the use of Form PD–83–g or Form WPB–2444 (CMP–11), such deliveries may not be used to support any order accompanied by Form WPB–2444 (CMP–11).

(iv) Warehouse orders accompanied by Form WPB–2444 (CMP–11) may be placed with any producer (except in the case of the products mentioned in paragraph (c) (2) above) and may be for less than 40,000 lbs. To the extent possible, the tonnage covered by the order should be included with other material to permit the shipment of a minimum carload.

(v) A warehouse may place purchase orders with producers or other warehouses for any merchant trade product group for which it has a base tonnage without limit as to quantity provided each order is accompanied by Form WPB–2444 (CMP–11) properly supported by a record of previous deliveries of merchant trade products from stock.

(vi) All deliveries of steel requested on Form WPB–2444 (CMP–11) must be made only to the location from which the steel being replaced was shipped.

(4) Time for specifying delivery. Orders for merchant trade products placed with producers for delivery to warehouse stock, and accompanied by Form WPB–2444 (CMP–11), must specify delivery not earlier than the time shown in Schedule II of this order. A producer may waive this requirement as long as he does not discriminate between his customers in doing so. Also, a producer may, with the customer's approval, make delivery before the date specified in the customer's order, provided such delivery does not interfere with deliveries on other authorized controlled material orders requiring shipment in the same or an earlier month, and provided that such deliveries will not violate production directives then in force. Orders for delivery to warehouse stock accompanied by Form WPB–2444 (CMP–11) placed with producers for material not requiring scheduled rollings (such as rejects, wasters, waste wasters, wire shorts, etc.), or placed with other warehouses, may specify delivery at any time.

(5) Status of warehouse orders for delivery to stock. Each order placed by a warehouse with a producer as provided in this paragraph (c) shall be deemed an authorized controlled material order. Orders placed with other warehouses may, but need not, be accepted. Any part of the order which is accepted shall be deemed an authorized controlled material order.

(d) Warehouse load directives. Most producers of merchant trade products operate under a warehouse load directive which instructs them to reserve each calendar quarter a part of their production of certain merchant trade product groups to fill authorized controlled material orders submitted by warehouses for which they have a base tonnage. Each warehouse, however, in order to take advantage of the tonnage reserved for it during a calendar quarter, must submit its order or orders, accompanied by Form WPB–2444 (CMP–11), to the producer then holding its base tonnage, not later than the expiration date stated in the warehouse load directive. A producer may fill warehouse orders received after that time but may not reserve any space for them. Producers must consider the first orders for any product group received from any warehouse for delivery in a particular calendar quarter as applicable to the tonnage of such product group reserved for that warehouse during that quarter. In addition to the tonnage of any product group reserved for any warehouse with the producer presently holding its base tonnage, a warehouse may place orders for that product group, accompanied by Form WPB–2444 (CMP–11), with the same or any other producer, subject to the limitations of paragraph (c).

(e) Purchases from idle or excess inventories. A distributor may order for delivery to its stock, without limitation as to quantity, from idle or excess inventories pursuant to Priorities Regulation No. 13, merchant trade products in any product group which it handled during the base period. Each purchase order for such material shall be endorsed in substantially the following form, and when so endorsed shall be deemed to be an authorized controlled material order:

The undersigned certifies to the seller and to the War Production Board that this order is placed pursuant to paragraph (e) of Order M–21–b–2, and is an authorized controlled material order.

---------- By----------
Name of distributor Authorized official

Address Date

(f) Warehouse purchases for direct shipment. A purchase order placed by a warehouse specifying direct shipment to one of its customers complying with the following conditions shall be deemed an authorized controlled material order:

(1) Orders for direct shipment to a consumer. A warehouse receiving an authorized controlled material order from a consumer and wishing to arrange for shipment direct to the consumer by the producer or other supplier must specify delivery to a point other than its warehouse, and shall copy on its own purchase order the endorsement made to it by its customer (including the customer's name) in accordance with CMP Regulation No. 1 or other applicable regulation or order.

(2) Orders for direct shipment to another warehouse. A warehouse receiving a stock order from another warehouse (but not a dealer) and wishing to arrange for shipment direct to the warehouse by a producer shall specify delivery direct to its warehouse customer and shall accompany its own purchase order to the producer with a copy of Form WPB–2444 (CMP–11) duly filled out and signed by its warehouse customer in the manner provided for in paragraph (c) of this order.

(3) Rejection of orders for direct shipment. A producer may reject an authorized controlled material order received from a warehouse calling for direct shipment, but if open space exists must notify the warehouse in writing, with a copy of the notification being mailed direct to the warehouse customer, that it is prepared to fill the order direct from the customer or through another person.

(4) Special instruction with respect to wire rope and strand. When ordering wire rope and strand for direct shipment to a warehouse customer, a warehouse may specify delivery of the order to its own warehouse, providing the material is labeled for the account of the customer, and provided that immediate delivery of the order is made to the warehouse customer upon receipt of the material at the warehouse.

(g) Earmarked warehouse stocks. To the extent agreed upon by the Steel Division and any claimant agency, an earmarked stock of one or more merchant trade products may be established in any warehouse. Deliveries to such stock and withdrawals therefrom shall be made only in accordance with the specific directions which shall be issued at the time such stock is established.

(h) Restrictions on placing orders by dealers. Dealers may purchase merchant trade products for stock only as follows:

(1) On or after October 1, 1943, a dealer may order for stock all merchant trade products sold since April 1, 1943, in accordance with CMP Regulation No. 4, provided that such material sold has not already been replaced or ordered for stock replacement. Dealers' orders for stock replacement may be placed with wholesale distributors or with any person other than a producer. A dealer does not have to reorder the same merchant trade product he has sold, but can order an equivalent tonnage of the same or any other merchant trade product. No dealer shall use any delivery from stock to support a stock replacement order more than once.

(2) It is not necessary for a dealer to extend individually the allotment numbers, CMP symbols, farmers certificates or other valid certificates received from his customers in order to establish an authorized controlled material order with his supplier. To establish such an order the dealer must sign the following statement on the purchase order which he places with his supplier:

The undersigned hereby certifies to the seller and to the War Production Board, subject to criminal penalties for misrepresentation, that the material covered by this order is to replace in stock merchant trade products of the same weight delivered by me from stock in accordance with CMP Regulation No. 4, after March 31, 1943, and not previously ordered for replacement. This constitutes an authorized controlled material order.

---------- By----------
Name of Dealer Authorized Official

Address Date

Any order so endorsed shall be considered an authorized controlled material order.

	Tons
Pipe (product groups 20–21)	240
Tin and Terne plates (product group 22)	240
Galvanized, lead coated, or painted sheets and strip, including roofing and siding, valley, ridge roll, and flashing (product group 23)	240
Wire products (product groups 24–30)	240

Each warehouse and dealer who is not required to file such report shall maintain for a period of not less than 2 years a record of its shipments from stock, receipts into stock, and inventory of each merchant trade product group on hand at the end of its fiscal year. Such record shall be available for inspection at any time by any duly authorized representative of the War Production Board.

(j) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by letter referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds for the appeal. In emergency cases, appeal may be made by telegraph.

(k) Communications to War Production Board. All appeals or other communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the Warehouse Branch, Steel Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Reference: M–21–b–2.

(l) Violations. Any warehouse, dealer, or other person who wilfully violates any provisions of this order or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(m) Special instructions. The War Production Board may from time to time issue instructions to warehouses or dealers with respect to making, withholding, accepting or refusing deliveries.

Issued this 16th day of August 1943.

CHARLES A. CONGDON

Charles A. Congdon, of Burlington, Vermont, is a building contractor carrying on a business of substantial size. About the middle of December, 1942, he contracted to reconstruct a building known as the Warner Block in Burlington, which had been recently damaged by fire, at an estimated cost of $12,784.00, and he later undertook and completed the work at an actual cost of $10,019.00. Mr. Congdon knew from information obtained in local papers and trade journals of the existence of Limitation Order L–41, but made no effort to familiarize himself with the actual terms of the Order, and in the present case acted on the erroneous and unjustifiable belief that the work done was to be classified as repairs, and hence not subject to the restrictions imposed by the Order. When the building was about 90% completed he was informed by a representative of the War Production Board that the work was being done in violation, despite which he completed the work. This violation of Limitation Order L–41 has been deemed wilful.

In February, 1943, Barney Magram and Rose Glass, co-partners, doing business under the name of the Fashion Shop in Burlington, consulted Mr. Congdon with reference to remodeling the premises at 81–83 Church Street. The building was designed for occupancy by not more than five establishments so that under Order L–41 the limitation of $200.00 for construction not specifically authorized was applicable. Mr. Congdon knew of that provision, assumed that the building was designed for occupancy by more than five establishments, and without any attempt to ascertain whether his belief was correct, advised Mr. Magram that permitted construction must be limited to $1000. Thereafter, on or about February 24, 1943, Mr. Congdon began construction at a cost, as defined in Order L–41, of about $1000, in violation of that order. This violation has been deemed wilful. In view of the foregoing, It is hereby ordered, That:

§ 1010.393 Suspension Order No. S–393. (a) Deliveries of material to Charles A. Congdon, his successors or assigns, shall not be accorded priority over deliveries under any other contract or order, and no preference rating shall be assigned, applied or extended to such deliveries by means of preference rating orders, preference rating certificates, general preference orders, or any other orders or regulations of the War Production Board, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(b) No allocation shall be made to Charles A. Congdon, his successors or assigns, of any material the supply or distribution of which is governed by any order of the War Production Board, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(c) Charles A. Congdon, his successors and assigns, are hereby prohibited from ordering, purchasing, accepting delivery of, withdrawing from inventory or in any other manner securing or using material or construction plant in order to begin construction or to continue construction as defined in Conservation Order L–41 unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(d) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Charles Congdon, his successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition, or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board except in so far as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(e) These prohibitions shall take effect on August 16, 1943 and shall expire on September 30, 1943, at which date it shall have no further force or effect.

Issued this 9th day of August 1943.

FASHION SHOP

Barney Magram and Rose Glass are co-partners in a retail business conducted under the name of Fashion Shop, in Burlington, Vermont. This firm in January, 1943, leased premises at 81–83 Church Street, Burlington, Vermont. This was a building designed for occupancy by only five establishments, and, under Limitation Order L–41, construction, the estimated cost of which did not exceed $200., could be begun without any specific authorization being necessary from the War Production Board. Acting for the partnership, Mr. Magram proceeded to plan for remodeling the newly leased premises in the course of which he received erroneous advices from Charles A. Congdon, a building contractor, that construction could be begun if the costs thereof did not exceed $1000. Thereafter, on or about February 24, 1943, construction was begun at Mr. Magram's direction. However, besides employing Mr. Congdon to do the principal construction work at a cost estimated at $1000., Mr. Magram at the same time proceeded to have other construction work done by other contractors, the total estimated cost of all construction being thereby far in excess of $1000. This beginning and proceeding with construction, therefore, has been deemed a wilful violation of Limitation Order L–41. In view of the foregoing, It is hereby ordered, That:

§ 1010.394 Suspension Order No. S–394. (a) Neither Barney Magram and Rose Glass individually or doing business as Fashion Shop or otherwise, their or its successors or assigns, nor any other person, shall order, purchase, accept delivery of, withdraw from inventory, or in any manner secure or use material or construction plant in order to continue or complete construction of the remodeling of the premises at 81–83 Church Street, Burlington, Vermont, now occupied by them, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(b) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Barney Magram or Rose Glass, their successors or assigns, from any restrictions, prohibition, or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board except in so far as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(c) This order shall take effect on August 16, 1943.

FERGUSON FURNITURE CO., INC.

Ferguson Furniture Company, Inc., 202 N. Farish Street, Jackson, Mississippi, is a corporation engaged in the retail sale of general household and furniture goods and wearing apparel. From September 19, 1942 to December 13, 1942, the Company made numerous sales of heaters, stoves and cooking equipment using gas or oil as fuel to ultimate consumers who were not entitled to purchase them under the provisions of Limitation Order L–79. Although the Company knew there was this War Production Board Order which applied to metal plumbing and heating equipment, it failed to ascertain whether the restrictions thereof governed its sales of such items. These violations of Limitation Order L–79 were the result, therefore, of such gross negligence on the Company's part as to be deemed wilful, and the diversion of critical materials resulting therefrom has hampered and impeded the war effort of the United States. In view of the foregoing, It is hereby ordered, That:

§ 1010.404 Suspension Order No. S–404. (a) Ferguson Furniture Company, Inc., its successors and assigns, shall not purchase, sell, deliver or otherwise deal in new metal heating equipment and new metal cooking and baking equipment, as those terms are defined in Limitation Order L–79, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(b) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Ferguson Furniture Company, Inc., its successors and assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board except in so far as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(c) This order shall take effect August 16, 1943, and shall expire on November 16, 1943, at which time the restrictions contained in this order shall be of no further effect.

PART 1157—CONSTRUCTION MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT

[Interpretation 1 to Limitation Order L–192]

The following Interpretation 1 is issued with respect to Limitation Order L–192.

Under paragraph (j) (1) (ii) of Limitation Order L–192 (§ 1157.10) all persons, except producers, dealers, distributors, and war agencies, are required to obtain specific authorization from the War Production Board on Form PD–556 in order to purchase construction equipment repair parts for stock or inventory in excess of the quantity required for the repair of impending breakdown or for maintenance of equipment in sound working condition on the current job.

The exemption in favor of dealers and distributors, however, does not apply to dealers or distributors located outside the United States. Paragraph (c) (9), as amended, defines dealers and distributors to include only those dealers and distributors located within the forty-eight states of the United States and the District of Columbia. It follows, therefore, that any dealer or distributor located outside the United States must obtain specific authorization on Form PD–556 in order to get a stock of repair parts from a person in the United States.

This restriction applies separately to each branch office or warehouse located outside the United States, even if the main office is located in the United States. For example, a dealer located in Seattle may purchase repair parts for his Seattle stock without specific authorization; however, his Canadian or Alaskan branch cannot get repair parts either from a factory in the United States or from the Seattle office without getting specific authorization on Form PD–556.

PART 3175—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN

MILL STOCKS OF STEEL

The following Direction 15 is issued pursuant to CMP Regulation 1.

A producer of controlled materials who on January 1, 1943, maintained a mill stock of steel products at any location may continue to maintain a mill stock at such location, provided title to such stock has not been transferred to a consumer of steel or a warehouse, and provided further the quantity of any steel product maintained in such stock does not exceed the average inventory of such product maintained in such stock between January 1 and May 1, 1943. A shipment made by a producer from mill stock may be replaced from mill rollings provided such replacement is made of the product shipped. The production of steel products for mill stocks shall be within the limits of the current production directives covering the production of such products.

NOTE: Second sentence amended August 16, 1943.

The foregoing does not apply to producer-owned stocks of steel products held on consignment by a distributor (as defined in CMP Regulation No. 4). Such stocks are subject to the rules governing warehouses and dealers set forth in CMP Regulation No. 4 and in General Preference Orders M–21–b–1 and M–21–b–2.

PART 3175—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN

ALLOTMENT PROCEDURE DETERMINES CLASSIFICATION OF PRODUCT IN CERTAIN CASES

The following Interpretation 13 is issued with respect to CMP Regulation 1.

(a) When the B product allotment procedure is followed in making allotments for the manufacture of a Class A product, all of the provisions of CMP regulations governing B products apply. A good example of this is Class A repair parts which are handled on the B product basis. Under paragraph (p) of CMP–1 (§ 3175.1), an order for a Class A product, once accepted, cannot be displaced by an order received at a later time even though the later order bears a higher preference rating. However, if the product is a Class A repair part which is handled on a Class B basis, this provision does not apply. Paragraph (g) (3) provides that no consumer may make an allotment for the production of Class B products. In the case of a Class A repair part which is handled on a Class B basis, this provision does apply.

(b) On the other hand, when the A product allotment procedure is followed for making allotments for the manufacture of a Class B product, all of the provisions of CMP regulations governing A products apply. In such a case, the provision of paragraph (p) mentioned above does apply, and the provision of paragraph (g) (3) does not apply.

PART 3176—VALVES AND VALVE PARTS

[Limitation Order L–252, as Amended August 16, 1943]

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage of steel, copper, and other critical materials used in the manufacture of valves and valve parts, for defense, for private account, and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3176.1 Limitation Order L–252—(a) Definitions. Wherever used in this order:

(1) "Producer" means any person who manufactures valves and valve parts.

(2) "Valves" means gate, globe, angle, cross, lift check, angle check, or swing check valves (including variations of those types, such as the valves generally referred to as quick opening, blow off, hose end, Y-type and hydraulic), except drilling through and flow line valves for oil production service. This definition does not include valves of the types generally referred to as "specialties".

(3) "Valve parts" means parts for valves as defined above.

(4) "Put into process" means to process, machine, or fabricate or in any other manner alter any material by physical or chemical means.

(b) Limitations. Except as specifically authorized by the War Production Board, no producer shall after May 1, 1943, put into process or cause to be put into process, any material to be incorporated into valves or valve parts, except for the manufacture of valves and valve parts which conform to the specifications contained in the Appendix attached to and a part of this order, or for the manufacture of:

(1) Valves

(i) The bodies or bonnets of which were cast or forged before May 1, 1943;

(ii) Ordered for use as part of the equipment of aircraft or watercraft other than pleasure craft; or

(iii) For the conduction of liquid or gas having chemical or physical properties which render the use of valves described in the Appendix dangerous or impractical; and

(2) Valve parts for repair of valves which are completed on May 1, 1943, or which are produced thereafter in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b) (1) of this order.

(c) Restricted deliveries. Except as specifically authorized by the War Production Board:

(1) No producer shall sell or make delivery of any valves or valve parts manufactured in violation of the terms of this order, and

(2) No person shall knowingly purchase or accept delivery of any valve or valve part produced in violation of this order.

(d) Order superseded. The provisions of this order supersede the provisions of Schedule No. 1 of Limitation Order L–42.

(e) Applicability of priorities regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to the provisions of all applicable priorities regulations.

(f) Records. Each producer shall retain in his files for a period of two years records showing his inventory and production of all valves, including those for the manufacture of which material was put into process subsequent to May 1, 1943. These records shall be kept readily available and open to inspection by duly authorized representatives of the War Production Board.

(g) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(h) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control, and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(i) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: Shipbuilding Division, War Production Board, Washington, 25 D. C., Ref.: L–252.

Issued this 16th day of August 1943.

APPENDIX

NOTE: Part 2, paragraphs 2 (f), (g); part 3, paragraph 2 (b) amended August 16, 1943.

Specifications for Valves and Valve Parts

The following specifications govern the manufacture of valves and valve parts. These specifications do not purport to contain any recommendations regarding the most efficient or safe use of any valve or valve parts covered herein.

Certain of the terms used in this appendix (including the terms valves and valve parts) are defined in the body of this order, L–252. In addition, certain exceptions are made, and certain obligations imposed upon producers and others. You should, therefore, be thoroughly familiar with the body of the order before reading this appendix.

PART 1

Iron Gate, Globe, Angle, Cross, and Check Valves and Valve Parts

1. Standard size schedule: Iron valves. (a) Valves shall be manufactured only in the pressure classes listed in Table 1 and in the particular sizes, specified in Table 2, which are comprehended within the size range specified in Table 1 for the particular pressure class:

[All size ranges are inclusive]

Primary [1] pressure classifications in pounds per square inch		Gates (inches)			Globe and angle (inches)		Lift check (inches)		Swing check (inches)

[1] The primary pressure classification designates a class of valves and does not necessarily mean that all sizes in a given class carry the primary pressure classification. American Standards Association standards and manufacturers practice frequently reduce the pressure ratings as size increases, and may not always rate valves for both steam and water.

[2] In sizes 3" and smaller the 120# and 200# primary pressure classification valves are included as substitutes for brass valves. Flanged valves may be rated in accordance with the American Flange Standard used.

PART 3290—COTTON TEXTILE DISTRIBUTION

[General Conservation Order M-317]

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created shortages in the supplies of cotton textiles for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3290.115 General Conservation Order M-317—(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Woven cotton textiles" means woven fabrics made wholly or partially of cotton or cotton waste, either grey, bleached, dyed or printed, and cotton bed sheets, pillow cases, blankets, towels and face cloths, including rejects and seconds. The term does not include fabrics containing both cotton and wool made on spindles or looms normally engaged in the manufacture of woolen or worsted products, or cotton duck as defined in order M-91.

(2) "Producer" means any manufacturer who makes cotton textiles.

(3) "Processor" means any person engaged in the business of manufacturing or having manufactured for his account any product in which cotton textiles are incorporated.

(4) "Intermediate processor" means any person engaged in the business of bleaching, dyeing or otherwise finishing cotton textiles and selling or using them for his own account in the bleached, or otherwise finished state.

(5) "Merchant" means any person engaged in the business of purchasing cotton textiles for his own use in agriculture, food processing or manufacturing, or for resale to a processor or intermediate processor in the form in which purchased.

(6) Trade terms used in this order shall have their usual trade significance unless otherwise specified.

(b) Compulsory use of ratings assigned in schedule A. No processor, intermediate processor or merchant shall purchase or accept delivery of the particular woven cotton textiles designated in Schedule A for any purpose for which a rating is assigned to him in the schedule, unless he has applied or extended that rating or a rating specifically assigned on form WPB-2842. He may not purchase the particular woven cotton textile for the specified purpose with any other rating which he may have (whether higher or lower) nor may he purchase it without a rating. Through the operation of this paragraph, all manufacturers of products listed in Column II of Schedule A will be treated alike for the requirements specified in the schedule. The rules of this paragraph do not change the rating on the finished product. For all purposes except to acquire woven cotton textiles, the rating on the finished product controls (such as to determine the sequence of deliveries of the finished product).

For example, even though a manufacturer (processor) who is given a rating of AA-3 in Schedule A to obtain twills to make coated abrasive products, holds an order for coated abrasive products rated AA-1, he must use the AA-3 rating given by this schedule to obtain the twills and may not use the AA-1 rating for this purpose. The AA-1 rating, however, remains applicable to the finished coated abrasive product for all other purposes.

(c) Other valid preference ratings for woven cotton textiles. (This paragraph states conditions which must be met to make ratings for cotton textiles valid in cases not covered by paragraph (b). However, even though a rating is not valid for cotton textiles, this does not prevent anyone from filling an order if he can do so without disregarding valid ratings on other orders for cotton textiles or disregarding paragraph (b) or other directions of the War Production Board.)

In any case in which it is not necessary to use the rating assigned in Schedule A or on form WPB-2842, no other preference rating heretofore or hereafter assigned, applied or extended for the delivery of any woven cotton textiles shall be valid and no person shall knowingly give any effect to any other rating unless:

(1) The rating has been assigned on some form or letter issued by or under the authority of the War Production Board to a named applicant specifically describing the item and specifying the yardage, type and construction of woven cotton textiles which may be obtained by the rating; or

(2) The rating has been assigned by or pursuant to a form, order or regulation of the War Production Board and is used to obtain woven cotton textiles for direct or ultimate delivery to, or for incorporation into any material for ultimate delivery to, the Army or Navy of the United States (including Post Exchanges and Ship's Service Stores), the Maritime Commission or the War Shipping Administration; or

(3) The rating has been assigned by Order P-131 (Officer's Uniforms), Order M-166 (Flags), Order M-298 (Blankets), Order M-207 (Cotton Textiles for Work Apparel), Schedule II of Order M-134 (Surgical Dressings) or Order M-148 (Exports under License Issued by the Office of Economic Warfare); or

(4) The rating has been assigned by or pursuant to a form, order or regulation of the War Production Board and is used to obtain woven cotton textiles actually required as, or required for incorporation in, a functioning part of industrial machinery. (For example, a rating assigned under the Controlled Materials Plan to a manufacturer of paper making machinery may be used by him to obtain dryer felts for the machinery.)

(d) How ratings for woven cotton textiles are to be applied or extended. (1) Preference ratings which are assigned by a schedule of this order or which are specifically permitted to be used by this order shall be applied or extended as provided in Priorities Regulation 3. Any person applying or extending a rating assigned by Schedule A or on form WPB-2842 or which can be used under paragraph (c) (1), (c) (2) or (c) (4) shall place upon the purchase order a notation substantially as follows:

This rating has been assigned by (or can be used under) M-317.

However, the Army or Navy of the United States, the Maritime Commission and the War Shipping Administration shall not be required to place this notation on their direct purchase orders.

If the rating is assigned by an order listed in subparagraph (c) (3), the person applying or extending the rating shall place upon the purchase order a notation substantially as follows:

This rating has been assigned by Order No. —— (insert number of order in subparagraph (c) (3) assigning the rating).

If, however, the order assigning the rating prescribes a specific certification, the notation prescribed by this paragraph shall not be necessary.

(2) Restriction on use of rating to get fiber or yarn. Even though a rating may be valid for woven cotton textiles under the provisions of this order, no person shall apply or extend that rating to get fiber, yarn or other material unless it is to be used or delivered on an order for the Army or Navy of the United States, the Maritime Commission or the War Shipping Administration, as provided in paragraph (c) (2).

(e) Allocation. The War Production Board may allocate and direct deliveries of cotton textiles pursuant to application on form WPB-2842.

(f) Inventory restrictions. No processor, intermediate processor or merchant shall accept delivery of any cotton textiles if his aggregate inventory (including cotton textiles in transit or in process of conversion) is, or by accepting the delivery will be more than, a practical minimum working inventory. In no event shall the inventory (other than that part in transit or in process of conversion) be more than his requirements for sixty days.

(g) Vertical organizations. Any person whose business includes any two of the following: producer, processor, intermediate processor or merchant shall be deemed a separate person in each of these capacities for the purpose of:

(1) Using the ratings assigned by this order. For example, a textile bag manufacturer (processor) has an AA-3 rating to obtain osnaburgs to make his bags. However, he produces osnaburgs himself both for his own use and for sale to others and is therefore a producer. He may treat his own requirements for osnaburgs as though they were on purchase orders bearing an AA-3 rating.

(2) Applying the inventory restrictions of paragraph (f) of this order. For example, a converter of bandage cloth who is also a manufacturer of surgical dressings is entitled to a minimum working inventory as to each of his operations, provided that his total working inventory for his combined operations is not excessive.

(h) Limitations upon accepting rated contracts calling for forward delivery. No person shall be required to accept any rated order for cotton textiles calling for delivery more than 90 days after the receipt of the order except from the Army or Navy of the United States, the Maritime Commission or the War Shipping Administration.

(i) Further restrictions. (1) The assignment or authorization of preference ratings under this order shall not constitute authorization for the delivery, receipt, manufacture or use of any materials in violation of the provisions of any conservation, limitation or other order or regulation heretofore or hereafter issued by the War Production Board.

(2) No person shall sell, deliver, accept delivery or use cotton textiles acquired by use of a preference rating assigned or authorized by this order or for a purpose other than that for which the preference rating was assigned or authorized.

(j) Applicability of regulations. Except as otherwise provided herein, this order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of the War Production Board as amended from time to time.

(k) Records. Each person applying ratings must maintain at his regular place of business all documents, including purchase or manufacturing orders, preference rating orders and certificates, upon which he relies as entitling him to apply or extend such ratings, segregated and available for inspection by representatives of the War Production Board, or filed in such manner that they can be readily segregated and made available for such inspection.

(l) Reports. All producers, processors, intermediate processors or merchants affected by this order shall execute and file with the War Production Board such reports and questionnaires as the War Production Board shall from time to time request, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget, pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(m) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provisions appealed from, and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(n) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a materia. fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priorities control, and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(o) Communications. All reports to be filed, appeals and other communications concerning this order should be addressed to: War Production Board, Textile, Clothing and Leather Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: M-317.

Issued this 16th day of August 1943.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

PART 3290—TEXTILE, CLOTHING, AND LEATHER[1]

[Conservation Order M-328, as Amended August 16, 1943]

PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO TEXTILE, CLOTHING, LEATHER AND RELATED PRODUCTS

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created shortages in the supplies of textiles, clothing, leather and related products for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3290.118[1] Conservation Order M-328—(a) Restrictions on preference ratings for textiles, clothing, leather, etc. (This paragraph states conditions which must be met to make ratings for items on Schedule A valid. However, even though a rating is not valid for the items, this does not prevent anyone from filing a purchase order if he can do so without disregarding valid ratings on other purchase orders or disregarding other orders or directions of the War Production Board.)

No person shall apply, extend or give any effect to any preference rating heretofore or hereafter assigned, applied, or extended to the delivery of any item on Schedule A unless:

(1) The rating has been assigned by a preference rating form or letter issued by or under the authority of the War Production Board to a named applicant and the form or letter specifically describes the item and specifies the quantity, description and type which may be obtained by the rating. No rating assigned by any L, M, P or other order or by any regulation (such as CMP-5 or CMP-5A) shall be valid for any item on Schedule A, except as permitted by paragraphs (a) (2), (a) (3) or (a) (4). For example, the rating for any fabric to comply with this subparagraph must be assigned on a War Production Board form or letter naming the person to whom the rating is assigned and stating the yardage, type and construction of the fabric for which the rating is assigned, or

(2) the rating has been assigned by or pursuant to a form, order or regulation of the War Production Board and is used to obtain the item for direct or ultimate delivery to, or for incorporation into any material for ultimate delivery to the Army or Navy of the United States (including Post Exchanges and Ship's Service Stores), the Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration; or

(3) the rating has been assigned by or pursuant to the particular order specified after the item on Schedule A.

[1] Formerly Part 3266, § 3266.1.

(4) the material to be delivered is actually required as, or is required for incorporation in, a functioning part of industrial machinery and is one of the following numbered items on Schedule A: 1, 4, 5, 6, 7, 11, 15, 17, 19.

(b) Notation on purchase orders bearing a preference rating. (1) Any person applying or extending a preference rating which is permitted by paragraph (a) (1), (a) (2) or (a) (4) shall place upon the purchase order a notation substantially as follows:

This rating can be used under Order No. M-328.

However, the Army or Navy of the United States, the Maritime Commission and the War Shipping Administration shall not be required to place this notation on their direct purchase orders.

If the rating is assigned by any order listed on Schedule A, the person applying or extending the same shall place upon the purchase order a notation substantially as follows:

This rating has been assigned by Order No. ------ (insert number of order on Schedule A assigning the rating).

If, however, the purchase order contains the specific identifying certification prescribed by an order on Schedule A or by M-148, the notation prescribed by this paragraph shall not be necessary.

(2) Restriction on extension of ratings. Notwithstanding the provisions of Priorities Regulation 3, no rating specifically permitted to be used by paragraphs (a) (1), (a) (3) or (a) (4) to obtain any item on Schedule A shall be extended for the delivery of any other item on Schedule A for physical incorporation into the item. For example, a rating for fabric may not be extended to obtain yarn unless to fill an Army, Navy, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration order as permitted by subparagraph (a) (2).

(c) Specific directives. The War Production Board may issue specific directions to individual producers or processors of items listed in Schedule A, with respect to the production, fabrication, processing or delivery of items to meet particular military or civilian requirements, and no producer or processor shall produce, fabricate, process, deliver or accept delivery contrary to directions.

(d) Equitable distribution. (This paragraph does not apply to sales by retailers, inasmuch as the Fair Distribution Policy for retailers is defined in Declaration of Policy of July 15, 1943.) Preference ratings are given to certain orders to further the war program. It is the policy of the War Production Board that items listed in Schedule A not required to fill rated orders shall be distributed equitably. In making such distribution due regard should be given to essential civilian needs, and there should be no discrimination in the acceptance or filing of orders as between persons who meet the seller's regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment.

Under this policy every seller of the items, so far as practicable, should make available an equitable proportion of his merchandise to his customers periodically, without prejudice because of their size, location or relationship as affiliated outlets.

It is not the intention to interfere with established channels and methods of distribution unless necessary to meet war or essential civilian needs. If voluntary observance of the policy outlined is inadequate to achieve equitable distribution, the War Production Board may issue specific directions to named concerns. A failure to comply with a specific direction shall be deemed a violation.

(e) Rejects, over-runs and seconds—(1) Definitions. "Rejects" means anything made to fill a rated order but rejected by the person ordering it because of defects, failure to deliver on time, or for any other reason. The term also is used to include seconds, over-runs or by-products. A "Second" is anything made to fill a rated order but not actually offered or tendered to the purchaser because of defects, or for any other reason. An "Over-run" is anything made to fill a rated order but not delivered because in excess of the quantity actually needed to fill the order. A "By-product" is anything produced entirely or partly from a reject.

(2) No one may purposely make a reject. No manufacturer shall make any product on Schedule A in such a way that he knows or should know that he will probably produce a reject. This paragraph does not prohibit the production of seconds, over-runs or by-products to the extent that they are unavoidable in the manufacturer's operations.

(3) Restrictions on the disposition of rejects. No manufacturer may sell or deliver a reject and no one may accept delivery of a reject from a manufacturer except as permitted by this order or Schedule B, C, D or E.

Rejected hides, skins and leather and products made primarily therefrom may be disposed of as authorized under General Conservation Order M-310.

Any item listed on Schedule A but not listed on Schedules B, C, D or E, or covered as to disposition of rejects by M-310 or by any direction issued pursuant to this order, may be disposed of without regard to the limitations of § 944.11 of Priorities Regulation 1.

(4) How to get needed permission to dispose of a reject. Any manufacturer who under the terms of this order needs specific permission to dispose of a reject may apply by letter to the War Production Board stating the number of the contract, the amount of material to be produced under it, the kinds of such material, a detailed statement of quantities and kinds of rejects, a copy of the rejection, and a statement of the efforts he has made to dispose of the rejects to the buyer. If the War Production Board decides he ought to be allowed to dispose of the reject, it will give him specific instructions.

(5) Effect of specific instructions on disposition. The War Production Board may issue specific instructions in writing to anyone respecting the use and disposition of rejects or material obtained with priorities assistance, but not used for the purpose for which the priorities assistance was given. These instructions may relate to rejects not yet manufactured on the date of their issuance. They must be obeyed even if they conflict with other provisions of this order.

(6) Reports. Manufacturers of textile, clothing and leather products shall report their rejects at such times and in such manner as the War Production Board may from time to time require, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(7) Records. All persons affected by this order shall keep for at least two (2) years records showing the quantities and kinds of rejects produced by them and the disposition thereof.

(f) Miscellaneous provisions—(1) Applicability of regulations. Except as otherwise provided herein, this order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of the War Production Board as amended from time to time.

(2) Violations and false statements. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(3) Communications. All reports to be filed hereunder and communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to the War Production Board, Textile, Clothing and Leather Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-328.

SEC. 2. To what transactions and persons this regulation is applicable. (a) This regulation covers all sales and deliveries of crude petroleum, and petroleum and natural gas, either by producers, sellers, refiners, or by any other persons, except that nothing in this price regulation shall be construed to authorize the regulation of a rate that is exempt from control by the Office of Price Administration under the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942.

SEC. 3. Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of crude petroleum alone or in conjunction with any other materials, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding or by a change in the quality of a product, or otherwise.

Said registration and licensing provisions became effective as to person selling at wholesale on May 11, 1942, and as to persons selling at retail on May 18, 1942.

NOTE: Procedural Regulation No. 6 (7 F.R. 5067, 5665) provides for the filing of applications for adjustment of maximum prices for commodities or services under Government contracts or subcontracts. Supplementary Order No. 9 (7 F.R. 5444) makes the provisions of Procedural Regulation No. 6 applicable to all price regulations, with the exception of those on scrap, waste, and salvage materials.

(2) Such application for adjustment shall be accompanied by a statement under oath setting forth, (i) the percentage of shares or units of any issues of securities of the subsidiary corporation or corporations held beneficially or of record by any person or persons and the names and post office addresses of such person or persons, (ii) the hardship or inequity which would result to the petitioner from failure to grant the petition.

(3) An application for adjustment under this paragraph shall be filed with the Petroleum Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. in the manner provided for applications for adjustment under Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1

SEC. 7. Definitions. (a) When used in this regulation the term "person" includes any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, their legal successors and representatives.

(b) "Pool" means any underground accumulation of crude petroleum or associated hydro carbon substances, including but not limited to natural gas, constituting a single and separate reservoir or source of supply within a field, area, or horizon whether or not presently discovered or developed.

(i) "Dry gas" means any natural or petroleum gas, and refinery gas, sold for consumption either directly as fuel or to be consumed in the production of any other commodity or for use in gas lift, pressure maintenance or repressuring operations, and includes such gas when delivered directly from wells, and the residue gas resulting from extraction operations.

Article II—Maximum Prices for Crude Petroleum

NOTE: How to determine maximum prices. To determine the maximum price for crude petroleum, first examine section 8 to see whether a specific price has been established for the particular field. If no price has been established for the particular field, then the formula in section 9 shall be used to determine the maximum price.

SEC. 8. Specific prices. The following specific prices shall be the maximum prices for the items named at the points enumerated below. If a contract was in effect on October 1, 1941 for the purchase of crude petroleum at the receiving tank at a price in excess of the highest posted price as of October 1, 1941 for the given pool applicable to such production or for the purchase of crude petroleum at a point other than at the receiving tank at a price in excess of such posted price, and if a specific maximum price has been established for crude petroleum produced at such pool under section 8 then the maximum price at the receiving tank or at such other point for the production covered by the contract, or any renewal of such contract, or a new contract between the same buyer and seller concerning the same production, shall be the sum of the contract price and the difference between the specific price as set out in this section 8 and the highest posted price as of October 1, 1941.

Illustration: A contract for the purchase of crude petroleum was in effect on October 1, 1941 at 25¢ per barrel above the posted price, which posted price was $1.00 per barrel, and a specific price for the pool is established at $1.10 per barrel. The maximum price will be the sum of the contract price and the difference between the specific price and the posted price. The difference between the specific price ($1.10) and the posted price ($1.00) is .10, therefore the maximum price would be 10¢ plus the contract price ($1.25) or $1.35.

Where contracts of the type described above were in effect on October 1, 1941, duly authenticated copies of such contracts shall be filed by the purchaser with the Petroleum Branch of the Office of Price Administration at Washington, D. C. within thirty days after August 19, 1943, unless copies of said contracts have heretofore been filed with the Office of Price Administration.

(a) Arkansas—(1) McKamie, Dorcheat, Macedonia and Big Creek pools. The maximum price at the receiving tank for sour distillate produced in the McKamie pool, Lafayette County, Arkansas, and in the Dorcheat pool, the Macedonia pool and Big Creek pool, Columbia County, Arkansas, shall be $1.25 per barrel.

(b) California—(1) Ventura Avenue field. Effective February 2, 1942, the maximum price at the receiving tank for royalty crude petroleum produced in the Ventura Avenue Oil Field on all sales made to Shell Oil Company, Inc., lessee, and its successors and assigns by the persons entitled from time to time to share in the royalty interests reserved under oil leases known as the Taylor, Edison and Gosnell leases, shall be as follows:

A. P. I. gravity:	Prices per barrel
26–26.9	$1.075
27–27.9	1.11
28–28.9	1.14
29–29.9	1.1675
30–30.9	1.195

Maximum prices for crude petroleum of gravities higher or lower than those set forth above shall be the prices for such gravities established as of October 1, 1941 between Tidewater Associated Oil Company and certain of its lessors in the Ventura Avenue Oil Field.

(2) Various designated fields. The maximum prices at the receiving tank for crude petroleum of the gravities specified in the table below and produced in the fields designated therein shall be as follows:

SEC. 9. Formula for determining maximum prices. (a) The maximum price at the receiving tank for crude petroleum from any given pool shall be the posted purchase price as of October 1, 1941 for such pool.

(b) Where on October 1, 1941, there was for any given pool no posted purchase price, or more than one posted purchase price, the maximum price for a particular producer at the receiving tank for crude petroleum from such pool shall be the price paid for crude petroleum at any receiving tank of the same producer as of October 1, 1941 unless this price is below the highest of the posted purchase prices, if any, and in that case, the maximum price shall be the highest posted purchase price: Provided, however, That a price paid pursuant to a contract in effect on October 1, 1941 and entered into prior to that date, shall not be considered in determining the maximum price for crude petroleum unless the contract price reflected current market conditions on or about October 1, 1941.

(d) Where the maximum price for any sale of crude petroleum at the receiving tank cannot be determined under (a) through (c) above, the seller or purchaser shall set a tentative price for the crude petroleum at the particular receiving tank or tanks which shall be in line with the maximum prices for comparable crude petroleum in the same general area. Within ten days after setting such a tentative price the seller or purchaser shall file with the Petroleum Branch of the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., a written request for approval of such tentative price. The person filing such request shall file in connection therewith a statement setting forth:

(1) Such tentative price.

(2) An explanation as to why it is impossible to determine his maximum price under paragraph (a), (b) or (c) of this section 9.

(3) A description of the available transportation facilities, and a description of the gravity, characteristics and source of the crude petroleum in question.

Such tentative price shall be the maximum price for crude petroleum produced from the same pool until a substitute maximum price is set in writing by the Petroleum Branch of the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. If a seller and purchaser have agreed upon a price for the sale of crude petroleum subject to the approval of the Office of Price Administration, a maximum price determined in accordance with this paragraph (d) shall be effective retroactively to February 2, 1942 or the date of the agreement whichever is later.

(1) Such tentative differential,

(2) An explanation as to why it is impossible to determine his maximum price at the particular point under paragraph (e) of this regulation,

(3) The location of the source of the crude petroleum in question and of the particular delivery point, and

(4) An itemized statement of the costs involved in transporting the crude petroleum from the receiving tank to the particular delivery point and of any other items comprising the tentative differential.

Such tentative differential shall be the seller's maximum differential for the particular sale and for all subsequent sales of crude petroleum from the same receiving tank delivered at that point unless it is disapproved in writing or a substitute maximum differential is set in writing by the Office of Price Administration. If a seller and purchaser have agreed upon a price for a sale of crude petroleum at a point other than at the receiving tank subject to the approval of the Office of Price Administration, a maximum differential determined in accordance with this paragraph (f) shall be effective retroactively to February 2, 1942 or the date of the agreement, whichever is later.

Article III—Petroleum and Natural Gas

SEC. 10. Wet gas. (a) A seller's maximum price at any particular time for wet gas produced from any given field shall be the highest price that could be charged at that time under the terms and conditions of any contract which was in effect on May 1, 1942 between the seller and the purchaser for the sale of wet gas produced from such field.

(b) If a seller had no contract in effect with a particular purchaser on May 1, 1942, for wet gas produced from any given field, then such seller's maximum price to such purchaser at any given field shall be the highest price that could be charged at that time under the terms and conditions of any contract which was in effect on May 1, 1942, between such seller and a purchaser of the same class for the sale of wet gas produced from such field.

(c) Where a maximum price for wet gas cannot be determined under (a) or (b), or where a maximum price has been determined under (a) or (b) and the purchaser wishes to extract, condense and save additional products from the wet gas not contemplated by the contract nor by any contract between a seller and a purchaser of the same class in the given field, a tentative maximum price may be set. The purchaser shall make a request in writing to the Petroleum Branch of the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. for approval of such tentative maximum price within 15 days after it has been set by him. In connection with his request, the purchaser shall file with the said Office a statement setting forth (1) an explanation as to why it is impossible for the seller to establish a maximum price under paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section 10, (2) the tentative maximum price, and an explanation of the method used in arriving at such price, (3) the maximum prices for sellers and purchasers of the same class at the two nearest fields to the one in question, if known, and (4) if a written contract has been entered into, an authenticated copy thereof. The tentative maximum price shall be the maximum price for the production from the field to purchasers of the same class unless the tentative price is disapproved by the Office of Price Administration within 15 days from the date it is filed as provided above. Ordinarily a tentative price set under this paragraph (c) will not be approved unless such tentative price is in line with the maximum prices for sellers and purchasers of the same class at the nearest fields to the one in question. A tentative price which has been approved as a maximum price hereunder, may subsequently be changed by order of the Price Administrator.

SEC. 11. Dry gas. (a) Where a contract for the sale of dry gas was in effect on May 1, 1942, the seller's maximum price to the same purchaser for deliveries of dry gas produced from the same source or sources as the dry gas covered by the contract shall not exceed the price that could be charged for such deliveries under the terms of the contract that was in effect on May 1, 1942: Provided, however, That where under the terms of any contract in effect on May 1, 1942 between a seller and a purchaser, the price for dry gas was adjustable to the price of fuel oil, the seller's maximum price to such purchaser shall be computed by regarding the maximum price of fuel oil on May 1, 1942 as the price of such fuel oil.

(b) Where a seller had contracts in effect on May 1, 1942 for the sale of dry gas but did not then have a contract with a particular purchaser for dry gas produced from the same source or sources as the dry gas covered by those contracts, the seller's maximum price to that purchaser for deliveries of dry gas shall not exceed the highest price that could be charged for such deliveries under (a) to a purchaser of the same class. If the seller had no contracts in effect on May 1, 1942 with purchasers of the same class, then, his maximum price shall be determined under (c) below.

(c) Where a seller cannot determine his maximum price under (a) or (b) above, then his maximum price for deliveries of dry gas shall be the highest maximum price of his most closely competitive seller of the same class to a purchaser of the same class as determined under (a).

(d) Notwithstanding the provisions of other paragraphs of this section 11, a seller's maximum price for deliveries of dry gas to a particular purchaser shall be either the maximum price established under paragraphs (a), (b) or (c) of this section 11 or a price agreed upon between the seller and the purchaser and reported in writing to the Petroleum Branch of the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., by such seller within 10 days of the date of the agreement, which price must be in line with the level of maximum prices for dry gas generally prevailing in the general producing area, or if there is only one producer of dry gas in one general producing area, a price in line with the level of maximum prices prevailing in the nearest producing area in which similar conditions obtain. Once the seller has determined his maximum price for deliveries of dry gas to a particular purchaser under this paragraph (d) that price is his maximum price to that purchaser thereafter.

The seller may not accept payment for deliveries of dry gas subject to a maximum price determined under paragraph (d) until fifteen days have elapsed after mailing the report of such maximum price. Within the fifteen day period, the price so reported shall be subject to adjustment by the Office of Price Administration. Subsequent to this fifteen day period, such price shall be subject to adjustment at any time upon written order of the Office of Price Administration.

In connection with the report required in paragraph (d) and concurrently therewith the following information shall be submitted to the Petroleum Branch of the Office of Price Administration.

By the Seller. (1) The seller's present maximum price for dry gas established by this regulation and the maximum price agreed upon accompanied both by a statement as to the point (such as the well-head, the pipe line or pipe line terminus) at which delivery to the purchaser is made, and by copies of the contract (if any) on the basis of which the present maximum price is established and of the proposed renewal thereof, or of the new contract for the sale of dry gas contemplated by the parties.

PART 1499—COMMODITIES AND SERVICES

[Rev. MPR 204]

SPECIAL SALES OF INDUSTRIAL MATERIALS

Maximum Price Regulation 204 is redesignated Revised Maximum Price Regulation 204 and is revised and amended to read as set forth herein.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator it is necessary and proper to establish in a separate regulation maximum prices for special sales of industrial materials which, because of their occasional and nonrepetitive character, in many cases cannot be satisfactorily priced under the provisions of specific price regulations or under the General Maximum Price Regulation.[1]

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by this Revised Maximum Price Regulation 204 (herein referred to as "this regulation") are, and will be, generally fair and equitable and in conformity with the level of prices established by the regulations heretofore adopted by the Office of Price Administration, and will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this Regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

§ 1499.501 Maximum prices for special sales of industrial materials. Under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Order No. 9250, and in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1,[3] issued by the Office of Price Administration, Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 204 (Special Sales of Industrial Materials) which is annexed hereto and made a part hereof, is hereby issued.

AUTHORITY: § 1499.501 issued under Pub. Laws 421 and 729, 77th Cong., and E.O. 9250, 7 F.R. 7871.

Article I—Coverage

SECTION 1. Purpose of this regulation. The purpose of this regulation is to provide uniform rules for determining the maximum prices applicable to special sales of industrial materials. These sales usually, but not necessarily, are governed by Priorities Regulation No. 13 or Directive No. 16 issued by the War Production Board and involve materials which have become excess or idle by reason of War Production Board orders or cancellation or completion of contracts.

SEC. 2. Definition of "special sale" and "industrial material". (a) "Special sale" means any sale, lease or barter (other than sales excepted under section 4 hereof) of a commodity by a person who does not normally sell the commodity in the same form in the ordinary and regular course of business. It also includes deliveries or transfers pursuant to such a sale, lease or barter. A sale of a commodity which was originally purchased for export but which is sold domestically by a person who does not normally sell such commodities domestically shall be deemed to be a special sale.

(b) "Industrial material" means any commodity or unassembled part or product except the following:

(1) Scrap, i. e., the waste or by-product of any kind of fabricating or manufacturing operation.

(2) Commodities which are being rationed at the retail level by O. P. A. or any other government agency.

(3) Foodstuffs, medicines or other commodities for human or animal consumption.

(4) Tools, machinery, assembled equipment, or other assembled products.

(5) Finished consumers' goods which are in the form in which they are normally sold at retail and which do not require in order to be used to be further processed or made part of, or affixed to, a building, structure or assembly.

(6) Used supplies or equipment not acquired or produced by the present holder for the purpose of sale.

SEC. 3. Coverage of this regulation. Except for section 23 (a) this regulation applies only to special sales of industrial materials; other sales or deliveries of industrial materials and all sales or deliveries of other commodities are not affected by this regulation.

SEC. 4. Relation to other regulations. This regulation establishes maximum prices for all special sales of industrial materials except sales covered by MPR 174—Freight Car Material Sold by Car Builders,[4] sales covered by SO 10—Judicial sales,[5] sales covered by SO 32—Netherlands Purchasing Commission,[6] sales covered by SO 43—Maximum prices for certain sales of certain surplus stocks,[7] and sales covered by SO 48—Accommodation Sales of Industrial Materials.[8] This regulation, therefore, supersedes all price regulations except those above mentioned as to all special sales of industrial materials. No other price regulations whether issued before or after this regulation apply to special sales of industrial materials unless this regulation is expressly amended to except such other price regulation from the provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 5. Geographical application. The provisions of this regulation shall apply only in the forty-eight States of the United States and in the District of Columbia.

Article II—Maximum Prices

SEC. 6. Industrial material which is in the same, or substantially the same, form in which the seller originally purchased it.—(a) Sales to a producer, warehouseman, distributor or jobber. On a special sale to a producer who normally produces the same or similar material for sale or to a warehouseman, distributor or jobber there shall be no maximum price.

(b) Sale to any other person. On a special sale to any other person

(1) The maximum price f. o. b. present location shall be:

(i) The maximum price which his original supplier would be allowed to charge by existing price regulations if he were to sell the material in its present form to the present seller at the present time plus any transportation charges (including trucking or cartage from railroad siding to present location), brokerage fees, or other charges actually paid by the present seller to third persons (not his own employees) in purchasing the material and transporting it to its present location. However, the amount added for such charges or fees may not exceed any limitation imposed thereon by any price regulation applying to them.

(ii) Whenever the quantity of material being sold is equal to or smaller than the amount which the present seller most recently purchased from his original supplier, "the maximum price which the original supplier would be allowed to charge" shall be figured on the basis of the quantity of material so purchased and not the quantity presently being sold.

(iii) Whenever the quantity of material sold is larger than the quantity which the present seller most recently purchased from his original supplier "the maximum price which the original supplier would be allowed to charge" shall be figured on the basis of the quantity sold.

(2) If the maximum price cannot be figured under the preceding subparagraph (1), the maximum price f. o. b. present location shall be the actual delivered cost of the material to the present seller. "Actual delivered cost" is defined in section 14 (b).

SEC. 7. Industrial material which has been fabricated, processed or otherwise altered, or alloyed, mixed or otherwise combined so that it is no longer in substantially the same form in which the present seller originally purchased it.—(a) Sale to a person who normally purchases material in such form. On a special sale to a person who regularly purchases material in substantially its present form for use in further manufacturing or processing operations or for resale in such form, or on a special sale to a person who would otherwise have manufactured or processed the material into substantially its present form in the course of his operations:

(1) The maximum price shall be the dollars and cents price which the present seller would have been allowed to charge by any price regulation which would have applied to such sale if this regulation had not been issued, or

(2) If no dollars and cents price established by any price regulation would have applied to such sale, the maximum price f. o. b. present location shall be the sum of the following:

(i) Actual delivered cost of the material to the seller.

(ii) Direct labor costs in putting the material into its present form, plus the net cost including transportation charges to the seller of any manufacturing or processing operation performed by an independent contractor.

(iii) The same percentage markup over (i) and (ii) above which was obtained by the seller during the last previous months production of the completed product or products into which the materials would originally have gone.

(b) Sales to any other persons. On a special sale to any other person, the material shall be considered as scrap, waste or salvage and

(1) The maximum price shall be the dollars and cents price which the present seller would have been allowed to charge by any price regulation which would have applied to such a sale of the material as scrap, waste, or salvage if this regulation had not been issued, or

(2) If no dollars and cents price established by any price regulation would have applied to such a sale, the maximum price f. o. b. present location of the material shall be 80% of the actual delivered cost of the material to the seller. However, this subparagraph (2) applies only on a special sale to an industrial consumer or an agency of the United States; on a special sale of such material to any other person there shall be no maximum price.

(c) Meaning of "dollar and cents maximum price". The term "dollar and cents maximum price" means any price fixed by, or determinable under, any

(1) Which is arrived at by the use of a formula requiring the seller to take into account certain or all of his production costs and mark-ups, or

(2) Which is determined by reference to the price at which the seller or some other person sold or offered the material for sale during a given period of time. However, a maximum price established by reference to a published price list shall be considered to be a "dollar and cents maximum price". The term includes all discounts, allowances, or premiums for quantity, quality, shape, form, class of purchaser, or promptness of payment required or permitted by such price regulation. In computing what delivery charges, if any, the seller may add to the maximum price thus established, the provisions required or permitted by such price regulation shall be followed.

SEC. 8. Cost of packing and loading. Except as hereinafter set forth in this Section, whenever maximum prices are established by this regulation on an f. o. b. present location basis, they include the cost of packing the material and loading it on the first conveyance that is to transport the material to the buyer. If the material is sold "where is" or "as is, where is", the maximum price must be reduced by an amount fairly reflecting the cost to the buyer of loading or of packing and loading the material for shipment to the buyer. However, if a seller pursuant to an allocation or direction of the War Production Board ships material in different quantities than originally delivered to him and such shipment in different quantities requires an increase in the cost of packages and packing over the cost of packages and packing in the quantity originally delivered to him, the seller may add to the maximum prices otherwise established by this regulation on an f. o. b. present location basis the exact cost of packages used plus the difference in cost between his cost of packing the new packages and the cost, if any, of his packing the materials in the quantity originally delivered to him.

SEC. 9. Commissions, fees and similar charges. No commission, fees, brokerage or similar charges may be paid by the buyer to the seller or to a third person (not his own employee) in addition to the maximum price established by this regulation.

SEC. 10. Sales for export. The maximum price at which a person may export industrial material, pursuant to a special sale, shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation[*] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 11. Price changes based on purchases under this regulation. No petition or application for amendment, adjustment, exception, or other relief will be granted by the Price Administrator to the extent that such petition or application is based directly or indirectly upon the purchase or receipt of industrial materials pursuant to this regulation at a price higher than the maximum price which such person could legally have paid if he had purchased the material at the same time from his regular sources of supply.

Article III—Definitions

SEC. 12. Meaning of "f. o. b. present location". The term "f. o. b. present location" means that the material must be packed for shipment and loaded on the first conveyance that is to transport the material to the buyer. Thus, if the seller has a railroad siding and the material is to be transported to the buyer by rail, the phrase means f. o. b. railroad cars. If the material is to reach the buyer by truck, the phrase means f. o. b. truck. However, if the seller has no railroad siding and the material is to reach the buyer by rail after having been shipped to a freight terminal by truck, the phrase means f. o. b. truck.

SEC. 13. Meaning of "present", "price regulation" and "person". (a) The term "present" means at the time of the special sale or the contract for the special sale. "Presently" shall be similarly interpreted.

(b) The term "price regulation" means a price schedule effective in accordance with the provisions of section 206 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, or a maximum price regulation heretofore or hereafter issued, or an amendment to, or order under, any such schedule or regulation, whether such amendment or order is heretofore or hereafter issued.

(c) The term "person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association or other organized group of persons or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing and includes the United States or any agency thereof or any other government or any of its political subdivisions or any agency of the foregoing.

SEC. 14. Meaning of "original supplier" and "actual delivered cost". (a) The term "original supplier" means the person from whom the seller originally purchased or acquired the material. However, if the seller originally purchased or acquired the material from more than one supplier and if the seller cannot identify which part of the material was purchased or acquired from each supplier, the last person from whom any part of the material was purchased or acquired shall be considered as the original supplier for all such material.

(b) The term "actual delivered cost" means the net price per unit actually paid by the seller for the material after deducting all discounts allowed to the seller and adding all transportation and delivery charges actually paid by the seller. It does not include any storage, handling, or other charges paid or incurred after the material was received at the seller's plant or warehouse. If the material was originally purchased at more than one price and if the seller cannot identify which portion of the material was purchased at each price, the actual delivered cost shall be the delivered cost paid for the last portion of the material received since January 1, 1940 in the quantity, grade and specification being sold, or if no such quantity, grade and specification was received then the nearest quantity, grade and specification received within such period, unless the seller maintains an average delivered cost valuation upon his inventory of such material, in which case that average delivered cost shall be considered as the actual delivered cost. If no material has been received since January 1, 1940 and the seller has not maintained an average delivered cost valuation upon his inventory of such materials, then the actual delivered cost shall be the delivered cost paid for the last portion of such material.

SEC. 15. Meaning of other terms. Unless the context otherwise requires, the definitions set forth in section 302 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 shall apply to other terms used in this regulation.

Article IV—Prohibitions and Enforcement

SEC. 16. Prohibited sales and deliveries. On and after the effective date of this regulation, regardless of any contract or other obligation:

(a) No person shall make a special sale of, or deliver pursuant to a special sale, any industrial material at a price higher than the maximum price permitted by this regulation.

(b) No person in the course of trade or business shall buy at a special sale, or receive pursuant to a special sale, any industrial material at a price higher than the maximum price permitted by this regulation. However, the buyer will be considered to have complied with this paragraph if he receives from the seller a written statement that, to the best of the seller's knowledge, information, and belief, the prices charged do not exceed the maximum prices established by this regulation, and if, in such case, the buyer has no knowledge of the maximum price and no cause to doubt the accuracy of the affirmation; and

(c) No person shall agree, offer, solicit or attempt to do any of the acts prohibited by this section.

SEC. 17. Prohibited evasive practices. Any practice or device, which is an attempt to obtain or has the effect of obtaining a price higher than the maximum without actually charging a higher price as such, is prohibited and is as much in violation of this regulation as an outright excessive price.

SEC. 18. Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those provided in this regulation may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

SEC. 19. Enforcement. (a) Persons violating any provision of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions and suits for treble damages provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(b) No war procurement agency or any contracting or paying officer thereof shall be subject to any liability, civil or criminal, imposed by this regulation or the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. "War procurement agency" means the War Department, the Department of the Navy, the United States Maritime Commission, the Lend-Lease Section of the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department; the following subsidiaries of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation: Rubber Reserve Corporation, Metals Reserve Company, Defense Plant Corporation and Defense Supplies Corporation; the government of any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States under the terms of the Act of March 11, 1941; or an agency of any of the foregoing.

Article V—Miscellaneous

SEC. 20. Records and reports. (a) On and after the effective date of this regulation every person making special sales of industrial materials shall keep available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for as long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, continues in effect:

(1) Complete and accurate records of each said sale showing:

(i) A description of the material,

(ii) The quantity sold,

(iii) When, at what price, and to whom the material was sold, and

(iv) How the selling price was arrived at.

(2) All available records showing when, at what price and from whom the material was purchased, and what transportation charges, brokerage fees or other charges the present seller paid to third persons (not the present seller's own employees).

(b) Other records and reports. Persons subject to this regulation shall keep such other records and submit such other reports, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942, as the Office of Price Administration may from time to time require or permit, either in addition to or in substitution for records and reports required by this regulation.

SEC. 21. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery; but no person may unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration to whom the authority to grant such authorization has been delegated. The authorization will be given by order, except that it may be given by letter or telegram when the contemplated revision will be the granting of an individual application for adjustment.

SEC. 22. Federal and state taxes. Any tax upon, or incident to, the sale or delivery of industrial material imposed by any statute of the United States or statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof, shall be treated as follows in determining the seller's maximum price for special sales of industrial material and in preparing the records of such seller with respect thereto:

(a) If, at the time the seller determines his maximum price, the statute or ordinance imposing such tax does not prohibit the seller from stating and collecting the tax separately from the purchase price, and the seller does state it separately, the seller may collect, in addition to the maximum price, the amount of the tax actually paid by him or an amount equal to the amount of tax paid by any prior vendor and separately stated and collected from the seller by the vendor from whom he purchased, and in such case the seller shall not include such amount in determining the maximum price under this regulation.

(b) In all other cases the seller may not collect the amount of such tax in addition to the maximum price.

SEC. 23. Special provisions for certain sales and deliveries. (a) Whenever the War Production Board or any other government department or agency has announced a program for the purchase of idle, frozen or surplus inventories of industrial materials, and an order has been issued under this section identifying such program and establishing maximum prices for such purchases, the maximum prices thus established shall supersede the maximum prices established by this regulation, or any other price regulation which would have applied to such sales or deliveries unless otherwise hereafter specifically provided in that price regulation.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of sections 6 and 7 of this regulation, the maximum price f. o. b. point of shipment applicable to special sales of industrial materials by one public utility producer, as defined in W. P. B. Utilities Order U–1, to another public utility producer, in accordance with W. P. B. Utilities Order U–1, shall be the book cost of such industrial material to the present seller thereof. "Book cost" means average net price actually paid by the present seller (after deducting all discounts or other deductions of which the present seller was beneficiary and adding any transportation or delivery charges actually paid by the present seller) plus purchasing, warehousing and related accounting costs attributable to the material and actually incurred by the present seller but not to exceed 10% of the average net price.

(c) Nothing in this regulation or in any other price regulation, unless otherwise hereafter specifically provided in that price regulation, shall apply to special sales of industrial materials by one Rural Electrification Administration financed cooperative to another Rural Electrification Administration financed cooperative with the approval of the Rural Electrification Administration.

SEC. 24. Applications for adjustment and petitions for amendment.—(a) Applications for adjustment. Any person seeking relief from a maximum price established by this Regulation may present the special circumstances of his case in an application for an order of adjustment. Such an application shall be filed in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, shall set forth the facts relating to the hardship to which such maximum price subjects the applicant, together with a statement of the reasons why he believes that the granting of relief in his case will not defeat or impair the policy of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, Executive Orders 9250 and 9328 and of this regulation to eliminate the danger of inflation and shall establish that the prospective purchaser is able and willing to absorb such increase in price.

(b) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking a modification of any provision of this Regulation (other than an adjustment provided by paragraph (a) of this section) may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, issued by the Office of Price Administration.

Effective date. This regulation shall become effective August 19, 1943.

NOTE: All reporting and record keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 13th day of August 1943.

Administrator.

No producer shall sell or deliver coal tar in quantities of 50 gallons or more at a price higher than the maximum price established by this regulation;

No person shall buy or receive coal tar from producers in quantities of 50 gallons or more in the course of trade or business at a price higher than the maximum price so established; and

SEC. 3. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration to whom the authority to grant such authorization has been delegated. The authorization will be given by order.

(b) Imports (Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 12[2] applicable.) The provisions of this regulation do not apply to purchases, sales, or deliveries of coal tar which originate outside of and are imported into the continental United States. SEC. 6. Records and reports. (a) Every person making a sale or purchase of coal tar after August 19, 1943, for which maximum prices are established by this regulation shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 remains in effect, accurate records of each such sale or purchase showing: the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or seller, the quantity sold or purchased, and the price charged.

(b) Persons affected by this regulation shall submit such other reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require.

SEC. 7. Evasion. The price limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase or receipt of, or relating to, coal tar, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity, or by way of commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other

(c) The maximum extent of adjustments. Price adjustments under this section will in no event exceed the higher of the following:

(c) Discounts and allowances to purchasers of different classes. The maximum prices listed in paragraph (a) shall be subject to such customary discounts and allowances for sales to purchasers of different classes as were established for sales by the seller under the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(d) The maximum price for the sale of coal tar produced in a plant not listed in paragraph (a), shall be a maximum price specifically approved by the Office of Price Administration upon application by the seller.

The application for authorization of a maximum price under this paragraph filed by a seller for a plant which did not produce and sell coal tar prior to August 20, 1943, shall include the name and address of the seller; the location of the plant; the date upon which production of coal tar is expected to begin and the estimated volume of production.

The application for authorization of a maximum price under this paragraph filed by a seller for a plant from which coal tar was produced and sold prior to August 20, 1943, shall include the name and address of the seller, the location of the plant; and the price or prices charged since October 1941 or the date when production of coal tar first began, whichever is later.

(e) The maximum prices established by paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (d) apply to good clean coal tar in which the water content has been reduced to a maximum of two percent by volume. If coal tar containing more than two percent water content by volume is shipped, the seller shall deduct the amount of such excess water content from the quantity of coal tar for which the maximum price is charged. In the event that coal tar containing more than five percent water content by volume is shipped, the seller shall also pay the proportionate amount of transportation expense for the excess water over two percent.

Example No. 1. Assume a seller shipped 1,000 gallons of coal tar containing five percent water content by volume at his maximum price. 1,000 gallons of coal tar containing two percent water content would include 20 gallons of water, whereas the same quantity of coal tar containing five percent water content would include 50 gallons of water. Accordingly, the seller must deduct the amount of the excess water content (50 gallons minus 20 gallons or 30 gallons) and charge the maximum price for 970 gallons of coal tar instead of 1,000.

Example No. 2. Assume a seller shipped 1,000 gallons of coal tar containing six percent water content by volume at his maximum price. 1,000 gallons of coal tar containing two percent water content would include 20 gallons of water, whereas the same quantity of coal tar containing six percent water content would include 60 gallons of water. Accordingly, the seller must deduct the amount of the excess water content (60 gallons minus 20 gallons or 40 gallons) and charge the maximum price for 960 gallons of coal tar instead of 1,000. In addition, the seller would be required to pay the proportionate amount of transportation expense for the excess 40 gallons of water.

Effective date. This regulation shall become effective August 20, 1943.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 14th day of August 1943.

CHESTER BOWLES,

PART 1425—LUMBER DISTRIBUTION

[Rev. MPR 215,[1] Amdt. 2]

DISTRIBUTION YARD SALES OF SOFTWOOD LUMBER

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 215 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 2 (a) is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 2. Summary of the regulation. (a) The general plan of this regulation divides lumber yards into two groups: wholesale and retail.

Wholesale distribution yards have one fixed mark-up for all their sales, regardless of quantity or purchaser: $5 and 10%.

As to retail yards, the plan is to extend specific mark-ups to them for all sales as soon as they can be worked out. So far, the only specific mark-up which applies to all retail yards in the country is the mark-up of $5 and 10% for "wholesale-type" sales, that is, sales to five large-scale classes of buyers in quantities of 5,000 feet or more. An optional pricing provision permits the application of a similar mark-up to all other sales in the common grades. Specific mark-ups are established herein for the North Central, North Atlantic, Great Plains, South Central, California, Texas, Louisiana, Mountain States, Florida and Southern areas as set forth in section 6, paragraphs (b) and (c). Outside of these particular areas, except in the case of "wholesale-type" sales and sales made under the optional pricing provision, the General Maximum Price Regulation continues to apply.

2. Section 6 (a) is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 6. Maximum prices for retail yards: All other sales (other than "wholesale-type")—(a) General. All sales out of retail yard stock other than the "wholesale-type" and the "optional pricing type" (where the optional pricing provision has been adopted) are subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation, except in the North Central, North Atlantic, Great Plains, South Central, California, Louisiana, Texas, Mountain States, Florida and Southern areas.

3. To section 6 (b), subparagraphs (9) and (10) are added to read as follows:

(9) The Florida Area consists of the State of Florida.

(10) The Southern area consists of Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

4. The head-note of section 6 (c) is amended to read as follows:

(c) Mark-ups for North Atlantic, North Central, Great Plains, South Central, California, Texas, Mountain States, Louisiana, Florida and Southern Areas.

5. In section 6 (c) (4), subdivision (vi) is redesignated (viii), and subdivision (vi) and (vii) are added, to read as follows:

(vi) In Florida Area, all quantities:

All items, 30%

(vii) In Southern Area, all quantities:

"Lower bracket" items, 25%
"Upper bracket" items, 35%

6. Section 6 (e) is amended to read as follows:

(e) Delivery in North Atlantic, North Central, Florida, and Southern Areas. The mark-ups for sales (other than "wholesale-type") in the North Atlantic, North Central, Florida, and Southern Areas include delivery within a radius of 25 miles. For deliveries more than 25 miles an addition of 10¢ per M'BM may be made for each mile beyond the first 25, but not for any part of the return trip. If the buyer picks up the lumber at the yard, no reduction in price is required; but it is a violation of this regulation for a yard unreasonably to refuse to make delivery when requested to do so, or unreasonably to insist that the buyer pick up the lumber at the yard.

This amendment shall become effective August 20, 1943.

Acting Administrator.

3. Section 1438.53 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1438.53 Packaging and transportation practices. A seller of coated or bonded abrasive products may not change the packaging and transportation charges and practices which he had in effect during March, 1942, if such change would result in higher prices to his customers.

4. Section 1438.54 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1438.54 Export sales. Export sales of coated and bonded abrasive products and of abrasive wheel stubs shall be subject to the provisions of the Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration.

Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration to whom the authority to grant such authorization has been delegated. The authorization will be given by order, except that it may be given by letter or telegram when the contemplated revision will be the granting of an individual application for adjustment.

6. Section 1438.57 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1438.57 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 316 shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase or receipt of or relating to coated or bonded abrasive products or bonded abrasive wheel stubs alone or in conjunction with any other commodity, or by way of commission, service, transportation or other charge, or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

7. Section 1438.58 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1438.58 Records and reports. (a) Every person making sales or deliveries of coated or bonded abrasive products, and every person making purchases or accepting delivery of coated or bonded abrasive products in the course of trade or business, shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for so long a period as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect, complete and accurate records of each such sale, purchase, or delivery showing the date thereof, the name of the purchaser or seller, the quantity and kind of coated or bonded abrasive products sold, purchased, or delivered, and the price received or paid therefor, and each such seller shall keep a record of all discounts, differentials, and allowances which the seller had in effect during March, 1942, with a proper identification of each such discount, differential and allowance.

C., a copy of his current price lists and discount schedules, or other statements setting forth his current selling prices for all classes of buyers, indicating in each instance his maximum price, unless such producer has already filed such information with that Office. The reports required under this paragraph (c) refer only to domestic transactions. Reports with respect to export prices are governed by the provisions of the Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration.

(d) Persons subject to this regulation shall submit such other reports to the Office of Price Administration and keep such other records as the Office of Price Administration may from time to time require.

NAVY DEPARTMENT.

MATERNITY AND INFANT CARE FOR WIVES AND INFANTS OF MEN IN MILITARY SERVICE

1. An appropriation of $4,400,000 has been made available to the Department of Labor for grants to States, including Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia, to continue the plan established by the Children's Bureau of that Department, to provide medical, nursing, and hospital maternity and infant care for wives and infants of enlisted men in the armed forces of the United States of the fourth, fifth, sixth, or seventh grades during the fiscal year 1944.

2. Under this plan the wife of any enlisted man of the Navy, Coast Guard, or Marine Corps in the four lowest pay grades, including those deceased or missing in action, irrespective of her legal residence and financial status, and providing the State in which she is presently located has a plan approved by the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, is eligible to make application for and receive medical and hospital maternity services. The child (or children), under 1 year of age, of an enlisted man in the above categories is likewise eligible for medical, surgical, and hospital care under this plan provided application is completed and signed by the wife or guardian. These services are available, however, only when similar services are not otherwise provided by the Navy or from facilities provided by or through official State or local health agencies.

3. Application forms for this care are available from State and local health and welfare agencies, American Red Cross chapters, prenatal clinics, and other community agencies, and from local physicians participating in the program. Requests for information concerning the program in any State should be addressed to the director of maternal and child health in care of the State health department.

4. The application form is to be completed and signed by the wife or guardian and by the attending physician (private or clinic physician) prior to receiving hospitalization and forwarded by the physician or clinic to the State director of maternal and child health or to a deputy authorized by him to receive such applications. Funds under this appropriation cannot be used in part payment for more expensive hospital accommodations contracted for by either the enlisted man or his wife.

5. The service number of the enlisted man (husband) must be entered on the application. In order that authorization for care under this program may be expedited, personnel whose dependents are authorized to receive such care should inform their wives of their service numbers. The service number must be verified by the attending physician from the applicant's family allowance award notice, which is mailed to dependents prior to receiving their first family allowance check, or from a letter from her husband. In exceptional cases when this is not possible the State agency must verify the husband's service number through other sources.

6. Applications will be approved and authorization for care given only when the medical or hospital care is provided by doctors of medicine and by hospitals meeting the standards established by the State health agencies.

7. Commandants and commanding officers are directed to give this information wide publicity.

[Docket No. B-375]

FLAT CREEK COAL COMPANY

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION, ETC.

Order granting application for disposition of compliance proceeding without formal hearing, terminating code membership, providing for payment of tax for restoration of code membership, and directing code member to cease and desist.

A complaint, pursuant to the provisions of sections 4 II (j) and 5 (b) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937 (the Act), was duly filed with the Bituminous Coal Division (the Division), on March 8, 1943, by District Board No. 9, alleging that the Flat Creek Coal Company, a Code Member (the Code Member), wilfully violated the Bituminous Coal Code (the Code) or rules and regulations thereunder, as more fully set forth in the complaint.

Said complaint was duly served on the Code Member on March 6, 1943, and the matter noticed for hearing at Madisonville, Kentucky, on July 13, 1943, which hearing was subsequently cancelled.

Application of the code member for disposition of this proceeding without formal hearing pursuant to § 301.132 of the rules of practice and procedure was duly filed with the Division on June 24, 1943, and amended July 7, 1943.

Notice of filing of said application, as amended, was duly published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 26, 1943, which notice set forth in detail the violations alleged in the complaint, the code member's admissions with respect thereto, and its consent to the entry of a cease and desist order, an order revoking its code membership, and the imposition of a tax in the amount of $33.38 as a condition precedent to restoration of code membership.

Said notice provided that interested parties desiring to do so might, within fifteen (15) days from the date of publication of said notice, file recommendations or requests for informal conferences with respect to said application, as amended, and no such recommendations or requests have been filed with the Division.

Now, therefore, pursuant to the authority vested in the Division by the Act, and upon said application filed pursuant to § 301.132 of the rules of practice and procedure before the Division for disposition of this proceeding without formal hearing, and upon evidence in possession of the Division:

It is hereby found that:

1. The Flat Creek Coal Company is a corporation, duly organized and existing under the laws of the State of Kentucky, having its principal place of business in Providence, Kentucky, and operates the Flat Creek Mine (Mine Index No. 30) located in Hopkins County, Kentucky, in District No. 9.

2. The code membership of the Flat Creek Coal Company became effective on June 21, 1937.

3. Code member sold to William H. Chandler, Jr., Coals, a registered distributor of Memphis, Tennessee, for resale and delivery by rail to Tri-State Compress Company, Memphis, Tennessee, on or about November 2, 1940, approximately 50.35 net tons of 3" x 1¼" (Size Group No. 6) coal, which was substituted on an order for 2" x 1¼" coal without approval thereof by the Director and without any application for such approval having been filed, at $1.60 per net ton, whereas, the minimum price therefor was $1.70 per net ton as set forth in the Schedule of Effective Minimum Prices for District No. 9 for all Shipments Except Truck.

4. Code member intentionally misrepresented the size of coal referred to in paragraph 3 above and also the sizes of 22,637.42 tons of coal sold to various purchasers during the period October 12, 1940 to December 11, 1941, inclusive, by showing on the invoices therefor, sizes other than those actually sold and shipped.

5. The amount of tax that should be imposed pursuant to Section 5 (b) and 5 (c) of the Act as a condition to restoration of membership in the Code should be limited to the 50.35 tons of coal referred to in paragraph 3 hereinabove and the amount of tax which should be imposed is $33.38 which is 39 percent of the total minimum price of such coal f. o. b. the mine.

Now, therefore, upon the basis of the foregoing findings and the said admissions and consent filed by the Code Member, pursuant to said § 301.132 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure, It is ordered, That the aforesaid application be and it hereby is granted.

It is further ordered, That pursuant to section 5 (b) of the Act, the Code Membership of the Flat Creek Coal Company be, and the same hereby is, revoked and cancelled effective ten (10) days from the date hereof.

It is further ordered, That prior to the restoration of said Flat Creek Coal Company to membership in the Code, there shall be paid to the United States a tax in the amount of $33.38.

It is further ordered, That upon any restoration to membership in the Code, the Flat Creek Coal Company, its successors, assigns, and all other persons in privity with it, cease and desist from further violations of the Bituminous Coal Code and regulations made thereunder, and notice is hereby given that upon failure to comply with any of the terms or provisions of this order, the Division may apply to any Circuit Court of Appeals of the United States having jurisdiction for the enforcement hereof or this matter may be reopened by the Director and such action taken and orders entered as may be necessary and proper under the circumstances.

Dated: August 12, 1943.

[Docket No. D-15]

ORDER DISMISSING PROCEEDING

In the matter of proceedings to determine if certain registered distributors are bona fide merchants actively, regularly and continuously engaged in the business of purchasing coal for resale and actually reselling it in not less than cargo or railroad carload lots within the meaning of § 304.13 of the rules and regulations for the registration of distributors; and for the revocation of the registration of distributors who are not so engaged.

This proceeding was instituted by the Bituminous Coal Division upon an Order to Show Cause, dated February 18, 1942, requiring the registered distributors named in Exhibit A attached thereto, to file with the Division a verified answer on or before April 1, 1942, showing why registration certificates should not be revoked on the ground that such distributors were not bona fide merchants actively, regularly and continuously engaged in the business of purchasing coal for resale and reselling it in not less than cargo or railroad carload lots within the meaning of § 304.13 (now § 317.13) of the Rules and Regulations for the Registration of Distributors. By Order of the Director, dated October 2, 1942, the proceeding was dismissed as to 149 registered distributors named in Exhibit A annexed thereto, whose answers contained sufficient data with respect to their qualifications as distributors. Said order also cancelled and revoked the certificates of registration of 132 distributors, named in Exhibit B annexed thereto, who failed to file answers.[1] As to the remaining 77 registered distributors, listed in Exhibit C and D annexed to said order, whose answers were considered doubtful or otherwise insufficient, a hearing was held pursuant to appropriate order, on December 7, 1942, before D. C. McCurtain, a duly designated Examiner of the Division, at a hearing room thereof in Washington, D. C. Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to be present, adduce evidence, cross-examine witnesses and otherwise be heard. No Report of the Examiner has as yet been filed.[2]

[1] Of this number, 3 registered distributors, viz, Consolidated Terminal Corporation (Registration No. 1799), Liberty Fuel & Ice Company (Registration No. 5564), and Montour & Northwestern Coal Company (Registration No. 6549), have since petitioned for reinstatement and have filed answers.

The Bituminous Coal Act of 1937 expires, pursuant to applicable provisions thereof, as extended by Act of Congress, approved May 21, 1943, on August 24, 1943, at 12:01 a. m. The Marketing Rules and Regulations and the Rules and Regulations for the Registration of Distributors, promulgated by the Division pursuant to the provisions of the Act, also become inoperative on the date and at the time aforesaid. In view thereof, it is deemed appropriate that this proceeding be dismissed for all purposes as of the date of the expiration of the Act.

It is, therefore, ordered, That, effective August 24, 1943, at 12:01 a. m., the proceeding in Docket No. D-15 is dismissed.

Dated: August 12, 1943.

DISTRICT BOARD 22

ORDER DISMISSING PROCEEDING

In the matter of the petition of District Board 22, for revision of the price classifications and minimum prices for coals produced from certain mines in District 22 and sold for railroad fuel use.

This proceeding was instituted upon a petition filed with the Bituminous Coal Division, on February 22, 1943, by District Board 22, pursuant to section 4 II (d) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, requesting that the price classifications and minimum prices for "Railroad Locomotive Fuel" for the coals of the Klein No. 2 Mine (Mine Index No. 8) of the Republic Coal Company, and the Giffen Mine (Mine Index No. 6) of the Cottonwood Coal Company, located in Subdistricts 1 and 7, respectively, in District 22, be made applicable to the coals of such mines when sold to railroads for all uses. By order of the Director, dated March 6, 1943, temporary relief was granted pending final disposition of this matter, (8 F.R. 2946).

Pursuant to appropriate order, and after due notice to interested persons, a hearing was held on March 24, 1943, before D. C. McCurtain, a duly designated Examiner of the Division, at a hearing room thereof, in Denver, Colorado. Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to be present, adduce evidence, cross-examine witnesses, and otherwise be heard. [Docket No. A-1921, Part II]

ORDER TERMINATING TEMPORARY RELIEF AND DISMISSING PROCEEDINGS

In the matter of the petition of District Board No. 1 for permission to mix coals of certain mines in District No. 1.

The original petition in the above-entitled matter filed with the Division pursuant to section 4 II (d) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937 prayed for the establishment of temporary and permanent price classifications and minimum prices for the coals of certain mines in District No. 1, and for permission to mix coals of certain other mines also located in District No. 1. It appearing, however, that no final determination should be made with respect to the request for permission to mix coals produced at certain mines for the reason that insufficient facts were presented upon which to base a final determination, the request of petitioner to mix said coals was granted only temporarily and the matter was scheduled for hearing on July 1, 1943. On application of petitioner the hearing was adjourned subject to the further order of the Director. No further proceedings were had or taken with respect to said docket.

In view of the fact that the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, as amended, will cease to be in effect as of 12:01 a. m. August 24, 1943, and insufficient time remains prior to that date within which to hold a hearing and to take action necessary to a complete determination of the matter, it is deemed appropriate to terminate the temporary relief heretofore granted and to dismiss said proceedings.

Now, therefore, it is ordered, That effective 12:01 a. m. August 24, 1943 the temporary relief heretofore granted in Docket A-1921 Part II be and the same hereby is, terminated and the proceedings in said docket be, and the same hereby are dismissed as of 12:01 a. m. August 24, 1943.

Dated: August 13, 1943.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR.

Wage and Hour Division.

SORGO SYRUP PROCESSING

REVIEW OF EXEMPTION FROM MAXIMUM HOURS PROVISIONS

Notice of opportunity to petition for review of the determination denying in part and granting in part the applications for the exemption of the processing of sorgo into sorgo syrup from the maximum hours provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 pursuant to section 7 (b) (3) of the Act and Part 526 as amended of the regulations issued thereunder.

Whereas upon consideration of an application filed by the American Sugar Cane League of the U. S. A., Inc., for the exemption of the processing of sorgo into sorgo syrup in Louisiana from the maximum hours provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 pursuant to section 7 (b) (3) of the Act and Part 526, as amended, of the regulations issued thereunder, a preliminary determination was made that a prima facie case had been shown for amendment of the exemption granted under section 7 (b) (3) of the Act to that portion of the cane sugar processing and milling branch of the cane sugar industry which is located in Louisiana, to include in the exemption granted to this branch of the industry the processing of sorgo into sorgo syrup; and

Whereas within fifteen days following the publication of this preliminary determination the Administrator received an objection and request for hearing, and also received an application from the Waconia Sorghum Company, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for the exemption of the processing of sorgo into sorgo syrup outside of Louisiana as an industry of a seasonal nature; and

Whereas, pursuant to sections 526.5 and 526.6 of the regulations, the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division thereupon gave notice of a public hearing to be held at the National Offices of the Wage and Hour Division, 165 West 46 Street, New York, New York, on August 28, 1942, before Mr. Nathan Rubinstein, a duly authorized representative of the Administrator, who was authorized to receive evidence and hear arguments for the purpose of determining:

Whether the processing of sorgo into sorgo syrup in Louisiana is an integral part of the cane sugar processing and milling branch of the cane sugar industry in Louisiana, and if so, whether the combined raw sugar processing and sorgo processing operations in Louisiana constitute an industry of a seasonal nature within the meaning of section 7 (b) (3) of the Act and Part 526 of the regulations; and

Whether the processing of sorgo into sorgo syrup in the United States as a whole or in any one or more of the states constitutes an industry or a separable branch of an industry and is of a seasonal nature within the meaning of the Act and the regulations.

Whereas following such hearing the said representative of the Administrator duly made his findings of fact and determined as follows:

1. The pattern of sorgo processing operations in the cane sugar mills in Louisiana is not sufficiently established to warrant a finding that these operations constitute a separable branch of the sorgo processing industry or that they are an integral part of the sugar cane processing and milling branch of the cane sugar industry.

2. Sorgo is harvested in the State of Iowa during a period of not more than 8 weeks annually beginning about the last week in August, and is available for processing into sorgo syrup only during the harvesting season and for a few days thereafter.

3. The processing of sorgo into sorgo syrup in Iowa is carried on during an annually recurring period of not more than 8 weeks, after which the operations cease for the remainder of the year, except for maintenance, repair, clerical, and sales work.

4. The processing of sorgo into sorgo syrup in the State of Iowa is a separable branch of the sorgo processing industry, and is of a seasonal nature within the meaning of section 7 (b) (3) of the Fair Labor Standards Act and Part 526 of the regulations, as amended. This determination is made without prejudice to the right to sorgo processors outside of Iowa to obtain the exemption under supplemental determinations, upon presentation of facts warranting such action.

5. For purposes of this determination the term "processing of sorgo into sorgo syrup" includes the receiving, handling, unloading and weighing of sorgo at the processing establishment; the preparation of the sorgo for grinding by removing the leaves and seed heads; the extraction of the juice from the sorgo; the processing of the juice into sorgo syrup; and the following operations when performed at or near the sorgo processing plant by employees of the processor during the period of seasonal operations; packing the syrup into containers and labeling the packages; the removal, handling and conveying of the packages of sorgo syrup to trucks or other means of transportation in the vicinity of the plant; the removal, conveying, burning, packing, baling, piling and storing in bags or in baled form of bagasse resulting from the processing of sorgo into sorgo syrup; and any operations necessary or incident to the foregoing. The term "processing of sorgo into sorgo syrup" does not include operations performed on syrups other than sorgo, or the blending or mixing of such other syrups with sorgo syrup.

The application for the exemption of the processing of sorgo into sorgo syrup in Iowa is granted.

The application of the American Sugar Cane League of the United States of America, Inc. is denied without prejudice.

Whereas said findings and determinations were duly filed with the Administrator on August 11, 1943 at the National Offices of the Wage and Hour Division, 165 West 46 Street, New York, New York, and are available for examination by all interested parties;

Now, therefore, pursuant to the provisions of § 526.7 of the aforesaid regulations notice is hereby given that any person aggrieved by the said determination may within fifteen days after the date this notice appears in the FEDERAL REGISTER file a petition with the Administrator at the National Offices of the Wage and Hour Division requesting that he review the action of the said representative upon the record of the hearing. Such petition shall set forth the grounds upon which the request for review is based. If no petition for review is received within fifteen days, the Administrator will make a determination based on the findings of the presiding officer.

Signed at New York, New York this 12th day of August 1943.

OFFICE OF PRICE ADMINISTRATION.

SALES OF CAST IRON COAL FIRED WARM-AIR FURNACES

MODIFICATION OF MAXIMUM PRICES

Amendment No. 9 to Order No. A-1 under § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188—Manufacturers' Maximum Prices for Specified Building Materials and Consumers' Goods Other Than Apparel.

An opinion accompanying this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Paragraph (a) (10) is added to read as follows:

(10) Modification of maximum prices of cast iron coal fired warm-air furnaces—(i) Scope of this amendment. The maximum prices established by this amendment shall apply to sales of cast iron coal fired warm-air furnaces.

"Cast iron coal fired warm-air furnaces" means any direct coal fired central plant, warm-air heating unit made of cast iron which is designed for the purpose of heating the interior of any structure; commonly known as a gravity or forced warm-air furnace, for use with or without air distribution pipes. The term "cast iron warm-air furnaces" does not include space heaters, domestic heating stoves, or floor furnaces (whether portable or fixed).

(ii) Maximum prices for manufacturers. (a) On and after August 4, 1943, regardless of any contract, agreement, lease or other obligation, no manufacturer of cast iron coal fired warm-air furnaces shall sell and deliver cast iron coal fired warm-air furnaces and no person shall buy and receive cast iron coal fired warm-air furnaces in the course of trade or business at prices higher than the lowest published list price for each type and size of cast iron coal fired warm-air furnaces in effect on August 4, 1943, plus 9 percent of such lowest published list price.

(b) The maximum prices fixed under (a) shall be subject to at least the same extension of cash, quantity and other discounts, the same absorption of transportation charges and the same rendition of services as the manufacturer extended, absorbed, or rendered or would have extended, absorbed, or rendered on comparable sales to purchasers of the same class during March 1942.

(iii) Notification to purchasers by manufacturers. All manufacturers selling cast iron coal fired warm-air furnaces under the authority of this subparagraph (10) shall send the following notice to every purchaser of cast iron coal fired warm-air furnaces at the time of billing:

Amendment No. 9 to Order No. A-1 under § 1499.159b of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 granted us on increases of the maximum prices of cast iron coal fired warm-air furnaces equal to 9 percent of our lowest established list price in effect on August 4, 1943, for each type and size of cast iron coal fired warm-air furnace. The prices charged you for cast iron coal fired warm-air furnaces are not higher than the maximum prices which we are permitted to charge you under the provisions of that amendment. The amendment further provides that any person purchasing cast iron coal fired warm-air furnaces for resale in substantially the same form may increase his presently established maximum price by the actual increase in cost to him resulting from the 9 percent increase.

This notice is given to you at the express direction of the Office of Price Administration.

(iv) Every manufacturer selling cast iron coal fired warm-air furnaces under the authority of this subparagraph (10) shall forward to the Office of Price Administration, Building Materials Branch, Washington, D. C., within 15 days after the effective date of this amendment, unless previously submitted, catalogues, price books and discount sheets relative to cast iron coal fired warm-air furnaces. Copies of all such catalogues, price books, and discount sheets issued at any time subsequent to the effective date of this amendment shall be forwarded to the Office of Price Administration, Building Materials Branch, Washington, D. C., at least 5 days prior to the issuance thereof.

(v) Maximum prices for persons other than manufacturers. (a) On and after August 4, 1943, any person who purchases cast iron coal fired warm-air furnaces for resale may increase his presently established maximum price for each type and size of cast iron coal fired warm-air furnace purchased under the authority of this subparagraph (10) by an amount equal to his actual increase in cost resulting from the 9 percent increase permitted under subdivision (ii).

(b) The maximum prices fixed under Subdivision (a) shall be subject to at least the same extension of cash, quantity and other discounts, the same absorption of transportation charges and the same rendition of services which the seller extended, absorbed, or rendered or would have extended, absorbed, or rendered on comparable sales to purchasers of the same class during March 1942.

(vi) Definitions generally. Unless the context requires otherwise, the definitions set forth in § 1499.163 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 or § 1499.20 of the General Maximum Price Regulation, whichever is applicable, shall apply to the terms used herein.

This Amendment No. 9 shall become effective August 4, 1943.

"GENERAL MANAGER TYPE" GRAIN DOORS

ADJUSTABLE PRICING

Petitions have been filed for the adjustment of prices for "General Manager Type" grain doors established by Article VI, § 6.10 of Revised SR 14 to the General Maximum Price Regulation, due to the increased costs of lumber imposed upon manufacturers by Amendment 3 to Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 19 and Amendment 2 to Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 222. Due to the fact that the 10 percent increase established by Amendment 2 to Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 222 is temporary, pending item by item revision of the regulation, it is not practicable to establish specific adjusted prices for grain doors manufactured from lumber controlled by that regulation until these grade price determinations are made. It has been shown that authorization to use adjustable pricing, pending action on the petition, is necessary to promote production and distribution of grain doors and that the granting of such authorization will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. Therefore, under authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders No. 9250 and No. 9328 and in accordance with § 1499.19 (a) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, It is ordered:

(a) Producers subject to Article VI, § 6.10 of Revised SR 14 to the General Maximum Price Regulation, may sell and deliver and any person may buy and receive "General Manager Type" grain doors at prices not over the prevailing ceiling at the time of delivery but by agreement subject to adjustment upward in accordanc with action, if any, taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery and prior to October 15, 1943.

(b) This order shall be automatically revoked upon the establishment by the Office of Price Administration of maximum prices for "General Manager Type" grain doors higher than those now prevailing, or upon denial of the petitions. It may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

This order shall become effective August 14, 1943.

Issued this 14th day of August 1943.

WESTERN PINE AND ASSOCIATED SPECIES OF LUMBER

ORDER AUTHORIZING ADJUSTABLE PRICING

Petitions have been filed by producers of Western pine lumber in Arizona and New Mexico for amendment of Maximum Price Regulation No. 94 to include those two states within the geographical scope of § 1381.524 (1). It has been shown that authorization to use adjustable pricing, pending action on the petitions, is necessary to promote the production of Western pine and associated species of lumber and that such authorization will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. Therefore, under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders 9250 and 9328 and in accordance with § 1381.506 (e) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 94: It is hereby ordered, That:

(a) Producers may sell and deliver, and any person may buy and receive lumber produced in Arizona and New Mexico of the species and in the grades and sizes set forth in § 1381.524 (a) (1) and (2), at prices not over the prevailing ceiling at time of delivery but by agreement subject to being adjusted upward in accordance with action, if any, taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery and prior to September 15, 1943.

(b) This order shall be automatically revoked upon the establishment by the Office of Price Administration of maximum prices for lumber described in paragraph (a) higher than the maximum prices therefor now prevailing, or upon denial of the petitions. It may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(c) This order shall be effective August 14, 1943.

Issued this 14th day of August 1943.

(d) Each distributor increasing his price to producers for "Class 1" milk pursuant to the provisions of this order shall, within five (5) days after such action, notify the Regional Office of the Office of Price Administration, Union Commerce Building, Cleveland, Ohio, by letter or postcard, of his price established pursuant to the provisions of this order, together with a statement of his previous price.

FLUID MILK IN REGION III

Amendment No. 1 to Order No. G-3 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 329—Purchases of Milk from Producers for Resale as Fluid Milk.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of Region III of the Office of Price Administration by §1351.408 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 329, as amended, It is hereby ordered, That paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) be amended to read as set forth below:

(a) Any milk distributor in the States of Indiana (except the County of Lake), Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio and West Virginia who is permitted under the provisions of any orders issued by the Regional Administrator of Region III to increase in identical amounts his retail and wholesale quart prices of approved fluid milk, may increase the price he was paying producers for "milk" immediately prior to the effective date of such order of the Regional Administrator an amount not in excess of 23¢ per cwt. (or the equivalent thereof if purchased on any other basis than per cwt.) for each ½¢ increase he is permitted by such order in his retail and wholesale quart price.

(b) Any milk distributor in the States of Indiana (except the County of Lake), Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio and West Virginia who is permitted under the provisions of any orders issued by the Regional Administrator of Region III to increase in unequal amounts his retail and wholesale quart prices of approved fluid milk (or who is permitted to increase his retail or wholesale quart price alone) may increase the price he was paying producers for "milk" immediately prior to the effective date of such order of the Regional Administrator an amount not in excess of 23¢ per cwt. (or the equivalent thereof if purchased on any other basis than per cwt.) for each ½¢ average increase he is permitted by such order in his retail and wholesale quart prices. The average increase herein mentioned shall be weighted on the basis of the percentages of approved fluid milk sold at wholesale and retail respectively.

(c) Any milk distributor in the States of Indiana (except the County of Lake), Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio and West Virginia who is not permitted under the provisions of any orders issued by the Regional Administrator of Region III to increase his retail and wholesale quart price of approved fluid milk, but who is permitted to increase the retail or wholesale price of approved fluid milk sold in other than quart containers, shall apply to the Cleveland Regional Office of the Office of Price Administration for a determination of the amount by which he may increase the price he was paying producers for "milk" immediately prior to the effective date of such order of the Regional Administrator. Also, any milk distributor in the States of Indiana (except the County of Lake), Kentucky,

Michigan, Ohio and West Virginia, who sells and delivers approved fluid milk in more than one County of any of said States or in more than one of said States, whose retail or wholesale prices are increased in unequal amounts in said Counties or States shall apply to the Cleveland Regional Office of the Office of Price Administration for a determination of the amount by which he may increase the price he was paying producers for "milk" immediately prior to the effective date of such order of the Regional Administrator. He shall submit, in either case, full information as to his maximum retail and wholesale prices and prices paid to producers both prior and subsequent to the effective date of the order of the Regional Administrator adjusting his maximum retail and wholesale prices of approved fluid milk. He shall also submit the corresponding prices of his most closely competitive seller and a full statement of the reasons why he is unable to determine the amount by which he may increase the price he was paying producers.

(1) Tomatoes.
(2) Snap beans.
(3) Carrots.
(4) Cabbage.
(5) Green peas.
(6) Lettuce.
(7) Spinach.
(8) Colorado mountain spinach.

The fresh vegetables listed above are referred to in this revised order as the "listed commodities".

(b) Geographical applicability. The provisions of this revised order are limited in their geographical application to the states of Colorado and Wyoming.

(c) Transactions covered. (1) In Colorado this revised order applies to all sales except those expressly exempted by paragraph (e) hereof.

(2) In Wyoming this revised order applies only to sales when the "listed commodities" were grown in Colorado, or if not grown there were brought into the State of Colorado and there resold in less than carlots or less than trucklots to a primary distributor or an intermediate seller who resells the same in Wyoming.

(d) Applicability of Maximum Price Regulation No. 376 and other regulations. Except insofar as the same are inconsistent with or contradictory of the terms and provisions of this Revised Order No. G-1, all of the terms and provisions of Maximum Price Reguluation No. 376 shall be applicable hereto with like force and effect as though re-written herein. The maximum prices for the "listed commodities" heretofore established by Order No. G-1 under § 1439.253a (c) of Temporary Maximum Price Regulation No. 28, and Order No. G-2 under § 1439.253a (c) of Temporary Maximum Price Regulation No. 28 and § 1439.304 (c) of Temporary Maximum Price Regulation No. 29, are hereby modified in accordance with the provisions of this revised order.

(e) Exempt sales. The provisions of this revised order shall not apply to the following: (1) Sales and deliveries at retail which shall continue to be priced under Maximum Price Regulation No. 268, except sales at retail by a grower or by a wayside market stand, which are covered by this revised order.

(2) Deliveries to the United States or any agency thereof under contract entered into prior to February 18, 1943 (as to tomatoes, snap beans, carrots, cabbage, and green peas), and February 20, 1943 (as to lettuce and spinach).

(3) Sales and deliveries by a farmer of any listed commodity grown on his farm to a country shipper. This regulation shall apply to any sales and deliveries by a farmer directly to intermediate sellers, retailers, and commercial, industrial and institutional users, except sales and deliveries to processors, such as but not limited to, canners, packers, manufacturers or dehydrators.

(f) Prohibition against sales above maximum prices. On and after the effective date of this revised order, regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person shall sell or deliver and no person in the course of trade or business shall buy or receive any of the "listed commodities" at prices higher than the maximum prices established by this revised order and no person shall agree, offer, solicit or attempt to do any of the foregoing. Lower prices than the maximum price may be charged and paid.

(g) Definitions. When used in this revised order, the term:

(1) "Person" shall include individuals, corporations, partnerships, associations, or any legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, or any other Government or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of any of the foregoing.

(2) "Grower" means a person who produces one or more of the "listed commodities".

(3) "Country shipper" means any person, including a grower, who makes sales and deliveries from his farm or a country shipping point to any other person and which sales are governed by the maximum prices set forth in paragraph (p) hereof.

(4) "Carlot or trucklot distributor" means any person, including a grower, who sells the "listed commodities" in the original straight or mixed carload lot, or in the original straight or mixed truckload lot, at a terminal market or other wholesale receiving point.

(5) "Primary distributor" means a person who maintains an established place of business at a terminal or wholesale market and there receives the "listed commodities" in straight or mixed carlots, or straight or mixed trucklots, and breaks the shipment and resells in smaller lots without materially changing the form, to intermediate sellers or to retailers. A truck or a truck stand shall not be deemed to be an "established place of business" within the meaning of this revised order; but a stall in a public market shall be deemed to be such a place of business.

(6) "Intermediate seller" means any person (other than a country shipper or retailer) who purchases from a primary distributor any one or more of the "listed commodities" in less than carlots or trucklots for the purpose of reselling and who takes title and makes sales to any person who is not an ultimate consumer. The term "ultimate consumer" shall not include industrial, commercial, or institutional users (including procurement agencies of the United States or of any State).

(7) "Retailer" means a person who makes sales to ultimate consumers.

(8) "Sales and deliveries at retail" mean sales by retailers. Sales to industrial, commercial, or institutional users (including procurement agencies of the United States or of any State) shall not be construed to be sales at retail.

(9) "Country shipping point" means the first place in or near the producing area where any one or more of the "listed commodities" is made ready for shipment to any person.

(10) "Cost of transportation" means freight by common, contract or private carrier not to exceed the lowest common or contract carrier rate for available transportation over a distance of 50 miles or more, and includes charges incurred for pre-cooling, initial icing, and other protective services.

(11) Unless the context otherwise requires, the definitions set forth in section 13 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 376 shall apply to other terms used herein.

(h) Maximum prices for Colorado country shippers. Maximum prices for all sales made at a country shipping point in Colorado shall be the prices specified in the tables set forth in paragraph (p) hereof.

(i) Maximum prices for carlot or trucklot distributors. If any person purchases or receives any one or more of the "listed commodities" in straight or mixed carlots, or in straight or mixed trucklots and resells the same in straight or mixed carlots, or straight or mixed trucklots, without breaking, unloading and re-assembling the shipment at a terminal market or other wholesale receiving point in Colorado, the maximum price shall be the maximum price at the country shipping point at which the "listed commodities" were first assembled, plus the cost of transportation from the country shipping point to the terminal market or other wholesale receiving point plus a brokerage charge, if actually incurred, not to exceed the broker's maximum service charge as established under § 1499.101 (c) (17) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 165 and duly filed with the proper War Price and Rationing Board.

(j) Classes of primary distributors and intermediate sellers. For the purposes of this revised order, primary distributors and intermediate sellers shall be divided into the following classes:

CLASS I. Retailer-owned cooperative seller. A retailer-owned cooperative primary distributor or intermediate seller is either a non-profit organization or a corporation 51% or more of the stock of which is owned by its retailer customers and which purchases and resells the "listed commodities" without materially changing their form.

CLASS II. Cash-and-carry seller. A cash-and-carry seller is a seller not in Class I who customarily buys and resells the "listed commodities" to intermediate sellers, retail stores, or to commercial, industrial or institutional users without materially changing their form and who does not customarily deliver or extend credit to customers.

CLASS III. Service seller. A service seller is a seller not in Class I who customarily purchases and resells the "listed commodities" to chain stores, independent retail stores or to commercial, industrial or institutional users without materially changing their form and who customarily delivers and extends credit to customers.

(k) Maximum prices for primary distributors. (1) A primary distributor's "base price" shall be the country shipping point price when the "listed commodities" are grown in Colorado, plus cost of transportation, plus a brokerage charge, if actually incurred, not to exceed the broker's maximum service charge as established under § 1499.101 (c) (17) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 165 and duly filed with the proper War Price and Rationing Board; and when the "listed commodities" are grown outside of Colorado the "base price" of a primary distributor whose place of business is in Colorado shall be the net cost to him delivered at his customary receiving point when purchased from a customary supplier in straight or mixed carlots or in straight or mixed trucklots, not, however, to exceed the maximum price of his supplier plus cost of transportation, and plus a brokerage charge as hereinabove specified in this paragraph.

(l) Maximum prices for intermediate sellers. (1) An intermediate seller's "base price" for any one of the "listed commodities" when purchased from a primary distributor, shall be the "base price" of his supplier. In all such transactions it shall be the duty of the seller to furnish the buyer a statement either upon the face of the invoice or by separate instrument, showing the seller's "base price" and how it was arrived at.

(2) The maximum price for any one of the "listed commodities" when sold by a Class I or Class II intermediate seller shall be such intermediate seller's "base price" multiplied by 1.20 plus cost of transportation and the maximum price for any one of the "listed commodities" when sold by a Class III intermediate seller shall be such intermediate seller's "base price" multiplied by 1.29: Provided, however, That an intermediate seller who purchases from another intermediate seller shall have for his maximum price the maximum price of the intermediate seller from whom he purchased.

(3) Every sale of a "listed commodity" by one intermediate seller to another intermediate seller shall be accompanied by a notification in writing, signed by the seller and delivered to the buyer, showing the seller's maximum price for such "listed commodity."

(m) Repacked tomatoes. Any primary distributor or intermediate seller, of whatever class, who repacks tomatoes, other than hothouse tomatoes, may add to his "base price" 50¢ per crate for repacked tomatoes: Provided, however, That only one such repack allowance is permitted for the content of any one shipment of tomatoes or any part thereof.

(n) Maximum prices for sales at retail by a grower at a wayside market stand. The maximum prices for a grower at a wayside market stand on sales to an ultimate consumer shall be the Colorado country shipping point price multiplied by 1.40.

(o) What specified markups include. The maximum markups provided herein for primary distributors and intermediate sellers include all commissions and brokerage charges, if any, and all other items of cost involved in making local deliveries within a seller's customary free delivery zone. Any primary distributor or intermediate seller delivering the "listed commodities" to institutions or retail stores outside his free delivery zone may charge different delivered prices in such other areas or zones in which deliveries are made as follows:

(1) He first determines his delivered price for each area or zone by adding to his prices established by this revised order an amount not exceeding the average cost of delivery to the institutions or retailers in the area or zone.

(2) In determining the average cost of delivery to the retailers in the area or zone, no rate shall be used which is in excess of the lowest common or contract carrier rate for available transportation.

(3) If such a delivery charge is made, the amount thereof shall be included as part of the maximum price established by this revised order. Before using such area or zone differential, the primary distributor or intermediate seller shall report it in writing to the nearest Regional or State Office of the Office of Price Administration having jurisdiction over the seller.

[File Nos. 54-82, 70-769, 59-10]

THE NORTH AMERICAN COMPANY, ET AL.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 11th day of August, 1943.

In the matter of The North American Company, File No. 54-82; and The North American Company, File No. 70-769; and The North American Company and its subsidiary companies, respondents, File No. 59-10.

Notice of filing and order for hearing under sections 6, 7 and 11 (e); notice of filing of application by the North American Company for extension of time pursuant to section 11 (c) and order for hearing; and order consolidating such hearings.

I

The Commission, by an order dated April 14, 1942, entered pursuant to section 11 (b) (1) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (the Act), having directed, among other things, that The North American Company (North American), a registered holding company, divest itself, with minor exceptions, of all its assets other than securities of one integrated public utility system, namely, that of Union Electric Company of Missouri;

Notice is hereby given, That North American has filed with this Commission applications and declarations, designated as a plan, pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Act, and a declaration pursuant to sections 6 and 7 of the Act.

Notice is further given that North American has filed with this Commission an application under section 11 (c) for extension of time to comply with the said order of April 14, 1942.

The applications and declarations filed pursuant to sections 6, 7 and 11 (e) propose certain transactions designed to effect compliance with the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Act. All interested persons are referred to said documents, which are on file in the office of this Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which are summarized as follows:

A. Coincident, or substantially coincident, with the consummation of the plan but irrespective of the approval or consummation thereof, North American proposes to borrow from The Chase National Bank of the City of New York and certain other banks, in accordance with the terms of a Bank Loan Agreement, dated August 3, 1943, the sum of $34,881,500 payable in quarterly instalments aggregating $1,500,000 each quarter during the first four years and $2,720,375 each quarter during the fifth year, with interest at the rate of 2% per annum. The proceeds of such loan are to be applied to the redemption of the outstanding debentures of North American, consisting of $19,400,000 principal amount of 3½% debentures, Series due 1949 (callable at 102¼%) and $14,750,000 principal amount of 3¾% debentures, Series due 1954 (callable at 102%). Such redemption will be effected as soon as the required notice to the debenture holders can be given after receipt of an appropriate order by the Commission. The proceeds of the loan will cover principal and redemption premium on these debentures. Accrued interest on the debentures to the redemption date will be paid from treasury funds of North American. Other details with respect to the Bank Loan Agreement are set forth hereinafter.

B. North American also proposes a plan of reorganization, the purpose of which is stated to be the divestment by North American of the major part of its utility investments and to provide for its subsequent dissolution. The present application will be supplemented hereafter by such additional applications as may be necessary to carry out the plan, the principal features of which are described hereinafter:

1. The initial step, after the plan is declared effective, will be the organization by North American of a liquidating company to which will be transferred all of North American's investments other than its investments in Pacific Gas and Electric Company and in four principal utility subsidiaries, namely, Union Electric Company of Missouri, The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company, Wisconsin Electric Power Company and Washington Railway and Electric Company.

2. Thereafter for a period of sixty days each common stockholder of North American will be given an opportunity to surrender his stock and to withdraw the proportionate share of the company's assets upon payment in cash of the proportionate share of the cost of retiring the bank loan and preferred stock of the company allocable to his shares of stock. As of the date of filing, the amount of debt and preferred stock allocable to each share was $11.67.

3. After the sixty-day period, the balance of North American's assets will be divided among four regional holding companies to be organized for the purpose (North American will be one of the companies), each of which will hold the investment in one of the four last named principal utility subsidiaries and a proportionate amount of the stock of the Liquidating Company. Part of the stock of Pacific Gas and Electric Company will be used to pay dividends in kind on North American's common stock during the pendency of the plan at the same rate as the dividend paid July 1, 1943, and the balance, upon consummation of the plan, will be divided between two of the regional companies. Each of the regional companies will assume a proportionate part of the bank loan and will issue preferred stock with the same dividend rate to replace North American's presently outstanding preferred stock. The common stocks of the regional companies will be distributed to the common stockholders of North American remaining after the expiration of the sixty-day withdrawal period, referred to in paragraph 2 above, on the basis of ¼ share of the common stock of each regional company for each share of North American common stock.

4. Each of the regional companies will thereafter retire its indebtedness and preferred stocks in accordance with the retirement program as set forth in the plan, distribute its remaining assets among its common stockholders, and dissolve. All retirements of preferred stocks of North American and of the regional companies will be at par and accrued dividends. Throughout the existence of the regional companies the common stockholders thereof will be accorded the privilege of withdrawing proportionate shares of each company's assets by paying in cash their proportionate share of the cost of retiring the bank loan and preferred stock outstanding at the particular time in a manner similar to that provided for North American stockholders during the initial sixty-day withdrawal period referred to in paragraph 2 above.

5. No fractional shares of the underlying stocks will be issued to stockholders exercising the withdrawal privilege either during the sixty-day period or in connection with the regional companies. The stockholders will be given the option of buying fractions to complete full shares or of selling fractions to which they are entitled, at a price to be fixed as more fully described in the plan. Fractional scrip will be issued in connection with the exchange of North American common stock for the common stock of the regional companies. This scrip will be transferable but will have no rights as stock unless combined with other scrip so as to receive full shares.

6. The plan will become effective upon declaration by the Board of Directors of North American and will be binding upon all security holders of North American and all rights of such holders other than those accorded under the plan shall cease and become void.

7. Upon the plan being declared effective, North American will enter into a group annuity contract with an insurance company for the benefit of all employees of North American (except the present Chairman of the Board and the present President and employees with less than one year's service). The estimated cost of such contract, in the amount of $333,000, is included in a reserve of $1,250,000 (which it is proposed will be set aside out of the assets to be transferred to the liquidating company) intended to provide for the reorganization expenses involved in carrying the plan into effect.

8. If the Commission should approve the plan North American may, but does not obligate itself to, request the Commission to apply to a United States District Court pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Act to enforce and carry out the terms and provisions of the plan. Submission of the plan to the security holders of North American for their approval or rejection is not contemplated.

II

The Commission being required by the provisions of section 11 (e) of said Act before approving any plan thereunder to find after notice and opportunity for hearing that such plan as submitted or as modified is necessary to effectuate the provisions of subsection (b) of section 11, and is fair and equitable to the persons affected by such plan; it, therefore, appearing appropriate to the Commission, in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers, that notice be given and a hearing be held upon said Plan to afford all interested persons an opportunity to be heard with respect thereto; and

It appearing appropriate in view of the provisions of section 11 (d) regarding court enforcement of the Commission's order of April 14, 1942, to provide an opportunity for hearing as to whether the Commission should approve any plan of reorganization of North American which may be proposed at such hearing by the Commission in the first instance or by any person having a bona fide interest in the reorganization; and

It appearing appropriate that notice be given and a hearing held for the purpose of determining what action is necessary and appropriate under section 11 (c) and for the purpose of ascertaining what action should be taken on all phases of the proposed plan both as it pertains to the reorganization of North American and to the proposed bank loan; and the common issues of fact and law arising in connection with said proposed plan and bank loan and the application under section 11 (c) making it appropriate that the hearings on said matters be consolidated;

It is hereby ordered, (a) That a hearing be held on the proposed plan filed pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Act for the reorganization of The North American Company; (b) that a hearing be held on the declaration filed by The North American Company pursuant to sections 6 and 7 of the act with respect to the proposed bank loan; (c) that a hearing be held on the application by The North American Company under section 11 (c) for an extension of time to comply with the Commission's order of April 14, 1942; (d) that a hearing be held under the provision of section 11 (d) respecting court enforcement of the Commission's order of April 14, 1942, to determine whether the Commission should approve any plan for the reorganization of The North American Company, which may be submitted either by the Commission in the first instance or by any person having a bona fide interest in such reorganization; and (e) that the hearings ordered as aforesaid be consolidated, subject to a reservation of jurisdiction to separate the matters so consolidated either for hearing or disposition, in whole or in part.

It is further ordered, That the consolidated hearing be held on the 31st day of August, 1943, at 10:00 a. m., e. w. t., at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania, in such room as may be designated on such date by the hearing room clerk in Room 318.

It is further ordered, That Willis E. Monty or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearings in such matter. The officer so designated to preside at any such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all the powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of said act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's Rules of Practice.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve notice of such hearing by mailing a copy of this order by registered mail to The North American Company and that notice of said hearing be given to all other interested persons by a general release of the Commission and by publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

It is further ordered, That The North American Company shall give notice of this hearing to all its stockholders, both common and preferred (in so far as the identity of such security holders is known or available to North American), by mailing to each of said persons a copy of this notice and order for hearing at his last-known address at least 10 days prior to the date of this hearing.

It is further ordered, That any person desiring to be heard in connection with these proceedings shall file with the Secretary of the Commission on or before the 28th day of August, 1943, a written statement relative thereto; any person proposing to intervene shall file with the Secretary of the Commission on or before such date his application therefor, as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's Rules of Practice.

It is further ordered, That without limiting the scope of the issues presented by said plan, or any other plan which may be filed in the first instance by the Commission or by any duly qualified person, by the application and by the declaration particular attention will be directed at said hearing to the following matters and questions:

1. Whether the plan as proposed or as modified is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the Act and is fair and equitable to the persons affected thereby;

2. Whether the proposed action is in conformity with the requirements of the Commission's order of April 14, 1942;

3. Whether the accounting entries proposed to be recorded in connection with the plan are appropriate and in accordance with sound accounting principles and practice;

4. Whether, in the event that the Commission shall approve such plan as filed or as modified, the Commission shall approve such plan for purposes of section 11 (d) of the Act (as well as section 11 (e)) so as to permit the Commission of its own motion and irrespective of request therefor on the part of North American, to apply to a court for the enforcement of such plan pursuant to section 11 (d);

5. Whether, in the event that the Commission shall not approve such plan as filed or as modified, the Commission shall itself propose and approve a plan for purposes of section 11 (d) or shall approve for purposes of section 11 (d) any plan that may be proposed by any person having a bona fide interest in the reorganization of The North American Company;

6. Whether the fees and expenses to be paid in connection with the consummation of the proposed plan are for necessary services and are reasonable in amount;

7. Whether the proposed bank loan by North American complies with all of the requirements of the applicable provisions of the Act and Rules thereunder;

8. Whether the acquisition by the regional companies of their respective portions of the assets of North American; whether the assumption by the regional companies of their respective portions of the proposed bank loan; and whether the issuance of preferred stock by the regional companies in place of the outstanding preferred stock of North American comply with all the requirements of the applicable provisions of the act and rules thereunder;

9. Whether The North American Company has exercised due diligence in its efforts to comply with the Commission's order of April 14, 1942, and whether an extension of time for compliance with said order is necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers;

10. Generally, whether the proposed transactions are in all respects in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers and consistent with all applicable requirements of the Act and the rules thereunder, and, if not, what modifications should be required to be made therein and what terms and conditions should be imposed to satisfy the statutory standards.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be and is hereby reserved to separate, whether for hearing, in whole or in part, or for disposition, in whole or in part, any of the issues, questions or matters hereinbefore set forth or which may arise in this proceeding, or to consolidate with these proceedings other filings or matters pertaining to said plan or to take such other action as may appear conducive to an orderly, prompt and economical disposition of the matters involved.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDER

W. H. DEISROTH CO., INC.

W. H. Deisroth Company, Inc., has made application for stay of Suspension Order No. S-385 and has filed an appeal. It has presented evidence tending to show that substantial and irreparable harm will be done to it if a stay is not granted pending determination of its appeal. Based upon this evidence submitted by W. H. Deisroth Company, Inc., the Chief Compliance Commissioner has directed that Suspension Order S-385 shall be stayed pending final determination of the appeal, but no later than September 10, 1943.

Issued this 17th day of August 1943.

[Interpretation 2 to General Limitation Order L-240]

NEWSPAPERS

The following Interpretation 2 is issued with respect to General Limitation Order L-240.

Paragraph (d) (1) of Order L-240 (§ 3133.6) restricts the tonnage of print paper which a publisher may accept in any month. If this amount works out to a whole number of carloads plus a fraction of another carload, a publisher may carry the fraction over into the next month. Thus, if a publisher's quarterly quota of print paper would fill 25½ freight cars, he would be permitted to accept 8½ carloads per month. However, if he accepts only 8 carloads in the first month he may accept 9 in the next month.

Issued this 17th day of August 1943.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

5. Section 1394.7604 (a) is revoked.

6. Section 1394.7651 is amended by deleting the words "during the period from November 22, 1942, or the date of issuance of the ration, whichever is later, to July 21, 1943 (to November 21, 1943 with respect to passenger automobiles in the gasoline shortage area), inclusive".

7. In § 1394.7652 the last sentence is amended to read as follows:

Coupons in basic Class D books issued for use after July 21, 1943 shall be valid for transfer of gasoline to a consumer at any time before July 22, 1944, in Area A and at any time before November 12, 1944, in Area B and in the gasoline shortage area.

8. Section 1394.7653 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(d) Pursuant to such application, the Board shall issue a basic ration. Before issuing a Class A or basic Class D ration book the Board shall remove coupons from the book according to the following formula:

Determination of prices established herein has been made after consulting and advising with representative members of the industry which will be affected by the regulation.

(b) Within five days after receipt in Puerto Rico of a shipment of Southern Yellow Pine and/or Douglas Fir lumber for sale, the importer shall file with the Office of Price Administration for the Territory of Puerto Rico, San Juan, a statement setting forth in detail the direct cost to the importer, including the price the importer paid, all discounts allowed, all costs of shipment, customs and entry fees, and war risk insurance cost.

(c) Every person selling Southern Yellow Pine or Douglas Fir Lumber shall accompany each sale of such lumber with an invoice on which shall be stated his name and address, the name of the person from whom the lumber was purchased, the date of such purchase, a description of the lumber, and a detailed calculation of the price charged as follows: the "direct cost to the importer" as reported to the Office of Price Administration pursuant to paragraph (b) above, the local transportation charges which have accrued, the charge for transportation to the purchaser, and the markup which has been added.

(d) The maximum price established in section 48 (a) is a gross price to which may be added no additional charges for breakage, warehousing, handling, or any other services or incidents of sale than those specifically authorized by this amendment.

PART 1448—EATING AND DRINKING ESTABLISHMENTS

FOOD AND DRINK SOLD FOR IMMEDIATE CONSUMPTION IN WEST VIRGINIA

In the judgment of the Regional Price Administrator of Region III, the prices of food and beverages sold for immediate consumption in the State of West Virginia have risen and are threatening further to rise to an extent and in a manner inconsistent with the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders 9250 and 9328.

In the judgment of the Regional Administrator of Region III, the maximum prices established by this regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to check inflation and to effectuate the purposes of the Act. So far as possible, the Regional Administrator of Region III gave due consideration to prices prevailing between October 1 and 15, 1941, and consulted with the representatives of those affected by this regulation.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation is issued simultaneously herewith.*

SECTION 1. Sales at higher than ceiling prices prohibited. If you own or operate a restaurant, hotel, cafe, bar, delicatessen, soda fountain, boarding house, or any other eating or drinking place, you must not offer or sell any "food item" (including any beverage) or "meal" at a price higher than the highest price at which you offered the same food item or meal in the seven-day period beginning Sunday, April 4, 1943, and ending Saturday, April 10, 1943. You must not offer or sell any other food item or meal at a price higher than the ceiling price which you figure according to the directions in the next section (section 2). You may, of course, sell at lower than ceiling prices.

SEC. 2. How you figure ceiling prices for food items and meals you did not sell in the seven-day period. You must figure your ceiling price for a food item or meal which you did not offer in the seven-day period as follows:

(a) If you served the same food item or meal within thirty days prior to April 4, 1943, you shall take as your ceiling price the last price at which you offered the same food item or meal during said thirty-day period.

(b) If you did not sell or offer to sell the food item or meal either during the seven-day period, or the thirty-day period, then you choose from the food items or meals for which a ceiling price has already been fixed, the food item or meal which is most similar to the food item or meal you are pricing and then proceed as follows:

(1) Determine the cost of the raw food which you use in preparing the new food item or meal.

(2) From the food items and meals for which you have already established ceiling prices, choose a food item or meal which currently has a raw food cost equal to or less than the raw food cost of the new food item or meal.

(3) Take as your ceiling price for the new food item or meal your ceiling price for the food item or meal chosen for comparison. The food item or meal chosen for such comparison should be of the same class as the new food item or meal. If, however, you can find no food item or meal of the same class, you may use for comparison the most similar food item or meal of another class having a food cost equal to or less than your food cost for the new food item or meal. "Currently" as used herein means current on the day you figure your price.

(c) Once your ceiling price for a food item or meal has been fixed, it may not be changed, except as may be expressly provided herein.

SEC. 3. Classes of food items and meals. See definition of "food item" and "meal" contained in section 14.

(a) The classes of food items are as follows:

Breakfast Items

(1) Fruits and fruit juices.
(2) Cereals.
(3) Egg and combination egg dishes served at breakfast.
(4) Breads, rolls, toast, etc., served at breakfast.
(5) All other breakfast dishes.

Other Items

(6) Appetizers and cocktails.
(7) Soups.
(8) Beef.
(9) Pork.
(10) Lamb, mutton.
(11) Veal.
(12) Poultry.
(13) Fish and shellfish.
(14) Miscellaneous and variety meats including liver, kidneys, and made dishes such as stews, casseroles, etc.
(15) Egg and cheese dishes which might be served as a main dish or entree in a meal.
(16) All other dishes which might be served as a main dish or entree in a meal, such as spaghetti, vegetable plate, baked beans, chop suey, etc.
(17) Potatoes.
(18) All other vegetables.
(19) Bread and butter.
(20) Salads (except as served as main course in a meal).
(21) Cakes, cookies, pies, pastries and other baked goods.
(22) Ice cream and all fountain items.
(22a) Seasonal dessert specialties, such as watermelons, cantaloupes, and berries.
(23) All other deserts, including fruits, puddings, cheese, etc.
(24) Hot sandwiches including hamburgers and frankfurters.
(25) Cold sandwiches.
(26) All other food items.

Beverages

(27) Non-alcoholic beverages.
(28) Beer and other malt beverages.
(29) Wines.
(30) Other alcoholic beverages.

(b) The classes of meals. For the purposes of this regulation there shall be ten classes of meals; namely, breakfast, lunch, tea, dinner, and supper during the week days, and breakfast, lunch, tea, dinner and supper on Sundays.

(c) Legal holidays. Your ceiling prices for food items or meals served on those days designated legal holidays by Federal law or by the law of the State in which the establishment is located may be the same as your Sunday ceiling prices for such establishment.

SEC. 4. No ceiling price to be higher than the highest price in the base period. Under no circumstances are you permitted to charge a higher price for a food item or meal which you did not offer in the seven-day period than the highest price at which you offered a food item or meal under the same class during the seven-day period, except that, if, during the thirty-day period immediately prior to April 4, 1943, you served a food item or meal at a price higher than the highest price charged for food items or meals in the same class during the seven-day base period, then you may continue to sell that same food item or meal at the higher price. In any such case, your records, as set forth in section 9 (b) herein, must include the menu or information showing the previous offering of such food item or meal at the higher price. The restriction of this section shall not apply to seasonal dessert specialties as specified in section 3, paragraph (a), Class (22a).

Example 1. If you figured an "in line" price for a week day at $1.25, and your highest price in the week day dinner class is $1.00, your ceiling price for the new dinner is $1.00.

Example 2. If during the seven-day period your highest price for soup was 15 cents, you may not offer any soup at a price higher than 15 cents.

Example 3. If during the seven-day period your highest price for a week day dinner was $1.25, in general, that is the highest price you may charge for any week day dinner. If, however, you served a chicken dinner at $1.50 on any week day within 30 days prior to April 4, 1943, then you may continue to serve the same chicken dinner at $1.50 even though that is a higher price than any price charged for the same class dinner during the seven day period. But you may not add a new meal not served during the 30-day period, at a price in excess of $1.25. Observe the requirement that a supporting menu (or price list) be made available to justify such exception.

SEC. 5. Prohibition against discontinuing meals at certain prices. You must not now discontinue offering meals at prices comparable to those charged by you in the seven-day period if by your doing so your customers would actually have to pay more than they did in the seven-day period. You will be in violation of this rule unless:

(a) You continue to offer meals at different prices representative of the range of prices at which you offered meals of the same class during the seven-day period, and unless

(b) You continue to offer on week days at least as many different meals at or below the lowest price charged by you for meals of the same class on any week day that you select in the seven-day period, as you did on that day.

(c) You continue to offer on Sundays and legal holidays at least as many different meals at or below the lowest price charged by you for meals of the same class on Sunday, April 4, 1943, as you did on that day.

Example: Thus you may select any week day in the seven-day period as the base day for week-day meals.

If you select Friday, April 9, 1943, to determine the lowest price and the number of week day meals offered at that price, and if on that day you offered six week day dinners, of which two were priced at 85¢, and one each at 90¢, $1.00, $1.10, $1.15 you must continue to offer at least two week day dinners at 85¢.

SEC. 6. Evasion. (a) You must not evade the provisions of this regulation by any scheme or device, including:

(1) Deteriorating quality or reducing quantity without making appropriate reductions in price;

(2) Withdrawing the offer, or increasing the price, of any meal ticket, weekly rate, or other arrangement by which customers may buy food items or meals at less than the prices they must pay when purchasing by item or meal;

(3) Increasing any cover, minimum, bread-and-butter, service, corkage, entertainment, check-room, parking, or other special charges, or making such charges when they were not in effect in the seven-day period;

(4) Requiring as a condition of sale of an item or meal the purchase of other items or meals, except that you may refuse to sell coffee unless a customer also purchases another food item;

(5) Refusing to sell combinations of food items as meals if such meals were offered in the seven-day period and the items making up the combination are being offered separately.

(b) You will not be considered evading the provisions of this regulation, however, if you do any of the following things, even though you did not do any of those things during the seven-day period:

(1) You may limit your customers to one cup of coffee per meal;

(2) You may limit your customers to one pat of butter per meal;

(3) You may reduce the quantity or eliminate altogether, ketchup, chili sauce, and any other condiment which is rationed;

(4) You may reduce the amount of sugar served with each cup of coffee or tea, to, but not less than, one teaspoonful.

(c) You must not, however, make the curtailment authorized in the foregoing sub-paragraphs and furnish these items at an additional charge. For example, if during the seven-day period you furnished ketchup, you may not discontinue furnishing this item free and at the same time offer to furnish it for an additional charge.

SEC. 7. Rules for new proprietors. (a) If you acquire another's business and continue the business in the same place, you are subject to the same ceiling prices and duties as the previous proprietor.

(b) If you open an eating or drinking place after the seven-day period, you must fix ceiling prices in line with the ceiling prices of the nearest eating or drinking place of the same type as yours. If you operate a concession in conjunction with a public event and were not in operation during the base period, you shall establish your prices in line with a similar type of eating and drinking place operating during the time of the base period. If the ceiling prices so fixed are too high and threaten to have an inflationary effect on the prices of food and drink, the Office of Price Administration may issue an order requiring you to reduce your ceiling prices. You are subject to the record requirements of section 9 and the posting requirements of section 10 immediately upon the opening of your place.

(c) Seasonal eating and drinking establishments. If you are the proprietor of a seasonal eating and drinking establishment you must figure your ceiling prices as follows:

(1) If your establishment was in operation during the base period from April 4 to April 10, 1943, use the rules set forth in sections 2, 3, and 4, of this regulation.

(2) If your establishment was not in operation during the base period from April 4 to April 10, but another establishment of the same type and within reasonable distance was in operation during that period, fix your ceiling prices as a new proprietor under the provisions of section 7, paragraphs (a) and (b) herein.

(3) If you cannot price under paragraphs (1) or (2) herein, and your establishment is not yet in operation, you shall apply for approval of maximum prices to the Office of Price Administration District Office for the area in which your establishment is located. Your application must be filed at least 10 days prior to the date on which you plan to commence operations and must include the following information:

(i) Your name and address and the name and address of your establishment.

(ii) A brief description of your business and the manner of operation.

(iii) A list showing the prices you charged during the previous season as well as the prices you propose to charge during the present or coming season, differentiating between week day and Sunday and holiday prices.

(iv) The date on which you plan to commence operations.

(v) The names of two establishments similar to yours in your vicinity.

You may then charge the prices listed if they are not disapproved by the Office of Price Administration prior to the date specified for the commencement of operations. The Office of Price Administration may, at any time, after proper investigation and hearing, establish or re-establish such maximum prices for your business as it deems proper and equitable.

(4) If your establishment is already in operation and you cannot price under paragraphs (1) or (2) herein, you shall, within 10 days of the effective date of this order, file application with the Office of Price Administration District Office for the area in which your establishment is located for approval of the prices which you are presently charging. Such application shall include the same information as set forth for applications under paragraph (3) herein. Such listed prices shall be your maximum prices, but shall be subject to modification or adjustment at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 8. Taxes. If in the seven-day period you stated and collected the amount of any tax separately from the price you charged, you may continue to do so. You may also separately state and collect the amount of any new tax or of any increase in the amount of a previous tax on the sale of food or drink or in the business of selling food or drink, if the tax is measured by the number or price of items or meals.

SEC. 9. Records. You must observe all the record keeping requirements of General Order No. 50. This order requires among other things that you do the following:

(a) Customary records. You must preserve all your existing records relating to your prices, costs, and sales. You must also continue to maintain such records as you ordinarily kept. All such records shall be subject to examination by the Office of Price Administration.

(b) Records of the seven-day period. You must make available for examination by any person during ordinary business hours a copy of each menu used by you in the seven-day period. If you did not use menus, you must prepare in duplicate and make available for such examination a list of the highest prices you charged in the seven-day period.

(c) Future records. Beginning with the effective date of this regulation, you must keep, for examination by the Office of Price Administration, two each of the menus used by you each day. If you do not use menus you must prepare in duplicate, and preserve for such examination, a record of the prices charged by you each day, except that you need not record prices which are the same as, or less than, prices you previously recorded for the same items or meals.

SEC. 10. Posting. (a) If you made menus available to customers in the seven-day period April 4 to April 10, inclusive, you shall continue to make them available. All menus shall include prices for meals and food items offered.

(b) Within one week after the effective date of this order:

(1) Your menus must contain in clear and legible printing or writing, the following statement:

All prices listed are at or below our ceiling prices, which, by OPA regulation, are the highest prices we charged for the same item or meal from April 4 to April 10, 1943. Our records of prices for such period are available for your inspection.

(c) If you did not use menus during the April 4–10 period, you may either (1) institute the use of menus, abiding by the foregoing requirements, or (2) you must post a price list including prices for all meals and food items offered, near the cashier's desk, if any, or in such other location of your establishment that it may be easily seen and read by customers at the time of purchase. Such price list shall conform to the requirements of paragraph (b) above.

SEC. 11. Operation of several places. If you own or operate more than one eating or drinking place, you must do everything required by this regulation for each place separately.

SEC. 12. Relation to other maximum price regulations. The provisions of this regulation shall not apply to any sale for which a maximum price is established by any other regulation, including the General Maximum Price Regulation, now or hereafter issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 13. Geographical application. The provisions of this order shall be applicable to all eating and drinking places (as hereinafter defined in section (14) (e)) located in the State of West Virginia.

SEC. 14. Definitions and explanations. (a) "Person" means individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any organized group of persons or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, any other government, or any of its political sub-divisions, and any agency of any of the foregoing.

(b) "Meal" means a combination of food items sold at a single price. Examples of meals are a five-course dinner, a club breakfast, and a blue-plate special. Two or more kinds of food which are prepared or served to be eaten together as one dish are not a "meal." Examples of such dishes are: ham and eggs, bread and butter, apple pie and cheese.

(c) "Offered" means offered for sale and includes the listing or posting of prices for items and meals even though the items and meals so offered were not actually on hand to be sold.

(d) "Food item" means an article or portion of food (including beverages) sold or served by an eating or drinking place for consumption in or about the place or to be taken out for eating without change in form or additional preparation. It includes two or more kinds of food which are prepared or served to be eaten together as one dish, such as ham and eggs, bread and butter, apple pie and cheese.

(e) "Eating and drinking place" shall include any place, establishment or location, whether temporary or permanent, from which any food item or meal is sold, except those which are specifically exempted in section (16) hereof. It shall include by way of example, but not by way of limitation, such movable places where food is dispensed as field kitchens, lunch wagons, "Hot Dog" carts, etc.

(f) Unless the context otherwise requires, the definitions set forth in section 302 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 and in the General Maximum Price Regulation, issued by the Office of Price Administration, shall apply to other terms used herein.

SEC. 15. Enforcement. Persons violating any provisions of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages and proceedings for suspension of licenses provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 16. Exemptions. Sales by the following eating or drinking places are specifically exempted from the provisions of this regulation:

(a) Eating and drinking places located on church, temple or synagogue premises and operated in connection with special church, temple, or synagogue, Sunday School or other religious occasions.

(b) Railroad dining cars.

(b) Adjustments. The Office of Price Administration may adjust the maximum prices for any eating establishment under the following circumstances:

(1) The establishment will be forced to discontinue operations unless it is granted an adjustment of the maximum prices established by this regulation.

(2) Such discontinuance will result in serious inconvenience to consumers in that they will either be deprived of all restaurant service or will have to turn to other establishments that present substantial difficulties as to distance, hours of service, selection of meals or food items offered, capacity, or transportation.

(3) By reason of such discontinuance, the same meals or food items will cost the customers of the eating establishment as much or more than the proposed adjusted prices.

If you are the proprietor of an eating establishment which satisfies the requirements specified above, you may apply for an adjustment of your maximum prices by submitting to your Office of Price Administration District Office an application in duplicate. The application should contain the following information:

(1) Your name and address.

(2) A description of your eating establishment, including the type of service rendered, such as cafeteria, table service, etc; classes of meals offered, such as breakfast, lunch and dinner; number of persons served per day during the most recent thirty day period (in counting the number of persons served, anyone who was served more than once is to be counted separately for each occasion he was served); and such other information that may be useful in classifying your establishment.

(3) The reason why your customers will be seriously inconvenienced if you discontinue operations.

(4) The names and addresses of the three nearest eating places of the same type as yours.

(5) A list showing your present maximum prices and requested adjusted prices.

(6) A profit and loss statement for your restaurant business for the most recent three-month accounting period, and a copy of your last income tax return if one was filed separately for your restaurant business.

Applications for adjustment under this section may be acted upon by the Regional Administrator or by any District Director who has been authorized to do so by order of the Regional Administrator.

SEC. 18. Licensing. The registration and licensing provisions of §§ 1499.15 and 1499.16 of the General Maximum Price Regulation are applicable to every person subject to this Restaurant Maximum Price Regulation No. 3–7.

SEC. 19. Revocation. This regulation may be modified, amended, corrected, or revoked at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

Effective date. This regulation shall be effective August 5, 1943.

NOTE: The reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(a) The establishment will be forced to discontinue operations unless it is granted an adjustment of the maximum prices established by this regulation.

(3) Is located in an area for which no maximum rent regulation has been issued, the prices for food items and meals offered by you in that place are exempt from control.

You must not regard this exemption as relieving you from the obligations imposed upon you by General Order No. 50, and you are still subject to the provisions of section 18 of this regulation. Pursuant to this latter section the administrator will by special order establish maximum prices for any seasonal eating or drinking place which takes undue advantage of the exemption.

(b) Non-exempt places. If you are the proprietor of a seasonal eating or drinking place which is not exempt under the terms of paragraph (a), you must figure your ceiling prices as follows:

CHARCOAL

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation No. 431 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 9 (a) is amended by adding immediately following the definition of "'Granulated' or 'Ground charcoal'" a new definition as follows:

"Pine wood charcoal" means charcoal produced from pine wood in the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, and South Carolina.

2. A new Appendix B is added to read as follows:

Appendix B: Maximum prices for pine wood charcoal—(a) Sales by producers. The maximum price for a sale by a producer of pine wood charcoal shall be $15.00 per ton, f. o. b. producer's plant.

(b) Sales by dealers. The maximum price for a sale by a dealer of pine wood charcoal shall be the dealer's maximum price for a sale of pine wood charcoal established by the General Maximum Price Regulation including any order issued thereunder, or the maximum price computed pursuant to the first applicable method set forth below, whichever is higher.

(1) The dealer's maximum price for a sale of pine wood charcoal established by the General Maximum Price Regulation plus any increase in the price which he is required to pay to the producer from whom he purchases charcoal under the provisions of paragraph (a) of this appendix over the highest price paid by him to that producer for such pine wood charcoal during March 1942, or, if no purchases were made by him during March 1942 from such producer, during the last calendar month of 1942 prior thereto during which such purchases were made by him.

(2) Where a dealer is unable to determine his maximum price for pine wood charcoal under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph (b), the maximum price established by this regulation for a sale of such pine wood charcoal by his most closely competitive seller.

(c) Containers. The maximum price established by paragraph (a) of this appendix does not include any charges for containers. If pine wood charcoal is sold in containers, a reasonable charge for such containers may be added to the maximum price. This charge may not exceed the cost of such containers or the applicable maximum price established therefor, whichever is lower.

This amendment shall become effective August 21, 1943.

SHOES

Ration Order 17 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1.2 is amended by deleting the last sentence and substituting instead the following sentence: However, when a consumer orders shoes by mail and he or his agent does not personally select or receive the shoes at his supplier's place of business, the consumer may tear out the stamp and send it by mail with his order.

2. Section 1.12 is amended by designating the material in the section as pargraph (a) and adding paragraph (b) to read as follows:

(b) Any consumer who has inadvertently detached a shoe stamp from his War Ration Book or who did so without knowing this action rendered the stamp void for over-the-counter transfers, may surrender it to the Board during the time it is valid for shoes and the Board may issue him a special shoe stamp in exchange.

3. Section 2.7(c) is added to read as follows:

(c) Sign prohibiting acceptance of loose stamps must be displayed. On and after September 1, 1943, every establishment selling shoes at retail in over-the-counter transactions must keep a notice posted in a conspicuous manner at each place where shoes are sold directly to consumers, containing substantially the following statement: "Rationing regulations prohibit this store from accepting loose war ration stamps for shoes selected or delivered at the store."

4. Section 3.9a is added to read as follows:

SEC. 3.9a Other prohibitions in General Ration Order 8. (a) General Ration Order 8 contains provisions, applicable to this and all other ration orders, which prohibit, among other matters:

(2) Altering, defacing, mutilating, or destroying a ration document;

(3) Forging or counterfeiting a ration document;

(4) Acquiring, using, transferring or possessing a forged, counterfeited, altered, defaced, or multilated ration document;

(5) Wrongfully withholding a ration document;

(6) Transferring a rationed commodity in exchange for an invalid or improperly acquired ration document;

(7) Transferring a rationed commodity at an illegal price;

(8) Bribing, hindering, or interfering with rationing officials;

(9) Attempting to do any act in violation of a ration order, directly or indirectly, or to aid or encourage another to do so.

*The maximum price referred to is the maximum price for the first-named weight in the appropriate square of the left-hand column.

(c) Meaning of "delivered". "Delivered" means delivered to the place where the particular buyer has customarily received the goods. In other words, the prices named include all transportation to that point. Any amount the buyer himself pays to get the goods to that point must be subtracted from the maximum price named. Any amount the seller pays to move the goods beyond that point may be added to the maximum price. In cases where the seller is dealing with the buyer for the first time after August 26, 1943, "delivered" means delivered to the buyer's place of business.

(d) Meaning of "consumer". "Consumer" means the person other than an institutional or commercial user, who buys the potato chips being priced for eating purposes.

(e) Meaning of "retailer". "Retailer" means the person who bought the potato chips being priced and is reselling them to a consumer. The term also includes institutional and commercial users.

(f) Meaning of "wholesaler". "Wholesaler" means the person who bought the potato chips being priced and is reselling them to a retailer or an institutional or commercial user.

(i) Meaning of "potato chips". "Potato chips" shall mean the commodity customarily known and sold by this designation and shall also include "shoestring style", "french fried," and "julienne" packed in other than hermetically sealed metal containers.

SEC. 3. Price labeling requirement. Any person who packs potato chips in individual retail packages shall state in a conspicuous place on each package (or label attached to it) the price named for sales of that size package to consumers.

SEC. 4. Geographical applicability. This regulation applies only to the forty-eight states of the United States and to the District of Columbia.

SEC. 5. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration to whom the authority to grant such authorization has been delegated. The authorization will be given by order.

SEC. 6. Compliance with the regulation—(a) No selling or buying above maximum prices. Regardless of any contract or obligation, no person shall sell or deliver potato chips, or buy or receive them in the course of trade, on and after August 26, 1943, at prices higher than the maximum prices established by this regulation. However, prices lower than maximum prices may be charged and paid. Package weights higher than named may also be sold and delivered at the price named for the lower weight package.

(b) Evasion. Nor shall any person evade a maximum price, directly or indirectly, whether by commission, service, transportation, or other charge or discount, premium or other privilege; by tying-agreement or other trade understanding; by any change of product; by a business practice relating to labeling or packaging; or in any other way.

(c) Enforcement. Any person violating a provision of this regulation is subject to the criminal penalties, and enforcement acts, license suspension provisions, and suits for treble damages provided by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, and amendments.

SEC. 7. General amendments. Any person seeking a general modification of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1,[1] and amendments, issued by the Office of Price Administration.

This regulation shall become effective August 26, 1943.

(2) Every person subject to this order shall, for at least two years (or for such period of time as the Director may designate), maintain an accurate record of his transactions in wool fat.

Subsequent record-keeping or reporting requirements will be subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(j) Audits and inspections. The Director shall be entitled to make such audit or inspection of the books, records and other writings, premises or stocks of wool fat of any person, and to make such investigations, as may be necessary or appropriate, in his discretion, to the enforcement or administration of the provisions of this order.

In addition, any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order is guilty of a crime and may be prosecuted under any and all applicable laws. Further, civil action may be instituted to enforce any liability or duty created by, or to enjoin any violation of, any provision of this order.

(m) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order shall, unless instructions to the contrary are issued by the Director, or otherwise provided herein, be addressed to the Director of Food Distribution, War Food Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. [Regulations 3,[1] Amdt.]

PART 403—FEDERAL OLD-AGE AND SURVIVORS INSURANCE[2]

TIME OF FILING APPLICATIONS FOR BENEFITS

Effective April 1, 1943, this regulation amends Regulations No. 3[1] (Part 403, Title 20, Code of Federal Regulations, 1940 Supp.), by amending § 403.701 of Regulations No. 3, as amended, as follows:

1. Paragraph (f) of § 403.701 Filing of applications and other forms is amended by changing the second paragraph thereof to read as follows:

An application is considered to have been filed as of the date the application is received at an office of the Bureau or by an employee of the Board authorized to receive it, or, if the application is transmitted by mail and the fixing of the date of receipt as the date of filing would result in a loss or impairment of benefit rights, as of the date appearing on the postmark (when available and legible) or the date of mailing (when no postmark is available and legible): Provided, That an application for benefits beginning with a month other than the month in which the application is filed shall, for the purpose of determining whether the conditions of eligibility have been satisfied, be deemed to have been filed in such other month.

2. Paragraph (f) of § 403.701 is further amended by adding thereto a new example designated as Example 3, to follow immediately after Example 2 and to read as follows:

Example 3. A mails an application for primary insurance benefits which is postmarked June 29, and is received at an office of the Bureau on July 1. If July 1 were fixed as the filing date the amount of A's benefit would be decreased from $28.55 to $27.80. The filing date is, therefore, considered to be June 29. Whether or not A worked for wages of more than $14.99 in June and whether his benefit would thus be subject to a deduction (see § 403.503 (a)) is immaterial, since in either event he would lose a month's benefit if July 1 were considered as the filing date.

If A's benefits would be exactly the same whether June 29 or July 1 were fixed as the filing date, and he would be eligible to receive a benefit for June, the filing date would be considered as June 29. However, if he would be eligible to receive a benefit for June but was paid in the quarter ending June 30 an amount of wages which would increase the amount of his benefit if included in the computation, the determination of which filing date is advantageous will be in accordance with the preference expressed by the claimant.

In pursuance of §§ 205 (a) and 1102 of the Social Security Act, as amended, the foregoing regulation adopted by the Board is hereby prescribed this eleventh day of August 1943.

PART 1315—RUBBER AND PRODUCTS AND MATERIALS OF WHICH RUBBER IS A COMPONENT

RETREADED AND RECAPPED RUBBER TIRES AND THE RETREADING AND RECAPPING OF RUBBER TIRES

Section 1315.1215, Tables I, II, IIA, III amended by Amendment 5, effective August 23, 1943, so that Revised Price Regulation No. 66 shall read as follows:

On January 10, 1942, Price Schedule No. 66[2] was issued establishing maximum prices for retreaded and recapped rubber tires, the retreading and recapping of rubber tires, and basic tire carcasses. Price Schedule No. 66, by order issued February 17, 1942,[3] was re-issued under Section 206 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 as Revised Price Schedule No. 66.[4]

This Revised Price Schedule No. 66, as amended, establishes maximum prices for retreaded and recapped tires and for the retreading and recapping of tires. In establishing these maximum prices the Price Administrator has ascertained and given due consideration to the prices prevailing between October 1 and October 15, 1941, and has made adjustments for such relevant factors as he has deemed to be of general applicability. So far as practicable, the Price Administrator has advised and consulted with representative members of the industry which will be affected by this schedule.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by this Revised Price Schedule No. 66, as amended, are and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of the Act. A statement of the considerations[5] involved in the issuance of this Amendment, has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

[5] Statements of considerations are also issued simultaneously with the issuance of amendments. Copies may be obtained from the Office of Price Administration.

§ 1315.1202 Transactions not covered by this schedule—(a) Leasing or renting. The maximum price for any supplying of tire mileage shall be determined according to Maximum Price Regulation No. 414 [8]—Tire Mileage, as now or hereafter amended. (b) Termination sales under tire mileage contracts. The maximum price for any termination sale or transfer of retreaded or recapped tires under a tire mileage contract shall be determined according to Maximum Price Regulation No. 414—Tire Mileage, as now or hereafter amended.

§ 1315.1203a Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration to whom the authority to grant such authorization has been delegated. The authorization will be given by order.

[§ 1315.1203a added by Amendment 4, 8 F.R. 8843, effective 7–2–43]

§ 1315.1204 Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in this Revised Price Schedule No. 66, as amended, shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase or receipt of or relating to any retreaded or recapped tire, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity, or in connection with the retreading or recapping of any tire, or by way of commission, service, transportation or other charge, or by tying agreement or other trade understanding or otherwise.

(b) Specifically, but not exclusively, the following practices are prohibited:

(1) Increasing the charges for the extension of credit or for the demounting or mounting of a tire on a vehicle or rim, or for any other service over those in effect on January 9, 1942;

(2) Making any charges for the extension of credit or for the demounting or mounting of a tire on a vehicle or rim, or for any other service, if the seller had no special and separate charges in effect for such service on January 9, 1942;

(3) Making the terms and conditions of sale more onerous to purchasers than those available or in effect on January 9, 1942;

(4) Making any charges for repairs to the tire carcass in connection with the sale of a retreaded or recapped tire where the purchaser has not furnished the tire carcass to be retreaded or recapped.

(c) The purchaser shall always have the option of paying at the time of the purchase the full cash price for any retreaded or recapped tire or for retreading or recapping any tire. When a purchaser has a tire retreaded or recapped he shall have the option of bringing it to the seller's place of business without having it demounted from a vehicle or rim by the seller or having any other service performed, and of receiving delivery of any retreaded or recapped tire at the seller's place of business without having it mounted on a vehicle or rim or having any other service performed.

(d) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, when the seller has made necessary repairs to a tire carcass furnished by the purchaser for retreading or recapping, the seller, providing he bills it separately, may add to the maximum retreading or recapping price established by this Revised Price Schedule No. 66, as amended, an amount equal to the charges prevailing in the locality of the seller on January 9, 1942 for such repairs as were actually made to the tire carcass.

§ 1315.1205 Minimum quality specifications. (a) In order to be entitled to the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A (§ 1315.1215), retreaded or recapped tires and the retreading or recapping of tires must comply with all the minimum quality specifications set forth in Appendix B (§ 1315.1216).

(b) Maximum prices for retreaded or recapped tires and for the retreading or recapping of tires, when the tires or the retreading or recapping do not comply with all the minimum quality specifications set forth in Appendix B (§ 1315.-1216), shall be the scrap rubber value of the tire at prices prevailing in the locality of the seller at the time of the sale.

§ 1315.1206 Posting of prices. (a) Every person engaged in the business of retreading or recapping tires shall keep posted in a conspicuous place in each establishment at which such retreading or recapping is contracted for, a statement setting forth the maximum prices which he is permitted to charge under Revised Price Schedule No. 66, as amended, for retreading or recapping such tires. For this purpose it shall be permissible to use a copy of the lists of maximum prices printed in Appendix A (§ 1315.1215).

(b) Every person engaged in the business of selling retreaded or recapped tires shall mark or post maximum prices for such tires in accordance with one of the following subparagraphs:

(1) Such seller shall keep posted in a conspicuous place in each establishment at which such tires are offered for sale, a statement setting forth the maximum prices which he is permitted to charge under Revised Price Schedule No. 66, as amended, for such retreaded or recapped tires. For this purpose it shall be permissible to use a copy of the lists of maximum prices printed in Appendix A (§ 1315.1215).

(2) Or such seller shall mark or post the maximum prices of such retreaded or recapped tires in accordance with the provisions of § 1499.13 (a) of the General Maximum Price Regulation.[8]

(c) If, on January 9, 1942, the seller had special and separate charges in effect for the extension of credit or for the demounting or mounting of a tire on a vehicle or rim, or for any other service, in connection with the sale of retreaded or recapped tires or the retreading or recapping of tires, and if he desires to continue such charges after November 3, 1942, such seller shall keep posted in a conspicuous place in each establishment at which such tires are offered for sale, or at which such retreading or recapping is contracted for, a statement listing the prices in effect on January 9, 1942, for such extra service.

§ 1315.1207 Sales slips. Every person engaged in the business of retreading or recapping tires or of selling retreaded or recapped tires shall furnish the purchaser with a written statement reciting: (a) the size of each tire sold, retreaded or recapped; (b) the price per unit; (c) the type of tread applied, specifying whether it is passenger-car, conventional truck and bus, stop-start, ground-grip, road grader, earth mover, rock service, farm tractor, rice and cane special service, or motorcycle; (d) the grade of camelback used; (e) the amount of any charges made by the seller for repairs to the customer's tire carcass and the nature and extent of such repairs, in cases where the tire carcass was furnished by the purchaser and such a charge is permissible.

§ 1315.1208 Records and reports. (a) Every person engaged in the business of retreading or recapping tires or of selling retreaded or recapped tires shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 remains in effect, complete and accurate records of every sale of such tires or of every retreading or recapping operation performed, including: (1) the date thereof; (2) the name and address of the purchaser; (3) the quantity and size of tires sold, retreaded or recapped; (4) the price per unit; (5) the type of tread applied specifying whether it is passenger-car, conventional truck and bus, stop-start, ground-grip, road grader, earth mover,

[1] Grades C and A camelback mean camelback which complies with the specifications issued by the War Production Board for Grades C and A camelback, respectively.

[2] For any tire size where no maximum price is listed in this table under the particular heading for Ground-Grip, Road Grader, Earth Mover or Rock Service types of tread, the maximum price is that set forth for such size under the heading for Conventional Truck and Bus type of tread.

[3] Maximum prices set forth for stop-start type of tread apply only when such treads are applied to tires of a stop-start size listed in this column or of a size generally recognized as equivalent to one of such stop-start sizes. When a stop-start type of tread is applied to such an equivalent size of tire, the maximum price shall be that set forth for the appropriate stop-start size.

[4] Conventional truck and bus type of tread include any tread of a type generally recognized as designed primarily for ordinary "on the road" use on trucks or busses.

[5] Stop-start type of tread must have at least $13/32$ inches tread design depth at the center circumference of the tire and must contain at least as much rubber in the undertread and have a tread design depth at the center circumference of the tire which is at least $2/32$ inches deeper than the conventional truck and bus type of tread of the same retreader or recapper for the same size of tire. Stop-start type of tread includes any such extra heavy tread of a type generally recognized as designed primarily for city commercial use on trucks or busses.

[6] Ground-grip type of tread must contain at least as much rubber in the undertread and have a tread design depth at the center circumference of the tire which is at least $3/32$ inches deeper than the conventional truck and bus type of tread of the same retreader or recapper for the same size of tire. Ground-grip type of tread includes any such tread of a deep-cut, cleated type generally recognized as designed primarily for use on trucks for traction through mud, snow, sand, or soft ground.

[7] Road grader type of tread includes any tread of a type generally recognized as designed primarily for "off the pavement" use on the power driven wheels of highway maintenance and road construction machinery for traction through mud, snow, sand or soft earth.

[8] Earth mover type of tread includes any tread of a type generally recognized as designed primarily for providing flotation in soft earth for "off the road" use on earth moving vehicles.

[9] Rock service type of tread includes any extra heavy tread of a type generally recognized as designed primarily for heavy duty service on rocks or gravel in such work as earth hauling, quarrying, logging and road building.

[1] Grade A camelback means camelback which complies with the specifications issued by the War Production Board for Grade A camelback.

[2] For any tire size where no maximum price is listed in this table under the particular heading for ground-grip, road grader or earth mover types of tread, the maximum price is that set forth for such size under the heading for conventional truck and bus type of tread.

[3] Maximum prices set forth for stop-start type of tread apply only when such treads are applied to tires of a stop-start size listed in this column or of a size generally recognized as equivalent to one of such stop-start sizes. When a stop-start type of tread is applied to such an equivalent size of tire, the maximum price shall be that set forth for the appropriate stop-start size.

[4] Conventional truck and bus type of tread includes any tread of a type generally recognized as designed primarily for ordinary "on the road" use on trucks or busses.

[6] Ground-grip type of tread must contain at least as much rubber in the undertread and have a tread design depth at the center circumference of the tire which is at least 3/32 inch deeper than the conventional truck and bus type of tread of the same retreader or recapper for the same size of tire. Ground-grip type of tread includes any such tread of a deep-cut, cleated type generally recognized as designed primarily for use on trucks for tractions through mud, snow, sand or soft ground.

[7] Road grader type of tread includes any tread of a type generally recognized as designed primarily for "off the pavement" use on the power driven wheels of highway maintenance and road construction machinery for traction through mud, snow, sand or soft earth.

[8] Earth mover type of tread includes any tread of a type generally recognized as designed primarily for providing flotation in soft earth for "off the road" use on earth moving vehicles.

[1] Motorcycle type of tread includes any tread of a type generally recognized as designed primarily for use on motorcycles.

§ 1315.1216 Appendix B: Minimum quality specifications—(a) Retreading and recapping (tire carcass furnished by purchaser). In order to be entitled to the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A (§ 1315.1215), retreading of recapping must comply with all the following minimum quality specifications, when the tire carcass is furnished by the purchaser:

(1) Tire casing must be uniformly buffed.

(2) Tire casing and all materials must be moisture free and free of dirt.

(3) Camelback must be applied to completely cemented and dried surface.

(4) Camelback must be stitched down thoroughly.

(5) Curing must be in full circle molds or steam kettle in accordance with instructions of the manufacturer of the camelback used.

(6) Finished tire tread must adhere uniformly, must be a circle without bulges or sunken areas, and must be completely filled out and free of porosity and imperfections.

(b) Retreaded and recapped tires (tire carcass not furnished by purchaser). In order to be entitled to the maximum prices set forth in Appendix A (§ 1315.1215), when the tire carcass is not furnished by the purchaser, retreaded or recapped tires must comply with all the minimum quality specifications set forth in paragraph. (a) of this section for retreading or recapping, the tire carcass used must have been a treadable tire as defined in subparagraph (1), and if such tire carcass is not sound as defined in subparagraph (1), it must be repaired in compliance with the minimum quality specifications for repairs set forth in subparagraph (2).

(1) Treadable tire. "Treadable tire" means a rubber tire or tire casing which is sound or which, if not sound, warrants repair and retreading or recapping in accordance with recognized commercial practice, and which can reasonably be expected to render satisfactory service under limited operating conditions (speed not over 35 miles per hour and no overload). "Sound" as applied to a tire means a tire which has not been damaged to the extent that it is in need of repair in accordance with recognized commercial practice and which can reasonably be expected to render satisfactory service under limited operating conditions (speed not over 35 miles per hour and no overload). Specifically, a treadable tire must meet at least the following conditions.

(i) The cord body: (a) Must not be worn through more than one body ply for a total length of more than four inches on four-ply tires;

(b) Must not be worn through more than two plies for a total length of more than four inches on tires of six plies or more;

(c) Must not have or show evidence of having had more than two injuries requiring sectional or reinforcement repairs, each not exceeding one-third the cross-sectional diameter of the tire, except that, in the case of a truck tire, it may have an injury not exceeding one-half the cross-sectional diameter of the tire, if that is the only injury to the cord body. Example—Breaks in 600/16 (6 inch) tires must not be more than two inches long: 900/20 (9 inch) tires not more than three inches long, unless there is only one break, in which case it must not be more than four and one-half inches long;

(d) Must not have more than three radial cracks of more than one inch in length extending to the cord body;

(e) Must not have separation between plies;

(f) Must not have been damaged to the extent that cords are pulled loose beyond the first inside ply;

(g) Must not have injuries below any point where the top of the rim flange makes contact with the tire;

(h) Must not have or exhibit circumferential or flex breaks on the inside ply;

(i) Bead area must be sound with no broken wires.

(ii) The tread and sidewall must not be weather checked or cracked to the extent that the tire has more than two radial cracks which extend through the cord body.

(2) Repairs. A repair must be a vulcanized spot repair, or vulcanized reinforcement or vulcanized sectional repair which can be accomplished in accordance with recognized commercial practice and which can be reasonably expected to render satisfactory service under limited operating conditions (speed not over 35 miles per hour and no overload) so that the tire when repaired will be in a safe condition for service.

(i) "Vulcanized spot repair" means a repair which in accordance with recognized commercial practice should be applied to such tire damage as: surface blisters, cuts, and other injuries which can be satisfactorily repaired without fabric reinforcement; small injuries to not more than one ply in a four-ply tire; small injuries to not more than two plies in a six-ply tire; small injuries to not more than one-fourth of the total plies in heavier tires. Specifically, such repair must meet at least the following conditions:

(c) Tire casing and repair materials must be moisture free.

(d) Rubber must be applied after cement is dry.

(e) Curing must be in accordance with instructions of the manufacturer of the repair materials used.

(ii) "Vulcanized reinforcement repair" means a repair requiring fabric reinforcement which in accordance with recognized commercial practice should be applied to such tire damage as worn tread spots or other injuries which involve ply damage exceeding that to which a vulcanized spot repair should be applied but where at least two of the plies are sound and uninjured. "Vulcanized sectional repair" means a repair requiring fabric reinforcement which in accordance with recognized commercial practice should be applied to such tire damage as breaks or cuts through the entire tire casing, nail holes enlarged by prolonged neglect, or other injuries which do not leave two of the plies sound and uninjured and thus involve ply damage exceeding that to which a vulcanized reinforcement repair should be applied. For a reinforcement repair, the patch may be lighter than for a sectional repair, but in no case may a patch lighter than two plies be used. Specifically, such repairs must meet at least the following conditions:

(a) Injured rubber and fabric must be removed.

(b) Area around injury must be skived at an angle to give maximum bonding surface and stress resistance (usually 45 degrees).

(c) Tire casing and repair materials must be moisture free.

(d) Surface must be buffed, cemented, and allowed to dry, then cemented again and allowed to dry again.

(e) Skived portion of the inner casing must be filled with cushion gum level with the inner band ply.

(f) Ready-built patch or built-in cord fabric must be applied in accordance with manufacturer's instructions regarding number of plies, size of patch, ply direction, and application.

(g) Tread portion of skive must be lined with skim coating of cushion gum or tie gum and filled with tread gum slightly above level of the tread.

(h) Curing must be in accordance with instructions of the manufacturer of the repair materials used. Proper pressure must be maintained during cure.

(i) Repaired portions must present smooth surfaces inside and out; tread, buttress, and sidewall designs must be restored to match those on the rest of the tire; and exterior contour must be maintained.

(j) Finished repair must be free of porosity and other imperfections.

ALUMINUM SULPHATE

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Section 4.10 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 4.10 "War grade" iron-free aluminum sulphate—(a) Maximum prices—(1) Sales by manufacturer. A manufacturer of "war grade" iron-free aluminum sulphate who has complied with the reporting requirements of subdivision (i) below may add to his maximum prices per 100 pounds for such commodity as established under § 1499.2 an amount equal to the amount by which his average total cost per 100 pounds for producing such commodity during the months of March, April, and May 1943 exceeds his average net sales realization per 100 pounds of the iron-free aluminum sulphate delivered during March 1942; Provided, That such addition may in no case exceed 50¢ per 100 pounds.

(i) Report. The provision of this subparagraph (1) shall apply only to sales by a manufacturer of "war grade" iron-free aluminum sulphate who prior to September 13, 1943 has filed with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. a statement showing:

(b) The amount he has added under the provisions of this subparagraph (1) to the maximum prices referred to in subdivision (i) (a).

(c) Full details of the calculation used to arrive at the addition referred to in subdivision (i) (b), including a full explanation of the basis of allocation of all costs not directly attributable to the manufacture of "war grade" iron-free aluminum sulphate.

(d) His maximum prices per 100 pounds for "war grade" iron-free aluminum sulphate after application of the addition referred to in subdivision (i) (b).

(b) A reseller of "war grade" iron-free aluminum sulphate may add to the maximum prices determined under § 1499.2 for such commodity an amount per 100 pounds not in excess of the amount per 100 pounds added by his supplier under the provisions of this section to such supplier's maximum price for such commodity.

(c) Notification. Any seller of "war grade" iron-free aluminum sulphate who increases his maximum prices therefor under the provisions of this section shall, with or prior to the first delivery to a purchaser of such commodity after such increase, furnish the purchaser the following notice:

The Office of Price Administration has given us permission to increase our maximum price for "war grade" iron-free aluminum sulphate (specify quantity and container) from $_____ to $_____ per 100 pounds. You are permitted to increase your maximum price for sales of this commodity by the same amount. If you do so, you are required to furnish each customer with or prior to the first delivery after such increase a written notice similar to this one.

(d) Definitions. As used in this section the term:

(1) "'War grade' iron-free aluminum sulphate" means aluminum sulphate containing less than .008 percent of iron by weight and produced from bauxite which is not "restricted bauxite" as that term is defined by General Preference Order M–1–h issued by the War Production Board on July 7, 1942.

(2) "Average total cost per 100 pounds" means the total cost for the period specified divided by the number of hundreds of pounds of "war grade" iron-free aluminum sulphate produced during such period.

(3) "Total cost" means all costs assignable to the production of "war grade" iron-free aluminum sulphate during the period specified less a credit equal to the net sales value of any by-product or joint product produced during such period after subtracting all costs directly attributable to additional processing, packaging, or delivery of such by-product or joint product. Such costs include direct labor, material, fuel, power, and container costs, together with reasonable allocations of indirect labor, supplies, depreciation of plant and equipment actually used in manufacture, maintenance and repairs, and similar items commonly associated with factory operations, plus reasonable allocations of insurance, property taxes, general administrative and selling expenses and similar items, but do not include idle plant expenses, profits, income and excess profit taxes, or war reserves or other reserves for contingencies.

(4) "Average net sales realization per 100 pounds" means the total net sales revenue received by the manufacturer from deliveries of iron-free aluminum sulphate during the period specified, after allowance of all discounts and after payment of all transportation charges incurred by him, divided by the total number of hundreds of pounds delivered during such period.

This amendment shall become effective August 23, 1943.

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

General Ration Order No. 5 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 11.5 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) An institutional user who has received a supplemental allotment of a rationed food during the third or a subsequent allotment period shall, when he applies for the allotments for the second allotment period following the one for which he received the supplemental allotment, report the number of persons served, and in the case of a Group III user, his dollar revenue, for the period for which he received the supplemental allotment. (For example, if he received a supplemental allotment during the third (July-August) allotment period he shall report such information when he applies for allotments for the fifth (November-December) allotment period.) The Board shall then compute an allotment in the same way it computes allotments pursuant to section 6.3 or section 7.3, whichever is applicable, using the figures for the allotment period in question as if they were the figures for the first two of the three calendar months preceding that period. If the result so obtained is less than the sum of the original and supplemental allotment received for the period, the difference shall be deducted from the allotments for which he is applying.

This amendment shall become effective August 16, 1943.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

PART 1305—ADMINISTRATION

[Gen. RO 5,[2] Amdt. 33]

FOOD RATIONING FOR INSTITUTIONAL USERS

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

General Ration Order No. 5 is amended in the following respects:

1. The title of Article IX is amended to read as follows:

Article IX—Issuance of Certificates and Ration Coupons.

2. A new section 9.5 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 9.5. Issuance of ration coupons. (a) Wherever in General Ration Order No. 5 a Board, district office or the Washington Office of the Office of Price Administration is authorized to issue certificates for processed foods or foods covered by Ration Order 16, it shall issue "ration coupons" instead to institutional users who are not entitled to have ration bank accounts pursuant to section 16.2. (Ration coupons may not be issued to an institutional user who is entitled to have an account, even if he does not actually have one.)

3. A new section 9.6 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 9.6. Use of ration coupons. (a) Wherever in this order an institutional user is required to surrender, deposit, issue or receive stamps, certificates or ration checks for processed foods or foods covered by Ration Order 16, ration coupons may be used or accepted instead. (However, ration coupons may not be used for an institutional user establishment which has a ration bank account. Any coupons received by that establishment must be deposited in its account.

4. Section 16.2 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 16.2. Who may open accounts. (a) A Group II or III institutional user who served 3,000 or more persons in December 1942, or in any month from March 1943 on, may open and keep an account for any rationed food. (Other institutional users may not.) Only one ration bank account may be opened for all the foods covered by Ration Order No. 16. The opening of an account for one rationed food does not require him to open an account for any other rationed food.

(b) If the establishments of a Group II or III institutional user are separately registered, he may open separate accounts for any one or more of his establishments at which he served 3,000 or more persons. He may not use the same account for more than one establishment.

(c) Any Group II institutional user who is eligible to open a ration bank account and who has combined his establishments in one registration, may open one account for all his Group II establishments, or a separate account for each or for any combination of them. Any Group III institutional user who is eligible to open a ration bank account and whose establishments are registered together has the same privilege for his Group III establishments. No account may be opened for, or serve, establishments in more than one Group. If an account is opened pursuant to this paragraph for any establishment in Group II or Group III, all other establishments in the same group must also have an account or accounts.

5. A new section 16.4 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 16.4. Closing of certain accounts. (a) An institutional user who has an account but who, under the provisions of section 16.2, as amended, is not eligible to have an account shall promptly inform his bank in writing of this fact, and he shall reduce the balance in his account to zero on or before November 1, 1943.

6. Section 22.1 is amended by inserting between the definitions of "Ration check" and "Ration credits", the following:

"Ration coupons" means coupons, in denominations of 1, 5, 20, 100 and 1000, so designated in Ration Orders No. 13 or 16.

This amendment shall become effective August 18, 1943.

A rationale to this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Ration Order No. 1A is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1315.302 (g) is added to read as follows:

(g) Tires or new tubes being imported into the United States for the personal use of the importer. The local board serving the area in which the port of entry into the United States is located, and the local board normally having jurisdiction over the vehicle upon which the tires or new tubes are to be used shall have concurrent jurisdiction.

2. Section 1315.807 (g) is amended to read as follows:

(g) Importation of tires or new tubes. Tires or new tubes may not be imported into this country for the personal use of the importer and if held in Customs may not be released for such personal use, unless the importer holds the Part D of OPA Form R–2, revised, issued by a War Price and Rationing Board.

(1) Application for this certificate must be made on OPA Form R–1, revised, to the local War Price and Rationing Board nearest the desired port of entry into the United States, or to the local board normally having jurisdiction over the vehicle on which the tires or new tubes are to be used. (i) The serial number (brand name, if no serial number) of each tire and the size of each tire or new tube to be imported.

(ii) The total number of miles that the tires or new tubes to be imported have been driven. (A tube driven 1,000 miles or over is no longer a new tube).

(2) If the applicant establishes, in accordance with the provisions of this order, eligibility and need for the number and particular type and grade of tires or new tubes which he wishes to import, the board will issue the Part D of OPA Form R–2, revised, for the number, type and grade of tires or new tubes to be imported indicating thereon the serial number of each tire and the size of each tire or new tube.

(3) The presentation of the Part D of OPA Form R–2, revised, to the United States Customs officials shall be the authorization, insofar as the regulations of the Office of Price Administration are concerned, for the importation into the United States of the tires or new tubes described on such certificate. The Part D should be retained by the importer.

(4) If the applicant is unable to obtain an authorization to import tires or new tubes held in Customs he may dispose of such tires or new tubes as follows:

(i) To any dealer or manufacturer of tires and tubes located in the United States, upon written authorization of the District Director having jurisdiction over the area in which the dealer or manufacturer is located. Application for such authorization must be made in accordance with the provisions of § 1315.804 (e) (3) of Ration Order No. 1A.

(ii) To the Defense Supplies Corporation.

(iii) To any person located outside the continental limits of the United States.

(5) Authorization of the Office of Price Administration is not necessary to import tires or new tubes in the following cases:

(i) Any person who makes a sworn statement to the United States Customs officials that his vehicle has been outside the continental United States continuously since December 1, 1942, or since the date of its purchase, may import tires or new tubes which are mounted on such vehicle.

(ii) Any person who has had his own tires recapped while outside the continental United States.

(iii) Any person may import used tubes (tubes which have been driven 1,000 miles or more) without restriction since used tubes are no longer subject to rationing control.

(iv) Any diplomatic representative of a foreign Government may import tires or new tubes for his own personal use, or for the use of members of his staff.

(v) Any commercial representative of a foreign Government may import tires or new tubes for use in his official business.

(vi) Any person may import tires or new tubes from the Dominion of Canada: Provided, That such tires or new tubes were manufactured in the continental United States, Canada or the British Isles.

(2) A dealer receiving tires under the provisions of this Section shall, within ten days of the receipt of the tires, notify his OPA District office of the number of such tires he has designated as scrap. He shall not dispose of any tires so designated for a period of thirty days from the date of the notification unless such tires have been inspected by an OPA Tire Examiner.

7. Section 1315.807 (d) is amended by deleting the phrase "Regional Office" and inserting the phrase "District Office" in lieu thereof.

AROMATIC RED CEDAR LUMBER

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by this regulation are and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. AUTHORITY: § 1381.102 issued under Pub. Laws 421 and 729, 77th Cong.; E.O. 9250, 7 F.R. 7871.

SECTION 1. Prices higher than ceiling prohibited. (a) On and after August 24, 1943, regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person shall sell or deliver and no person shall buy or receive in the course of trade or business, any aromatic red cedar lumber for direct-mill shipment at prices higher than the maximum prices fixed by this regulation, and no person shall agree, offer, or attempt to do any of these things.

(b) Prices lower than the maximum prices may, of course, be charged and paid.

SEC. 2. What products, transactions, and persons are covered. This regulation covers all direct-mill sales of aromatic red cedar lumber (Juniperus virginiana) graded under the effective grading Rules of the National Hardwood Lumber Association issued January 1943. The regulation applies regardless of the kind of mill or plant in which the lumber is produced, and regardless of whether the particular item is specifically priced in the price tables or not. Any person who makes a sale of this kind, for himself or others, is subject to this regulation.

SEC. 3. Maximum f. o. b. mill prices. The maximum prices for aromatic red cedar lumber, rough, f. o. b. mill, per one thousand feet [1] shall be as follows:

Thickness (inches)	Widths (inches)	Lengths (feet)	No. 1 common and better
5/8	Standard	Standard	$54
3/4	Standard	Standard	60
1	Standard	Standard	67	$33.50
1¼	Standard	Standard	72	36.00
1½	Standard	Standard	72	36.00
2	Standard	Standard	77	38.50

SEC. 4. Additions. (a) When ordered by the customer and furnished by the seller, the following indicated additions may be made to the maximum prices in the preceding section:

(1) Non-standard specifications:

4" and wider, 3' and longer	$3.00
5" and wider, 3' and longer	10.00

(2) Kiln drying to a moisture content not exceeding 10 percent at the time the lumber leaves kiln.

	Thickness (inches)
	5/8	3/4	1	1¼	1½	2
Price	$8.00	$8.00	$10.00	$12.00	$12.00	$14.00

(3) Mill working:

	Less than 1", 1" and 1¼" thick	1½" and thicker
Resawing 1 line	$3.00	$2.50
Resawing 2 lines	5.50	4.50
Surfacing 1 or 2 sides	2.50	2.25
Surfacing 2 sides and resawing	5.00	4.25
Resawing and resurfacing 1 or 2 sides	5.50	4.75
Surfacing 3 or 4 sides, or 1 side and edge	4.00	3.50

(b) Small quantities. The following additions per thousand feet may be made when the purchaser (or purchasers in the case of a pool car) orders an item consisting of one species, thickness, and grade, in the following quantities:

Quantity ordered:	Addition per M'
3000 to 4000 feet	$1.00
2000 to 2999 feet	2.00
1000 to 1999 feet	2.50
999 or less feet	3.00

SEC. 5. Delivered prices. The general rule is that the maximum delivered price shall be a price not higher than the f. o. b. mill maximum price plus the actual transportation charges paid or incurred by the seller in making shipment directly from the mill to the point of delivery required by the purchaser. However, it is permissible to quote delivered prices based on the rail rate times an estimated weight of 3300 pounds per 1000 feet board measure, or equivalent in other measure.

SEC. 6. Grades, services, or extras not listed. (a) If a seller wishes to sell a grade or item which is not specifically priced in the price tables, he must apply to the Lumber Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for a maximum price. He must provide the following information:

(1) The requested price;

(2) A complete description of the item to be priced;

(3) The price differential between it and the most comparable item in the price tables, in October 1941, from the seller's own records, or if that is impossible, from experience of the trade. If no established price differential which can be used for comparison existed, a detailed analysis of the calculation of the requested price should be furnished.

(b) As soon as the request has been filed, quotations and deliveries may be made at the requested price, but the final payment may not be made until the price has been approved. Action on the request may be by letter or telegram.

SEC. 7. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration to whom the authority to grant such authorization has been delegated. The authorization will be given by order, except that it may be given by letter or telegram when the contemplated revision will be the granting of an individual application for adjustment.

SEC. 8. Petitions for adjustment or amendment—(a) Government contracts. (1) The term "Government contract" is here used to include any contract with the United States or any of its agencies or with the government or any governmental agency of any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States under the terms of the Act of March 11, 1941, entitled "An Act to promote the Defense of the United States". The term also includes any sub-contract under this kind of contract.

(2) Any person who has entered into or proposes to enter into a "Government contract", who believes that the maximum prices established by this regulation impede or threaten to impede production of aromatic red cedar lumber essential to the war program, may file an application for adjustment in accordance with Procedural Regulation No. 6,[2] as amended, by the Office of Price Administration. As soon as the application is filed, contracts, deliveries, and payments may be made at the requested price, subject to refund if the requested price is disapproved or lowered. The seller must notify the buyer that the delivery is made subject to this refund.

(b) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1,[3] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 9. Prohibited practices. Any practice which is a device to get the effect of a higher-than-ceiling price without actually raising the dollars and cents price is as much a violation of this regulation as an outright over-ceiling price. This applies to changes in credit practices and cash discounts and to devices making use of commissions, services, transportation arrangements, premiums, special privileges, tying agreements, trade understandings and the like.

SEC. 10. Records. All sellers and all buyers of aromatic red cedar for direct-mill shipment must retain a copy of the invoice covering each transaction or maintain records in other forms containing a complete description of the lumber, name and address of the other party to the transaction, date of sale, and the price paid, including any special addition for extra service, working, or specification. These records must be retained for two years, for inspection by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 11. Enforcement. Persons violating any provision of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages and proceedings for suspension of licenses provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

Effective date. This regulation shall become effective August 24, 1943.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 18th day of August 1943.

(2) Prior to and during the conduct of each firing practice the firing vessel will fly a red flag at the foretruck.

(3) These regulations shall not deny access or egress from harbors contiguous to the danger zone or to Ship Island Pass by regular cargo-carrying vessels, nor shall they deny traverse of portions of the danger area by regular cargo-carrying vessels proceeding in established steamer lanes. In case of the presence of any such vessel in the danger area, the officer in charge of gunnery operations shall cause the cessation or postponement of fire until the vessel has cleared that part of the area within the range of the weapons being used. The vessel shall proceed on its normal course and not delay its progress.

(4) Advance notice shall be given of the date on which the first firing practice will begin. At intervals of not more than three months thereafter, notice will be sent out that firing practice is continuing. Such notices will appear in the local newspapers and in the "Notice to Mariners."

(4) One week in advance of the date when the area is to be used as a seaplane operating base, the Commanding Officer will warn the public of such contemplated use through the public press and the United States Coast Guard.

(4) These regulations shall not deny access to or egress from harbors contiguous to the danger area by regular cargo-carrying vessels, nor shall they deny traverse of portions of the danger area by regular cargo-carrying vessels proceeding in established steamer lanes. In case of the presence of any such vessel in the danger area, the officer in charge of gunnery and bombing practice shall cause the cessation or postponement of such operations until the vessel has cleared the area. The vessel shall proceed on its normal course and shall not delay its progress.

Conspicuous warning signals will also be placed at all outside entrances to Lake Woodruff. Upon receiving these signals any watercraft within the danger zone shall immediately leave it, and no craft shall enter the area until practice has ceased. Bombing practice will not be commenced until all craft have left the area.

(4) During night operations the same precautions will be taken for the safety of surface craft as in daytime operations, with the addition of Very's pistol signals to insure positive control. A red Very's pistol signal will indicate cease bombing and a green Very's pistol signal will indicate area is clear for bombing.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER OF THE DIRECTOR

In the matter of Frank Gerard and Heston Rumple, individually and as copartners doing business under the name and style of Gerard and Rumple.

This proceeding was instituted upon a complaint duly filed on February 2, 1942, by Bituminous Coal Producers Board for District No. 11 with the Bituminous Coal Division, pursuant to the provisions of sections 4 II (j) and 5 (b) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, alleging that Frank Gerard and Heston Rumple, individually and as copartners, doing business under the name and style of Gerard and Rumple, code members, operating the Gerard Mine, Mine Index No. 904, in District 11, wilfully violated the provisions of the Act and the Code, and praying appropriate relief.

On March 16, 1942, after an order extended the time for filing, code member Frank Gerard filed an answer. Code member Heston Rumple filed a separate informal answer on March 14, 1942.

Pursuant to appropriate orders, and after due notice to interested persons, a hearing in this matter was held on April 20, 1942, before Joseph D. Dermody, a duly designated Examiner of the Division, at a hearing room at Terre Haute, Indiana. Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to be present, adduce evidence, cross-examine witnesses, and otherwise be heard. Appearances were entered by District Board 11 and by code member Frank Gerard. Because the other partner, Heston Rumple did not appear, the presiding Examiner, in his discretion, continued the hearing. When the hearing was resumed, Examiner Dermody was unavailable and by appropriate order of the Director, Charles S. Mitchell, a duly designated Examiner of the Division, was substituted to preside at the hearing. After due notice to interested persons, the hearing resumed before Examiner Mitchell at a hearing room in Terre Haute, Indiana, July 29, 1942. District Board 11 and code member Gerard again appeared. No subpoena was served on code member Rumple, due to inability to determine his whereabouts. He was not present at the hearing. The hearing was again continued but on March 23, 1943, by order of the Director, the hearing was closed and the Examiner was directed to submit a report. No report has as yet been submitted.

In view of the fact that the Bitiuminous Coal Act of 1937, as amended, will expire on August 23, 1943 (except as provided in section 19 thereof), it seems appropriate to dismiss the proceeding.

It is therefore ordered, That the proceeding herein be dismissed.

Dated: August 17, 1943.

Director.

[Docket C–6]

REPORT OF THE EXAMINER

In the matter of the application of Emerald Coal and Coke Company for approval of a contract for the sale of coal, pursuant to Rule 5 of section VI of the Marketing Rules and Regulations.

This proceeding was instituted upon an application duly filed with the Bituminous Coal Division on February 20, 1942, by the Emerald Coal and Coke Company (Emerald), a code member producer owning and operating the Emerald Mine, Mine Index No. 60, located in District No. 2, Greene County, Pennsylvania, seeking approval, pursuant to the provisions of Rule 5 of section VI of the Marketing Rules and Regulations of a contract between Applicant and Pittsburgh Coke & Iron Company, dated Jan. uary 10, 1942, by the terms of which Applicant undertakes to furnish that company with at least eighty per cent (80%) of its high volatile coal requirements at its byproduct coke plant on Neville Island, Alleghany County, Pennsylvania, as now constructed for a period of approximately twenty (20) years.

Petitions of intervention were filed by District Boards 1, 2, 3 and 6; Ontario Gas Coal Company, a code member in District No. 2; Lowber Gas Coal Company, a code member in District No. 2 and an Emerald stockholder; Julian Kennedy, Jr., Joseph W. Kennedy, Louise Kennedy, Katherine W. Kennedy, O'Donnell Iselin and Columbus O'Donnell Iselin II, Trustees under Deed of Trust, dated April 26, 1932 given by Columbus O'Donnell Iselin, Louise M. Iselin, and Ernest Iselin, Jr., Executors of the Estate of Adrian Iselin, deceased, Columbus O'Donnell Iselin, O'Donnell Iselin and Ernest Iselin, Liquidating Partner of A. Iselin and Company, and the Adlin Corporation, all stockholders in Emerald; and by the Bituminous Coal Consumers' Counsel.

Pursuant to appropriate orders, and after due notice to interested parties, a hearing in this matter was held before the undersigned, Charles O. Fowler, a duly designated Trial Examiner of the Division, on January 12–15, 18–23, 25–27, 1943, at a hearing room thereof in Washington, D. C. All interested parties were afforded an opportunity to be present, adduce evidence, cross-examine witnesses, and otherwise be heard. All interveners including the Consumers' Counsel, appeared in opposition to the application, with the exception of District Board No. 2, and District Boards Nos. 1, 3 and 6, which did not actively participate in the hearing.

The record in this case is an extensive one and the issues involved are very intricate and complex, requiring findings as to many questions of fact and legal determinations. Both the Applicant and the Pittsburgh Coke & Iron Company are part of a large group of corporations owned and operated by what is described in the record as the "Hillman Interests," the Hillman Coal and Coke Company being a large corporation with varied interests, and having substantial control of both the Applicant and the Pittsburgh Coke & Iron Company. The entire record, which comprises some 1,500 pages of transcript and 78 exhibits, some of which are very complex, and portions of a record in a court of chancery in the State of Delaware, and opinion of said court, present, inter alia, an issue covering the scope and construction of Rule 5, section VI of the Marketing Rules and Regulations with respect to the right of Applicant, as part of a large group of interrelated corporations, to enter into a contract for a period of approximately twenty years that requires the delivery to the consumer, an affiliated group, of practically its entire production. This not only makes it necessary to weigh the evidence with respect to the various interests of the several witnesses in the two companies, the parent company, and the other affiliated companies, but to determine many other issues that are presented, some of which involve extensive comparisons with records of the Division.

In this connection, it should be pointed out that applicant, through one of its witnesses, took the position that the Director of the Division, by a letter dated January 6, 1943 had approved the contract under consideration, and that the hearing was therefore a mere formality to comply with Rule V of section VI, supra, but an examination of said letter, which was placed in evidence, and a consideration of the circumstances leading up to the writing thereof show clearly that the Director did not approve said contract and fully explained that if said contract was entered into it would have to be submitted to the Division for approval. By the terms of the Act and the Rules and Regulations thereunder such a contract does not become valid until it is approved by the Director of the Division. Whether it becomes valid upon the expiration of the Act without further acts of the parties thereto, is a question of law which need not here be decided.

I am fully convinced and am of opinion that the application of Emerald for approval of said contract should be denied, but in view of the fact that the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, as amended, will expire at 12:01 a. m., August 24, 1943, and my report containing detailed findings of fact and conclusions of law, if submitted could be acted upon by the Director only after an opportunity had been afforded the parties to file exceptions; as it would be necessary for the Director to have an opportunity to consider the entire record, and further, as a petition might also be filed for rehearing or reconsideration of the order of the Director, it is obvious that this case could not be finally disposed of prior to the expiration of the Act. I accordingly recommend that the proceeding be dismissed in its present status, so that it may be opened and exhaustively considered if the Congress should, in subsequent legislation, see fit to save proceedings pending before the Division on August 23, 1943.

CHARLES O. FOWLER,
Trial Examiner.

Recommendation approved and proceeding dismissed.

[Docket No. A-1639]

ARKANSAS COAL COMPANY

ORDER DISMISSING PROCEEDING

In the matter of the petition of Arkansas Coal Company for the establishment of additional price classifications and minimum prices for the coals of its Arkansas Coal Co. Mine (Mine Index No. 593) and for a change in the subdistrict number for this mine.

This proceeding was instituted upon a petition filed with the Bituminous Coal Division on September 14, 1942, by the Arkansas Coal Company pursuant to section 4 II (d) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937. The petition requests the establishment of additional price classifications and minimum prices for the coals produced by petitioner at its Arkansas Coal Co. Mine (Mine Index No. 593), Johnson County, Arkansas, in District 14, for all shipments except truck and for truck shipments.

On September 26, 1942 an order was entered temporarily establishing the price classifications and the minimum prices requested by the petition, revising the subdistrict designation from subdistrict 1 to subdistrict 2 and conditionally providing for final relief sixty (60) days from the date thereof unless otherwise ordered (7 F.R. 8173). On October 5, 1942, District Board 14 filed with the Division an "Intervention and Response" denying the allegations of the petition, and praying that the requested revision in price classifications, minimum prices and subdistrict designations should not be granted. On October 22, 1942, a Notice of the Order for Hearing issued herein, continuing the temporary relief heretofore granted pending final disposition of this proceeding, terminating the conditionally final relief, and directing a hearing herein (7 F.R. 8584).

Pursuant to the aforesaid order, and after due notice to interested persons, a hearing in this matter was held before Edward J. Hayes, a duly designated Examiner of the Division, at a hearing room thereof in Fort Smith, Arkansas, on November 16, 1942. Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to be present, adduce evidence, cross-examine witnesses and otherwise be heard. Petitioner, District Board 14, and a representative of the Office of the General Counsel appeared. All parties waived the preparation and filing of a report by the Examiner.

The Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, as amended by Act of Congress, approved May 21, 1943, expires on August 24, 1943 at 12:01 a. m. The price classifications and minimum prices established by the Division pursuant to the provisions of the Act, also become inoperative as of the date and time aforesaid. In view thereof, it is deemed appropriate that the temporary relief heretofore granted by order, dated September 26, 1942 be terminated and the proceeding herein dismissed as of the date of the expiration of the Act.

It is therefore ordered, That effective on August 24, 1943 at 12:01 a. m. the temporary relief heretofore granted in this proceeding is hereby terminated.

It is further ordered, That effective as of the date and time aforesaid, the proceeding in Docket No. A-1639 is hereby dismissed.

Dated: August 17, 1943.

Director.

The preparation and filing of the Report of the Examiner were waived in Docket No. A-411 but not in Docket Nos. A-1815 and A-1821, in which such report has not as yet been filed.[2]

The Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, as amended by Act of Congress, approved May 21, 1943, expires on August 24, 1943 at 12:01 a. m. DISTRICT BOARD 2 AND NORTHWESTERN FUEL COMPANY

ORDER DISMISSING PROCEEDINGS

In the matter of the petitions of District Board No. 2 and Northwestern Fuel Co. for amendment of the marketing rules and regulations and the price exceptions in the schedule of effective minimum prices for District No. 2 for all shipments except truck.

In Dockets Nos. A-1660 and A-1897 proceedings were instituted upon petitions filed with the Bituminous Coal Division by District Board No. 2, pursuant to section 4 II (d) of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937. The petition in Docket No. A-1660 requests amendment of Rule 1 (J) of section VII of the Marketing Rules and Regulations. Pursuant to appropriate orders, and after due notice to interested persons, hearings were held in the above designated dockets before duly designated Examiners of the Division. The submission of a Report of the Examiner was waived in Docket No. A-1897, but not in Dockets Nos. A-1218 and A-1660 in which no Examiner's Reports have as yet been filed.[1]

The Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, as amended by Act of Congress, approved May 21, 1943, expires on August 24, 1943, at 12:01 a. m. The price schedules established by the Division, the price exemptions and instructions therein contained, and the Marketing Rules and Regulations promulgated by the Division pursuant to applicable provisions of the Act, cease to be operative as of the date and time aforesaid. In view thereof, it is deemed appropriate that the temporary relief heretofore granted in Docket No. A-1218 be terminated and the proceedings in each of the above designated dockets dismissed.

It is therefore ordered, That effective on August 24, 1943 at 12:01 a. m., the temporary relief heretofore granted in Docket No. A-1218 is hereby terminated.

ORDER OF AUTHORIZATION

AUGUST 16, 1943.

Whereas section 5 of the War Labor Disputes Act provides that the Government agency operating a plant, mine or facility under that Act "may apply to the National War Labor Board for a change in wages or other terms or conditions of employment in such plant, mine or facility. Upon receipt of any such application, and after such hearings and investigations as it deems necessary, such Board may order any changes in such wages, or other terms and conditions, which it deems to be fair and reasonable and not in conflict with any Act of Congress or any Executive Order issued thereunder. Any such order of the Board shall, upon approval by the President, be complied with by the Government agency operating such plant, mine or facility;" and

Whereas the Secretary of the Interior applied to the National War Labor Board by letter of August 13, 1943 for the issuance of an order under which the eight-hour work day, with appropriate overtime provisions, may be substituted for the present seven-hour day at those bituminous and anthracite mines in the possession of the Government at which the Secretary of the Interior determines that the institution of such an eight-hour day, permitting a forty-eight-hour work week, is feasible and necessary; and

Whereas the facts necessary for a proper determination of this application have been ascertained during the course of previous hearings and investigations before this Board, and the Board therefore deems that no further hearings and investgiations are necessary; and

Whereas the changes in the existing terms and conditions of employment required by the application are deemed by the Board to be fair and reasonable and not in conflict with any Act of Congress or any Executive Order issued thereunder;

Now, therefore, by virtue of and pursuant to the powers vested in it by Executive Order 9017 of January 12, 1942 (7 F.R. 237) the Executive Orders and Regulations issued under the Act of Congress of October 2, 1942 and the War Labor Board hereby makes the following order of authorization:

(1) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (2) hereof, the existing terms and conditions of employment in the bituminous and anthracite mines in the possession of the Government are hereby changed by providing that the Secretary of the Interior may afford the mine workers in such mines in his possession as the Secretary may designate an opportunity to work eight hours a day, instead of the present seven-hour day, with payment at the rate of time and one-half for the additional hour of work on any day, when the eight hours a day are worked in conjunction with a forty-eight hour work-week.

An opinion accompanying this order, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register,* and in accordance with § 1499.159 (b) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188; It is hereby ordered:

(a) The provisions of § 1499.155 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188 as applied to furniture subject thereto are modified by this order as hereinafter provided.

(b) The maximum price of any article of household furniture differing from any article for which a maximum price has already been established, only by reason of minor changes in materials, design, or construction which do not reduce cost of materials or prevent its offering fairly equivalent serviceability shall be the maximum price of the article already priced.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (b) above, the maximum price of any article of household furniture differing from any article for which a maximum price has already been established only by reason of the minor changes in material, design or construction listed in paragraph (d) below which reduce cost of materials but which do not prevent the article from offering fairly equivalent serviceability shall be the maximum price of the article already priced.

(d) Changes of a minor nature in material, design or construction referred to in paragraph (c) above are limited to the following:

(1) Simplification but not omission of incidental ornamental turnings, carvings, moldings, etc.

(2) Substitution of gimp for ornamental nails on upholstered furniture.

(3) Substitution for metal or plastic drawer pulls.

(4) Change in materials used in finishing if substantially the same durability and effect are maintained.

(5) Simplification or elimination of inner-drawer partitions, and other minor parts, which are conveniences but not necessary to total function.

(6) Elimination of "water-fall" features and substitution of flat tops or flat members.

(7) Substitutions in joinery methods calculated to save essential hardware where construction is not weakened.

(8) Change of face veneers within maximum range of 10% of cost per foot in either direction.

(9) Substitution of solid-filling for metal springs in dining chairs and open-arm pull-up chairs.

(10) Slight reduction in weight of bedpost stock.

(e) If an article of household furniture differs by virtue of more than three changes listed in paragraph (d) above from articles, the maximum prices of which have already been set, its maximum price may not be established under paragraph (c) above.

(f) The maximum price of an article of household furniture may not be established under paragraph (c) above if the application of that paragraph conflicts with the manufacturer's established practice of granting price differentials for alternative features.

(g) This order may be amended or revoked by the Price Administrator at any time.

This Order No. 590 shall become effective August 18, 1943.

Electric Power & Light Corporation ("Electric"), a registered holding company and a subsidiary of Electric Bond and Share Company, likewise a registered holding company, and Idaho Power Company ("Idaho"), an electric utility subsidiary company of Electric, have filed joint declarations and applications (File No. 70–753) and amendments thereto concerning, among other things, a proposed capital contribution by Electric to Idaho and various related transactions, as set forth below. Electric has filed a separate declaration and application (File No. 70–752) and amendments thereto, proposing to sell the common stock of Idaho and use the proceeds to purchase part of Electric's outstanding debentures.

After appropriate notice and issue of an order consolidating the hearings on said joint and separate declarations and applications, a public hearing was held. On July 29, 1943 we issued an order granting subject to certain reservations of jurisdiction, an application by Electric for exemption of said proposed sale from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 (Holding Company Act Release No. 4458). We have now considered the record in regard to the proposals made in the joint filing and we make the following findings in regard thereto:

In order to comply with substantially identical orders of the Federal Power Commission, the Public Utilities Commissioner of Oregon and the Public Utilities Commission of Idaho dated respectively, May 18, 1943, May 28, 1943, and June 4, 1943, with respect to the reclassification of Idaho's electric plant in accordance with the uniform system of accounts, Idaho proposes to dispose of the amount of $9,562,632.88 established in Account 107, Electric Plant Adjustments, by charging $2,520,440.52 to earned surplus and $693,616.69 to other specified accounts, and to dispose of the unclassified balance of $6,348,575.67 in Account 107 representing a write-up of Idaho's plant account at organization which was credited to the common stock account, by charging $6,267,000 thereof to the capital surplus to be created by Electric's capital contribution described below, and $81,575.67 to earned surplus. Idaho will dispose of the amount of $1,905,410.26 established in Account 100.5, Electric Plant Acquisition Adjustments, through equal annual charges of $127,027.35 as income deductions over a period of fifteen years beginning with the year 1943, and will make certain other minor adjustments necessary to comply with the aforementioned orders.[1]

In order to assist Idaho to comply with said orders, Electric, as holder of all of the 150,000 outstanding shares of the common stock, $100 par value, of Idaho and 2,670 shares of the $100 par value preferred stock (7%) of Idaho (the rest of which is publicly held) proposes to surrender 60,000 of such common shares and all of the 2,670 preferred shares to Idaho as a capital contribution. Idaho proposes to acquire all the shares which will be so contributed and to cancel them, thereby reducing its capital stock liability by $6,267,000, which amount Idaho will credit to capital surplus. The carrying value of Electric's investment in Idaho will remain unchanged by the capital contribution which will be recorded by a memorandum entry on the books of Electric.

[1] Pursuant to said orders, another item of $706,165.83 in Account 100.5 was permitted to be transferred to Account 100.6, Electric Plant in Process of Reclassification, pending final determination as to appropriate classification thereof.

Idaho proposes further to amend its certificate of organization so as to eliminate its authority to issue second preferred stock, of which 10,000 shares are presently authorized but none are issued or outstanding, and to restate the classes and amounts of its authorized capital stock.

As an aid to Electric in effecting its proposed sale of the Idaho common stock, Idaho also proposes to amend its by-laws so that the 90,000 shares of its $100 par value common stock, each having one vote, which will remain outstanding after the capital contribution is made, will be changed into 450,000 shares of $20 par value common stock each having one vote.[2]

Set forth below is a condensed balance sheet per books of Idaho as of May 31, 1943, together with adjustments and a pro forma balance sheet giving effect to the proposed transactions affecting Idaho.

By amendment to its by-laws Idaho proposes to adjust the voting power of its preferred stock by increase thereof from one to five votes a share to counterbalance the increase in the voting power of the common stock as a class. Idaho proposes also to provide by addition to its by-laws that whenever dividends payable on the preferred stock of Idaho shall be accumulated and unpaid in an amount equivalent to four quarterly dividends, the holders of such stock, voting for such purpose as a single class, shall be entitled thereafter at each succeeding annual meeting of the stockholders to elect the smallest number of directors necessary to constitute a majority of the board of directors until all such accumulated and unpaid dividends shall have been eliminated, provided that if and when profits available for dividends are in excess of such unpaid dividends, the payment thereof shall not be unreasonably withheld. The by-laws are also to be amended to provide that no mortgage of the fixed assets of Idaho shall be made without the approval of holders of the majority of such shares of common stock and also holders of the majority of such shares of preferred stock as are present at a meeting of the stockholders, at which a quorum is present, subject to the proviso that such approval shall not be required in connection with anything required or permitted to be done under the company's existing bond indenture. The by-laws would also be amended so as to require a ⅔ vote of the holders of the outstanding preferred stock voting as a class for that purpose to change said contingent voting rights, and to change said restriction on mortgaging the fixed assets of the company.

Idaho proposes also that the so-called "migratory provisions" of its by-laws be eliminated entirely and that various minor amendments be made in order to conform the by-laws to the changes already described. In connection with approval of the above transactions Idaho proposes to solicit proxies from its stockholders, the form of said proxy and the accompanying statement having been filed in this proceeding.

It was stated that the Public Utilities Commission of Oregon has jurisdiction in connection with the decrease in the par value of, and the increase in the number of shares of, Idaho's common stock, and it was stated that application was made to said Commissioner on July 1, 1943 for an order approving such changes.

The provisions of section 6 (a), 7, 9 (a), 10, 11 (b), 12 (c), 12 (d), 12 (e) and 12 (f) of the Act and Rules U-42, U-43, U-45 and U-62 thereunder, are applicable to the transactions proposed in the above described filing. We have examined the proposed transactions in the light of these provisions and find that they are satisfied.

It is therefore ordered, That pursuant to the applicable provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, the said (File No. 70–753) applications and declarations as amended, be, and they hereby are granted an permitted to become effective forthwith, subject, however, to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24 of the General Rules and Regulations, and subject to the further condition that the decrease of the par value and increase in the number of shares of the common stock of Idaho be approved by the Public Utilities Commissioner of Oregon, and subject to the further condition that all exhibits relating to said transactions be submitted in final form, jurisdiction being reserved with respect to the final form and terms of such exhibits.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction, be, and it hereby is, reserved expressly to pass upon all other matters, not heretofore determined, which are involved in these consolidated proceedings, in so far as they arise under the said separate application and declaration of Electric in said File No. 70–752 proceedings and our order previously entered therein.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] ORVAL L. DUBOIS,
Secretary.

(3) Where the purpose is the manufacture of one of the following products, the quantity received in any calendar quarter shall not (without specific written authorization) exceed 60% of the quantity used for the same purpose in the corresponding calendar quarter of the 12-month period ended June 30, 1941:

(8) Specific written authorization of War Production Board shall not be required for, and no limitation based on past use shall be applicable to, the acceptance of delivery by any person in any calendar quarter from all sources of not more than 162 gallons for any purpose other than the manufacture of rubbing alcohol compound or preparation.

(2) A supplier may without such certificate and without authorization deliver not more than 162 gallons in any calendar quarter to any hospital or scientific institution holding a permit issued by the Bureau of Internal Revenue permitting it to acquire undenatured alcohol tax free.

(3) A supplier must not deliver ethyl alcohol where he knows or has reason to believe that the certificate is false, but in the absence of such knowledge or reason to believe he may rely upon it.

(4) If War Production Board issues written directions to suppliers reducing the quantities of ethyl alcohol which may be delivered pursuant to paragraph (e) (1), suppliers will rateably reduce all orders for ethyl alcohol from customers wishing it for the same class of use.

(f) Deliveries by suppliers upon specific authorization. Each supplier requiring specific authorization to deliver ethyl alcohol during any calendar quarter shall file application on or before the 15th day of the last month of the preceding quarter. (h) Special restrictions—rubbing alcohol, anti-freeze, beverage use. (1) No person shall deliver ethyl alcohol or any compound or preparation containing ethyl alcohol for use as rubbing alcohol or for the manufacture of any rubbing alcohol compound or preparation; provided that this restriction shall not prevent deliveries to:

(ii) Licensed physicians, dentists and veterinarians.

(iii) The holders of written prescriptions or orders of licensed physicians, dentists and veterinarians.

(j) Transactions outside the United States. This order does not apply to deliveries of ethyl alcohol which are both made and received outside of the forty-eight states and the District of Columbia, or to the use of ethyl alcohol outside such states and District, but the import of ethyl alcohol shall be subject to all the provisions hereof.

(k) Miscellaneous provisions—(1) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(2) Forms. Forms WPB 2945 and WPB 2947, provided for in paragraphs (d) and (f) have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget, in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(3) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

This amendment shall take effect October 1, 1943, except that the provisions with respect to applications for authority to deliver, accept delivery and use ethyl alcohol in the period beginning October 1, 1943, shall take effect at once. Order M–30, as amended July 15, 1943, shall continue in effect until so superseded.

Issued this 19th day of August 1943.

INTERPRETATION 1

Paragraph (a) (7) of § 3051.1, Limitation Order L-190, defines "Class One scales" to include "commercial scales for use in retail trade." The phrase "commercial scales for use in retail trade" means only cylinder-type scales, fan-type scales, hanging scales and even-balance scales of the kinds, sizes and models commonly used in making sales of merchandise direct to ultimate consumers.
Issued April 29, 1943.

BOX-VENEER

The fulfillmeut of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of box-veneer for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3270.4 Conservation Order M-343.

Definitions

(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Veneer" means single-thickness lumber made by the rotary cutting of logs.

(2) "Box-veneer" means veneer made for use, in single thickness, in the manufacture of wooden shipping containers.

(3) "Aircraft-veneer" means veneer made for use in the manufacture of aircraft.

(4) "Marine-veneer" means veneer made for use in the manufacture of boats or ships.

(5) "Producer" means any person who operates a plant in which, at any time since January 1, 1942, box-veneer has been made for sale to box-manufacturers.

(6) "Box-manufacturer" means any person who manufactures wooden shipping containers made in whole or in part from box-veneer.

Quota and Sale Restrictions

(b) Quota restriction. This order does not restrict the amount of box-veneer, aircraft-veneer, or marine-veneer which a producer may make. However, during any quota period, no producer shall make veneer of any type other than those three types unless, during that period, he makes enough box-veneer to fill his box-veneer quota. Quota periods and amounts are set out in paragraph (d) below.

(c) Sale restriction. No producer shall sell to any one except box-manufacturers the box-veneer produced to fill his quota.

(d) Quota periods and amounts. Every producer shall determine how many square feet of box-veneer were made in his plant during each of the following 2 periods: the first 6 months of 1942 and the first 6 months of 1943. The larger of those two amounts is his "base quantity". For the 1½-month quota period August 16–September 30, 1943, his box-veneer quota shall be 25% of his base quantity. For each 3-month quota period thereafter (October–December, January–March, etc.), his box-veneer quota shall be 50% of his base quantity.

(The 25% and 50% quotas represent 1½ and 3 month periods. However, they are applied to a 6-month base quantity. Therefore, in effect, they represent 100% of the 6-month rate of operation.)

Miscellaneous Provisions

(e) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds for the appeal.

(f) Communications to the War Production Board. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Containers Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M–343.

(g) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, willfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or accepting further deliveries of or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(h) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

Issued this 19th day of August 1943.

Recording Secretary.

PART 1351—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[MPR 53, Amdt. 2]

FATS AND OILS: LARD

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Section 11.8 (o) is amended to read as follows:

(o) Community of sale. (1) Except as otherwise provided in sections 11.8 (o) (2) and 11.8 (o) (3), "community of sale" means that point at which the purchaser from the processor resells the lard so purchased, regardless of the point at which actual delivery of the lard from the processor to the purchaser takes place.

(2) Where the purchaser of the lard is the owner of four or more retail stores at which the lard ultimately will be resold by him, and has the lard delivered by the seller to a warehouse for storage until he (the purchaser) reships it to his retail stores for resale, or to another warehouse for storage and subsequent reshipment to his retail stores for resale, and is unable to determine, at the time the lard is delivered by the seller to such warehouse, the particular retail stores from which the lard will be resold by him, then, in such case, and only in such case, "community of sale" means the place where the warehouse to which the lard is delivered by the seller is located.

(3) Where lard is sold for use in the manufacture of an inedible product, then in such case, and only in such case, "community of sale" is the place where is located the buyer's plant in which the lard is used in the manufacture of such inedible product.

This amendment shall become effective August 24, 1943.

Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 161 is amended in the following respects:

1. The preamble to Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 161 is amended by the addition of the following sentence:

Insofar as this regulation uses specifications and standards which were not, prior to such use, in general use in the trade or industry affected, or insofar as their use was not lawfully required by another Government agency, the Administrator has determined, with respect to such standardization, that no practicable alternative exists for securing effective price control with respect to the commodities subject to this regulation.

(c) Scaling expense. The entire cost of scaling and grading is included in the maximum prices and may not be added to those prices; except that by agreement between the buyer and seller, the buyer may pay one half of the scaling fee above the ceiling price. The maximum prices for scaling fees in the area covered by this regulation are set forth in § 1499.666, paragraph (c) of Supplementary Services Regulation No. 16 [2] to Maximum Price Regulation No. 165.

§ 1381.158 Grading and scaling. (a) On and after August 24, 1943, no one may buy or sell West Coast logs unless the logs have been graded and scaled in accordance with the following requirements:

(1) All West Coast logs must be graded and scaled in accordance with the rules set forth in Appendix A, and must be so designated on the scaling certificate.

(2) No person may grade or scale logs in any transaction if he is an employee of either the buyer or seller or if he has any financial interest in the transaction other than his fee as a scaler. In any case where the application of this rule will result in hardship to any buyer or seller, the buyer and seller may join in an application to the Lumber Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for permission to have their logs graded and scaled by an employee or other designated person not otherwise eligible under the terms of this paragraph. The Lumber Branch is authorized to make such designation by letter or telegram.

(3) All west coast logs must be graded and scaled by grading and scaling bureaus or individual graders and scalers approved by order of the Office of Price Administration. Any authorizations previously issued by the Portland, Oregon, District Office of the Office of Price Administration are cancelled 30 days from the date specified in the preceding paragraph (a).

(4) Any person desiring to be approved as a scaler and grader by the Office of Price Administration shall file application with the Lumber Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.

10. Appendix A is added as follows:

Appendix A—Grading and scaling rules. All west coast logs must be graded and scaled in accordance with the following rules:

(a) Grading rules. The following rules set forth the minimum requirements for each grade. In grading logs the scale shall not be deducted in content in order to raise the grade; this means that if a log has a defect which is not permissible in a given grade, it may not be placed in that grade by merely deducting the defect from the scale. Logs may be designated as "camp run" where the entire production cut from a particular operation is sold without any prior selection (except wood logs or cull logs) either at the spar-tree, booming and rafting point, or elsewhere. If any graded logs such as peelers, have been segregated from the raft or particular lot of logs, the entire lot must be sold on grade.

DOUGLAS FIR PONTON LOGS

Douglas Fir ponton logs shall be of No. 1 and No. 2 peeler and No. 1 sawmill types which in the judgment of a certified scaler will develop 50 percent of their net scaled contents in deep cuttings of close, dense, clear material.

The ponton log will include yellow fir and old-growth red fir logs, provided that they meet the following requirements:

(1) Ponton logs shall have a minimum diameter of 30 inches inside the bark at the top or scaling end, and a minimum length of 16 feet.

(2) The slope of grain shall not exceed 1 inch in 15 inches as determined by measurements in a space of 6 lineal feet equidistant from each end of the log.

(3) The rate of growth shall be not less than 8 annual rings per inch in the clear portion of the log at the scaling end. In addition, there shall be an average of one-third or more summerwood with a distinct contrast in color between summerwood and springwood.

(4) Ponton logs shall not include light weight (high floating) overmature logs of soft, brashy or corky wood, and shall be free of pitch streaks and numerous pitch pockets.

NOTE: This grade description applies only on logs of the above qualifications which are actually allocated by the Western Log and Lumber Administrator of the War Production Board.

DOUGLAS FIR AND SPRUCE SAWMILL LOGS

No. 1 Douglas Fir and spruce sawmill logs. No. 1 Douglas fir and spruce sawmill logs shall be logs which are suitable for the manufacture of lumber in the grades of No. 2 Clear and Better or B and Better to an amount of not less than 50 percent of the scaled contents, and shall not be less than 16 feet in gross length (after allowance for trim) and shall not be less than 30 inches in gross diameter inside the bark at the small end.

No. 1 logs shall be old growth logs and shall contain not less than eight annual rings to the inch in any part of the outer portion of the log equal to one-half of the scale contents, ring count and measurement to be taken at the top end of the log, and shall be straight grained to the extent of a variation for a space of 6 lineal feet equidistant from each end of the log of not more than 1 inch per foot in logs to and including 35 inches in diameter, 1½ inches per foot in logs 36 inches to 50 inches in diameter, 2 inches per foot in logs 51 inches to 60 inches in diameter, 2½ inches per foot in logs 61 inches and over.

Rings, rot, or any other defects that are deducted in the scale are permitted in a No. 1 log providing their size and location do not prevent the log producing the required amount of No. 2 Clear and Better or B and Better lumber. Visible pitch-pockets, rings and knots must be located so that they do not prevent the production of the required amount of No. 2 Clear and Better or B and Better lumber.

No. 2 Douglas Fir and spruce sawmill logs. No. 2 Douglas fir and spruce sawmill logs shall not be less than 12 feet in length and not less than 16 inches in diameter if Spruce, or not less than 12 inches in diameter if Douglas fir, below the grade of a No. 1 log but which will be suitable in grade:

(a) For the manufacture of lumber in the grades of at least 65 percent No. 1 Common or Better lumber, or

(b) For the manufacture of lumber in the grades of 25 percent No. 2 Clear and Better or B and Better or an equivalent value in combination of grades.

No. 3 Douglas Fir sawmill logs. No. 3 Douglas fir sawmill logs shall be not less than 12 feet in length, having defects which prevent their grading No. 2, but which are suitable for the manufacture of not less than 50 percent of the net scaled contents of the No. 2 Common and Better grades of lumber. Logs in this class shall be scaled down to and including an 8 inch diameter.

Logs having excessive slope of grain and/or logs having an excessive number of visible pitch-pockets shall be included in this grade.

No. 3 Spruce sawmill logs. No. 3 Spruce sawmill logs shall be not less than 12 feet in length, having defects which prevent their grading as No. 2 logs, but which are suitable principally for the manufacture of lumber grades of No. 2 and No. 3 common or box cutting, minimum diameter—10 inches.

Logs having excessive slope of grain and/or logs having an excessive number of visible pitch-pockets shall be included in this grade.

No. 1 Douglas Fir wood log. No. 1 Fir wood logs shall meet all the qualifications of a No. 1 sawmill log except that such logs may contain solid stain or worm holes.

No. 2 Douglas Fir wood logs. No. 2 Fir wood logs shall be such logs that do not meet the requirements of the above grades, but which have a net scale merchantable content after deductions for defects of at least 33⅓ percent of the gross scale.

DOUGLAS FIR PEELER LOGS

No. 1 Douglas Fir peeler logs. No. 1 Douglas fir peeler logs shall be of Old Growth Fir and meeting the qualifications of a No. 1 sawmill log and must be suitable for the manufacture of clear, uniform colored veneer or plywood stock to an amount of not less than 50 percent of the scaled content, selected for rotary cutting, and which do not contain defects that will prevent their being held and turned in a lathe. No. 1 peeler logs shall be at least 90 percent surface clear.

No. 2 Douglas Fir peeler logs. No. 2 Douglas fir peeler logs shall be good quality No. 2 Douglas fir sawmill logs suitable for the manufacture of clear uniform colored veneer or plywood stock to an amount of not less than 35 percent of the scaled content, selected for rotary cutting which do not contain defects that will prevent their being held or turned in a lathe. Slope of grain shall not exceed three inches per lineal foot.

No. 2 peeler logs shall be at least 30 inches in gross diameter inside the bark at the small end and 16 feet or more in length.

No 2 peeler logs shall contain not less than eight annual growth rings to the inch in the outer portion of the log, equal to 50 percent of the scaled content; all ring count and measurement shall be taken at the top end of the log.

Visible pitch-pockets which do not prevent the production of the required amount of clear face stock are permitted in No. 2 Douglas fir peeler logs. A short piece of ring, not to exceed one-half of a full ring, is permitted in each end of the log, provided that any heart check or spangles are confined to the heart portion of the log.

No. 3 Douglas Fir peeler logs. No. 3 Douglas fir peeler logs shall be good quality No. 2 sawmill logs suitable for the manufacture of veneer or plywood stock to be used for center core, cross core and backs, and shall not contain defects that will prevent them being held and turned in a lathe. Minimum length 16 feet, and minimum diameter 24 inches.

Douglas Fir peeler blocks. When scaling peeler blocks under 16 feet in length the same scaling and grading rules shall be used as when determining the grade and content of a peeler log, but they shall be graded as No. 1, No. 2, or No. 3 peeler blocks.

AIRCRAFT GRADES-NOBLE FIR AND HEMLOCK

Aircraft grade-noble fir. Aircraft grade noble fir means a log which is selected from a suitable for peeling, No. 1, or No. 2 grade of noble fir log, and which:

(a) Is not less than 26 inches top diameter and not less than 16 feet long;

(b) Is straight grained so that the majority of the clear lumber can be produced with a slope of grain not greater than one in fifteen;

(c) If defects for which a scale deduction is made are present, such defects are permitted provided the size and location thereof will not prevent the entire log from producing 50 percent No. 2 clear and better or B and better lumber;

(d) Has reasonably uniform annual rings, not fewer than eight to the inch and within the clear portion of the log; and

(e) Is free of deep bark seams or other serious defects within the clear portion of the log.

Aircraft grade-hemlock. Aircraft grade hemlock log means a log which is selected from a suitable for peeling or No. 1 or 2 grade of hemlock log and which:

(a) Is medium to light in weight;

(b) Is not less than 26 inches top diameter and not less than 12 feet long;

(c) Is of straight-grain so that the majority of the clear lumber can be produced with a slope of grain not greater than one in fifteen;

(d) Is free of deep bark seams or other serious defects within the clear portion of the log;

(e) Has reasonably uniform annual rings, not fewer than eight to the inch within the clear portion of the log;

(f) Is of a character which will produce at least 50 percent No. 2 clear and better, or B and better clear lumber.

HEMLOCK LOGS

Peeler grade Hemlock. Peeler grade hemlock logs shall be suitable for rotary cutting and shall be capable of producing not less than 50 percent No. 2 clear and better lumber, of uniform quality, and not less than 16 feet in length and 24 inches in diameter.

No. 1 Hemlock. No. 1 hemlock logs shall be logs of good uniform quality not less than 16 feet in length and 24 inches in diameter. No. 1 logs must be capable of producing not less than 35 percent of the gross content No. 2 Clear and Better lumber.

No. 2 Hemlock. No. 2 hemlock logs shall be logs not less than 12 feet in length and not less than 14 inches in diameter. Logs in this grade must produce not less than 65 percent of the gross contents in No. 1 common lumber.

No. 3 Hemlock. No. 3 hemlock logs shall be logs not less than 12 feet in length and not less than 8 inches in diameter, having defects which prevent them grading No. 2 grade, but which are suitable for the manufacture of not less than 50 percent of the gross contents in the common grades of lumber.

OTHER SPECIES

The foregoing grading rules for peeler and sawmill hemlock shall apply to White Fir, Silver Fir, Noble Fir, and other allied species; with the exception of Aircraft Noble Fir grade.

CEDAR LOGS

Lumber Grade. Lumber Grade Cedar logs shall be such logs 16 feet and over in gross length, 28 inches and over in diameter which are suitable for the manufacture of No. 2 Clear and Better lumber to an amount of not less than 50 percent of the scaled contents. Slabs or parts of large logs, the greater part of which is suitable for the production of one inch No. 2 Clear and Better lumber, can be put into this grade down to and including pieces 14 inches thick provided that the scale content of each slab or part is more than 700 board feet.

Shingle Grade. Shingle grade cedar logs shall be such logs or parts of logs that do not meet the requirements of the Lumber Cedar log grades, but will produce No. 2 twelve inch clear or better shingles or common cedar lumber. For shingle cedar logs having less than 50% of clear cuttings, 24 inches between knots lengthwise of log and less than 10 inches crosswise of log on any quadrant, a reduction in scale shall be made of one inch in diameter for each quadrant so affected if the knots are two inches or less in diameter, and a reduction in scale of two inches in diameter for each quadrant so affected if knots are larger than two inches in diameter.

Any logs having knots over two inches in diameter on more than one quadrant but not on the full two quadrants shall be cut three inches in diameter.

WOOD LOGS—ALL SPECIES

Wood logs, except No. 1 Douglas Fir Wood logs, shall be logs which do not meet requirements of the above grades but which have a net scale merchantable content after deductions for defects of at least 33⅓ percent of the gross scale. Any logs failing to meet the minimum requirements for a wood log must be culled out.

LONG LOG SCALING AND GRADING

All species—excepting cedar. Long logs are defined as being logs which are 42 feet and over in length.

All long logs, whatever the species, should be scaled to grade, the grade requirement being the same as for short logs. The scale on these logs should be made by using the top diameter for the top log only; second, third and fourth logs should be scaled by adding to the top diameter an allowance of 1 inch for taper in each 10 feet of length.

Logs from 42 to 80 feet inclusive in length shall be scaled as two logs of as nearly equal length in even feet as possible and in case the two logs are not exactly even length in even feet, the longer of the two shall carry the smaller diameter.

Logs from 82 feet to 120 feet inclusive shall be scaled in the same manner except that they shall be scaled as three logs.

Logs in excess of 120 feet shall be scaled in the same manner except that they shall be scaled as four or more logs, it being the intent of having the maximum length of any one log 40 feet.

The scaling or grading of any segment of a long log shall be based entirely on the merits of the segment under consideration.

GENERAL RULES—PEELER LOGS

Slope of grain:
All grades: As defined in rule.
Pitch-pockets and hard pitch:
No. 1 peeler: Will allow some well-scattered pitch-pockets and/or hard pitch streaks, if in the judgment of the scaler, the number and character will not prevent the recovery of the required amount of No. 2 Clear or B Clear and/or Better.
No. 2 peeler: Permitted to an extent that they do not prevent the production of the required amount of clear face stock.
Core: Will allow to an amount not quite sufficient to justify de-grading to a No. 3 sawmill log.
Burls or knot clusters:
All grades: Permissible if so located that standard peeler blocks can be obtained on either side of defect.
Pitch rings:
All grades: Permissible if parts of rings are so located that the required peelable content can be obtained with a minimum of waste at the lathe. Complete rings allowable if located in sap area or within the heart area of the log.
Breaks:
All grades: Permissible if the defect can be eliminated by a normal deduction of up to ⅓ of the log length.
Heart checks, cross checks, crow's foot, or flaky heart:
All grades: Permissible if not in conjunction with pitch-rings or breaks to a degree that makes the resulting peeler blocks unsuitable for turning.
Sound stain:
All grades: Permissible if veneer stock of the quality and amount required for that specific grade is obtainable from the log in question.
Heart off center:
All grades: Shall be a determining factor in grading peelable logs only when, in the judgment of the scaler, the heart off-center, in conjunction with other defects, renders the log impracticable for peeling.

GENERAL RULES—OTHER LOGS

Log diameters. Log diameters shall be measured inside the bark at the small end of the log with the scale stick held in the vertical position except in cases in which damage to the log, or knots, burls, depressions, etc., prevent taking a correct diameter measurement. In the latter cases, the diameter is to be taken in as nearly a vertical position as possible. The actual scale shall be in accordance with either the Spaulding Log Rule or the Revised Scribener Decimal C Log Rule.

Log lengths. To allow for trimming, the actual minimum lengths of each log shall exceed the stated length as follows:

40 feet and under	8
42 feet to 50 feet	10
52 feet to 60 feet	12
62 feet to 70 feet	14
72 feet to 80 feet	16
82 feet to 90 feet	18
90 feet and over	20

Length measurement to be taken on the short side of the log.

For example, to meet a minimum length requirement of 16 feet, the log must measure not less than 16 feet 8 inches.

(b) Scaling rules or instructions to scalers. (1) The scaler must exercise independent judgment in fulfilling his duties. Neither the buyer nor seller may be present when the scaling is done.

(2) The log scaler's duties shall include a careful study of the natural defects of the different logs produced by the districts in which he works. A scaler shall also note carefully any other defect, such as breaks or damage caused in the process of felling, bucking, or any other part of the logging operation. The ability to judge what a log will produce in the finished product, as to grade, also requires a general knowledge of the manufacture of lumber.

(3) Scalers shall spend sufficient time at the mills to compare their scaling with the results obtained in manufacturing the logs. For the purpose of identification, logs to be observed shall be marked in accordance with the scale bill before they are sawed.

(4) Each log shall be scaled individually upon its own merits. After careful examination of any log, if no waste or defect is found, such log shall be scaled at its full diameter inside the bark, and full length with necessary trim. When waste or defect is found in any log, a deduction in scale shall be made which will completely eliminate the waste.

(5) All deductions shall be made in inches in diameter and feet in length. When required original scale records shall show full and net measurements in diameter and length, and designate the type of defect by specified symbols. In grading logs the scale shall not be deducted in content in order to raise the grade. When scaling bleached logs, or logs covered with dirt, the spud on the scaling stick shall be used to chop into the end of the log to uncover any hidden defect. In measuring the diameter of a log, any fraction over the inch is to be dropped.

(6) A reduction in length shall be made for defects such as end brooming, breakage, crook, stump shake, dry rot, sweep, split, stump rot, pitch spangle, conk or other advanced decay.

(7) Reduction in diameter shall be made for defects, such as sap rot, cat face, roughness, season checks, pitch rings and heart checks.

(8) Any logs so rough that the side cut will not produce No. 2 Common or Better lumber shall have deduction in scale of a sufficient amount to eliminate the No. 3 Common lumber in squaring up the log. This rule is to be applied only to extremely rough logs, especially knotty tops, and does not imply deductions on sound tight knotted logs.

(9) Logs with sap rot, sap stain and surface weather checks shall show the gross and net diameters. The net diameter shall be taken inside the defects, and the log graded on the quality of the net volume scaled.

(10) Broken ends and bucking breaks shall be allowed for in the scale by measuring only such part of the log as is free from break, in even feet in length. Care must be taken to see that the scaled part of the log represents the actual part of the log suitable for the production of lumber. Deduction for broken logs shall be sufficient for the waste involved. Deduction for splits in falling which show in the butt, or large end, shall be made as follows:

In large logs, and in logs containing excessive taper, straight splits through the heart shall be eliminated by reductions from diameter in the same manner as for heart checks. Reductions for badly split, or stump shot ends, are made by reductions in length of sufficient amount to eliminate the waste.

(11) Logs containing grub worms shall have the portion containing such defect eliminated from the scale, and the remaining portion shall be graded according to the class of lumber it will produce.

(12) A pitch ring in a log causes a loss in the amount of lumber produced according to its location. A general rule to be used as a basis for deductions for pitch rings is as follows:

A deduction of 1 inch from the diameter for each half ring or less visible in one end of the log only, and a deduction of 2 inches when visible in both ends. A deduction of 2 inches for a complete ring visible in one end of the log only, and a deduction of 4 inches when visible in both ends. The exceptions to this basic rule are as follows:

(i) A log containing a pitch ring 3 inches or less from the perimeter shall be scaled by taking the diameter inside the ring.

(ii) A deduction of 1 inch shall be made for a pitch ring located in the heart of the log, when in one end only, and a deduction of 2 inches when the ring extends through the log. Inner one-third the diameter of the log is to be considered as the heart area.

(iii) An open pitch ring located in the clear portion of the log where it causes the maximum amount of waste may, in the judgment of the scaler, receive an additional deduction of 1 inch when visible in one end only, and an additional deduction of 2 inches when such defect extends through the log.

(13) One inch is deducted for an open check in one end, or a straight close check showing in both ends. Two inches for cross checks, or double checks showing in one end, four inches if showing in both ends. Heart checks are often an indication of flaky heart. Deduction shall be made for waste caused thereby. For spangles, a cut in length shall be made in proportion to the amount of the log actually affected.

(14) In any No. 1 log where the maximum twist allowable prevails, the log shall be otherwise free from any other grade defects.

Rescales or check scales. If either the buyer or seller is dissatisfied with the scale or grade of any logs which have been scaled or graded, either party may call for a rescale. If the original scale was made by an Authorized Bureau, the request for rescale shall be made to that Bureau which shall notify in writing both the buyer and the seller of such request and the approximate date of such rescale which shall be made by the Chief Scaler of the Bureau. If the original scale was made by a person other than a Bureau scaler, the buyer and seller shall select another authorized scaler to perform the rescale; if they cannot agree on the selection of the rescaler, they may request the district office of the Office of Price Administration at Portland, Oregon, to select one from the authorized list. In either instance, the rescale shall be made without representation from either the buyer or seller and the rescale shall be the final scale and grade for the particular lot of logs.

The cost of the rescale shall be determined by agreement between the buyer and seller in accordance with past custom. If an Authorized Bureau is involved in the rescale, the cost shall be borne in accordance with the usual practice of that Bureau.

11. Section 1381.159 is amended by the addition of a new paragraph (d) as follows:

(d) Specific practices. The following are among the specific practices prohibited:

(1) A buyer or seller attempting to influence in any way the judgment of the scaler.

This amendment shall become effective August 24, 1943.

MEAT, FATS, FISH AND CHEESES

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Ration Order 16 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1.3 (c) is amended by adding the words "or ration coupons" after the words "(OPA Form R–1201)" in the first sentence and by adding the words "or ration coupon" after the word "certificate" in the third sentence.

2. Section 9.2 (e) is amended to read as follows:

(e) Industrial users. Every "industrial user" who has, or has assigned to him, a quarterly period use of 2,000 pounds or more of foods covered by this order during any quarterly period from January 1, 1942 on, may open an account. If he has more than one "industrial user establishment" and they are registered together, he may open an account if the combined use at all those establishments is 2,000 pounds or more during any quarterly period. If he opens an account, he must either open one account for all, or a separate account for each or for any group of them, and all must have an account. If they are registered separately, he may open accounts only for those establishments which have a quarterly period use of 2,000 pounds or more. He may open separate accounts for any one or more of those establishments without opening accounts for the others. However, he may not use the same account for more than one establishment. No other industrial user may open an account. Any industrial user who has opened a ration bank account and who is not entitled to have it under this Section, as amended, must close that account on or before November 1, 1943.

3. Section 9.4 (b) is amended by adding the following: "Ration coupons may be deposited at any time."

4. Section 10.4 (1) is added to read as follows:

(1) Ration coupons. A ration coupon may be accepted from a consumer at any time.

5. Section 10.5 (e) (4) is added to read as follows:

(4) Ration coupons. A ration coupon may be accepted at any time.

6. The title of Article XVI is amended to read as follows:

Article XVI—Issuance and Use of Certificates and Ration Coupons

7. Section 16.8 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 16.8 How ration coupons are issued—(a) General. Whenever a local Board, district or State office, or the Washington Office of the Office of Price Administration, or any other person, is authorized to issue one or more certificates to any person, it shall, unless otherwise directed by the Office of Price Administration, issue ration coupons instead, if he is not entitled to have a ration bank account. (Ration coupons may not be issued to a person who is entitled to have an account, even though he does not actually have one.)

(b) How ration coupons are issued and used. Ration coupons are coupons designated "ration coupons" which are issued in denominations of 1, 5, 20, 100 and 1,000 points by the Office of Price Administration. Red ration coupons may be used for the acquisition of all foods covered by this order. They need not be endorsed, and are good at any time. In all other respects they may be used in the same way as stamps, certificates and ration checks. However, a person who does not have and is not required to have a ration bank account may use ration coupons to give change to any person other than a consumer, but he may use for this purpose only ration coupons having denominations of 1, 5, or 20 points. (This does not affect the rule that a person who has or is required to have a ration bank account may give up or return points only in the form of a check. The only exception to that rule is in the use of one point stamps to give change to consumers.)

(c) Ration coupons are the property of the Office of Price Administration and may be revoked. (1) All ration coupons are the property of the Office of Price Administration, whether or not they have been issued.

(2) The Office of Price Administration may suspend, cancel, or revoke any ration coupon if it finds it in the public interest to do so.

PART 1404—RATIONING OF FOOTWEAR

SHOES

A rationale accompanying this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Ration Order 17 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 2.11 (a) (4) is added to read as follows:

(4) Shoes shipped from the factory after August 15, 1943, made wholly of materials other than leather (which may, however, use leather as top lifts) and the sole of which is of one of the following constructions:

(i) A sole made principally of wood, rope, fabric, or fiber, in which reclaimed rubber is used in an amount not exceeding 15 percent by volume;

(ii) A sole made wholly of low grade friction scrap (friction scrap of a quality which is not being purchased by the Rubber Reserve Corporation at the time the sole is made) and bound together by compression and vulcanization.

2. The definition of "house slippers" in section 3.13 is amended to read as follows: "House slippers" means any footwear constructed exclusively for indoor or house wear other than athletic, sport, or gymnasium use. However, the term does not include footwear made with any cattle hide leather in the upper, or with grain leather outsoles (other than heads, bellies, shins, and shanks of five iron or less), or with any rubber in the outsoles (other than reclaimed rubber in an amount not more than 15 percent by volume), if such footwear was shipped from the factory in the United States after August 31, 1943, or imported into the United States after August 31, 1943.

3. The definition of "shoes" in section 3.13 is amended to read as follows:

"Shoes" means any footwear made in whole or in part of leather or which contain any rubber in the sole, except: Burial slippers; house slippers; ballet slippers; evening slippers made in the United States, or imported before July 7, 1943, which at the time of manufacture were made with uppers of gold or silver leather or imitation leather with gold or silver finish; baseball, track and football shoes; men's and women's knee-height riding boots made in the United States, or imported before July 7, 1943 (including boots without lacing and with lacing only over the instep but not including full lace boots, or jodhpur or cowboy boots); infant footwear of size 4 or smaller; overshoes; and waterproof and snow or water repellent rubber footwear. (For the purpose of this order, footwear is deemed not to be made in whole or in part of leather if leather is used only as hinges, tabs, heel inserts, or other nonskid or soundproofing features covering not more than 25 percent of the area of the bottom of the sole; and the term "leather" does not include leather dust derived directly from a permitted manufacturing process or from a waste product resulting from such a manufacturing process. Furthermore, footwear is deemed not to contain rubber in the sole where rubber is used only as a cement or adhesive to the extent necessary to attach a sole or platform to each other or to the upper.)

This amendment shall become effective August 18, 1943.

PART 1347—PAPER, PAPER PRODUCTS, RAW MATERIALS FOR PAPER AND PAPER PRODUCTS, PRINTING AND PUBLISHING

GROUNDWOOD SPECIALTY PAPERS

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, it is necessary and proper to establish maximum prices for groundwood specialty papers by a specific maximum price regulation.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by this regulation are and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and of Executive Orders No. 9250 and 9328. So far as practicable, the Price Administrator has advised and consulted with members of the industry which will be affected by this regulation. Such specifications and standards as are used in this regulation were, prior to such use, in general use in the trade or industry affected or have previously been promulgated and their use lawfully required by another Government agency.

Appendix A: Maximum prices for sales of groundwood specialty papers.

SECTION 1. Prohibition against dealing in groundwood specialty papers at prices above the maximum. On and after August 25, 1943, regardless of any contract or other obligation:

(a) No manufacturer shall sell or deliver any groundwood specialty papers at higher prices than those set forth in Appendix A of this regulation.

(b) No person shall buy or receive groundwood specialty papers from a manufacturer in the course of trade or business at prices higher than those set forth in Appendix A of this regulation.

(c) No person shall agree, offer, solicit, or attempt to do any of the foregoing.

SEC. 2. Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established by this regulation may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

SEC. 3. Geographical applicability. The provisions of this regulation shall be applicable to the forty-eight states of the United States and to the District of Columbia.

SEC. 4. To what transactions, commodities and persons this regulation applies and the relation to other regulations. (a) The provisions of this regulation supersede the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation[1] with respect to sales and deliveries for which maximum prices are established by this regulation. The maximum prices established by this regulation apply only to sales by manufacturers.

(b) "Manufacturer" means any person who manufactures any groundwood specialty papers and includes an agent and a person affiliated with a manufacturer through community of ownership, who distributes or sells such manufacturer's groundwood specialty papers excluding, however, any person who comes within the definition of a merchant set forth in section 14 of this regulation.

(c) For the purposes of this regulation any sale by a manufacturer through a merchant to a specific purchaser or any sale by a manufacturer to a merchant for resale to a specific purchaser shall be considered as a sale by the manufacturer to that purchaser where the following conditions are present:

(1) Where the manufacturer is directly involved in the determination of the final price to the purchaser, and

(2) Where the merchant's sole compensation for service rendered is in the form of a selling discount, commission or fee.

(d) The term "Groundwood Specialty Papers" as used in this regulation refers to those kinds, types, and grades of uncoated papers which are generally used for the transmitting of a message or design, as distinguished from wrapping, toilet, blotting or towel papers, and which

(1) Contain 26% or more of groundwood fiber in their furnish, and

(2) Are produced on a Fourdrinier paper machine, and

(3) Weigh no less than 19 pounds and no more than 120 pounds in basis weight 24x36/500.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this regulation, the following shall not be considered groundwood specialty papers:

Paperboard grades for which maximum prices are established by Revised Price Schedule No. 32;[2]

Writing Papers and Certain Other Fine Papers for which maximum prices are established by Maximum Price Regulation No. 450, including No. 3 coverpaper, and colored construction and school papers;

Newsprint paper, for which maximum prices are established by Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 130;[3]

Book papers, for which maximum prices are established by Maximum Price Regulation No. 451;

Commodities for which maximum prices are established by Maximum Price Regulation No. 129,[4] including envelope manilla paper.

SEC. 5. Federal and state taxes. Any tax upon, or incident to, the sale, delivery, processing or use of groundwood specialty papers imposed by any statute of the United States or statute or ordinance of any state or any subdivision thereof, shall be treated as follows in determining the manufacturer's maximum price for such groundwood specialty papers and in preparing the records of such manufacturer with respect thereto:

If, at the time the manufacturer determines his maximum price the statute or ordinance imposing such tax does not prohibit the manufacturer from stating and collecting the tax separately from the purchase price, and the manufacturer does state it separately, the manufacturer may collect, in addition to the maximum price, the amount of the tax actually paid by him or an amount equal to the amount of tax paid by any prior vendor and separately stated and collected from the manufacturer by the vendor from whom he purchased, and in such case the manufacturer shall not include such amount in determining the maximum price under this Maximum Price Regulation No. 449.

SEC. 6. Export sales. The maximum price at which a person may export groundwood specialty papers or may sell groundwood specialty papers for export shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation,[5] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 7. Imports. No person importing groundwood specialty papers shall pay a total price for such paper including United States customs duties, paid directly or indirectly by him, which exceeds the maximum price applicable to a domestic sale established under this regulation.

SEC. 8. Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, delivery, purchase, or receipt of or relating to groundwood specialty papers, alone or in connection with any other commodity, or by way of commission, service, transportation, or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying agreement, or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) Specifically, but not exclusively, the following practices are prohibited if used as a means of evading the price limitations imposed by this regulation: modifying, discontinuing or altering any customary trade practice of the seller, or deteriorating the quality or changing the identity of any grade.

SEC. 9. Enforcement. Persons violating any provision of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages, and proceedings for suspension of license as provided by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 10. Records and reports. (a) Every person making sales or purchases of groundwood specialty papers subject to this regulation shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, is effective, an accurate record of each such sale or purchase. Such record may be in the form of the invoice or a copy thereof furnished in connection with each such sale or purchase.

(b) Persons required by paragraph (a) of this section to keep records shall keep such other records and shall submit such reports as the Office of Price Administration may from time to time require, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(c) With respect to each sale of groundwood specialty papers to a merchant the manufacturer shall furnish the merchant with sufficient information to enable the latter to comply with the invoicing and record-keeping requirements of Maximum Price Regulation No. 400—Merchants' Prices for Fine Papers and Certain Paperboards,[6] or of any other regulation applicable to sales of groundwood specialty papers by that merchant.

SEC. 11. Grade identification requirements. In connection with any sale or offer for sale of a groundwood specialty paper the manufacturer shall clearly state the grade name which has been specified or approved under this regulation for that paper upon all relevant documents, including quotations, price lists, invoices and package lists. In addition to that specified or approved grade name, the manufacturer may list the private or brand name. In connection with any sale or offer for sale of a job lot or seconds, the statement shall also include

SEC. 12. Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.[7]

SEC. 13. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration to whom the authority to grant such authorization has been delegated. The authorization will be given by order.

SEC. 14. General definitions. (a) When used in this regulation the term:

(1) "Person" means an individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons or legal successors or representatives of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, or any other government, or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of any of the foregoing.

(2) "Manufacturer" has the meaning stated in Section 4 above.

(3) "Merchant" means any person who buys and resells any of the groundwood specialty papers listed in the appendices of this regulation, except (i) retailers and (ii) manufacturers buying groundwood specialty papers from another manufacturer and reselling them. "Merchant" also includes a manufacturer selling groundwood specialty papers of his own manufacture, and a person affiliated with such manufacturer through community of ownership if, and only if, the Office of Price Administration shall find that he operates as a bona fide merchant. Any such manufacturer or affiliate claiming to operate as a merchant shall file an application for a ruling in the manner specified in section 16 (b) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 400.—Merchants' Sales of Fine Papers and Certain Paperboards, or in any other regulation applicable to sales of groundwood specialty papers by the merchant.

(4) "Groundwood specialty papers" has the meaning stated in section 4 above.

(5) "Retailer" means any person, the major portion of whose sales are to ultimate consumers other than commercial, industrial, or institutional users, or government agencies.

(6) "Highest price charged" during a specified period means the highest price which the manufacturer charged for a delivery of a grade of groundwood specialty papers during that period, or, if the manufacturer made no such delivery, his highest offering price for delivery during that period.

(7) "Delivered". Groundwood specialty papers shall be deemed to have been "delivered" during any specified period if during such period they were received by the purchaser or by any carrier, including a carrier owned or controlled by the manufacturer, for shipment to the purchaser.

(8) "Offering price" means the price quoted in the manufacturer's price list, or, if he had no such price list the price which he regularly quoted in any other manner.

(9) "Pacific Zone" includes the states of Montana, Idaho, Utah, New Mexico, Nevada, Arizona, California, Washington and Oregon.

(10) "Basis weight" refers to the weight in pounds per 500 sheets of paper in the conventional size used for reference in that grade, except that in the case of hanging paper "basis weight" means the weight in pounds per 480 sheets of size 24 by 36 inches. For example, 25 x 38–50/500 means that 500 sheets of size 25 x 38 inches weigh 50 pounds.

(11) "Fiber furnish" refers to the percentage of each of the different types of fiber contained in a particular grade of paper averaged for one uninterrupted run of the grade, expressed with reference to the total fiber content which shall be 100 per cent.

(12) "Groundwood fiber" means unbleached groundwood fiber unless bleached groundwood fiber is expressly specified. "News quality groundwood fiber" and "specially groundwood fiber" shall have the meanings which have been generally ascribed to the terms by the industry. The former is relatively "free" and the latter relatively "slow" by reason of the fact that the latter is ground on a more finely grained pulpstone. Specialty groundwood fiber is generally brighter and made from more carefully selected and cleaned logs. It is also generally screened to minimize shives and foreign matter.

(13) "Brightness" is relative brightness of any white English finish paper as measured by the standard brightness tester approved by the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry.

(14) "Filler" means any one of several types of fine mineral or non-fibrous material used with the furnish to impart smoothness and opacity to the finished paper. The percentage of filler shall be determined by comparing the ash weight after burning with the weight of the paper, using the standard method approved by the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry. Paper shall be deemed to contain no filler if it contains less than 4% filler by the above ash test.

(15) "Caliper" means the thickness of one sheet of paper measured in units of one-thousandth of an inch. "Caliper ratio" is the caliper of a sheet of paper divided by its weight in basis 24 x 36/500.

(16) "Bulking paper" means paper specially made to conform to requirements of uniform thickness of a given basis weight under specified pressure resulting in a specified thickness of a specified number of pages. Such paper is made "to bulk."

(17) "Sizing" means the surface moisture resistant characteristic imparted to a paper during its manufacture. "Hard sized" means highly sized, "slack sized" means slightly sized, and "waterleaf" means without sizing.

(18) "Standard finishes" include all finishes recognized in the industry as not carrying a differential. Typical of these are antique, eggshell, machine, or English finishes. "Special finishes" include those finishes recognized in the industry as generally carrying a differential. Typical special finishes include supercalendered, laid, embossed and oatmeal.

(19) "Rolls" refers to rolls in the standard sizes customarily sold without differential by each particular manufacturer of the grade involved.

(20) "Cut sizes of sheets" include all sizes less than 336 square inches. All other size sheets shall be considered standard size.

(21) "Colors" refers to the colors, including black, set forth in the standard color book entitled "Standard Color Nomenclature System and Manual," published by the Groundwood Paper Manufacturers' Association; "white" shall not be considered a color.

(22) "Minimum acceptable trim" means the minimum width in inches of saleable paper of a particular grade which a manufacturer has customarily produced on a particular paper machine, without extra charge.

(23) "Grade" means one particular quality within a kind of groundwood specialty papers, such grade having the essential properties peculiar to such kind of paper and its uses and common to all grades within such kind, but distinguished from other such grades by a difference in the degree to which one or several of these common properties are emphasized. However, a difference in the degree to which any such property is emphasized, due only to a normal within-grade difference in ash content, in sizing, in the finish, in the basis weight, or in the dyes used in the paper shall not be considered as resulting in a different grade, unless the definition of a particular grade specifies that such differences result in a different grade.

(24) "Item" means a quantity of paper all of which is of the same grain, basis weight, finish, color, grade, and, in the case of sheets, of the same length and width, and, in the case of rolls, of the same diameter.

(25) "Regular billing weight" means, when applied to sales in sheets, the net billing weight computed from the nominal weight; and when applied to sales in rolls, the gross weight exclusive of any returnable cores. Returnable cores may be charged by each manufacturer on the standard unit basis which he has cus-tomarily charged for such cores but this core charge is to be credited to the purchaser when the cores are returned, freight paid, to the mill from which they were shipped.

(b) Unless the text otherwise requires, the definitions set forth in section 302 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall apply to other terms used herein.

SEC. 15. Grade specifications. In determining whether a particular groundwood specialty paper is to be classified under one of the grades below, and, if it is, under which one, the following rules shall apply: Manufacturer shall consider the specifications stated below. If the paper being priced meets the specifications of any grade, and of the appropriate group description, it may be considered as belonging to that grade. A paper made by any manufacturer at a particular mill and which does not meet the furnish specifications for a particular grade may nevertheless be considered as belonging to that grade: Provided, The paper being priced is of a quality which has been generally recognized in the industry as being equivalent in quality to paper which conforms with such specifications, and is in all respects equally satisfactory in appearance and use to paper which conforms with such specifications: And provided further, That the manufacturer within 30 days after the first sale of that grade pursuant to this pricing procedure files with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., a sample thereof together with a statement of its specifications and its price history. If a paper is generally recognized as being a grade superior to all of the grades listed under the particular group in section 15 to which the grade belongs, its maximum price may be determined by procedure under paragraph (b) of Appendix A instead of under paragraph (a) of Appendix A.

(a) Groundwood book papers. The grades in this group are generally intended for printing purposes and embody the characteristics required for letterpress printing unless the paper is ordered and made for use in other printing processes.

"A–1 Printing" contains not less than 25% bleached chemical fiber, balance unbleached chemical fiber or specialty groundwood fiber. Filler not less than 7½%. Average brightness not less than 65.0.

"A–2 Printing" contains not less than 15% bleached chemical fiber, balance unbleached chemical fiber and specialty groundwood fiber. Filler not less than 7½%. Average brightness not less than 63.0.

"B–Printing" contains not less than 20% chemical fiber, balance specialty groundwood fiber. Filler not less than 7½%. Average brightness not less than 60.0. "B–Printing" includes the quality known as "M. F. Roto."

It has the high finish required for pictorial reproduction, and contains a sufficient quantity of special filler having a high refractory index to produce generally acceptable opacity despite its high finish and light basis weight.

(c) General use papers.

"No. 1 groundwood poster" has the same fiber furnish specifications as B–Printing. Contains no filler. Slightly lower in finish than B–Printing. It is made in six or more standard medium colors, or tints, or light colors other than No. 2 Groundwood Poster standard colors. It is not made in white.

"No. 2 groundwood poster" contains specialty groundwood fiber and chemical fiber. Made in the five light colors, pink, jade, mandarin, sulphur, and gold, in the medium color azure, and in white. Medium printing finish.

"No. 1 railroad manilla" has the same fiber furnish specifications as B–Printing. Contains no filler. Sized for pen and ink writing. Made in sulphur and cream colors only, and not made in white. Basis weight at least 13 lbs. (17 x 22/500).

"A groundwood drawing paper" contains not less than 15% bleached chemical fiber, balance specialty groundwood fiber or unbleached chemical fiber. Contains no filler. Hard sized for water color painting, with a low finish suitable for drawing. Made in white only.

"B groundwood drawing paper" contains not less than 20% chemical fiber, balance specialty groundwood fiber. Contains no filler. Hard sized for water color painting with a low finish suitable for drawing. Made in white, and the colors cream, gray, pearl and smoke.

(d) Special end use converting grades of paper. These grades are generally designed for and ultimately sold only to paper converters for a use which is described by the grade name.

"Groundwood carbonizing" contains specialty groundwood fiber and chemical fiber. Is free of pin holes, and sufficiently dense to retain a carbon and wax solution on one surface without penetration through to the other surface. Fibers are "fine" and specially treated for maximum resistance to oil penetration.

"Groundwood lining" contains not less than 20% chemical fiber, balance specialty groundwood fiber. Weight basis 32 pounds (24 x 36/500). Suitable for adhesion.

"Groundwood coating" contains not less than 25% chemical fiber, balance specialty groundwood fiber. Specially formed and sized to be suitable for coating with a liquid mixture of clay, adhesive and colors, and when dry, for calendering or polishing to a high sheen.

"White pencil tablet" is identical with canary pencil tablet except that it is made in white only. Commonly made in tablet roll sizes.

(e) Groundwood hanging papers. These grades are specially produced solely for conversion to wallpaper, and are in each instance suitable for that use including sizing to resist moisture as required for the processing and the pasting operations.

"A–1 groundwood hanging" contains not less than 25% bleached chemical fiber, balance specialty groundwood fiber. Filler conforms to purchaser's specifications. Has a smooth finish for engraving.

"A–2 groundwood hanging" contains not less than 15% bleached chemical fiber and not less than 10% unbleached chemical fiber. Contains no filler and is either ordinary or extra strength as required for purchaser's embossing operations.

"No. 2 hanging" contains groundwood and chemical fibers. No filler unless specified.

(f) General converting grades. These grades are generally made to specifications, for a great variety of end uses. They differ from other grades in that the manufacturer is generally required to meet exact within-grade specifications. The end uses for these grades include but are not limited to sales books, tablet paper other than pencil tablet, waybills, business machine rolls and foil backing but do not include those uses indicated by other grade names listed herein. Although these four grades are made to specifications so that the same grade frequently varies as between customers of the same manufacturer, the following qualifications must be complied with. All of these are hard sized if so ordered, and conform with strength or other physical tests appropriate to the indicated use.

"A–1 groundwood converting" contains not less than 50% chemical fiber, balance specialty groundwood fiber. The percentage of the chemical fiber which must be bleached shall depend upon the specifications or end use requirements of the purchaser.

"A–2 groundwood converting" contains not less than 30% chemical fiber, balance specialty groundwood fiber. The percentage of the chemical fiber which must be bleached shall depend upon the specifications or end use requirements of the purchaser.

"B–1 groundwood converting" contains not less than 50% chemical fiber, balance specialty groundwood fiber.

"B–2 groundwood converting" contains not less than 30% chemical fiber, balance specialty groundwood fiber.

Appendix A: Maximum prices for sales of groundwood specialty papers by manufacturers. The maximum price for sales of groundwood specialty paper by a manufacturer is the maximum base price, as provided below, plus or minus any applicable differentials, charges, discounts, allowances, or other pricing elements, as provided below.

The maximum base price shall be the price set forth in paragraph (a) of this Appendix in all cases where the paper being priced falls under one of the grades listed in that paragraph (a). The rules to be followed in determining whether a groundwood specialty paper falls under one of those listed grades, and, if so, under which one, are stated in section 15 above. The maximum base price for a groundwood specialty paper which does not fall under one of these grades is to be determined under paragraph (b) of this Appendix. Differentials, charges, discounts, allowances, and other pricing elements are provided for in paragraph (c).

The "base" prices for groundwood specialty papers, as listed under paragraph (a) or as determined under paragraph (b) below, are the prices per hundred pounds of regular billing weight for one item of standard colors, standard finish, and standard basis weight packed in standard rolls, sold in quantities of 40,000 pounds or more f. o. b. mill, with lowest available carload rate of freight allowed to destination, except insofar as the amount of freight allowance may be limited under paragraph (c) (1).

B-2 Groundwood converting	32 lbs.–24x36/500	ILD	4.75

(b) Maximum base prices for unlisted grades. The maximum base price for groundwood specialty papers not listed in paragraph (a) above shall be determined under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph (b) in all instances where that unlisted grade was delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942. If that unlisted grade was not delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer during that period, the maximum base price shall be determined under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph (b).

Under subparagraph (1) below the manufacturer is required to determine the highest "base" price charged by him during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942. This determination is made by taking the highest actual price charged during that period and adjusting that price downward or upward, as the case may be, in accordance with the differentials, charges, discounts, allowances and other pricing elements applied by the manufacturer in computing that highest actual price.

(1) The maximum base price for an unlisted grade which was delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942 shall be determined as follows:

The manufacturer shall take the highest base price charged by him for that grade during that period, and shall ascertain the difference between that base price and the highest base price charged by him during the same period for that one of the following listed grades which is most closely related to the grade being priced: A–1 groundwood printing, A–2 groundwood printing, B groundwood printing, lightweight groundwood printing papers, general use papers, B groundwood carbonizing paper, B groundwood lining paper, groundwood hanging papers and general converting grades of groundwood papers. That difference shall then be added to, or as the case may be, subtracted from the maximum base price listed under paragraph (a) for the grade with which the comparison was made. The resulting amount shall be the maximum base price for the unlisted grade being priced under this paragraph.

If during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942 the manufacturer delivered or offered for delivery one or more unlisted grades, but in that period did not deal in any of the grades listed in paragraph (b) (1) above, his maximum base price for any such unlisted grade shall be the highest base price charged by him for that grade during that period.

(2) The maximum base price for an unlisted grade of groundwood specialty paper which was not delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942 shall be a price in line with the maximum base price established by this regulation for the nearest related grade. "The nearest related grade" shall be that grade listed in paragraph (a) which the manufacturer is producing currently for the same general use or uses as the unlisted grade being priced, and at a total cost which is closest to the total cost of such unlisted grade. If the manufacturer does not deal in any of the grades listed in paragraph (a), his "nearest related grade" shall be that grade for which he has already established a maximum base price under paragraph (b) (1), which he is producing currently for the same general use or uses as the unlisted grade being produced and at a total cost which is closest to the total cost of such unlisted grade.

A price shall be "in line" only if the difference between that price and the price for the nearest related grade is not in excess of the dollars and cents difference between the total cost of that grade and the total cost of the nearest related listed grade.

Total cost in these cases shall be computed on the basis of costs prevailing at the time when such in line price is being determined, and in accordance with the manufacturer's usual method of determining total cost during March 1942.

(3) A maximum price determined by a manufacturer under paragraph (b) (1) or (b) (2) must be reported to and confirmed by the Office of Price Administration. If this confirmation is not obtained prior to the time of making the sale, the manufacturer must agree to refund to the purchaser any amount paid in excess of the confirmed maximum price. Confirmation of a maximum price determined under paragraph (b) (1) or (b) (2) above, shall be obtained as follows:

Manufacturer must submit to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. a statement setting forth all of the relevant facts including the following:

(i) Description of the grade being priced;

(ii) (a) For grades priced under (b) (1) above: A full statement explaining the steps taken by manufacturer in arriving at the price for which he requests confirmation, and his calculations in connection therewith;

(b) For grades priced under (b) (2) above: Completed Form Q–52 (forms available upon application to the Paper and Paper Products Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.) which covers cost and price data on that grade and on the related grade with which the price comparison was made;

(iii) A sample sheet of the grade, folded 8½" by 11", together with a full statement of all specifications.

Where a maximum price as proposed is not disapproved by the Office of Price Administration within 20 days after the above material has been filed it shall be considered confirmed. Confirmation need be obtained only once with respect to each grade involved.

(4) Any maximum price which cannot otherwise be determined under this Appendix A shall be determined by the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. by order upon receipt of an application from the manufacturer setting forth a description of the grade and the reasons why it cannot be priced under any other provision of this Appendix A and including a completed Form Q–52 with respect to the costs of such grade. (Copies of Form Q–52 are available upon application to the Paper and Paper Products Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.)

(c) Differentials, charges, allowances, discounts, and other pricing elements. Wherever a maximum charge is stated in dollars and cents under the following sub-paragraphs, it shall apply per hundred pounds, unless otherwise specified.

(1) Freight allowances and zone differential. Manufacturer shall allow the lowest available carload rate of freight up to 40¢ per hundred pounds, but may add no zone differential: Provided, however, That upon deliveries in the Pacific zone any manufacturer located in that zone shall allow the entire carload rate of freight and may add 60¢ zone differential.

(2) Light weight differentials. Following each grade of groundwood specialty paper listed in paragraph (a) of this Appendix, will be found either the word "none" or a three letter coded reference. The word "none" indicates that no amount may be added for sales of lighter than standard weights of the grade involved. The code references are explained below. The percentage light weight differentials stated below shall, in each instance, be applied to the maximum base price, except that such percentage may be applied to the sum of that base price and any applicable sheeting differentials, and, in the case of catalog paper, to the sum of that base price and any applicable differential for sheeting and for supercalendered quality and for roto quality.

Light weight differentials for any grade which is priced under paragraph (b) of this Appendix A shall be the customary light weight differentials of the manufacturer during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942. If manufacturer had no customary light weight differentials applicable to such grade during that period, he shall so advise the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., at the time of reporting upon that grade under paragraph (b) (3). Upon such notification, the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., will determine the allowable light weight differentials for that grade, and will in writing inform manufacturer of that determination. The allowable light weight differentials in these instances shall be arrived at by the Office of Price Administration upon the basis of customary industry differentials, wherever such differentials exist; in those cases where there are no such customary differentials, the allowable light weight differentials shall be arrived at by the Office of Price Administration upon the basis of the average difference in production costs of the weights involved.

(i) Sheeted to size 336 square inches in area or greater, 500 sheet ream marked, and packed in bundles with cardboard stiffener top and bottom, add $.40.

To the above differential may be added $.25 for packing these sizes ream banded or ream sealed.

(vii) For packing sheeted sizes on skids there may be added $.10 to the appropriate sheeting differential.

(viii) For packing sheeted sizes in wooden cases of approximately 500 pounds gross weight, or in cardboard cartons of approximately 125 pounds gross weight, or protected by skeleton or solid board frames, there may be added $.25 to the appropriate sheeting differential.

(ix) For sheeting operations performed by persons other than the manufacturer, for the account of the manufacturer, reference is here made to (4) (ii) below.

(4) Special packing. (i) For packing sheets in special manner other than as described in (3) above, or for special packing of rolls, the manufacturer may add to the applicable maximum differential determined under subparagraph (3) above, an amount equal to the difference between the current delivered cost to the manufacturer of the materials used in such special packing and the current delivered cost to the manufacturer of the materials used in the corresponding standard packing provided for under subparagraph (3).

(ii) When any sheeting or special packing operations are performed for the manufacturer by another person, the manufacturer may charge the purchaser of the paper upon which such operations have been performed the actual amount paid by the manufacturer for such operations, providing that this amount does not exceed the maximum price applicable to the supplying of such services under the maximum price regulation covering such services, and providing further that manufacturer, in connection with each such sale, informs purchaser that such sheeting or special packing operations were performed for manufacturer by another person.

WRITING PAPER AND CERTAIN OTHER FINE PAPERS

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, it is necessary and proper to establish maximum prices for writing paper and certain other fine papers by a specific maximum price regulation.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by this regulation are and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders No. 9250 and 9328. So far as practicable, the Price Administrator has advised and consulted with members of the industry which will be affected by this regulation. Such specifications and standards as are used in this regulation were, prior to such use, in general use in the trade or industry affected or have previously been promulgated and their use lawfully required by another Government agency.

§ 1347.1008 Maximum prices for writing paper and certain other fine papers. Under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders No. 9250 and 9328, Maximum Price Regulation No. 450 (Writing Paper and Certain Other Fine Papers), which is annexed hereto and made a part hereof, is hereby issued.

SEC. 5. Federal and State taxes. Any tax upon, or incident to, the sale, delivery, processing or use of any paper covered by this regulation imposed by any statute of the United States or statute or ordinance of any State or any subdivision thereof, shall be treated as follows in determining the manufacturer's maximum price for such paper and in preparing the records of such manufacturer with respect thereto:

If, at the time the manufacturer determines his maximum price the statute or ordinance imposing such tax does not prohibit the manufacturer from stating and collecting the tax separately from the purchase price, and the manufacturer does state it separately, the manufacturer may collect, in addition to the maximum price, the amount of the tax actually paid by him or an amount equal to the amount of tax paid by any prior vendor and separately stated and collected from the manufacturer by the vendor from whom he purchased, and in such case the manufacturer shall not include such amount in determining the maximum price under this Maximum Price Regulation No. 450.

SEC. 6. Export sales. The maximum price at which a person may export or may sell for export the papers covered by this regulation shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation,[2] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 8. Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, delivery, purchase, or receipt of or relating to the papers covered by this regulation, alone or in connection with any other commodity, or by way of commission, service, transportation, or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying agreement, or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) Specifically, but not exclusively, the following practices are prohibited if used as a means of evading the price limitations imposed by this regulation: modifying, discontinuing or altering any customary trade practice of the seller, or deteriorating the quality or changing the identity of any grade.

SEC. 9 Enforcement. Persons violating any provisions of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages, and proceedings for suspension of license as provided by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 10. Records and reports. (a) Every person making sales or purchases of any of the papers subject to this regulation shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, is effective an accurate record of each such sale or purchase. Such record may be in the form of the invoice or a copy thereof furnished in connection with each such sale or purchase.

(b) Persons required to keep records by paragraph (a) of this section shall keep such other records and shall submit such reports as the Office of Price Administration may from time to time require, or permit, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(c) With respect to each sale to a merchant of paper covered by this regulation, the manufacturer shall furnish the merchant with sufficient information to enable the latter to comply with the invoicing and record-keeping requirements of Maximum Price Regulation No. 400[3] or of any other regulation applicable to sales of papers covered by this regulation by that merchant.

SEC. 11. Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.[4]

SEC. 12. Petitions for adjustment—(a) When adjustments may be granted. The Office of Price Administration may adjust the maximum price established under Appendix C or under Appendix D of this regulation for any grade of paper covered by this regulation in any case in which it finds that the seller is unable to maintain his production of that grade at that price and that either:

(1) Continuance of the seller's production of that grade will force his customers to resort to higher priced sources of supply, and that no adequate substitute for that grade is available to his customers at a price equal to or lower than the adjusted maximum price which he requests.

(2) Loss of the seller's production of that grade is required to meet a military or essential civilian need, or

(b) Amount of relief. The relief granted under this section shall be limited to the amount necessary to insure the maintenance of the manufacturer's production, provided, however, that where an application is filed under paragraph (a) (2) above, the seller's maximum price will not be raised above the general level of prices prevailing for alternative sources of supply of the grade or an adequate substitute therefor.

(c) Form of application. Before filing an application for adjustment under the provisions of paragraph (a), it is suggested that each applicant obtain from the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., a statement of the specific information that will be necessary in order that his application may receive prompt action.

SEC. 13. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration to whom the authority to grant such authorization has been delegated. The authorization will be given by order, except that it may be given by letter or telegram when the contemplated revision will be the granting of an individual application for adjustment.

SEC. 14. Definitions. (a) When used in this regulation the term:

(1) "Person" means an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or legal successors or representatives of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, or any other government, or any of its political sub-divisions, or any agency of the foregoing.

(3) "Writing paper and certain other fine papers" has the meaning stated in section 4 above.

(4) "Merchant" means any person who buys and resells any of the writing papers and certain other fine papers listed in the Appendices to this regulation, except

(i) Retailers, and

(ii) Manufacturers buying writing papers and certain other fine papers from another manufacturer and reselling them.

"Merchant" also includes a manufacturer selling papers referred to in this regulation of his own manufacture, and a person affiliated with such manufacturer through any community of ownership if, and only if, the Office of Price Administration shall find that he operates as a bona fide merchant. Any such manufacturer or affiliate claiming to operate as a merchant shall file an application for a ruling in the manner specified in section 16 (b) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 400.

(5) "Direct sales" include all sales not made to or through a merchant.

(6) "Highest price charged" during a specified period means the highest price which the manufacturer charged for a delivery of a grade of paper referred to in this regulation during that period, or, if the manufacturer made no such delivery, his highest offering price for delivery during that period.

(7) "Delivered." Papers referred to in this regulation shall be deemed to have been "delivered" during any specified period if during such period they were received by the purchaser or by any carrier, including a carrier owned or controlled by the manufacturer, for shipment to the purchaser.

(8) "Offering price" means the price quoted in the manufacturer's price list, or, if he had no such price list, the price which he regularly quoted in any other manner.

(9) Substance means the weight in pounds for 500 sheets of paper size 17x22 inches.

(10) "Retailer" means any person, the major portion of whose sales are to ultimate consumers other than industrial, commercial or institutional users or government agencies.

(11) "Job lots" and "seconds" means substandard qualities of writing paper resulting from faulty manufacture or overruns customarily unacceptable to a buyer, which occur during a bona fide attempt to manufacture writing papers of acceptable quality and quantity.

(b) Unless the text otherwise requires, the definitions set forth in section 302 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall apply to other terms used herein.

SEC. 15. Introductory pricing provisions. This section states certain general pricing provisions which the manufacturer must consider along with the appropriate specific pricing provisions of Appendices A, B, C or D in order to determine the maximum prices that he may charge for the papers covered by this regulation. Appendix A contains specific pricing provisions concerning rag content writing papers, Appendix B concerns chemical woodpulp writing papers, and Appendix C concerns unclassified grades of writing papers and certain other fine papers. Appendix D governs certain types of direct sales.

The first step in determining the maximum price applicable to the sale of any such paper is to arrive at the maximum base price. To this maximum base price there may be added or shall be subtracted, as the case may be, all applicable differentials, charges, discounts, allowances, and other pricing elements that customarily enter into a manufacturer's calculations of his selling price. The price arrived at after the addition or subtraction of these pricing elements is the permissible maximum price.

In Appendices A and B are listed certain grades of writing paper for which specific dollar and cent maximum base prices are stated. Also listed in these Appendices are certain "related grades," maximum base prices for which shall be computed in accordance with the method set forth in paragraph (b) of this section 15. Differentials, charges, discounts, allowances, and other pricing elements shall be determined by referring to this section 15 and to the pricing provisions contained in the paragraph of Appendix A, B, C or D under which the maximum base price of the paper being priced has been determined. The provisions of this section 15 shall apply except where inconsistent with the pricing provisions of that paragraph, in which case the latter provisions shall apply.

(a) Identification of grades. It shall be the duty of each person who manufactures any paper covered by this regulation to determine in the first instance, but subject to review and official classification by the Administrator at any time thereafter, under which of the grades listed in this regulation each of such papers manufactured by him belongs. There shall be taken into account in any review and reclassification by the Administrator the designation by which the manufacturer heretofore identified the paper in question, the common designation in the paper trade of similar papers selling within the same general price range, and the common designation in the paper trade of papers possessing the same general physical characteristics, manufactured by the same general processes, or commonly distributed and used for the same general uses as the paper in question. If a manufacturer is uncertain as to the proper grade under which to classify a particular kind of paper, or whether this regulation applies to a particular kind of paper, he may apply to the Administrator in writing for an official classification of such paper, submitting the following with his application:

(1) Representative samples;

(2) Description of special processes of manufacture;

(3) Price range of sales;

(4) Brand and grade name of or sample of closest type of paper with which it competes.

The Administrator may make such an official classification whether or not such an application has been submitted. Any official classification may be made either by letter or telegram. After an official classification has been thus transmitted to a manufacturer it remains subject to review and reclassification by letter or telegram, but no reclassification may operate retroactively.

On or before October 1, 1943, each manufacturer shall file with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. a statement of the mill brand name under which he sells any grade, and of the grade classification established by this regulation under which he proposes to price each such writing paper. With respect to grades under Appendices A and B first produced by the manufacturer after September 1, 1943, this material shall be filed within 30 days after the first sale of each such new grade. Material which is already on file with the Office of Price Administration need not be filed again.

(b) Related grades. (1) Following each listing of grades for which specific dollar and cent maximum base prices have been established are cited certain papers designated "related grades." "Related grades" include not only those cited as such, but also all other grades which have been considered by the industry to be related to the listed grades. The maximum base price for any such related grade shall be determined as follows:

The manufacturer shall determine the highest base price charged by him during the period October 1, 1941 to March 31, 1942 for the related grade and shall ascertain the difference between that price and the highest base price charged by him during the same period for that grade listed in connection with such related grade for which a dollar and cent maximum base price is provided and which is closest in price to the related grade. The difference between the highest base price charged for the related grade and the maximum base price for the listed grade shall be added to or subtracted from, as the case may be, the maximum base price stated in this regulation for the listed grade. The total shall constitute the maximum base price for the related grade being priced. To that maximum base price there shall be applied the same differentials, charges, discounts, allowances and other pricing elements as are applicable to the listed grade.

(2) In those cases where a manufacturer is unable to price a related grade under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph (b), he shall price it under Appendix C.

(c) Jobs and seconds. "Job lots" and "seconds" shall be priced by each manufacturer in accordance with his practice during the period October 1, 1941, through March 31, 1942. The invoice covering any sale of job lots or seconds shall state that the paper is a "job lot" or "seconds."

(d) Pricing point and freight allowance. All maximum prices listed in Appendices A and B are, unless otherwise specified, f. o. b. mill, lowest available carload rate of freight allowed to destination or to buyer's home city, whichever rate is lower; except that in those cases where it was the customary practice for the particular manufacturer during the period October 1, 1941 to March 31, 1942 to omit such allowance for shipments under 250 pounds he may continue to do so.

(e) Zone differentials. Except where otherwise specified, the following differentials may be added for delivery in zones other than Zone 1.

Appendix C—Unclassified Grades

Grades of writing paper and of certain other fine papers which are not covered by Appendices A or B are denominated "unclassified" grades. Maximum prices for such unclassified grades shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of this Appendix C. Without limitation, unclassified grades include the following:

Bible Paper (above A Grade Book)
Calendar Roll
Carbonizing (above A Grade Book)
Chart Paper
Cigarette Paper
Colored Construction & School Paper
Condenser Tissue
Drawing Paper (above A Grade Book)
Duplicating Impression and Master Sheet
Facing and Lining Paper
Gelatin and Spirit Process Duplicating Paper
Greeting Card Tissue
Manuscript Cover
Map Paper
Meter Paper
Photographic Base Paper
Rag News
Safety Paper Base Stock
Saturation Paper (Rag, Cotton, and/or High Alpha Cellulose Content)
Stencil and Lens
Text Paper (above A Grade Book)
Tracing Paper

The maximum base price for any unclassified grade of writing paper shall be determined under Paragraph (a) of this Appendix C in all instances where the manufacturer delivered or offered for delivery the same or a similar grade during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942. If the manufacturer did not deliver or offer for delivery the same or a similar grade during that period, the maximum base price shall be determined under Paragraph (b) of this Appendix C.

"Similar Grade" means a grade that is considered by the manufacturer to be in the same general category, which has the same general characteristics, is capable of the same general uses, is made by the same process and machine operations in the same range of basis weights, and is customarily or normally sold in the same price range.

The "maximum base price" is arrived at by taking the highest price charged and adjusting that price downward or upward, as the case may be, in accordance with the differentials, charges, discounts, allowances and other pricing elements that entered into the manufacturer's calculations of his selling price for such grade during the period October 1, 1941, through March 31, 1942.

(a) The maximum price for an unclassified grade of paper which the manufacturer delivered or offered for delivery during the period October 1, 1941, to March 31, 1942, shall be determined as follows: The manufacturer shall determine the highest base price charged by him during that period for the same or a similar grade. To the maximum base price thus determined there shall be added or subtracted, as the case may be, any applicable differentials, discounts, charges, allowances, or other pricing elements as set forth in Section 15 of this regulation. The price arrived at after the addition or subtraction of these pricing elements is the permissible maximum price.

(b) The maximum base price for an unclassified grade of paper which was not delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer during the period October 1, 1941, through March 31, 1942, shall be a price "in line" with the maximum price established by this regulation for the most comparable grade of paper. The "most comparable grade" of paper shall wherever possible be one of the grades listed in Appendix A or B, if the manufacturer deals in any of those grades. If he does not, it shall wherever possible be a grade for which he has determined a maximum price under paragraph (a) of this Appendix C. The "most comparable grade" of paper be one which is manufactured for the same general use or uses as the grade being priced, and which the manufacturer is currently producing at a total cost which is closer to the total cost of the grade being priced than is the total cost of any other grade listed under Appendix A or B, or, as the case may be, of any grade for which a maximum price has been determined under paragraph (a) of this Appendix C.

A price shall be "in line" only if the difference between that price and the price for the most comparable grade of writing paper is not in excess of the dollar and cent difference between the total cost of that grade and the total cost of the most comparable grade. Total cost in such case shall be computed on the basis of costs prevailing at the time when such in line price is being determined and in accordance with the manufacturer's method of determining total costs during March 1942.

To the maximum "in line" base price thus determined for such unclassified grade there shall be applied the differentials, charges, discounts, allowances, and other pricing elements as set forth in section 15 of this regulation, wherever applicable. The price after the addition or subtraction of any such applicable pricing elements shall be the maximum price.

A maximum price determined by a seller under this paragraph (b) must be reported to and confirmed by the Office of Price Administration. If this confirmation is not obtained prior to the time of making the sale, the seller must agree to refund to the purchaser any amount paid in excess of the confirmed maximum price. Confirmation of a maximum price determined under this paragraph (b) shall be obtained as follows: The seller must submit to the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., a statement setting forth all of the relevant facts including the following:

(i) Description of the grade being priced;

(ii) Completed Form Q–52 (forms available upon application to the Paper and Paper Products Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.) which covers cost and price data on that grade and on the most comparable grade with which the price comparison was made;

(iii) A sample sheet of each grade.

When the maximum price as proposed is not disapproved by the Office of Price Administration within 20 days after the above material is filed, it shall be considered confirmed. Confirmation need be obtained only once with respect to each grade involved.

Appendix D—Maximum Prices for Certain Types of Direct Sales

(a) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Appendices A, B, or C, any manufacturer who in making direct sales of any of the papers covered by this regulation performs services not generally performed by manufacturers and who has consequently customarily charged higher prices upon such sales than upon sales to merchants, may determine his maximum price for such sales under paragraph (b) below, providing he has filed with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., Code 695, on or before September 15, 1943, a statement explaining to what extent he performs such services and explaining his system of mark-ups with respect to such direct sales. If manufacturer has rendered such services and charged such higher prices only in particular areas or upon certain types of direct sales or to certain types of direct purchasers, he shall set forth these customary practices in reasonable detail. Any information already on file with the Office of Price Administration may be incorporated into the statement by reference. After filing this statement manufacturer may determine his maximum price under paragraph (b) of this Appendix D for all direct sales covered by the statement, unless and until he is advised by the Office of Price Administration in writing that all or part of such sales must be priced under Appendices A, B, or C.

(b) The maximum price for direct sales by a manufacturer who has complied with the requirements of paragraph (a) of this Appendix D shall be determined as follows: The manufacturer shall determine the highest base price charged by him during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942, upon a sale of the same or a similar grade to the same purchaser or to a purchaser to whom manufacturer would customarily sell at the same price. The term "similar grade" has the meaning stated in Appendix C. The "maximum base price" is arrived at by taking the highest price charged and adjusting that price upward or downward, as the case may be, in accordance with the differentials, charges, discounts, allowances and other pricing elements that entered into the manufacturer's calculation of his selling price upon such direct sales during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942.

To the maximum base price thus determined there shall be added or subtracted, as the case may be, any applicable differentials, discounts, charges, allowances, or other pricing elements as set forth in Section 15 of this regulation. The price arrived at after the addition or subtraction of these pricing elements is the permissible maximum price for such direct sales.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Effective date. This Maximum Price Regulation No. 450 shall become effective August 25, 1943.

Issued this 19th day of August 1943.

CHESTER BOWLES,
Acting Administrator.

PART 1347—PAPER, PAPER PRODUCTS, RAW MATERIALS FOR PAPER AND PAPER PRODUCTS, PRINTING AND PUBLISHING

[MPR 451]

BOOK PAPER

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, it is necessary and proper to establish maximum prices for book paper by a specific maximum price regulation.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Such specifications and standards as are used in this regulation were, prior to such use, in general use in the trade or industry affected.

If, at the time the manufacturer determines his maximum price the statute or ordinance imposing such tax does not prohibit the manufacturer from stating and collecting the tax separately from the purchase price, and the manufacturer does state it separately, the manufacturer may collect, in addition to the maximum price, the amount of the tax actually paid by him or an amount equal to the amount of tax paid by any prior vendor and separately stated and collected from the manufacturer by the vendor from whom he purchased, and in such case the manufacturer shall not include such amount in determining the maximum price under this Maximum Price Regulation No. 451.

SEC. 6. Export sales. The maximum price at which a manufacturer may export book paper or may sell book paper for export shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation [2] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 7. Imports. No person importing book paper shall pay a total price for such paper including United States customs duties, paid directly or indirectly by him, which exceeds the maximum price applicable to a domestic sale established under this regulation.

SEC. 8. Evasion. (a) The price limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, delivery, purchase, or receipt of or relating to book paper, alone or in connection with any other commodity, or by way of commission, service, transportation, or other charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by tying agreement, or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) Specifically, but not exclusively, the following practices are prohibited if used as a means of evading the price limitations imposed by this regulation: modifying, discontinuing or altering any customary trade practice of the seller, or deteriorating the quality or changing the identity of any grade.

SEC. 9. Enforcement. Persons violating any provisions of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages, and proceedings for suspension of license as provided by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 10. Records and reports. (a) Every person making sales or purchases of book paper subject to this regulation shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, is effective an accurate record of each such sale or purchase. Such record may be in the form of the invoice of a copy thereof furnished in connection with each such sale or purchase.

(b) Persons required to keep records by paragraph (a) of this section shall keep such other records and shall submit such reports as the Office of Price Administration may from time to time require, or permit, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(c) With respect to each sale of book paper to a merchant the manufacturer shall furnish the merchant with sufficient information to enable the latter to comply with the invoicing and record-keeping requirements of Maximum Price Regulation No. 400 [3] or of any other regulation applicable to sales of book paper by that merchant.

SEC. 11. Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.[4]

Reference is made at this point to paragraph (f) of Appendix B of this regulation which contains a provision concerning the filing of a petition by a purchaser of book paper from a manufacturer.

SEC. 12. Petitions for adjustment—(a) When adjustments may be granted. The Office of Price Administration may adjust the maximum price established under paragraph (b) of Appendix A or under Appendix B of this regulation for any grade of book paper in any case in which it finds that the seller is unable to maintain his production of that grade at that price and that either:

(1) Continuance of the seller's production of that grade is required to meet a military or essential civilian need, or

(2) Loss of the seller's production of that grade will force his customers to resort to higher priced sources of supply, and that no adequate substitute for that grade is available to his customers at a price equal to or lower than the adjusted maximum price which he requests.

(b) Amount of relief. The relief granted under this section shall be limited to the amount necessary to insure the maintenance of the manufacturer's production: Provided, however, That where an application is filed under paragraph (a) (2) above, the seller's maximum price will not be raised above the general level of prices prevailing for alternative sources of supply of the grade or an adequate substitute therefor.

(c) Form of application. Before filing an application for adjustment under the provisions of paragraph (a), it is suggested that each applicant obtain from the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., a statement of the specific information that will be necessary in order that his application may receive prompt action.

Reference is made at this point to paragraph (f) of Appendix B of this regulation which contains a provision concerning the filing of a petition by a purchaser of book paper from a manufacturer.

SEC. 13. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration to whom the authority to grant such authorization has been delegated. The authorization will be given by order, except that it may be given by letter or telegram when the contemplated revision will be the granting of an individual application for adjustment.

SEC. 14. Definitions. (a) When used in this regulation the term:

(1) "Person" means an individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons or legal successors or representatives of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, or any other government, or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of any of the foregoing.

(2) "Manufacturer" has the meaning stated in Section 4 above.

(3) "Book paper" has the meaning stated in Section 4 above.

(4) "Merchant" means any person who buys and resells book paper, except (i) retailers and (ii) manufacturers buying book paper from another manufacturer and reselling it.

"Merchant" also includes a manufacturer selling book paper of his own manufacture, and a person affiliated with such manufacturer through community of ownership if, and only if, the Office of Price Administration shall find that he operates as a bona fide merchant. Any such manufacturer or affiliate claiming to operate as a merchant shall file an application for a ruling in the manner specified in section 16 (b) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 400.

(5) "Retailer" means any person, the major portion of whose sales are to ultimate consumers other than industrial, commercial or institutional users or government agencies.

(6) "Highest price charged" during a particular period means the highest price which the manufacturer charged for a delivery of a grade of book paper during that period, or if the manufacturer made no such delivery his highest offering price for delivery during that period.

(8) "Offering price" means the price quoted in the manufacturer's price list, or, if he had no such price list, the price which he regularly quoted in any other manner.

(9) "Grade" means one particular quality within a kind of book paper, such grade having the essential properties peculiar to such kind of paper and common to all grades within such kind, but distinguished from other such grades by a difference in the degree to which one or several of those common properties are emphasized. However, a difference in the degree to which any such property is emphasized, due only to a difference in ash content, in sizing, in the quantity of adhesive in the coating formula, or in the dyes used in the paper and/or coating shall not be considered as resulting in a different grade. Where there are such differences, the differentials and charges provided for in Appendices A and B of this regulation may, of course, be applied in appropriate cases.

(10) "Item" means a quantity of paper all of which is of the same size, grain, basis weight, finish, color and grade.

(11) "Job lots" and "seconds" mean substandard qualities of book paper resulting from faulty manufacture or overruns customarily unacceptable to the buyer, which occur during a bona fide attempt to manufacture book paper of acceptable quality and quantity.

(12) "Machine coated paper" means a paper that is formed, dried and coated in one continuous operation on the paper machine, the coating consisting chiefly of mineral pigments and adhesive applied to one or both sides of the paper after it has passed the press section of the paper machine: Provided, That the amount of such coating shall be at least 2½ pounds of the total ream basis weight (25 x 38—500) if applied to one side only, or at least 5 pounds if applied to both sides.

(13) "Spot sales" are those sales which involve one shipment or multiple shipments in close sequence against one order over a period of less than ninety consecutive days, as distinguished from contract sales which involve multiple shipments over a longer period.

(b) Unless the text otherwise requires the definitions set forth in section 302 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall apply to other terms used herein.

Appendix A: Maximum prices for spot sales of book paper by manufacturers to merchants, and for all sales of book paper by manufacturers to the U. S. Government or any agency thereof. The maximum base price for spot sales of book paper by a manufacturer to a merchant shall be the price set forth in paragraph (a) of this Appendix A in all cases where the book paper being priced falls under one of the grades listed in that paragraph (a). The maximum base price for spot sales by a manufacturer to a merchant of book paper which does not fall under one of those grades is to be determined under paragraph (b) of this Appendix A. To any maximum base price thus determined under paragraphs (a) or (b) there shall be applied the differentials, charges, discounts, allowances, and other pricing elements provided for in paragraph (d) of this Appendix A, wherever those pricing elements are applicable. The price after the addition or subtraction of any such applicable pricing elements shall be the maximum price. The maximum price for all sales of book paper by a manufacturer to the U. S. Government or any agency thereof is to be determined under paragraph (c) of this Appendix A.

In determining whether a particular book paper falls under one of the grades listed in paragraph (a) the manufacturer is to check the examples of each grade enumerated after the list of maximum prices. If the book paper in question is listed by brand name in paragraph (a) as an example of a particular grade, it is to be considered to be that grade. A book paper shall be considered to be a particular listed grade even though it is not expressly included in paragraph (a) as an example of that grade, if it has heretofore been sold and distributed by the manufacturer and recognized and accepted in the trade as that grade; a manufacturer who identifies a book paper with one of the listed grades in this manner shall so advise the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. in writing, unless such notification has previously been made.

(a) Maximum prices for listed grades. The maximum base prices established herein for the grades listed below are the maximum base prices for paper packed for domestic use with customary markers in ordinary wooden cases, cartons or in bundles with solid or skeleton board frames, for shipment to points in zone 1, and are f. o. b. mill, lowest available carload rate of freight allowed to destination point, except that no manufacturer shall be required to make any freight allowance to a merchant on shipments of less than 5,000 pounds to points other than the merchant's home city.

(b) Maximum prices for unlisted grades. The maximum base price for spot sales by a manufacturer to a merchant of a grade of book paper not listed under paragraph (a) above shall be determined under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph (b) in all instances where that unlisted grade was delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer to any merchant during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942. If that unlisted grade of book paper was not delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer to any merchant during that period, the maximum base price shall be determined under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph (b).

Under subparagraph (1) below, the manufacturer is required to determine the "highest base price" charged by him during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942. The "highest base price" is arrived at by taking the highest actual price charged and adjusting that price upward or downward, as the case may be, in accordance with the differentials, charges, discounts, allowances, and other pricing elements applied by the manufacturer in computing that actual price at the time of that sale. The base price thus arrived at is to be comparable with the base price for grades listed in paragraph (a) with respect to quantity, finish, packing, transportation, zone differentials, and all other conditions of production or sale generally recognized in the industry as requiring additions to or subtractions from such a base price.

(1) The maximum base price for an unlisted grade which was delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer to any merchant during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942 shall be determined as follows: the manufacturer shall determine the highest base price charged by him for such grade during that period, and shall ascertain the difference between that base price and the highest base price charged by him during the same period for the grade listed under paragraph (a) which during that period was closest in price to the unlisted grade. That difference shall then be added to or subtracted from, as the case may be, the maximum base price listed under paragraph (a) for the grade with which the price comparison was made. The resulting amount shall be the maximum base price for the unlisted grade being priced under this paragraph.

If during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942 the manufacturer delivered or offered for delivery to any merchant one or more unlisted grades, but in that period did not deal in any of the grades listed in paragraph (a), his maximum base price for any such unlisted grade shall be the highest base price charged by him for that grade during that period. With respect to sales of any grade for which a price is determined in this manner the manufacturer may at his option substitute for the system of quantity differentials provided for in subparagraph (d) (2) of this Appendix A the system of quantity differentials customarily employed by him during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942. This optional method shall also apply with respect to sales of any grade priced under subparagraph (b) (2) below by comparison with a grade for which a price is determined in this manner.

Except as otherwise provided in the paragraph immediately above, there shall be applied to any maximum base price established under this paragraph (b) (1) the differentials, charges, discounts, allowances, and other pricing elements provided for in paragraph (d) of this Appendix A, wherever applicable. The price after the addition or subtraction of any such pricing elements applicable to the particular sale shall be the maximum price for that sale.

On or before October 1, 1943 every manufacturer of book paper shall file with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., the following information with respect to each grade of book paper which he is selling or may sell for which the maximum base price must be determined under this paragraph (b) (1): grade name, maximum base price, and a statement of the method followed by the manufacturer in determining the maximum base price.

(2) The maximum base price for an unlisted grade of book paper which was not delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer to any merchant during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942 shall be a price in line with the maximum base price established by this regulation for the nearest related grade. "The nearest related grade" shall be that grade of paper listed in paragraph (a) which is of the same general type as the unlisted grade being priced and which the manufacturer is producing currently for the same general use or uses at a total cost which is closest to the total cost of such unlisted grade. If the manufacturer does not deal in any of the grades listed in paragraph (a) his "nearest related grade" shall be that grade of paper of the same general type for which he has already established a maximum base price under paragraph (b) (1) and which he is producing currently for the same general use or uses as the unlisted grade being priced at a total cost which is closest to the total cost of such unlisted grade.

A price for any such unlisted grade shall be "in line" only if the difference between that price and the price for the nearest related grade is not in excess of the dollars and cents difference between the total cost of that grade and the total cost of the nearest related grade.

Total cost in these cases shall be computed on the basis of costs prevailing at the time when such in line price is being determined and in accordance with the manufacturer's usual method of determining total costs during March 1942.

To any maximum in line base price thus determined for an unlisted grade there shall be applied the differentials, charges, discounts, allowances, and other pricing elements provided for in paragraph (d) of this Appendix A, wherever applicable. The price after the addition or subtraction of any such pricing elements applicable to the particular sale shall be the maximum price for that sale.

A maximum price determined by a seller under this paragraph (b) (2) must be reported to and confirmed by the Office of Price Administration. If this confirmation is not obtained prior to the time of making the sale the seller must agree to refund to the purchaser any amount paid in excess of the confirmed maximum price. Confirmation of a maximum price determined under this paragraph (b) (2) shall be obtained as follows: the seller must submit to the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., a statement setting forth all of the relevant facts including the following:

(i) Description of the grade being priced;

(ii) Completed Form Q–52 (forms available upon application to the Paper and Paper Products Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.) which covers cost and price data on that grade and on the related grade with which the price comparison was made;

(iii) A sample sheet of each grade.

When a maximum price as proposed is not disapproved by the Office of Price Administration within 20 days after the above material is filed, it shall be considered confirmed. Confirmation need be obtained only once with respect to each grade involved.

(3) Any maximum price which cannot otherwise be determined under this Appendix A shall be determined by the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. by order upon receipt of an application from the manufacturer setting forth a description of the grade and the reasons why it cannot be priced under any other provision of this Appendix A, and including a completed Form Q–52 with respect to the costs of such grade. (Copies of Form Q–52 are available upon application to the Paper and Paper Products Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.)

(c) Maximum prices for sales by a manufacturer to the U. S. Government or any agency thereof. The maximum price for the sale of book paper by a manufacturer to the U. S. Government or any agency thereof shall be the maximum price for the sale of that paper by the manufacturer to a merchant, determined under paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of this Appendix A, less a discount of 3%. With respect to such sales, manufacturer should refer to Section 4 of this regulation in which there are set forth certain conditions under which a sale by a manufacturer to or through a merchant to a specific purchaser is considered to be a sale by that manufacturer to that purchaser.

(d) Differentials, charges, discounts, allowances. The following differentials, charges, discounts, allowances, and other pricing elements, if applicable, may be added to and shall be subtracted from (as the case may be) the maximum base prices provided for the grades listed in paragraph (a) of this Appendix A. Wherever applicable, they shall also be applied in the same way to the maximum base prices determined under paragraph (b) of this Appendix A.

(4) Lightweight differentials. The percentage upcharges for light weights set forth herein shall apply to all sales for which prices are determined under this Appendix A.

The selling price to which these percentage charges may be applied is the price, including freight if allowed, for the quantity of paper involved, in the particular form of packing in which it is to be shipped, after the application of all dollars and cents charges having to do with the actual manufacture of the paper before it leaves the end of the paper or coating machine or supercalenders, such as heavy weight, special or felt finishes made on the paper machine, special sizing, laid marking, watermarking, colors, etc. but before extra charges applying after the paper has left the end of the machine such as embossing, plating, trimming, ream sealing or banding, etc.

Percentages of the selling price may be added for each pound or fraction thereof below the minimum basic weight as follows:

(i) Machine finished paper (including Antique). The minimum basic weight without extra charge for Machine Finished paper shall be 25 x 38—45 pounds—500 sheets. For lighter weights additional charges shall be made and computed on the 500 sheet basis as follows:

Add 1½% of the selling price for each pound or fraction thereof below 45 pounds down to and including 35 pounds.

Add 2% of the selling price for each pound or fraction thereof below 35 pounds down to and including 30 pounds, plus the additional charge for 35 pounds.

Add 3% of the selling price for each pound or fraction thereof below 30 pounds down to and including 25 pounds, plus the additional charge for 30 pounds.

Example: Assuming paper at $10.00 per cwt.
- Basis 45 lbs.... $10.00 per cwt.
- Basis 35 lbs.... $11.50 per cwt. ($10.00 per cwt. plus 15%—1½% per lb. from 45 lb. to 35 lb. basis weight)
- Basis 30 lbs.... $12.50 per cwt. ($10.00 per cwt. plus 25%—1½% per lb. from 45 lb. to 35 lb., 2% per lb. from 35 lb. to 30 lb., and 3% per lb. from 30 lb. to 25 lb basis weight)

(ii) Supercalendered paper. The minimum basic weight without extra charge for Supercalendered paper shall be 25x 38—50 pounds—500 sheets. For lighter weights additional charges shall be made and computed on the 500 sheet basis as follows:

Add 1½% of the selling price for each pound or fraction thereof below 50 pounds down to and including 40 pounds.

Add 2% of the selling price for each pound or fraction thereof below 40 pounds down to and including 35 pounds, plus the additional charge for 40 pounds.

Add 3% of the selling price for each pound or fraction thereof below 35 pounds down to and including 30 pounds, plus the additional charge for 35 pounds.

Example: Assuming paper at $10.00 per cwt.
- Basis 50 lbs.... $10.00 per cwt.
- Basis 40 lbs.... $11.50 per cwt. ($10.00 per cwt. plus 15%—1½% per lb. from 50 lb. to 40 lb. basis weight)
- Basis 35 lbs.... $12.50 per cwt. ($10.00 per cwt. plus 25%—1½% per lb. from 50 lb. to 40 lb. and 2% per lb. from 40 lb. to 35 lb. basis weight)
- Basis 30 lbs.... $14.00 per cwt. ($10.00 per cwt. plus 40%—1½% per lb. from 50 lb. to 40 lb., 2% per lb. from 40 lb. to 35 lb., and 3% per lb. from 35 lb. to 30 lb. basis weight)

(5) Any other differentials or special charges and any discounts or allowances or other pricing elements not specifically provided for in this paragraph (d) shall be applied by each manufacturer in accordance with his practice during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942.

(6) Job lots and seconds. "Job lots" and "seconds" shall be priced by each manufacturer in accordance with his practice during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942. The invoice covering any sale of jobs or seconds shall state that the paper is a "job lot" or "seconds."

Appendix B: Maximum prices for all sales of book paper by manufacturers which cannot be priced under Appendix A. The maximum price for all sales of book paper except spot sales to merchants and except spot or contract sales to the U. S. Government or any agency thereof shall be determined under paragraph (a) of this Appendix B in all cases where during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942 the manufacturer delivered or offered for delivery the same or a similar grade to any person. The maximum price for all such sales of grades not delivered or offered for delivery during that period shall be determined under paragraphs (b) or (c) of this Appendix B.

"Similar grade" means a grade that is considered by the manufacturer to be in the same category, which has substantially the same characteristics, is capable of the same uses, is made by the same processes and machine operations in the same range of basis weights, and is customarily or normally sold in the same price range.

(a) In those cases in which the manufacturer delivered or offered for delivery during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942 the same or a similar grade in a like quantity to a purchaser in the same line of business, the maximum price shall be the highest price charged upon any such sale during that period. In those cases in which the manufacturer delivered or offered for delivery during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942 the same or a similar grade in an unlike quantity or to a purchaser in a different line of business, the maximum price shall be the highest price charged for the same or similar grade during that period for any quantity and to any purchaser, adjusted upward or downward, as the case may be, in accordance with the manufacturer's usual system of differentials and charges with respect to sales in varying quantities or to purchasers in different lines of business.

A quantity shall be deemed to be a "like quantity" with another if both fall within one of the following brackets:

5001 tons or more.

In determining the quantity of a particular sale under a continuing contract or like agreement, the manufacturer shall not consider the amount of any individual delivery, but rather the total of such deliveries reasonably to be expected under that contract or agreement for the life thereof, but not over a period of more than one year.

A purchaser shall be "in the same line of business" as another purchaser in any case in which the industry generally so classifies purchasers in accordance with the nature of their business or the use which they make of the paper purchased. For example, purchasers within any one of the following groups would be considered purchasers in the same line of business as any other person within the same group: book publishers, magazine publishers, printers, and label manufacturers.

To any maximum price established under this paragraph (a) there shall be applied the manufacturer's usual differentials and charges wherever varying conditions of sale with respect to finish, packing, color, zone, etc. warrant the application of such differentials and charges, except that lightweight differentials shall be determined in accordance with paragraph (d) below.

(b) The maximum price for a grade of book paper which was not delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942 shall be a price in line with the maximum price determined under paragraph (a) of this Appendix B for the nearest related grade of book paper. "The nearest related grade" shall be that grade of paper delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942 which is of the same general type as the grade being priced, is manufactured for the same general use or uses, and for which current total cost is closest to the total cost of the grade being priced.

A price for any such grade shall be "in line" only if the difference between that price and the price for the nearest related grade is not in excess of the dollar and cent difference between the total cost of that grade and the total cost of the nearest related grade. Prices for and costs of both grades shall be on the same basis as to quantity, finishing, packing, and other conditions of manufacture or sale, and shall be computed on the basis of costs prevailing at the time when such "in line" price is being determined in accordance with the manufacturer's usual method of determining total costs during March 1942.

To the maximum "in line" price thus determined for such grade there shall be applied the manufacturer's usual differentials and charges, wherever those differentials and charges are applicable, except that light weight differentials shall be determined in accordance with paragraph (d) below.

A maximum price determined by a seller under this paragraph (b) must be reported to and confirmed by the Office of Price Administration. If this confirmation is not obtained prior to the time of making the sale, the seller must agree to refund to the purchaser any amount paid in excess of the confirmed maximum price. Confirmation of a maximum price determined under this paragraph (b) shall be obtained as follows: the seller must submit to the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. a statement setting forth all of the relevant facts including the following:

(i) Description of the grade being priced;

(ii) Completed Form Q–52 (forms available upon application to the Paper and Paper Products Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.) which covers cost and price data on that grade and on the related grade with which the price comparison was made;

(iii) A sample sheet of each grade.

When a maximum price as proposed is not disapproved by the Office of Price Administration within 20 days after the above material is filed, it shall be considered confirmed. Confirmation need be obtained only once with respect to each grade involved.

(c) Any maximum price which cannot otherwise be determined under this Appendix B shall be determined by the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., by order upon receipt of an application from the manufacturer setting forth a description of the grade and the reasons why it cannot be priced under any other provision of this Appendix B, and including a completed Form Q–52 with respect to the costs of such grade. (Copies of Form Q–52 available upon application to the Paper and Paper Products Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.)

(d) Lightweight differentials. The upcharges for light weights provided for in paragraph (d) of Appendix A of this regulation shall apply to all sales for which prices are determined under this Appendix B, except that such upcharges shall apply to sales of book paper for use in a periodical publication only on the downward changes in basis weights which shall have occurred since March 1942.

Example: Assuming paper at $10.00 per cwt. supplied for a periodical publication.
Basis weight of paper for publication, March 1942—25 x 38—43/500
Basis weight of paper for identical publication since reduced to 25 x 38—41
Price for 41 lb. paper—$10.30 ($10.00 per cwt. plus 3%—1½% per lb. from 43 lb. to 41 lb. basis weight)

(e) Notification. (1) On or before October 1, 1943 each manufacturer of book paper shall file with the Office of

Price Administration in Washington, D. C., the maximum prices he has determined under paragraph (a) of this Appendix B for his sales of each grade sold by him to purchasers in each line of business and in each tonnage category specified in that paragraph (a) in which he deals. This information shall thereafter be filed within 30 days after each sale for which a maximum price has not already been reported.

(2) In all cases in which the application by a manufacturer of the provisions of paragraph (a) of this Appendix B results in a price to an individual purchaser higher than the price at which sales of the same or a similar grade in a like quantity were made to that purchaser during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942, (unless such increase is justified by the application of the lightweight differentials permitted under paragraph (d) above or by the application of generally recognized differentials or charges resulting from actual changes in the paper purchased) the manufacturer shall file with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., a statement of the relevant facts on which such price change was based.

(f) Provisions relating to purchasers. (1) In all cases in which subsequent to the issuance of this regulation the price paid by any purchaser is increased over the highest price paid by that purchaser to the person who supplied him the paper in question during the period October 1, 1941 through March 31, 1942 (unless such increase is justified by the application of the lightweight differentials permitted under paragraph (d) above or by the application of generally recognized differentials or charges resulting from actual changes in the paper purchased) the purchaser shall file with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. a statement showing the name of the supplier or suppliers involved and the price increase effected.

(2) Any purchaser who is able to show that the price charged him for the same book paper has increased subsequent to March 31, 1942, and that he is unable to absorb such increased costs without suffering substantial hardship, may petition the Office of Price Administration to lower that price by order. No such petition may be granted until the book paper manufacturer involved has been given full opportunity to show why it should not be granted. Such petition shall be filed in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 19th day of August 1943.

CHESTER BOWLES,

PART 1439—UNPROCESSED AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

[MPR 455]

CABBAGE SEED

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the prices of cabbage seed have risen and are threatening to rise further to an extent and in a manner inconsistent with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 as amended, and are thereby causing undue increases in prices.

The Administrator has considered all pertinent provisions of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and has complied with all requirements thereof.

The maximum prices established by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 455 are, in the judgment of the Price Administrator, generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders 9250 and 9328. A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

§ 1439.5 Maximum prices for cabbage seed. Under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders 9250 and 9328, and with the concurrence of the Food Administrator, Maximum Price Regulation No. 455, Cabbage Seed, which is annexed hereto and made a part hereof, is hereby issued.

SECTION 1. Prohibition against sales above the maximum price. While this regulation is in effect, regardless of any contract, agreement or other obligation, no person to whom this regulation is applicable shall sell, offer for sale or deliver any cabbage seed subject to this regulation at prices higher than the maximum price specified in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 455, and no person in the course of trade shall buy, solicit, or receive any such cabbage seed at a price higher than the maximum prices specified in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 455, and no person shall agree, solicit or attempt to do any of the foregoing.

*Copies may be obtained from the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 2. Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those provided for in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 455 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

SEC. 3. Applicability. This regulation shall apply to all sales, whether for immediate or future delivery, of domestic and imported cabbage seed.

SEC. 4. Definitions. (a) As used in this regulation the following terms shall have the following meanings:

(1) "Person" includes any individual, corporation, partnership, association or other organized group of persons or the legal successor or representative of the foregoing; and the United States or any other government or any political subdivision or agency of any of the foregoing.

(2) "Cabbage seed" (brassica capitata) is the seed used to grow cabbage.

(3) "Farmer-grower" is a person who handles the field operations of planting, cultivating and harvesting cabbage seed on his own account.

(4) "Commercial-grower" is a person who performs the field operations of planting, cultivating and harvesting a crop of cabbage seed or who contracts with a farmer, whom he supplies with stock seed, to perform said field operations for him; and who cleans, purifies, tests in a laboratory, sacks and labels cabbage seed pursuant to all applicable state or federal seed laws.

(5) "Jobber or wholesaler" is a person who sells cabbage seed owned by him from out of a warehouse in which he has stored the same to commercial-growers, retailers, plant growers and produce growers, and processors such as canners, freezers and dehydrators.

(6) "Retailer" is a person who sells cabbage seed owned by him to a market gardener, home gardener, farmer-grower, or any other planter not specifically named in this regulation.

(7) "Plant grower" is a person who grows and sells small plants to be used for planting to yield a crop of cabbage.

(8) "Produce grower" is a person who grows cabbage and sells the same in terminal markets.

(9) "Market gardener" is a person who grows cabbage and sells the same in nearby markets.

(10) "Home gardener" is a person who grows cabbage for his own use.

(11) "Billing charge" means a charge or entry as a part of the bookkeeping system of debits and credits made between different departments, branches or units of an affiliated group of concerns or organizations for services rendered or commodities delivered by one to another.

(12) "Each class of sales or deliveries" means all of the sales or deliveries of cabbage seed by each seller during the base period to one of the following groups or classes of buyers or recipients: farmer-growers, commercial growers, jobbers or wholesalers, retailers, plant growers and produce growers, market gardeners and home gardeners, processors as aforesaid, and any other planters not hereinbefore specifically mentioned.

(13) "Transportation charges" shall be computed at:

(i) The lowest common carrier rate including the 3 per cent transportation tax provided for in Section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942, as amended, for the billing or shipment in question; or (ii) if there is no such rate, the reasonable value of the service (including said 3 per cent tax, if any) not exceeding any maximum prices established therefor.

SEC. 5. Maximum prices for the sale or delivery of cabbage seed. (a) Each seller's maximum price and billing charge for all sales or deliveries of cabbage seed shall be his highest price or billing charge charged on and for each class of sales or deliveries of each variety of cabbage seed of the 1943 crop during the period between February 15 and May 16, 1943.

However, in determining "his highest price or billing charge" the seller shall not commingle f. o. b. selling prices and billing charges with delivered selling prices and billing charges. If for a given class of sales or deliveries during said base period he had both, then his highest price or billing charge f. o. b. his established place of business shall be his maximum price and billing charge f. o. b. his established place of business hereunder; and his highest price or billing charge delivered to a given point (or area including all territory within which he had a uniform delivered price or billing charge during said base period) shall be his maximum price and billing charge delivered to that point or area hereunder. If under the foregoing provision a seller has no maximum delivered price or billing charge for any particular point or area he may determine the same by adding to his maximum price or billing charge f. o. b. his established place of business (determined as herein provided) the actual delivery cost as to each subsequent transaction; or he may take all or a representative list of prospective deliveries in a designated area and average his actual cost of such deliveries in said area and that figure added to his maximum f. o. b. price and billing charge shall be his uniform maximum delivered price and billing charge for that area. If under the foregoing provisions a seller had no maximum price or billing charge f. o. b. his established place of business, he may determine the same by taking his maximum price and billing charge delivered to a given point or area and deducting therefrom the actual delivery costs from his established place of business to or within that point or area and the figure obtained shall be his maximum price and billing charge f. o. b. his established place of business.

(c) If under the foregoing provisions a seller has a maximum price and billing charge for a given class of sales and deliveries for one or more, but not for all varieties of cabbage seed, he shall determine his maximum price and billing charge for those varieties for which he has no such price or billing charge, by taking his maximum price and billing charge for that class of sales and deliveries for the most similar variety and add thereto or subtract therefrom the discount or premium, as the case may be, normal to his own business, or, if none, normal to the trade for the variety in question in relation to said most similar variety on which he has a maximum price and billing charge; and the resultant figure shall be his maximum price and billing charge for the variety in question.

(d) If any retailer cannot determine a maximum price for any cabbage seed under the foregoing provisions, he shall take as his maximum price for the 1943 crop his highest price for each class of sales or deliveries of each variety of cabbage seed of the 1942 crop, between February 15 and May 16, 1943. In the event the highest price he paid for a particular variety of the 1943 crop (not exceeding any maximum price thereof) exceeds the highest price he paid for the same variety of the 1942 crop, he shall add the difference between such highest prices to the highest price at which he sold said same variety of the 1942 crop during the above mentioned base period and the result shall be his maximum price for said particular variety of the 1943 crop. If a retailer cannot determine a maximum price under the foregoing provisions of this paragraph he shall apply paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section as if said paragraphs (b) and (c) succeeded this paragraph (d).

(e) If a retailer still cannot determine a maximum price, for any cabbage seed, he shall apply to the Seeds and Rice Section of the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for the establishment of such a price.

SEC. 6. Export sales. The maximum price for export sales of cabbage seed, unprocessed or processed, shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation.[1]

SEC. 7. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration to whom the authority to grant such authorization has been delegated. The authorization will be given by order, except that it may be given by letter or telegram when the contemplated revision will be the granting of an individual application for adjustment.

SEC. 8. Evasion. The price limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with any offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase or receipt of or relating to any cabbage seed, unprocessed or processed, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity, or by way of commission, service, additional transportation, or other charge, discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying agreement, or other trade understanding, misgrading or otherwise.

SEC. 9. Petitions for amendment. Persons seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may do so in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.[2]

SEC. 10. Enforcement. Persons violating any provisions of this regulation are subject to the license revocation or suspension provisions, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages and criminal penalties as provided in the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 11. Records and reports. Every person selling cabbage seed shall preserve for examination by the Office of Price Administration all his existing records relating to prices which he charged for sales or deliveries of cabbage seed during the period between February 15 and May 15, 1943 and prepare and maintain for examination by any person during ordinary business hours a statement showing his then existing maximum prices for cabbage seed. Any person selling cabbage seed who did not make any sales or deliveries during the base period, shall preserve for examination by the Office of Price Administration all his records of the methods used in establishing his maximum price.

This regulation shall become effective August 25, 1943.

NOTE: The record keeping provisions of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

HANDLING OF MILK IN NEW YORK METROPOLITAN MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF REPORT AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE EXCEPTIONS

Notice of report and opportunity to file written exceptions with respect to a proposed amendment to Order No. 27, as amended, and to tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the New York Metropolitan Marketing Area, prepared by the Director of Food Distribution.

Pursuant to § 900.12 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders, notice is hereby given of the filing with the hearing clerk in the Office of the Solicitor, Department of Agriculture, of the report of the Director of Food Distribution, with respect to proposed amendments to the order, as amended, and marketing agreement, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan milk marketing area. Interested parties may file exceptions to this report with the Hearing Clerk, Office of the Solicitor, in Room 1331 South Building, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., not later than the close of business on the 10th day after the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The proceeding was initiated, following receipt of written petitions filed by the Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers' Bargaining Agency and other milk producer cooperatives, by the issuance, over the signature of the Assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture, on March 8, 1943, of a notice of hearing. A similar notice of hearing was also issued for the Commissioner of Agriculture and Markets of the State of New York by Kenneth F. Fee, Director of the Division of Milk Control. Accordingly, the hearing was held at the Hotel St. George in Brooklyn, New York, beginning on March 16 and continuing through March 18. The time for filing briefs was set at the closing of the hearing to expire March 26, 1943.

The hearing was confined to the development of two major issues, plus a proposal to transfer from § 927.7 of the order to § 927.2, under duties of the market administrator, a provision concerning determination by the market administrator as to what constitutes a plant and its equipment. The first of these major issues constituted the proposal of petitioners for a hearing to amend § 927.4 of the orders to provide for relocating differentials, a provision which would have the effect of restoring diversion payments, provision for which was formerly made in the order and limited, by amendment, effective April 1, 1942, to Classes III and IV-B milk, and finally terminated, effective November 16, 1942, by an order of the Secretary of Agriculture.

The second issue in this proceeding was a proposal of the Dairy and Poultry Branch, Food Distribution Administration, to amend the price formula for Class IV-B milk (principally Cheddar cheese).

The issues considered at the hearing, other than the matter of diversion payments or relocation differentials, have been disposed of by the issuance, effective May 16, 1943, of an order amending Order No. 27, as amended.

On the matter of diversion payments, or relocating differentials, it is concluded that such a provision, whether it be a provision for diversion payments as previously contained in the order and previously found not to effectuate the purposes of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, or for relocating differentials as proposed in this proceeding, or any other provision embodying the same principle and essential features, is not necessary and would not tend to effectuate the purposes of the act and, therefore, should not again be included in the order.

This report filed at Washington, D. C., this 18th day of August 1943.

ROY F. HENDRICKSON, Director of Food Distribution.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD.

WILLIAM PETERSEN

CONSENT ORDER

William Petersen is engaged in the plumbing and heating equipment business in Sidney, Montana. From September 19, 1942, to May 19, 1943, he sold and delivered to numerous customers new plumbing and heating equipment, not as emergency repairs, having an aggregate value of $1174.50, for which no preference ratings were applied or extended. From October 26, 1942 to February 9, 1943, he sold and delivered new plumbing and heating equipment, not as emergency repairs, having an aggregate value of $263.50, for the purchase of which the purchasers erroneously applied A-10 ratings under Preference Rating Order P-84. These acts constituted violations of Limitation Order L-79. From September 1, 1942, to May 20, 1943, he extended A-10 preference ratings with Preference Rating Order P-84 certifications to his supplier on numerous orders for the purchase of new plumbing and heating equipment which orders were not supported by his customers' ratings and were not for emergency repairs. These acts constituted misrepresentations by him to the War Production Board and violations of § 944.18 of Priorities Regulation No. 1. He was familiar with the orders and regulations above-mentioned, or, by reason of his business activities, and the receipt of frequent bulletins from his supplier, should have been familiar with them. William Petersen admits each of the above statements and consents that this suspension order shall be issued.

Wherefore, upon the agreement and consent of the Respondent, the Regional Compliance Chief and the Regional Attorney, and upon the approval of the Compliance Commission,

It is hereby ordered, That:

(a) William Petersen, his successors or assigns, shall not directly or indirectly, buy, order, receive, or accept delivery of any metal plumbing equipment or metal heating equipment, as the same are defined by General Limitation Order L-79 as amended, except as specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(b) Deliveries of material to William Petersen, his successors or assigns, shall not be accorded priority over deliveries under any other contract or order, and no preference rating shall be assigned, applied or extended to such deliveries by means of preference rating certificates, preference rating orders, general preference orders or any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(c) No allocation or allotment shall be made to William Petersen, his successors or assigns, of any material or product, the supply or distribution of which is governed by any Order of the War Production Board, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(d) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve William Petersen, his successors or assigns, from any prohibition, restriction, or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board except in so far as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(e) This order shall take effect on August 26, 1943, and shall expire on October 26, 1943, at which time the restrictions contained in this order shall be of no further effect.

Issued this 19th day of August 1943.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

VESSEL "RESOLUTE"

NOTICE OF DETERMINATION

Notice of determination of War Shipping Administrator with respect to the vessel Resolute pursuant to section 3 (b) of the Act approved March 24, 1943 (Public Law 17, 78th Congress, 1st session).

Notice is given that pursuant to section 3 (b) of Public Law 17, 78th Congress, the following determination has been made:

Whereas on October 17, 1942, title to the vessel Resolute (including all spare parts appertaining thereto, whether aboard or ashore) was requisitioned, pursuant to section 902 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended; and

Whereas section 3 (b) of the Act approved March 24, 1943 (Public Law 17—78th Congress, 1st Session), provides in part as follows:

(b) The Administrator, War Shipping Administration, may determine at any time prior to the payment in full or deposit in full with the Treasurer of the United States, or the payment or deposit of 75 per centum, of just compensation therefor, that the ownership of any vessel (the title to which has been requisitioned pursuant to section 902 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, or the Act of June 6, 1941 (Public Law 101, Seventy-Seventh Congress), is not required by the United States, and after such determination has been made and notice thereof has been published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the use rather than the title to such vessel shall be deemed to have been requisitioned for all purposes as of the date of the original taking: Provided, however, That no such determination shall be made with respect to any vessel after the expiration of a period of two months after the date of delivery of such vessel pursuant to title requisition except with the consent of the owner.

Whereas just compensation for the said vessel has not been paid or deposited with the Treasurer of the United States; and

Whereas, the ownership of the said vessels, their spare parts and appurtenances, is not required by the United States; and

Whereas by mutual agreement between the Administrator, War Shipping Administration, and Providence Steamboat Company, Providence Steamboat Company has consented to the determination by the Administrator that the use rather than the title of the said vessel, its spare parts and appurtenances, shall be deemed to have been requisitioned as of the date of the original taking thereof, namely, October 17, 1942;

Now, therefore, I, Emory S. Land, Administrator, War Shipping Administration, acting pursuant to the above quoted provision of law, do determine that the ownership of said vessel, its spare parts and appurtenances, is not required by the United States, and that the requisition on October 17, 1942, of the abovementioned vessel, its spare parts and appurtenances, shall, from and after the date of publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER, be deemed to have been, for all purposes, a requisition of the use rather than of the title of said vessel, its spare parts and appurtenances, as of the date of the original taking, namely, October 17, 1942.

Dated: August 18, 1943.

Administrator.

FORMAN FURNITURE CO.

Forman Furniture Company is a corporation engaged in the retail furniture business at 5217 Broadway Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio. Among other merchandise, it sells stoves, heaters and other domestic mechanical equipment. Between July 1, 1942, and December 29, 1942, Forman Furniture Company made numerous sales and deliveries of new metal heating equipment and new metal plumbing equipment to ultimate consumers in violation of Limitation Order L–79. In certain instances, the company, through its employees, attempted to cover up its failure to sell and deliver the plumbing and heating equipment in accord with the order by obtaining for its files L–79 certifications falsely purporting to be signed by the respective customers. Since the company's responsible officials knew of Limitation Order L–79, these actions must be deemed to constitute wilful violations of the order.

These violations of Limitation Order L–79 have diverted scarce materials to uses not authorized by the War Production Board and have hampered and impeded the war effort of the United States. In view of the foregoing facts, It is hereby ordered, That:

§ 1010.403 Suspension Order S–403. (a) Forman Furniture Company, its successors and assigns, shall not, directly or indirectly, buy, accept delivery of, receive, sell, deliver, or transfer any new metal cooking stoves, or new "metal heating equipment", as said term is defined in Limitation Order L–79, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(b) Nothing in this order shall be deemed to relieve Forman Furniture Company, its successors and assigns, from any restriction, prohibition, or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, except in so far as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(c) This order shall take effect on August 20, 1943, and shall expire on December 20, 1943.

Issued this 13th day of August 1943.

[General Limitation Order L–310]

KNITTED OUTERWEAR

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of yarns in worsted, woolen, cotton, rayon, and other materials for defense, for private account and export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense.

§ 3290.316 General Limitation Order L–310—(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Knitted outerwear" means the following machine knitted wearing apparel: sweaters, bathing trunks and suits, gloves, mittens, headwear and mufflers.

(2) "Producer" means a person engaged in the business of making yarn owned by him into knitted outerwear either on his machines or on machines operated for his account.

(3) "Style" means a distinctive model of a garment or combination of materials in a garment. A type of garment to which it has been customary to assign an individual identifying number during production shall be considered a separate style. Variations in color or size may be disregarded.

(4) All trade terms shall have their usual and customary meanings unless otherwise expressly defined.

(b) Restrictions on production. No producer shall put yarn owned by him into knitting, or cause yarn owned by him to be put into knitting, to make knitted outerwear contrary to the requirements of Schedules A, B, C, D, E, F and G of this order.

(c) Exceptions. (1) The restrictions of this order do not apply to manufacture of any knitted outerwear for the account of the Army, or Navy of the United States, the United States Maritime Commission, or the War Shipping Administration.

(2) The restrictions of this order do not apply to the use of any material which on August 20, 1943, was in the inventory of the producer or on order and which with his existing machines, or machines operated for his account, he cannot make into knitted outerwear in accordance with this order.

(d) Reports. Producers and all other persons who, after August 20, 1943, have put any yarn into knitting or caused any yarn to be put into knitting to make knitted outerwear, shall report for the calendar month of September, 1943, their yarn consumption, their machine activity and their garment production by filing form WPB–3156 with the War Production Board on or before the 10th day of October, 1943. Reports shall also be filed on or before the 10th day of November, 1943, and of each succeeding month for the preceding calendar month pursuant to the instructions as revised from time to time. This reporting requirement has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(e) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(f) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(g) Communications to War Production Board. Any reports required to be filed hereunder, and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Textile, Clothing and Leather Division, Washington 25, D. C., Reference: L–310.

(h) Equitable distribution. (This paragraph does not apply to sales by retailers, inasmuch as the Fair Distribution Policy for retailers is defined in Declaration of Policy of July 15, 1943.) Preference ratings are given to certain orders to further the war program. It is the policy of the War Production Board that knitted outerwear not required to fill rated orders shall be distributed equitably. In making such distribution due regard should be given to essential civilian needs, and there should be no discrimination in the acceptance or filling of orders as between persons who meet the seller's regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment.

Under this policy every seller of knitted outerwear, so far as practicable, should make available an equitable proportion of his merchandise to his customers periodically, without prejudice because of their size, location or relationship as affiliated outlets.

It is not the intention to interfere with established channels and methods of distribution unless necessary to meet war or essential civilian needs. If voluntary observance of the policy outlined is inadequate to achieve equitable distribution, the War Production Board may issue specific directions to named concerns. A failure to comply with a specific direction shall be deemed a violation.

(i) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact, or furnishes false information to any department, or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

Issued this 20th day of August 1943.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

Chapter XI—Office of Price Administration

[MPR 400,[1] Amdt. 1]

FINE PAPERS AND CERTAIN PAPERBOARDS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation 400 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1 is amended to read as follows:

SECTION 1. Prohibition against dealing in fine papers and certain paperboards at prices above the maximum prices—(a) Sales covered by the regulation. On and after July 5, 1943, in the area covered by this regulation, regardless of any contract, agreement, lease or other obligation, no merchant shall sell, deliver or transfer any of the fine papers or paperboards covered by this regulation, and no person shall buy or receive any such fine papers or paperboards from any merchant at prices higher than the maximum prices set forth in this regulation; and no person shall agree, offer, solicit, or attempt to do any of the foregoing. If the seller and buyer are not both located in the area covered by this regulation, then the location of the buyer and not that of the seller determines whether the transaction is subject to this regulation.

(b) Sales not covered by the regulation. (1) The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to sales or deliveries of fine papers or paperboards, if prior to July 5, 1943, they had been received by a carrier, other than a carrier owned or controlled by the seller, for shipment to the buyer.

(2) The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to sales or deliveries by a merchant of fine papers in cases where the manufacturer of the paper sells it through a merchant to a specific purchaser, or sells it to a merchant for resale to a specific purchaser if the following conditions are present:

(i) The manufacturer is directly involved in the determination of the final price to the purchaser, and

(ii) The merchant's sole compensation for the service rendered is in the form of a selling discount, commission or fee.

Such sales are considered sales by the manufacturer and are subject to the appropriate regulation governing manufacturers' sales. This exception, however, does not apply to sales of paperboard.

2. Section 17 (c) is amended to read as follows:

(c) Job lots and seconds. On a sale of job lots or second qualities the merchant shall specify on his invoice or on the wrapping of the paper that it consists of such quality.

This amendment shall become effective August 19, 1943.

PART 1432—RATIONING OF CONSUMERS' DURABLE GOODS

STOVES

The War Production Board has determined that the curtailment of the production of stoves as an aid to conservation of scarce materials and manpower also requires, in the interests of the war effort, broadening of the stove rationing program to effect a fair distribution of the limited supply available for civilian use. To accomplish the purpose, Ration Order No. 9, which has been in effect since December 19, 1942, is supplanted by a new Ration Order 9A, effective August 24, 1943.

Ration Order 9A expands the scope of the program heretofore in effect with respect to the area in which stoves are rationed, the types of stoves rationed, and the control of distribution at trade levels. Whereas under Ration Order No. 9 only new domestic heating stoves were rationed, and were rationed only in the states where fuel oil is rationed, the new order covers nearly all types of new domestic cooking stoves as well as of heating stoves, and applies to all forty-eight (48) states and the District of Columbia. And whereas under Ration Order No. 9 control over the distribution of stoves was confined to persons who sold to consumers, the present order extends distribution control to all levels, from manufacturers through distributors and dealers to consumers.

The eligibility standards which consumers had to meet to be entitled to a stove certificate under Ration Order No. 9 have been carried over, without substantial change, into the new order. However, the need for conserving certain types of fuels, such as oil or gas, in areas where those fuels are scarce as compared with other fuels, is reflected in certain additional restrictions upon eligibility, applicable in the areas where those fuels are relatively scarce. In addition, a system of quotas is instituted under the new program in order to balance supply and distribution. Equitable distribution of the available supply will also be promoted by adoption of the "flow-back" system through all levels of the trade, a control procedure which in other rationing programs has proved instrumental in directing supply to areas of demand and thereby preventing accumulation of stocks urgently needed by dealers and distributors in other localities.

The Army, Navy and other exempt agencies will continue to obtain their stoves under the priority order system of the War Production Board. Similarly, persons who need stoves for export and those who need them in projects authorized by that Board will continue to follow the procedure now used. Stoves obtained by these users will not be charged to civilian supply quotas.

§ 1432.68 Rationing of stoves. Under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by Executive Order No. 9125, issued by the President on April 7, 1942; and by Directive No. 1, and Supplementary Directive No. 1–S of the War Production Board, issued on January 24, 1942, and May 8, 1943, respectively, Ration Order 9A, which is annexed hereto and made a part hereof, is hereby issued.

AUTHORITY: § 1432.68 issued under Pub. Law 671, 76th Cong., as amended by Pub. Laws 89, 421, 507 and 729, 77th Cong.; E.O. 9125, 7 F.R. 2719; WPB Dir. 1, 7 F.R. 562, and Supp. Dir. 1–S, 8 F.R. 6018.

Article I—Introduction [1]

SECTION 1.1 Stoves covered by this order. (a) This order covers "new" heating, cooking, and combination heating and cooking "stoves" designed for use in the household, for installation on or above the floor, and for the use of coal, wood, oil, kerosene, gasoline or gas as a fuel. It also covers conversion burners used in converting heating or cooking stoves to the use of oil. The order does not cover any equipment which has been used more than 60 days, nor does it apply to electric, charcoal or alcohol stoves, gas hot plates, gas laundry stoves, furnaces, waterheaters, laundry stoves having built-in water jackets or coils, or wood-burning sheet metal stoves which are not equipped with grates or cast iron base or linings, or equipment designed for commercial, industrial, agricultural or institutional use.

SEC. 1.2 Stoves are classified according to type. (a) There are seven "types" of equipment covered by this order: heating stoves of three fuel types: (1) coal or wood heating stoves, (2) oil heating stoves (including those using kerosene or gasoline as a fuel), (3) gas heating stoves; cooking stoves of the same three fuel types: (4) coal or wood cooking stoves, (5) oil cooking stoves (including those using kerosene or gasoline as a fuel), (6) gas cooking stoves; and (7) conversion burners. Whenever the word "stove" is used in this order, without referring to any particular type, all seven types are being referred to.

SEC. 1.3 How stoves are rationed. (a) Stoves are rationed among eligible "consumers" through the issuance by "boards" of "certificates" on OPA Form R–901. (The eligibility requirements are given in sections 2.3 to 2.5, inclusive, and in section 2.8). A certificate may be used to buy or "acquire" only the type of stove shown on its face. "Persons" who sell stoves replenish their stocks with the types of stoves they have sold by presenting to the persons who supply them, certificates which they get from their customers.

(b) The total number of certificates which a board may issue to consumers is limited by quotas set for that board during periods fixed by the Office of Price Administration. The "Washington Office" may allocate or direct the allocation of quotas and reserve quotas for each type of stove covered by this order for such areas and such periods of time as it may determine, and it may at any time adjust, readjust or revoke such quotas and alter or otherwise change such areas or periods of time.

(c) This order is not intended to limit or restrict the quantity of stoves obtainable by the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, War Shipping Administration or Maritime Commission of the United States (called exempt agencies in this order); or by agencies of the United States or other persons to the extent to which they acquire stoves for export to and consumption or use in any foreign country or territory or possession of the United States (other than the District of Columbia); or, by agencies of the United States or other persons to the extent to which they acquire stoves for installation in a project when such installation has been specifically authorized by the War Production Board by the issuance of an order in the series designated P–19, P–55 or P–110 by that board. Transfers to or for exempt agencies or to or for persons acquiring stoves for export or for installation in a project authorized by the War Production Board, and the replenishment of stoves transferred to or for such persons by dealers and distributors, are made under applicable priority orders of other agencies of the United States.

Article II—Consumers

SEC. 2.1 Who is a consumer. (a) Any "person" who needs or has "acquired" a "new stove" for any use is a "consumer". However, an exempt agency or a person acquiring a stove for export or for installation in a project authorized by the War Production Board is not a consumer within the meaning of this order.

SEC. 2.2 Consumer may not order a stove without a certificate. (a) No consumer may buy or acquire a new stove unless he gives up to the seller or transferor a "certificate" for that "type" of stove at or before the time he orders it.

SEC. 2.3 Heating stoves—eligibility requirements—(a) Where the consumer has no equipment available. Any consumer who needs a stove to heat essential living or working space and who has no equipment for that purpose may be given a certificate for any of the following types of stoves:

(1) A coal or wood heating stove;

(2) An oil heating stove or a conversion burner (i) for use outside the "emergency oil shortage area", or (ii) for use inside that area if a coal or wood stove cannot be obtained or is not adequate for the purpose. (The emergency oil shortage area is that area described in Ration Order No. 11 as the limitation area, other than the States of Georgia, Oregon, Washington, and the parts of Florida and Idaho covered by that order); or,

(3) A gas heating stove if the War Production Board does not prohibit the delivery of a gas stove or gas for its operation.

(b) Where the consumer has equipment which is worn out or damaged. Any consumer who needs a stove to heat essential living or working space and who has available for that purpose only equipment which is worn out or damaged and cannot be repaired within a reasonable time or at a reasonable cost may be given a certificate for any of the following types of stoves for replacement of the worn out or damaged equipment:

(1) A coal or wood heating stove;

(2) An oil heating stove or a conversion burner (i) for use outside the emergency oil shortage area, or (ii) for use inside that area to replace oil heating equipment; or to replace heating equipment other than oil heating equipment if a coal or wood stove cannot be obtained or is not adequate for the purposes; or,

(3) A gas heating stove (i) to replace any heating equipment if the War Production Board does not prohibit the delivery of a gas stove or gas for its operation, or (ii) to replace a gas heating stove of the same or greater heating capacity if the War Production Board limits the delivery of gas or the replacement of gas heating stoves in that manner.

SEC. 2.4 Cooking stoves—eligibility requirements. (a) Any consumer who needs a stove for cooking and who has no equipment for that purpose, or who has only equipment which is worn out or damaged and cannot be repaired within a reasonable time or at a reasonable cost, may be given a certificate for any type of cooking stove. (Eligibility for a combination heating and cooking stove is covered in the next section.)

SEC. 2.5 Combination heating and cooking stoves—eligibility requirements.

[1] Words which are specially defined in this order are shown in quotation marks the first time they appear in each article. Definitions are given in section 13.1 (a) of this order.

(a) Any consumer who wishes to have a combination heating and cooking stove must show that he is eligible for both a cooking stove and a heating stove burning the kind of fuel used in the heating part of the combination stove.

SEC. 2.6 How application is made for certificate. (a) A consumer may apply for a certificate on OPA Form R–900. The application must be made by the consumer himself or by someone acting for him, and may be made in person or by mail. The application may be made only to the "board" serving the area where the stove is to be used. Separate applications must be made for each type of stove for which a certificate is sought.

SEC. 2.7 How boards issue certificates. (a) The board may issue a certificate to the applicant on OPA Form R–901 for the number of stoves to which he is entitled, if it finds

(1) That the applicant is eligible for the certificate applied for;

(2) That he has not without good cause in the sixty day period before the date of his application sold or otherwise transferred a stove which is adequate for the purpose for which the application is made;

(3) That the stove is required for use in the area served by the board; and,

(4) That the quota for that board will not be exceeded by the issuance of the certificate.

The board must issue a separate certificate for each type of stove, and must indicate on the face of each certificate at the time it is issued, in addition to the other information required by the form, the type of stove which may be acquired. However, no board may issue a certificate for a gas heating or cooking stove if it has reason to believe that gas service will not be available for its operation.

SEC. 2.8 Any consumer may acquire stoves for experimental or technological purposes. (a) Any consumer who needs a stove for experimental or scientific purposes or for use in connection with a technological process may apply for a certificate on OPA Form R–900. The application may be made by mail or in person and must be made in writing to the board serving the area where the stove is to be used, showing:

(1) The name and address of the applicant;

(2) The type of stove needed; and,

(3) The reason it is needed.

(b) If the board finds that the stove for which the application is made is needed for experimental or scientific purposes or for use in connection with a technological process, it may issue a certificate on OPA Form R–901 to the applicant for the type of stove applied for, if the quota for that type will not be exceeded by the issuance of the certificate.

Article III—Dealers and Distributors

SEC. 3.1 Explanation of the terms dealer establishment, distributor establishment, dealer, and distributor. (a) Any place where a "person" regularly buys and sells "stoves covered by this order" is a "dealer establishment" if the sales or other "transfers" from there are made primarily to "consumers". Such a place is a "distributor establishment" if the sales or other transfers from there are made primarily to persons other than consumers or primarily to supply one's own establishments. However, if a place is used by a person to keep stoves just to supply his own establishments, that place is a distributor establishment only if it supplies:

(1) At least two of his distributor establishments, or

(2) At least three of his dealer establishments.

(b) Any person who has a dealer establishment is called a "dealer" and any person who has a distributor establishment is called a "distributor."

SEC. 3.2 Dealers and distributors must register—(a) General. Every dealer and every distributor must register with the "board" serving the area where the establishment is located by filing three (3) copies of OPA Form R–902 at any time between September 1, 1943 and September 3, 1943, inclusive. Each copy must be completed and signed by the person registering or his authorized agent.

(b) Dealers and distributors must give information called for. The dealer or distributor must give all information called for by OPA Form R–902.

(c) Each establishment must be registered separately. If a dealer or distributor has more than one establishment he must file separate registration forms for each.

(d) Filing by mail. Where a registration form is filed by mail, it is considered filed on time if the envelope in which it is enclosed is postmarked on or before September 3, 1943.

(e) Dealers and distributors who do not register on time. A dealer or distributor who has failed to register within the time fixed by this section may apply to his board for permission to file his registration form, explaining in writing the reasons why he did not register on time. The board shall send the written explanation to the "district office", and may attach its recommendation. If the district office is satisfied that the failure to register on time was for good cause, it may grant permission to the applicant to file his registration form, and may impose any conditions it finds proper.

SEC. 3.3 A dealer or distributor may not acquire stoves if he does not register. (a) No dealer or distributor may "acquire" any stove after September 3, 1943, unless he has registered in the manner required by this order.

SEC. 3.4 Office of Price Administration to return original registration. (a) After a dealer or distributor has registered, his original registration form as approved by the board will be mailed to him.

SEC. 3.5 Dealers and distributors must report their inventories. (a) As a part of his registration on OPA Form R–902, a dealer or distributor must report, by number and "types", the actual and certificate inventory of stoves covered by this order at the close of business on August 31, 1943 (or at the time of registration, if application for registration is made after September 3, 1943). The total of those two figures for each type of stove is called his "registered inventory" for that type of stove.

(1) In computing registered inventory, cooking stoves using coal and oil are treated as oil cooking stoves, and those using coal and gas, or oil and gas, are treated as gas cooking stoves; combination heating and cooking stoves using coal and oil are treated as oil cooking stoves; combination heating and cooking stoves using coal and gas, or oil and gas, are treated as gas cooking stoves; and combination heating and cooking stoves using one type of fuel are treated as cooking stoves using that type of fuel. Conversion burners need not be included in registered inventory.

(b) A dealer's or distributor's actual inventory consists of all stoves, by type, covered by this order (including stoves on consignment) that are physically located at his establishment or which he holds at another place for his establishment, or in transit to either of these places. However, the following items are not part of his inventory:

(1) Stoves at his establishment kept for a person other than a customer or transferee, or obtained on the basis of a priority order of an agency of the United States and held for delivery to the person covered by that order, or held there as security for a loan to someone else (or a similar transaction), or in transit to it for any of those purposes; or,

(2) Stoves included in the inventory of one of his other establishments. If he has stoves at or in transit to any place other than an establishment as defined in this order, he must include them in the inventory of one or more of his establishments (but may divide them among such establishments as he chooses), and must report the place where they are kept.

(c) A dealer's or distributor's certificate inventory consists of the number of stoves of each type which he has transferred and which are represented by "certificates" received by him before September 1, 1943. He must also include in his certificate inventory stoves which he transferred before September 1, 1943, to a person covered by a priority order of an agency of the United States and which he is entitled to replenish under that order.

SEC. 3.6 Dealers and distributors must report their sales. (a) A dealer or distributor, also as a part of his registration on OPA Form R–902, must report the number of stoves of each type sold by the business in either 1941 or 1942, whichever is larger.

(1) In computing his report of sales, cooking stoves using coal and oil are treated as oil cooking stoves, and those using coal and gas, or oil and gas, are treated as gas cooking stoves; combination heating and cooking stoves using coal and oil are treated as oil cooking stoves; combination heating and cooking stoves using coal and gas, or oil and gas, are treated as gas cooking stoves; and combination heating and cooking stoves using but one type of fuel are treated as cooking stoves using that type of fuel.

(2) However, he may not include in the report any sales of conversion burners, or exchanges of stoves, or transfers from one to another of his establishments.

SEC. 3.7 A dealer or distributor establishment is given an allowable inventory—(a) General. Every dealer or distributor is entitled to an operating inventory, called an "allowable inventory", for each establishment if stocks of stoves were kept at the establishment (or its predecessor) during either 1941 or 1942. The allowable inventory will cover each type of stove transferred in either year. If a business was started on or after January 1, 1943 (but before July 1, 1943) and stocks of stoves were kept, the establishment is entitled to an allowable inventory covering each type of stove which was transferred. The allowable inventory is based upon the sales of stoves, by type, covered by this order and is stated in terms of the number of stoves, by type. If a dealer or distributor is not entitled to any allowable inventory for a particular type or types of stove, he may apply for relief under section 3.8.

(b) Amount of allowable inventory. The board shall fix as the allowable inventory of an establishment which was in business during 1941 and 1942, or all of 1942, the allowable inventory figure shown in Table I in the supplement to this order, by applying the amount of sales of stoves, by type, shown on the registration form, to that table. The allowable inventory of an establishment opened during 1942 or the first six months of 1943 will be determined by the district office; in such case the board may, when it sends a copy of the applicant's registration form to the district office, attach its recommendation for the amount of the allowable inventory that should be authorized. The allowable inventory of an establishment opened after June 30, 1943, is covered by section 9.3.

(1) Exchanges of stoves and transfers from one establishment to another establishment of the same person must not be included in the computation.

(c) If allowable inventory exceeds registered inventory, board issues certificates for difference. If a dealer's or distributor's registered inventory of any type of stove is less than his allowable inventory for that type, he is entitled to receive a certificate on OPA Form R–901 for the number of stoves of that type needed to make up the difference between his registered inventory and his allowable inventory for that type of stove. The certificate will be issued by the board with which he is registered.

(d) If registered inventory exceeds allowable inventory, difference is owed by dealer or distributor. If a dealer's or distributor's registered inventory of any type of stove is greater than his allowable inventory for that type, the difference is excess inventory. Except for good cause, he must give up to the board certificates equal to his excess inventory and may not, until he has done so, use any certificate to acquire that type of stove. However, upon certification by the War Production Board, the board shall increase the allowable inventory of a distributor who sells to persons covered by priority orders of an agency of the United States, in the amount of the excess of his registered inventory over his allowable inventory as computed under this section, or in the amount of any part of such excess specified by the War Production Board in its certification.

(e) What a dealer or distributor must do if his allowable inventory is changed. Whenever the Office of Price Administration in the supplement to this order decreases a dealer's or distributor's allowable inventory for any type of stove, the dealer or distributor must bring or mail his registration form for correction to the board with which he is registered. The amount of the decrease in his inventory is then treated as excess inventory and he must give up certificates to the board as required by paragraph (d) of this section. If his allowable inventory is increased, he may bring his registration form to his board for correction and receive inventory certificates for the difference, as explained in paragraph (c) of this section.

SEC. 3.8 Application may be made for adjustments. (a) Any dealer or distributor who needs an adjustment in his allowble inventory or any other relief, may apply to the board with which he is registered. The application must be in writing and he must state all facts which he claims show his need for the adjustment, and the nature and amount of the adjustment he requests. He must also give any other information that the board requests.

(b) A board may not act upon an application under this section. It must send the application, together with all other information received, to the district office. It may attach its recommendation for the action that should be taken. The district office shall send the file to the "Washington Office" for decision, or take such other action as the Washington Office may authorize or direct.

SEC. 3.9 Dealers and distributors may get certificates to replace destroyed, lost or stolen stoves. (a) Any dealer or distributor who had stoves covered by this order which, after August 31, 1943, were destroyed, lost, stolen or taken by operation of law, may apply for certificates to replace them. The application must be made to the board with which his establishment is registered. The application must be in writing and must show:

(1) The applicant's name and address;

(2) A list of the stoves, by type, which he wishes to replace; and,

(3) The manner in which the loss was caused.

He must also give any other information the board may request.

(b) If the board is satisfied that the stoves were destroyed, lost, stolen, or taken by operation of law after August 31, 1943, it shall issue a certificate to him for the number of stoves of each type to be replaced in his establishment. However, a board may not issue any certificate for replacement of stoves if the dealer or distributor does not continue the establishment.

(c) If the applicant gets back any of the stoves covered by the application, he must give back to the board for cancellation either the certificates he received from the board or certificates received from consumers, for the number and type of stoves he recovered.

SEC. 3.10 Distributors and dealers must keep records. (a) Every dealer and distributor must keep at his principal place of business a copy of his registration on OPA Form R–902 and of any work sheets used by him in taking inventory for registration.

(b) In addition he must keep a record of his acquisitions and transfers of stoves, by type, whether or not he was required to surrender or obtain certificates for them, including invoices received from persons from whom he acquired stoves and duplicates of sales slips showing transfers made by him, and he must also keep a record of all orders for stoves which he places with manufacturers, dealers or distributors.

Article IV—Manufacturers

SEC. 4.1 Explanation of the terms manufacturing establishment and manufacturer. (a) Any place where a "person" makes or assembles any "stoves covered by this order" for sale or "transfer" is a "manufacturing establishment". Any person who has a manufacturing establishment is called a "manufacturer".

SEC. 4.2 Manufacturers must file reports—(a) General. Every manufacturer must file a separate monthly report for each of his manufacturing establishments, on a form to be designated jointly by the Office of Price Administration and the War Production Board. The form must be filled out and submitted in the manner designated on it.

SEC. 4.3 Manufacturer must send in certificates with his monthly report. (a) A manufacturer is required to send with his monthly report certificates equal in number and types to those he received for stoves he transferred for certificates during the month covered by the report. However, he may use certificates received in any month to get back stoves that he transferred if they are returned to him, or to acquire stoves from another person who holds them for transfer.

A manufacturer should not give up at the time he files his report, certificates he received for which he made no transfers.

SEC. 4.4 Manufacturers must keep records. (a) Every manufacturer must keep a record, by types of stoves, showing production, acquisition, and sales. He must also keep a record of acquisitions and transfers for which he was not required to surrender or obtain certificates.

Article V—Issuance and Use of Certificates

SEC. 5.1 How certificates are issued—(a) By whom issued. "Certificates" are issued on OPA Form R–901 by the "Washington Office", a "district office", a "board", or any other "person" authorized by the Office of Price Administration to issue them. Certificates may be issued only to the persons and for the purposes permitted by this order.

(b) Number and type of stoves must be designated on certificate. The certificate must show on its face the number of "stoves" and "type" which may be "acquired" with it, the name of the person for whom it is issued, and must be signed by the appropriate official of the Office of Price Administration. (Where a certificate is issued for a combination stove, it must so state.) In addition, if the certificate is issued to a "consumer", it must show the place where the stove is to be used and, if for a gas heating stove, the heating capacity of the stove.

(c) A certificate which is not filled out in the way required by this section is not good for the acquisition of any stove covered by this order and may not be used or accepted for that purpose.

SEC. 5.2 Certificates are the property of the Office of Price Administration and may be revoked. (a) All certificates are the property of the Office of Price Administration, whether or not they have been issued.

(b) The Office of Price Administration may suspend, cancel, or revoke any certificate issued if it finds it in the public interest to do so.

SEC. 5.3 Endorsement of certificates. (a) A certificate cannot be used until it is signed on the back by the person in whose name it is issued, or by a person authorized to sign for him.

(b) Any "dealer", "distributor", or "manufacturer" must sign his name on the back of a certificate before it can be used by him to acquire stoves.

SEC. 5.4 Combining and splitting up certificates. (a) A board may issue one certificate for two or more certificates, or it may issue two or more certificates for a certificate. The certificates issued must be for the same number and type of stoves designated on the certificates surrendered to the board for exchange. The board shall issue the new certificate in the manner required by section 5.1, and it shall retain in its files the certificates surrendered.

SEC. 5.5 How to replace lost, stolen, destroyed, damaged or multilated certificates. (a) Any person who has lost a certificate, or whose certificate was stolen or destroyed, or who has a certificate that is damaged or multilated so that it is unfit for use, may apply to the board serving the area where his establishment is located (or, if he has no establishment, where he lives) for its replacement. The application must be in writing and must state:

(1) The applicant's name and address;

(2) A description (to the extent possible) of each certificate sought to be replaced, showing the date of its issuance, the person by whom it was issued, the number and type of stoves designated on its face, and the name of the person to whom it was issued and the place where the stove was to be used;

(3) How the certificate was lost, stolen, destroyed, damaged, or multilated; and,

(4) The efforts made to find or recover the certificate sought to be replaced, if it has been lost or stolen.

In case of an application for replacement of a damaged or multilated certificate, the certificate sought to be replaced must be submitted at the time the application is made.

(b) The board, if it finds that the certificate for which replacement is sought, has been lost, stolen or destroyed, or that it is damaged or multilated so that it is unfit for use, may, in its discretion, issue a certificate on OPA Form R–901 to the applicant for the same number and type of stoves.

(c) Whenever a lost, stolen or destroyed certificate which has been replaced under this section is found or recovered, it must be immediately submitted to a board, and it may not be used for any purpose.

SEC. 5.6 Names of persons who have been granted certificates may be posted. (a) A board may post at its office the name and address of any consumer to whom it has issued a certificate under this order.

Article VI—Sales and Transfers of Stoves

SEC. 6.1 Only dealers, distributors and manufacturers may transfer stoves. (a) Except in certain special cases provided in this order, only "dealers", "distributors", and "manufacturers" may sell or otherwise "transfer" "stoves covered by this order".[2]

SEC. 6.2 Stoves may be transferred only for certificates. (a) Stoves covered by this order may be transferred and "acquired" only if the transferee gives up to the seller or transferor "certificates" for the number and "type" of stoves transferred. The certificates must be surrendered at the time stated in the next section. They must be endorsed on the back by the "person" to whom issued and by each person who later uses them to acquire stoves, or by someone authorized to sign for him. (A combination stove may be transferred and acquired if the certificate surrendered is for a combination stove.)

(1) In any case in which the War Production Board limits the installation of a gas heating stove to replace another gas heating stove, only a gas stove having a heating capacity equal to or less than the heating capacity stated on the certificate may be transferred to a "consumer".

SEC. 6.3 When certificates must be surrendered—(a) Consumer contracts; trade contracts made on or after September 1, 1943. Beginning August 24, 1943, a consumer, and beginning September 1, 1943, a dealer, distributor, or manufacturer, must give up a certificate to the transferor of a stove at the time the offer is made or the order is placed for that stove, and the transferor may not accept the offer or order unless it is accompanied by a certificate. The setting aside or ear-marking of a stove, directly or indirectly, is an acceptance of an offer or order within the meaning of this paragraph.

NOTE: A consumer may sell or transfer a stove to another consumer, in which case he must turn over the certificate he obtains to the issuing "board" within ten (10) days after the transfer has been made.

[2] For convenience, the dealer, distributor, or manufacturer who makes the transfer is sometimes called "the transferor", and the person who acquires the stove is sometimes referred to as "the transferee".

(b) Trade contracts made before September 1, 1943. (1) Beginning September 16, 1943, no dealer, distributor, or manufacturer may acquire a stove covered by this order, and no person may transfer a stove to him, under a contract, agreement or other arrangement entered into between them before September 1, 1943, unless a certificate was given up by the transferee to the transferor before September 16, 1943.

(2) If a dealer acquires a stove before September 16, 1943, under a contract, agreement or other arrangement entered into before September 1, 1943, he need not give up, and the transferor need not obtain, the certificate for that stove until September 30, 1943. If a distributor or manufacturer acquires a stove before September 16, 1943, under a contract, agreement or other arrangement entered into before September 1, 1943, he need not give up and the transferor need not obtain, the certificate for that stove until October 7, 1943.

(c) Transfers between establishments. If a stove is transferred between establishments operated by the same person, the certificate must be surrendered at or before the time the transfer is made.

SEC. 6.4 Dealers, distributors and manufacturers must acknowledge orders; if unable to deliver must return certificates. (a) Beginning September 1, 1943, every offer made or order given by a dealer, distributor, or manufacturer to buy or otherwise acquire stoves covered by this order must be acknowledged in writing by the person to whom it is made within three days of the date it is received. The acknowledgment must also state the date delivery is expected to be made.

(b) If the offer or order to acquire stoves contains a requested delivery date which the transferor cannot meet, he must return the certificates, or, when requested, send them to any person designated by the person making the offer. If no delivery date is specified the transferor may hold the certificate for a reasonable time and, if the order is not filled, must then send the certificate back unless otherwise directed by the person making the offer.

SEC. 6.5 Dealers, distributors and manufacturers may not discriminate in sale of stoves. (a) No dealer, distributor, or manufacturer may discriminate in the transfer of stoves covered by this order among consumers, dealers, or distributors entitled to acquire stoves in exchange for certificates.

SEC. 6.6 Transfers to or for exempt agency, export or project authorized by government agency are not restricted. (a) Nothing in this article is intended to limit or restrict transfers to or for exempt agencies or to or for persons acquiring stoves for export or for installation in a project authorized by the War Production Board, or the replenishment of stoves transferred to or for such persons by dealers or distributors.

Article VII—Permitted Transfers Without Certificates

SEC. 7.1 Stoves in transit to dealers, distributors and manufacturers on August 31, 1943, or to consumers on August 23, 1943. (a) No "certificate" need be surrendered for a delivery of a "stove covered by this order" to, or an "acquisition" of a stove by, a "dealer", "distributor", or "manufacturer" if that stove was in transit to him on August 31, 1943. No certificate need be surrendered for a delivery of a stove to, or an acquisition of a stove by, a "consumer" if that stove was in transit to him on August 23, 1943.

SEC. 7.2 Stoves may be moved to establishment in whose inventory they are included. (a) No certificate need be surrendered for a "transfer" of stoves to the establishment in the inventory of which they were included immediately before the transfer.

SEC. 7.3 Stoves may be stored and returned. (a) No certificate need be surrendered for a transfer of stoves for storage purposes only, or for the transfer of such stoves back to the "person" who stored them.

SEC. 7.4 Stolen or lost stoves may be returned. (a) No certificate need be surrendered for a return of stolen or lost stoves to the person from whom they were stolen or who lost them.

SEC. 7.5 Stoves may be exchanged for other stoves. (a) Any person may exchange a stove for another stove of the same "type" with any person, without surrendering a certificate. (This rule applies, of course, only to exchanges of "new" stoves; it applies even if there is a money payment to make up any difference in the money value of the stoves exchanged.) Although a consumer may exchange a gas heating stove for any other gas heating stove, he may not exchange it for one of greater heating capacity than that for which he is eligible in any case where the use of such stove (or the delivery of gas for it) is limited by the War Production Board.

SEC. 7.6 Security interests in stoves may be created and released. (a) No certificate need be surrendered for a transfer of stoves, or of any interest in them, for security purposes only. (For example, if stoves are pledged or mortgaged, the person with whom they are pledged or mortgaged need not give up certificates.)

(b) No certificate need be surrendered for a release of a security interest in those stoves, or for a return of those stoves to the person who originally transferred them for security purposes. (For example, a person who pledged stoves may get them back without giving up certificates.)

SEC. 7.7 Stoves may be transferred for liquidation, by operation of law, or in judicial proceedings—(a) General. No certificate need be surrendered by a person who acquires stoves for liquidation only. Also, no certificate need be surrendered for a transfer of such stoves by operation of law. (For example, stoves may be taken over by a creditor, receiver or trustee, under a court order without giving up certificates. If such stoves are assigned for the benefit of creditors, the person to whom they are assigned need not give up certificates to the person making the assignment. Also, a person need not give up certificates when he inherits stoves or acquires them by will.)

(b) How transferee may dispose of stoves. A person who acquires stoves in the way described in the last paragraph, must, within five (5) days after acquiring them, report to the "district office" serving the place where his principal business office is located (or to the district office serving the area where he lives, if he has no business office):

(1) The quantity of each type of stove acquired;

(2) The name and address of the person from whom they were acquired; and,

(3) The way in which and the date when they were acquired.

He may not use any of the stoves which he acquires unless he surrenders to the district office certificates for the types of stoves to be used. He may, however, sell or transfer them in the same way that a dealer or distributor is permitted to sell or transfer stoves, in which case he must within thirty (30) days surrender to the district office the certificates obtained for the stoves sold or transferred. However, if a person acquires stoves in connection with the acquisition by operation of law of a going business which is to be continued, the provisions of section 9.5 shall apply instead of the provisions of this paragraph.

(c) Consumer inheritance. A consumer who acquires a stove covered by this order from another consumer by inheritance or will, may use it without surrendering a certificate.

SEC. 7.8 Stoves may be acquired by insurers or for salvage—(a) Acquisition of damaged stoves. Stoves which have been damaged may be transferred to, and acquired by, the following persons, without the surrender of certificates:

(1) A person who has paid or is liable for a claim for the damage done to the stoves, and who is entitled to reimburse himself by taking them over; or,

(2) A person principally engaged in the business of adjusting losses or of reconditioning or selling damaged articles.

(b) Disposal of the stoves. The person acquiring the stoves must, within five (5) days after acquiring them, report to the district office serving the area where his principal business office is located (or to the district office serving the area where he lives, if he has no business office):

(1) The quantity of each type of stove acquired;

(2) The name and address of the person from whom they were acquired; and,

(3) The way in which and the date when they were acquired.

If he cannot ascertain the quantity and types of stoves within that period he must describe the approximate number of stoves, by types, and must give detailed information as soon as he can. He may dispose of the stoves which are capable of use as stoves after being repaired only by a sale or a transfer in the same way that a dealer or distributor is permitted to sell or transfer stoves, in which case he must within thirty (30) days surrender to the district office the certificates obtained for the stoves sold or transferred. If he cannot dispose of them all, he must report to the district office the quantity (by type) not salable.

SEC. 7.9 Transfer of damaged stoves without certificates. (a) Any person who has stoves which are damaged and cannot be sold in exchange for certificates may apply to the board serving the area where his establishment is located (or, if he has no establishment, where his principal business office is located) for permission to dispose of such stoves without obtaining certificates. The application must be in writing and must state:

(1) The applicant's name and address;

(2) The number and type of stoves damaged;

(3) The reason the stoves are in damaged condition, and the nature of the damage; and,

(4) The reasons why the stoves cannot be sold in exchange for certificates.

(b) If the board finds that the stoves have been damaged by accidental means and cannot be sold in exchange for certificates it may grant permission, in writing, to the applicant to dispose of the stoves described in the application without the obtaining of certificates. The board shall send to the district office for its files, a copy of the written permission granted.

SEC. 7.10 Stoves may be transferred in connection with transfer of a business. (a) No certificates need be surrendered for a sale or transfer of stoves which are in the inventory of an establishment, as part of a sale or other transfer of the establishment itself for continued operation. A person who buys or acquires such stoves may not use them, but may hold them only for transfer. (The procedure which must be followed, when an establishment is transferred for continued operation, is covered in Article IX.)

(b) No certificate need be surrendered for the transfer of a stove in connection with a transfer of premises on which the stove is located.

Article VIII—Records, Reports and Inspections

SEC. 8.1 Records must be kept for two years. (a) Every "person" must hold, for at least two years, all records which this order requires him to keep.

SEC. 8.2 Records may be inspected by Office of Price Administration. (a) All records kept under this order may be inspected by the Office of Price Administration, through any authorized representative. The inspection may be made at a person's place of business during regular business hours. In the case of records kept on forms prepared by the Office of Price Administration, the inspection of those records may be made at any time or place fixed by the Office of Price Administration. Every person required to keep records under this order must keep them available for such inspection.

SEC. 8.3 Places where stoves are kept may be inspected. (a) The Office of Price Administration, through any authorized representative, may at any reasonable time inspect any place where a "dealer", "distributor", or "manufacturer" makes or keeps "stoves covered by this order".

SEC. 8.4 Records and reports are confidential. (a) Information and documents obtained from any person under this order will not be disclosed, whether in response to a subpoena or in any other way, except to that person, unless the Administrator (or a representative of the Office of Price Administration designated by him) finds that the requested disclosure is not contrary to law and consents to it.

SEC. 8.5 Office of Price Administration may require applicants to give information. (a) The "Washington Office", a "board", a "district office" or a regional administrator may require any person who files an application or an appeal under this order to appear in person, to bring witnesses and to supply any information needed for deciding his case.

Article IX—Sale of Business and Opening or Closing of Business

SEC. 9.1 Transfer of a continuing business. (a) When any "person" sells or "transfers" to any other person his "dealer establishment" or "distributor establishment" for continued operation by the person who "acquires" it, the person transferring the business shall give to the person acquiring it his registration form and all "certificates" that he has at the time the business is sold. (The certificates must be signed by the person transferring the business.)

(b) Within five (5) days after the transfer, the person acquiring the business must file an application on OPA Form R–902 for registration as a "dealer" or "distributor". At the time of the filing, he must, if his "registered inventory" equals the "allowable inventory" for each type of stove of the business being acquired, endorse the registration form of the person transferring the business and surrender it to the board. However, if the registered inventory does not equal the allowable inventory for each type of stove, the person acquiring the business should not endorse the registration form, but should report the discrepancy to the board in writing. (Section 3.5 explains how registered inventory is figured.)

SEC. 9.2 Movement of an establishment from one place to another place by the same person. (a) A person who wishes to move his dealer or distributor establishment to another place must treat his moving as the closing of an establishment and the opening of a new establishment unless he applies for and is granted permission to continue his operations at the new place. The application must be made to the board with which his establishment is registered and must, in addition to showing the new address, state, in writing, whether:

(1) The business, including the inventory of stoves, will be moved to the new place;

(2) He will continue to serve, from the new place, the same general class of customers and the same area served by the establishment at its present place; and,

(3) The business will continue to be operated in substantially the same manner as it is operated at the present place.

(b) The application will be sent by the board to the "district office", together with any recommendation the board may wish to make. If the district office is satisfied that the conditions described in paragraph (a) will be met, it shall grant permission to the applicant to continue operations at the new place of business.

SEC. 9.3 New business. (a) A person who opens a dealer or distributor establishment after July 1, 1943, must file an application on OPA Form R–902 for registration as a dealer or distributor with the board serving the area where the establishment is or will be located, in the same way that dealers and distributors register under Article III. He must give all information called for by the form. In addition, the applicant must show, in writing:

(1) The proposed name and address of the establishment; and,

(2) The type and size of business he expects to have.

(b) The board must send a copy of the application, together with the applicant's statement and any other information it has received, to the district office. It may attach its recommendation as to the action that should be taken upon the application and the amount, if any, of allowable inventory that should be authorized. The district office shall send the file to the "Washington Office" which will refer it to the War Production Board. If the War Production Board approves the application, the Washington Office (or the district office, if the Washington Office so directs) will determine the allowable inventory. The original registration form as approved by the board will then be mailed to the applicant.

SEC. 9.4 Closing of business. (a) Any dealer or distributor who closes an establishment must notify the board with which the establishment is registered. The notice must be in writing and must be given to the board within five (5) days after the business is closed. It must show:

(1) The name and address of the establishment; and,

(2) The number of stoves, by type, represented by certificates he had at that time.

(b) At the time the notice is given he must deliver to the board his registration form and account to it for the number of stoves of each type which his allowable inventory permits him to have. If he has any certificates he must turn them over to the board; if he has stoves of any type covered by this order which have not been disposed of at the time he files his notice, he must account for them by turning over to the board certificates which he obtains when they are transferred.

SEC. 9.5 Acquisition of a business by will or by operation of law. (a) Any person who acquires a dealer or distributor establishment by operation of law must within twenty (20) days of itss acquisition register the establishment. Registration shall be made in the manner required by Article III, except that only the actual inventory shall be taken as of the date of registration (since certificates are not transferred by operation of law). Accordingly, the board shall issue certificates to him in the amount, if any, by which the allowable inventory of his predecessor for any type of stove exceeds the actual inventory for that type.

(b) A dealer or distributor (or his representative) whose establishment is transferred by operation of law, must turn over to the board with which the establishment is registered the registration form and certificates received for stoves which have been transferred. He must also account to the board for certificates which he has accepted for stoves not yet transferred.

Article X—Miscellaneous Rules and Prohibitions

SEC. 10.1 Additional prohibitions. (a) No "person" may use a "certificate" unless he has received it in a way permitted by this order.

(b) No person may "transfer", "acquire", use or possess "stoves covered by this order", except in a way permitted by this order or by an applicable order of an agency of the United States.

(c) No person may give or otherwise transfer, or obtain or otherwise acquire, or use a certificate except in a way permitted by this order.

(d) No person may transfer any stove for a certificate, if he knows or has reason to believe that it is not valid or that the person tendering it is not entitled to use it.

(e) No person may have a certificate in his possession except the person (or agent of the person) who issues it, or to whom it was issued, or by whom it was acquired in a way permitted by this order.

(f) No person may counterfeit, forge, deface, or mutilate any certificate. A counterfeited, forged, defaced or mutilated certificate is not valid for transfer, and no person may acquire, possess or use such certificate.

(g) No person may alter or destroy any certificate, nor use any altered certificate, except where permitted by this or any other order of the Office of Price Administration.

(h) No person may transfer a stove in violation of any applicable order of an agency of the United States.

(i) No person may offer, solicit, attempt or agree to do, or assist in doing, any act in violation of this order.

(j) Paragraphs (b), (c), (e), (f), (g), and (h) of this section do not apply to public officials who do any of those acts in the performance of public duties, or to persons complying with orders or directions of such officials.

(k) No person may in any registration, report, application, or other statement or record made pursuant to or required by this order, make any untrue statement of fact, or omit to state any fact which is required to be stated or which is necessary to make a statement not misleading.

(l) No person may, after demand, withhold a certificate from a person who is entitled to have it.

SEC. 10.2 Certificates may not be taken by legal process or acquired by will. (a) No certificate, or any interest in it, may be taken or seized by judicial process or any court order. However, a person who is entitled to possession of a certificate may bring a legal proceeding to recover it from any person who is wrongfully in possession of it. He may, as part of that proceeding, take or seize it by judicial process or court order.

(b) No certificate, or interest in it, may be transferred or acquired by operation of law.

SEC. 10.3 Office of Price Administration must be notified of legal proceedings. (a) Any person who has a certificate must notify the "district office" of the Office of Price Administration immediately after the beginning of legal proceeding involving that certificate.

Article XI—Suspension Orders

Delivery to a carrier for shipment or by a carrier in the course of or in completion of shipment is not regarded as a transfer to or by the carrier. However, if a stove was delivered to a consumer before August 24, 1943, or to any other person before September 1, 1943, the transfer to such person of title to the stove after that date is not regarded as a transfer within the meaning of this order.

Article I—Scope of Regulation and Prohibition

SECTION 1. To what transactions, persons, commodities, and geographical area this regulation applies—(a) Transactions. This regulation covers all sales by manufacturers of new and rebuilt automotive parts.

(b) Persons. This regulation applies to all persons who are manufacturers of and also sell the automotive parts subject to this regulation, and to all persons who purchase such parts from manufacturers in the course of trade or business.

(1) Manufacturer. "Manufacturer" as used in this regulation means a regular producer of new automotive parts (as defined in Section 21), a rebuilder of used automotive parts, or any person who sells parts under his own trade name.

(c) Commodities. This regulation covers all new and rebuilt automotive parts.

(1) Automotive parts. "Automotive parts" (called parts in this regulation) for the purpose of this regulation mean all engine parts, body parts, chassis parts, motors, electrical equipment and wheels, and all other component parts and subassemblies, of automobiles, trucks, busses, trailers, semi-trailers, and motorcycles and also include all accessories and optional, extra and special equipment designed for use on, or with, motor vehicles, and unfinished parts and accessories and components thereof, when in such form as to permit their use only as automotive parts, but do not mean any service or maintenance accessories such as anti-freeze, body polish, tools, etc., or tires, tubes, storage batteries, glass, or any parts, subassemblies or accessories specially designed for use in vehicles built primarily for military purposes, although parts, subassemblies or accessories originally designed for use in private or commercial motor vehicles but which are used both in military and private or commercial motor vehicles are considered as automotive parts. Illustrative lists of parts covered by this regulation and parts not covered by this regulation are attached as Appendices A and B.

(d) Geographical area. This regulation applies to the 48 states of the United States and the District of Columbia, but not to the territories and possessions of the United States.

SEC. 2. Relation of this regulation to other regulations—(a) In general. The transactions, persons, and commodities subject to this Maximum Price Regulation No. 452, on and after its effective date, shall not be subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation or Maximum Price Regulation No. 136, as amended, or any other regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration insofar as this Maximum Price Regulation No. 452 affects such transactions, persons, or commodities except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c).

(b) Sales for export. The maximum price for sales for export of parts shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Export Price Regulation.[3]

(c) Imports. The provisions of this regulation do not apply to the sale, purchase or delivery of a part which is not manufactured in, but is imported into, the continental United States or the District of Columbia. Such a sale, purchase, or delivery is governed by the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation and especially Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 12.

(a) No manufacturer shall sell or deliver a part at a price higher than the maximum price permitted by this regulation;

(b) No person in the course of trade or business shall buy or receive a part from a manufacturer at a price higher than the maximum price permitted by this regulation, but if he, the purchaser, has received from the manufacturer a statement that the price charged is not in excess of the maximum price and he has no knowledge to the contrary, he shall be deemed to have complied with this paragraph (b);

(c) No person shall agree, offer, or attempt to do any of the acts prohibited in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(d) Nothing in this regulation shall prevent the fulfillment of contracts entered into before September 2, 1943, for the sale of parts by manufacturers at prices not exceeding the maximum prices established by Maximum Price Regulation No. 136, as amended, prior to September 2, 1943.

SEC. 4. Less than maximum prices. Nothing in this regulation prevents the charging or paying of prices lower than the maximum prices established by this regulation.

Article II—Maximum Prices

SEC. 5. Division of sales into those at list prices and those at non-list prices for the purpose of establishing maximum prices. This regulation divides sales into two kinds:

(a) Sales of parts at list prices—(1) List price. "List price" as used in this regulation means the price which may be derived from a price list or price sheet issued to the trade by a manufacturer for his sale of a part, or a price which may be quoted by the manufacturer under a method of quoting prices without further cost estimates from information he has available describing the types of parts and the method of calculation of prices. When a list price is named in this regulation as the maximum price to a purchaser, it means the price adjusted for all applicable extra charges, discounts, or allowances for sales to a purchaser of the same class.

(b) Sales of parts at non-list prices—(1) Non-list price. "Non-list price" as used in this regulation means any price or price basis other than a list price at which a manufacturer sells a part to any class of purchaser.

SEC. 6. Maximum prices for sales of new and rebuilt parts at list prices—(a) Determination of maximum price in accordance with previous price list. This section sets maximum prices for sales by a manufacturer who

(1) Had a list price for the part being priced in effect on March 31, 1942;

(2) Placed a list price authorized by the Office of Price Administration in effect subsequent to March 31, 1942; or

(3) Has established a list price in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section.

The maximum price which such a manufacturer may charge for a part is the most recent of the list prices described in (1), (2), and (3).

(b) Conditions requiring and permitting establishment of new list prices—(1) When new list prices must be established. (i) A new list price must be established in accordance with Section 9 when a specification change or material substitution made in a part for which a list price is the maximum price reduces the factory costs of such a part by 10% or more. The new list price must be established within three months from the date the specification change or material substitution is made.

(ii) A new list price must be established in accordance with Section 9 for a part for which a new list price has previously been established pursuant to this paragraph (b) whenever factory costs for a part fall below the estimated factory costs upon which the previous new list price was based by 10% or more as a result of any or all of the following causes:

(a) Inaccuracy in the estimate of labor hours or material quantities;

(c) Performance by the manufacturer of work previously done by a subcontractor.

The new list price must be established within three months from the date upon which the conditions requiring the new list price first existed.

(iii) A new list price must be established when there is offered for sale a part for which a list price was not in effect between March 31, 1942, and the time of offering it for sale, but for which a list price was in effect and withdrawn during the period January 1, 1932, to March 31, 1942. The new list price shall be established within thirty days from the date the part is offered for sale either in accordance with section 9 or by adopting a price no higher than the highest list price in effect during the period January 1, 1932, to March 31, 1942, as the new list price.

(iv) A manufacturer may be exempted from the necessity of establishing a new list price as required by this subparagraph (1) when the part is produced by a special run to fill a small non-recurrent order or there is some other reason why the special run is not likely to be repeated. In lieu of establishing a new list price he may be authorized to use a list price previously in effect and withdrawn or a new non-list price determined in accordance with section 12. The procedure to be followed in requesting this exemption is stated in section 11.

(2) When new list prices may be established. A new list price may be established in accordance with section 9 when:

(i) The factory costs of a part, for which a list price is the maximum price, has been increased by 10% or more as a result of a specification change or a material substitution; or

(ii) Factory costs of a part, for which a list price is the maximum price, are higher than the estimated factory costs upon which the previous new list price was based by 10% or more as a result of any or all of the following causes:

(a) Inaccuracy in the estimate of labor hours or material quantities;

(b) Inaccuracy in the estimate of charges for subcontracted services; and

(c) Performance by the manufacturer of work previously done by a subcontractor.

(iii) The part had no list price in effect on March 31, 1942, and no authorized list price (as defined in section 21) in effect subsequent to that date but its manufacturer had such a list price for other parts. In such a case, the manufacturer may establish a list price for the part for which there was no list price.

(c) List prices to be furnished to Office of Price Administration. The manufacturer shall furnish to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., to the extent it has not already done so, catalogs, price lists, and discount sheets, containing list prices which are established as maximum prices by this section. A rebuilder of used parts shall furnish these data to the nearest regional office of the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 7. Maximum prices for sales of new and rebuilt parts at non-list prices—(a) In general. The maximum price a manufacturer may charge for the sale of a part for which he cannot establish a maximum price in accordance with section 6 or for which he has not established a maximum price in accordance with that section although permitted, but not required, to do so, shall be the non-list price determined in accordance with section 12. That price shall be his maximum price for all future sales until changed in accordance with paragraph (b) or (c).

(b) When a new non-list must be established. (1) A new non-list price must be established in accordance with section 12 when a specification change or a material substitution made in a part for which a non-list price is the maximum price reduces the factory costs of such a part by 10% or more. The new non-list price must be established within three months from the date the specification change or material substitution is made.

(2) A new non-list price must be established in accordance with section 12 for a part for which a new non-list price has previously been established whenever factory costs for the part fall below the estimated factory costs upon which the new non-list price was based by 10% or more as a result of any or all of the following causes:

(i) Inaccuracy in the estimate of labor hours or material quantities;

(ii) Inaccuracy in the estimate of charges for subcontracted services; and

(iii) Performance by the manufacturer of work previously done by a subcontractor.

(c) When a new non-list price may be established. A new non-list price may be established in accordance with section 12 when:

(1) The factory costs of a part, for which a non-list price is the maximum price, has been increased by 10% or more as a result of a specification change or a material substitution; or

(2) Factory costs of a part, for which a non-list price is the maximum price, are higher than the estimated factory costs upon which the previous new non-list price was based by 10% or more as a result of any or all of the following causes:

(i) Inaccuracy in the estimate of labor hours or material quantities;

(ii) Inaccuracy in the estimate of charges for subcontracted services; and

(iii) Performance by the manufacturer of work previously done by a subcontractor.

SEC. 8. Maximum prices for sales of new and rebuilt parts which cannot be priced under section 6 or 7. Where a manufacturer cannot establish a maximum price for a part in accordance with section 6 or 7 because he is producing it in a new or converted plant or because he was not engaged as a manufacturer as defined in this regulation during a period which permits him to establish a price under section 6 or 7, or for any other reason, he shall determine the maximum price for such part in accordance with section 14.

Article III—Methods for Establishing and Reporting Maximum Prices

SEC. 9. Procedure for establishing new list prices—(a) Determining a new list price. A new list price for a part shall be a price not in excess of the sum of the manufacturer's costs for the part determined in accordance with section 13, plus the following:

(1) A percentage markup not in excess of the percentage markup he included in the price for the same part on March 31, 1942; or

(2) Where he did not sell or offer for sale the same part on March 31, 1942, a percentage markup not in excess of the percentage markup he included in the price on March 31, 1942, for the similar part (as defined in Section 21) most nearly like it; or

(3) Where he did not sell or offer for sale the same or a similar part on March 31, 1942, a percentage markup not in excess of the percentage markup he included on March 31, 1942, in the price for the part of the same type having the closest total costs to the part being priced. Examples of types for the purpose of this paragraph are engine parts, carburetor parts, electrical parts, etc.

To this price the manufacturer must apply the same differentials, discounts, allowances, rebates, and deductions which he had in effect on March 31, 1942, or which he applied to a list price he placed in effect subsequent to March 31, 1942, with Office of Price Administration approval, for the same class of purchaser.

(b) Determining of applicable resale list prices. If the manufacturer had a suggested resale list price for a part in effect on or after March 31, 1942, any new list prices established in accordance with this section shall include applicable suggested resale list prices.

(c) Notice to Office of Price Administration of new list prices. After a manufacturer has determined a new list price in accordance with paragraph (a) above for one or more parts, he shall file a report with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., except where it is a new list price for a rebuilt part, he shall file it with the nearest regional office of the Office of Price Administration. This report shall be signed by him, or a responsible official, and contain the following information for each part:

(1) Description of the part and its number or other designation.

(2) The new list prices and the previous list prices, if any, for each class of purchaser.

(3) The newly determined unit costs and the unit costs included in the previous list prices, if available.

(4) If not previously filed, all the other factors used in determining new list prices such as markup, discounts, differentials, freight and other allowances and other price determining factors.

(5) A statement that the new list prices were determined in accordance with section 9 (a) and that the unit costs included in such prices were determined in accordance with section 13.

(d) Action by the Office of Price Administration. The new list prices set forth in reports filed in accordance with paragraph (c) shall become maximum prices if approved by the Office of Price Administration, or if not disapproved by that agency within thirty days after the receipt of the reports. If the Office of Price Administration shall later determine that such prices were not computed in accordance with the requirements of sections 6, 9, and 13, they may at that time be disapproved, but such disapproval shall not be retroactive as to any deliveries completed prior to the date of the disapproval. If any price is disapproved because in some respect it is not determined in accordance with these sections, the manufacturer shall recompute the new list price in accordance with these sections and the suggestions contained in the notice of disapproval, and report the revised list price in accordance with paragraph (c) above.

(e) When the new list prices may be charged. Upon the mailing of the reports in accordance with paragraph (c) above, the new list prices contained in such reports may be charged but no payment may be accepted until these prices either are approved in writing by the Office of Price Administration, or when the new list prices are neither approved nor disapproved, until thirty days have elapsed from the date the reports are received by the Office of Price Administration. When the new list prices are approved in writing or are not disapproved within the thirty day period, payment at the new list prices for deliveries prior to the approval or to the end of the thirty day period, as well as for all deliveries thereafter, may be accepted.

SEC. 10. Notice to purchasers of maximum resale list prices—(a) Furnishing of suggested resale price lists. A manufacturer whose maximum prices are the list prices which he had in effect on March 31, 1942, and who had suggested resale list prices in effect on that date shall furnish to his customers, to the extent that they do not already have the same, copies of the catalogs, price lists, and discount sheets in which are contained his resale list prices. A manufacturer whose maximum prices are list prices placed in effect after March 31, 1942, with the authorization of the Office of Price Administration, or list prices established in accordance with Section 9, and who also placed suggested resale list prices in effect at the time of establishing his own selling prices, shall furnish to his customers, to the extent that they do not already have the same, copies of the catalogs, price lists, and discount sheets in which are contained his resale list prices. A manufacturer need not furnish to a certain class of customers material that does not concern that class. Resale price lists of the type described in this paragraph are called "approved resale price lists" in paragraphs (b) and (c).

(b) Statements to be furnished to a customer by a manufacturer having a suggested resale price list in effect. A manufacturer having in effect an approved resale price list (of a type described in paragraph (a)) shall furnish to all customers a copy of the following statement, signed by him or a responsible official:

> The suggested resale prices, discounts and allowances in our catalog(s), price list(s), and discount sheet(s) in effect on -------- are established as maximum resale prices in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 453 (Wholesalers' and Retailers' Maximum Resale Prices for Automotive Parts) and with the Office of Price Administration approval. Higher prices may not be charged.

A sample copy of the statement issued by the manufacturer should be forwarded to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. A rebuilder of used parts, however, should furnish the sample copy to the nearest regional office of the Office of Price Administration.

(c) Notice on invoices. On all invoices for parts named in an approved resale price list (of a type described in paragraph (a)), the manufacturer shall state:

> Maximum resale prices for the parts named in this invoice are the prices named in our resale price list.

(d) When notice shall be given to customers. Manufacturers shall act as required in paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) as soon as practicable, but not later than September 2, 1943 with regard to price lists in effect before the effective date of this regulation. Such action shall not be taken regarding a list price established after the effective date of the regulation until the new list price has been approved in writing or thirty days have elapsed from the date the report regarding it is received by the Office of Price Administration when the report is neither approved nor disapproved in writing.

SEC. 11. Procedure for obtaining exemption from requirement of establishing new maximum list prices. The manufacturer who seeks an exemption from the requirements of establishing a new list price as required by section 6 (b) should request this exemption from the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., with the exception that a rebuilder of used parts should make this request to the nearest regional office of the Office of Price Administration. In his request he should include a showing that the order for the part is small and nonrecurrent or other reasons why neither the order nor the special run is likely to be repeated. He shall also include in his request his list price or a non-list price computed in accordance with section 12. Upon the mailing of his request, he may charge his previously established list price or non-list price, but he must not accept payment until he is either notified in writing that his request has been approved or thirty days have elapsed from the date the request is received by the Office of Price Administration without any notification of disapproval. If the request is approved, or is not disapproved, within the thirty day period, the manufacturer may then accept payment at the proposed price for deliveries made prior to approval or the end of the thirty day period and for all deliveries made thereafter. If the request is disapproved the manufacturer shall establish a new list price in accordance with section 9.

SEC. 12. Procedure for establishing new maximum non-list prices—(a) Determining new non-list prices. A new non-list price shall be a price not in excess of the manufacturer's cost for the part determined in accordance with section 13, plus the following:

(1) A percentage markup not in excess of the percentage markup he included in the price for the part on March 31, 1942; or

(2) Where he did not sell or offer for sale the same part on March 31, 1942, a percentage markup not in excess of the percentage markup he included in the price for the similar part (as defined in section 21) most nearly like it; or

(3) Where he did not sell or offer for sale the same or a similar part on March 31, 1942, a percentage markup not in excess of the percentage markup he included in the price for the part of the same type having the closest total costs to the part being priced. Examples of types for the purpose of this paragraph are engine parts, carburetor parts, electrical parts, etc.

To this price the manufacturer must apply the same differentials, discounts, allowances, rebates, and deductions which he had in effect on March 31, 1942, or which he applied to a list price he placed in effect subsequent to March 31, 1942, with Office of Price Administration approval, for the same class of purchaser.

(b) Notifying Office of Price Administration when price computed under paragraph (a) is higher than price previously charged subsequent to March 31, 1942. If the non-list price of any part determined under paragraph (a) is higher than the price previously charged subsequent to March 31, 1942, the manufacturer shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., or in the case of a rebuilder of used parts with the nearest regional office of the Office of Price Administration, within ten days after making any sale or delivery at such an increased price a report containing the following:

(1) A description of the part, its number or other identification.

(2) The price on its sale prior to its sale at the increased price.

(3) The new non-list price.

(4) A statement that the new non-list price was determined in accordance with paragraph (a) above, and section 13.

(5) An explanation of the price increase.

When a price is reported to the Office of Price Administration in accordance with this paragraph, the manufacturer is not required to report subsequent sales or deliveries at the same or a lower non-list price.

SEC. 13. Procedure for determining costs to be used by manufacturer in determining new maximum list or new maximum non-list prices. When costs must be determined by a manufacturer in connection with a price determining method which must be followed in determining list or non-list prices in accordance with the provisions of this regulation, except where the determining of costs for the manufacturing of a part in a new or converted plant requires the procedure stated in section 14, the following cost determing method shall be followed:

(a) Determination of costs when manufacturer is a producer. When the manufacturer is a producer he shall use the same cost determining method he used on March 31, 1942.

(1) To the extent that the cost determining method includes or is based on direct labor costs, the producer shall use labor rates in effect on March 31, 1942.

(i) "Labor rates in effect on March 31, 1942" are the labor rates prevailing on that date in the producer's plant for each classification of labor. If the producer employs labor of a particular classification not employed in such plant on March 31, 1942, he shall apply the rate prevailing on that date for such classification in the locality in which the manufacturing is to be performed. If labor of such classification was not employed on March 31, 1942, in such locality, the producer shall apply the rate prevailing on that date for the nearest skill in the nearest comparable locality, as accurately as he is able to determine the same by reasonably diligent inquiry.

(ii) The permitted labor cost to be used in the pricing formula provided in this paragraph (a) is to be determined by applying to the clock hours of each classification of labor estimated to be required on the basis of previous production experience, or, where an estimate is not used, to the clock hours actually required, the hourly rate for such classification in effect on March 31, 1942. If on March 31, 1942, an average rate was used, an average rate may be applied if the labor rates and the method of computing the average in effect on March 31, 1942, are used. If individuals have been or are promoted from one classification to another because of increased efficiency, the higher rates may be used.

(iii) The amount of overtime (estimated, if necessary) required to be used in excess of that provided for in the overhead or machine hour rate may be added to the cost of labor. In no event shall any markup, overhead, or profit be applied to that part of the labor cost which is in excess of the straight-time cost, except that no adjustment of the overhead or the machine hour rates in effect on March 31, 1942, shall be required.

(2) To the extent that the cost determining method includes or is based on prices paid for materials, the manufacturer shall use the prices which the manufacturer's supplier had in effect to him or his class of purchaser on March 31, 1942, or if the supplier did not have a price in effect on that date for a certain commodity, the price he first had in effect after that date. However, if the Office of Price Administration has established a lower maximum price for the sale of that material to the manufacturer, such lower price shall govern. The manufacturer's supplier shall be

(i) His March 31, 1942, supplier of the material; or

(ii) Lacking a March 31, 1942, supplier of the material, his most recent supplier of the material. If neither of these exists, it shall be his proposed supplier.

For the purposes of this subparagraph (2), if the manufacturer shall receive a written statement from the seller that the material is being sold at a price which is not in excess of the maximum price established by the Office of Price Administration, and if the manufacturer shall have no cause to doubt the accuracy of the statement, the price as stated by the seller shall be deemed not to be in excess of the maximum price established by the Office of Price Administration for that material. The price the manufacturer shall use for material composed in whole or in part of silver shall be the current price not to exceed the applicable maximum price. The term "material prices" includes the prices for raw materials or products which have been processed or fabricated to any degree. However, costs for automotive parts defined in section 1 (c) (1) shall be the applicable prices established by this regulation.

(3) To the extent that the cost determining method includes or is based on prices paid for subcontracted services, whether machinery services or otherwise, or perishable tools, dies, molds, patterns, or work-holding devices, the manufacturer shall use the actual prices paid or the prices to be paid, which are estimated by his supplier if he has no reason to believe that these prices exceed the applicable maximum prices. If a price estimated by a supplier is not available, the manufacturer shall use his own estimate of the price to be paid which he has no reason to believe exceeds the applicable maximum price.

(4) To the extent that the cost determining method includes freight rates paid, the producer shall use freight rates in effect on March 31, 1942, or current actual freight rates, whichever are lower, for the mode of transportation actually used.

(b) Determination of costs when manufacturer is not a producer. When the manufacturer is not a producer of the part he sells, he shall determine his costs by dividing the amount of the invoiced charges, including freight-in, for the units of the part he purchased during the three months preceding the date he determines his costs by the number of units of the part he purchased during the same three months' period and which are included on the same invoices. The result obtained from this division shall be the costs to be included in the pricing method of either section 9 or section 12 by the manufacturer who does not produce the part he sells. If the manufacturer did not make any purchase or a representative number of purchases during the three months immediately preceding the date these costs are determined, he shall use the invoiced charges to him, including freight-in, for the three months' period closest to the date he determines these costs in which he made a representative number of purchases.

(c) Determination of costs when manufacturer produces some of the units and purchases the remainder of the units of the part he sells. When the manufacturer produces some of the units and purchases the remainder of the units of a part he sells, he shall determine his costs by:

(1) Determining his costs for the units he produces in accordance with paragraph (a) and by determining his costs for the units he purchases in accordance with paragraph (b).

(2) Multiplying each of these costs by the respective percentage which the units produced and the units purchased each constituted of the total units produced and purchased during the three months' period preceding the date he determines his costs or during the three months' period closest to the date he determines these costs in which he purchased and produced a representative number of units.

(3) Adding together the result of each of the multiplications required by subparagraph (2) to obtain a total which shall be the costs to be included in the pricing method of either section 9 or 12 by the manufacturer who produces some and purchases the remainder of the units of a part he sells.

SEC. 14. Procedure for establishing maximum non-list prices for parts which cannot be priced under section 6 or 7. If the manufacturer is not able to establish a maximum price in accordance with section 6 or 7 because he produces the part in a new or converted plant or because he was not engaged as a manufacturer as defined in section 21 of this regulation during a period on or after March 31, 1942, which would enable him to establish a maximum price in accordance with section 6 or 7, or for any other reason, he shall establish a maximum non-list price in accordance with the following:

(a) Price determining method—(1) Where the manufacturer is a producer. Where the manufacturer is a producer he shall establish a price determining method and rates for use therein (labor rates, machine hour rates, overhead rates, and profit rates, etc.) for the determination of a non-list price for such part conforming so far as possible to the provisions of section 12 and section 13. The overhead rate so established shall be a reasonable rate with respect to the operations to be performed, and shall, so far as possible, be based on costs for items of overhead in effect on March 31, 1942. In the case of a newly constructed plant, however, the manufacturer may use as a base date for all purposes the date upon which price quotations were first made or upon which production was started in the plant, whichever is earlier, and shall use labor rates for each classification of labor prevailing on that date in the locality of the plant determined in accordance with section 13 (a) (1), with the above base date substituted for the March 31, 1942, date used therein.

(2) Where the manufacturer is not a producer. Where the manufacturer is not a producer he shall establish a price by determining costs for the part in accordance with section 13 (b), and adding to such costs a markup as comparable as possible to the markup he would have added if he were able to establish a price in accordance with section 9 or 12, taking into consideration discounts and allowances to be applied for different classes of purchasers.

(b) Notifying the Office of Price Administration—(1) Where the manufacturer is a producer. Where the manufacturer is a producer he shall file a report with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., except that a rebuilder of used parts shall file it with the nearest regional office, containing:

(i) The price determining method and rates used in establishing prices as provided in paragraph (a);

(ii) A description of the parts for which the prices are determined;

(iii) A representative sample of prices determined in accordance with the pricing method;

(iv) An explanation of the circumstances necessitating pricing under this section;

(v) Relevant data bearing on the price determining method and rates to be used, including evidence that such method and rates were calculated as provided in paragraph (a);

(vi) A statement of whether or not quantity production has been achieved or is anticipated;

(vii) A brief description of the newly constructed or converted plant, if any; and

(viii) Any other data which the Office of Price Administration may in writing require.

(2) Where the manufacturer is not a producer. Where the manufacturer is not a producer he shall file a report with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., containing:

(i) A description of the part for which a price is being established;

(ii) An explanation of the circumstances necessitating pricing under this section;

(iii) The costs for the part determined in accordance with section 13 (b);

(iv) The amount of the markup to be added to the costs, together with a percentage breakdown of the expenses and profit provided for;

(v) The discounts and allowances to be applied to the price for each class of purchaser; and

(vi) Any other data which the Office of Price Administration may in writing require.

(c) Action by the Office of Price Administration. (1) Prices reported or calculated in accordance with the price determining method so reported may be quoted or charged for thirty days prior to filing such report and may be quoted or charged thereafter until the Office of Price Administration disapproves such prices or requires a new filing under paragraph (b). No payment may be received, however, until the price or price determining method is either approved in writing by the Office of Price Administration or thirty days have elapsed from the date the report of the price or price determining method is received by the Office of Price Administration without any notice of disapproval. If the Office of Price Administration approves the prices, or the pricing method and the prices which result from its use, or fails to disapprove them within thirty days after receiving such report, the maximum non-list prices for the parts involved shall be the prices reported, or the prices calculated in accordance with the price determining method reported, until new prices or a new pricing method is proposed and reported either upon the initiative of the manufacturer or as required by the Office of Price Administration. The prices previously filed shall not be regarded as fixed prices, but may be modified pursuant to the new prices or the new price determining method submitted.

(2) The Office of Price Administration may disapprove the prices, or price determining method reported and the prices resulting from its use, in writing within the thirty day period, and upon such disapproval the manufacturer shall file new prices or a revised pricing method in accordance with the suggestions and directions contained in such disapproval, and the provisions of this section shall apply in all respects to such revised method or prices.

(d) Refiling of prices or price determining method. No later than six months after the last filing, in accordance with this section, of prices or a price determining method which was not disapproved by the Office of Price Administration, the manufacturer shall file a report with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., except that a rebuilder of used parts shall file this report with the nearest regional office, containing:

(1) A comparison of his total actual direct and indirect costs for the period under review, with the estimates on which the prices or price determining method being used was based; and

(2) So far as available for each of the representative items for which prices were previously charged, the current price being charged and a comparison of the actual direct and indirect unit costs with the estimates on which the price previously charged was based.

(e) Revision of prices or price determining method. The manufacturer may at any time file, and the Office of Price Administration may at any time require the filing of, revised prices or a revised pricing method, together with a representative sample of prices determined in accordance with such method. The provisions of paragraph (c) are applicable to such filing.

Article IV—Miscellaneous

Sec. 15. Federal and State taxes. (a) Any tax levied by any statute of the United States or statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof which the manufacturer on March 31, 1942, added to the price paid by the purchaser shall not be included in the maximum price but may be collected by the manufacturer in addition to the maximum price if such tax is stated separately from the purchase price, except that such tax need not be stated separately if it is measured by the manufacturer's cost of the part.

(b) Any tax upon the sale or delivery of a part and any compensating use tax upon a part levied by any statute of the United States or statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof and becoming effective on or after March 31, 1942, may also be collected by the manufacturer making such taxable sale or delivery in addition to the maximum price if such tax is stated separately from the purchase price, unless the manufacturer had increased his price on or before March 31, 1942, to reflect such new or increased tax, except that such tax need not be stated separately if it is measured by the manufacturer's cost of the part.

(c) (1) Any separately stated tax paid by a manufacturer on a part purchased for resale may be collected by such manufacturer in addition to the maximum price upon the resale of such part unless the price in effect on March 31, 1942, reflected the amount of such tax.

(2) Any tax paid by a manufacturer upon the purchase of a component of a part which can be delivered separately from the principal assembly of the complete part may also be collected by the manufacturer upon the sale of the part as well as upon the sale of the component separately, if such tax is stated separately from the purchase price, unless the manufacturer's price for the component or the part in effect on March 31, 1942, reflected the amount of such tax.

(d) A tax on transportation of parts imposed by section 620 of the Internal Revenue Act of 1942, for the purpose of determining the applicable maximum price, shall be treated as a cost of transportation. It shall not be treated as a tax for which a charge may be made in addition to the maximum price.

Sec. 16. Applications for adjustment and petitions for amendment—(a) Application for adjustment—(1) Application by a manufacturer of a part—(i) Who may receive adjustment. The manufacturer's maximum price for a part established by this regulation may be adjusted only in the case of an essential maufacturer of an essential part. An essential part is one which contributes to the successful prosecution of the war. An essential manufacturer is one whose output or supply of a part cannot be reasonably expected to be replaced at prices lower than the proposed adjusted maximum price. In addition, any person who has entered into, or proposes to enter into, a war contract (as defined in section 21), or a subcontract thereunder, is an essential manufacturer of an essential part.

(ii) When adjustment may be granted. The Office of Price Administration, any regional office, or such other offices as may be authorized by order issued by the appropriate regional office, may adjust the maximum price in the case of an essential manufacturer of an essential part upon the basis of information submitted by the manufacturer or of other information. It may make that adjustment whenever it finds that the maximum price of a part is at such a level that (taking into account the cost thereof, the profits position of the manufacturer, and the nature of the business) production or supply of the part is impeded or threatened and the adjustment would not cause an increase in the cost of living.

(iii) Factors which may be considered. (a) The following factors are relevant to the consideration whether production or supply of the commodity is impeded or threatened;

(2) Whether, and by what amount, the manufacturer's over-all profits (as defined in section 21), before income and excess profits taxes, are greater or less than his average over-all profits during the normal base period (as defined in section 21), increased by 7% of the additional capital investment contributed entirely by the manufacturer, or its stockholders, since the normal base period. Capital investment will be construed as including accumulated profits.

(2) If such is the case, whether the increase allowed by adjustment would be absorbed prior to sale to a non-industrial consumer.

(3) Whether, if the applicant did not produce or supply the part, the output would be replaced by the same or a substitute commodity at prices equal to or higher than the proposed adjusted maximum price.

(iv) Application based on proposed wage or salary increase to be authorized by the National War Labor Board. A manufacturer who believes that the conditions for an adjustment set forth in subparagraph (1) would exist if the National War Labor Board should grant a pending application for wage or salary increase may file an application for adjustment under this paragraph. Application for adjustment of maximum prices based on wage or salary increases requiring the approval of the National War Labor Board must also comply with Supplementary Order No. 28, which requires, among other things, that an application for adjustment in such case be filed within fifteen days after an application for a wage or salary adjustment has been filed with the National War Labor Board, or, in a disputed wage proceeding, within fifteen days after the employer receives notification that the National War Labor Board has taken jurisdiction of the dispute.

(v) Prices for deliveries made pending disposition of the application. A manufacturer who has filed an application under this subparagraph (1) may contract or agree that deliveries made during the pendency of the application shall be at a specific price which is higher than the existing maximum price which the manufacturer wants to have adjusted. But no payment in excess of that existing maximum price may be received until the application is finally disposed of, and at that time the price received may not exceed the maximum price as determined by the Office of Price Administration.

(a) The maximum price for the part;

(b) The fact that an appropriate application for an adjustment of that maximum price has been filed with the Office of Price Administration;

(c) The fact that the specific price quoted by the manufacturer is subject to the approval of the Office of Price Administration.

(2) Application by a manufacturer based upon an appropriate decrease of other prices—(i) Who may receive an adjustment under this paragraph. Adjustments under this paragraph will be granted only in the case of an essential producer or supplier of an essential part. The meaning of these terms is explained in subparagraph (1) (i) of this section.

(ii) When adjustment may be granted. The Office of Price Administration, any regional office, or such other offices as may be authorized by order issued by the appropriate regional office, may make an adjustment of the maximum price in any case in which the manufacturer agrees to make and (simultaneously with any increase in the maximum price that may be authorized under this subparagraph (2)) makes a reduction in the selling price of other commodities which will equal or exceed the total dollar amount of the adjustment granted under this subparagraph.

(iii) What an application under this subparagraph must show. An application for price adjustment under this subparagraph shall contain information indicating that the applicant is an essential manufacturer of an essential part and that if the proposed adjustment is granted, the gross dollar amount of sales of the parts affected by the adjustment will not be greater than it would have been in the absence of the adjustment. In any case where such an adjustment is granted, the Office of Price Administration will require appropriate reports relating to the commodities affected.

(3) Application by a manufacturer under a combination of both paragraphs (a) and (b). A manufacturer who desires to apply for an adjustment under subparagraph (2) may, at the time he applies under that subparagraph, also apply under subparagraph (1), if the facts of his case entitle him to do so. In such case, the office considering his application will give the adjustment available under subparagraph (1) before applying subparagraph (2).

(4) How the manufacturer proceeds in applying for an adjustment. An application for an adjustment under this paragraph (a) shall be filed in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1[4] and shall be on Form OPA 694:478 set out in Appendix C. Copies of this form and of the instructions for completing it may be obtained from any district or regional office of the Office of Price Administration. Where application is made for an adjustment in the maximum price for a rebuilt part, the application shall be filed with the nearest regional office. That regional office shall give appropriate consideration to and grant or deny such application. All other applications for adjustment shall be filed with, and acted upon by, the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.

(5) Nonapplication of Supplementary Order No. 9. This paragraph (a) supersedes Supplementary Order No. 9 (§ 1305.12), insofar as commodities covered by this regulation are concerned. Accordingly, applications for adjustment of a maximum price established by this regulation may not be filed under Procedural Regulation No. 6.

(b) Petition for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1. There shall be filed with such petition and incorporated therein all relevant data showing the need for the proposed amendment and its conformity to the policy of this regulation and of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, to control inflation.

SEC. 17. Transfer of business or stock in trade. If the business assets or stock in trade of any business are sold or otherwise transferred after March 31, 1942, and the transferee carries on the business, or continues to deal in the same type of parts in the same competitive area and in an establishment separate from any establishment which he may previously have owned or operated, the transferee shall be subject to the same maximum prices as those to which his transferor would have been subject under this regulation if no transfer had taken place, and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify these maximum prices shall be the same. The transferor in such cases shall either preserve and make available, or turn over, to the transferee all records or transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 18. Records and reports—(a) Records. Persons subject to this regulation shall keep available for inspection by representatives of the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall remain in effect;

(1) Records of all sales of parts made after the effective date of this regulation and of the prices charged.

(2) Records of labor rates and overhead rates in effect on March 31, 1942;

(3) Records of all data showing the calculation of maximum prices in accordance with the provisions of this regulation.

(b) Summary of data to be furnished by manufacturer to Office of Price Administration, and to customers—(1) To Office of Price Administration. (i) Catalogs and discount sheets, and price lists containing resale list prices which are established as maximum prices. (Required by section 6.)

(ii) Report of new maximum list price determined in accordance with section 9. (Required by section 9 (c).)

(iii) Informal application for exemption from necessity of establishing a new maximum list price. (Required by section 11.)

(iv) Report of new maximum non-list price determined in accordance with section 12 which is higher than the most recent price charged subsequent to March 31, 1942. (Required by section 12 (b).)

(v) Report of maximum price or price determining method established for a part under section 14. (Required by section 14 (b).)

(vi) Report on price or price determining method established under section 14, which must be filed six months after the date the established price or price determining method was filed in accordance with section 14 (b). (Required by section 14 (d).)

[4] 7 F.R. 8961; 8 F.R. 3313, 3533, 6173.

(2) To customers. (i) Catalogs and price lists, and discount sheets which include suggested resale prices established as maximum prices under Maximum Price Regulation No. 453 (Wholesalers' and Retailers' Maximum Prices for Automotive Parts). (Required by section 10 (a).)

(ii) A statement informing customers that suggested resale prices included on manufacturer's price lists are their maximum prices, where such resale prices are established as maximum prices under Maximum Price Regulation No. 453 (Wholesalers' and Retailers' Maximum Prices for Automotive Parts). (Required by section 10 (b).)

(iii) Notice on invoices when manufacturer's catalogs and price lists contain suggested resale prices established as maximum prices under Maximum Price Regulation No. 453 (Wholesalers' and Retailers' Maximum Prices for Automotive Parts). (Required by section 10 (c).)

SEC. 19. Evasion. (a) It shall be a violation of this regulation to evade the price limitations of this regulation by direct or indirect means, by reducing the period of guaranty or warranty or performance; by reducing discounts, freight allowances, exchange values, or other concessions to any purchaser; by changing discount or customary price differentials among classes of purchasers; by eliminating or reducing exchange credits; or in any other manner.

(b) The Office of Price Administration may, upon request, grant written permission to any person subject to this regulation to change his credit terms in effect on March 31, 1942, where such change is necessitated by orders issued by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System or any agency of the United States.

SEC. 20. Enforcement. Persons violating any provisions of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, and suits for treble damages or suspension of licenses provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 21. Definitions. (a) "New part" is a part which has not been previously used. The term includes unfinished parts not specifically excluded by section 1 (c) (1) and when sold by a manufacturer who is a regular producer of parts as defined in paragraph (g).

(b) "Normal base period" means the period 1936–1939. If the applicant for an adjustment under section 16 (a) shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Office of Price Administration either (1) that his entire industry was operating during the greater part of such period at an unusually depressed level or (2) that because of unusual conditions prevailing during that period, the manufacturer's business was operating during that period at an unusually depressed level in comparison to other businesses in the industry, and in addition that some other period prior to January 1, 1941, represents a proper normal base period, such other period may be considered. The mere fact that the rate of production or distribution has increased since 1936–1939 will not be deemed evidence that production or distribution during that period was at an unusually depressed level. If the manufacturer was not in business prior to January 1, 1941, he shall state that fact in his application.

(c) "Over-all profits" mean net profit resulting from the operation of all divisions of the manufacturer, before the creation of any reserves, except ordinary reserves for depreciation and bad debts, and before income and excess profit taxes. In the case of a subsidiary wholly owned by a parent corporation, over-all profits mean the consolidated net profit of the parent corporation and the wholly owned subsidiary, as well as the net profit of the subsidiary, before the creation of any reserves, except ordinary reserves for depreciation and bad debts, and before income and excess profit taxes.

(d) "Person" includes: an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group; their legal successors or representatives; the United States, or any government, or any of its political subdivisions; or any agency of the foregoing.

(e) "Purchaser of the same class" refers to the practice adopted by the manufacturer in setting different prices for a part sold to different purchasers or kinds of purchasers (for example, governmental agency, public institution, dealer, service station, other individual wholesaler or retailer, mail order house), or for purchasers located in different areas or for different quantities or grades or under different conditions of sale.

(f) "Rebuilt part", which includes a reconditioned part, is a part which has been previously used and in which all defective, worn, or missing components needing replacement or repair for satisfactory operation have been replaced or repaired, and is guaranteed to be rebuilt or equivalent to rebuilt and to render satisfactory service.

(g) "Regular producer of parts". A manufacturer shall be considered a regular producer of parts when he represents himself in the trade as a producer of parts through the issuance of catalogs, price lists, or other advertising matter, circulated generally in the trade and in which such part is designated by name and by the producer's part number, and he owns the patterns, dies, molds, or other special tools used for the production of such part, and he customarily produces such parts for, and sells such parts from, stock. A seller who believes that he is a regular producer of parts, but who does not meet the above requirements may nevertheless be considered a regular producer of parts if he is recognized in the trade as a supplier of parts and applies to the Office of Price Administration for, and receives from that agency, a determination that he is a regular producer of parts or receives from that agency, without application, such a determination.

(h) "Similar part". One part shall be deemed "similar" to another part, if the first has the same use as the second, affords the purchaser fairly equivalent serviceability, and belongs to a type which would ordinarily be sold in the same price line. In determining the similarities of such commodities, differences merely in style or design which do not affect use or serviceability, or the price line in which such commodities would ordinarily have been sold, shall not be taken into account.

(j) "Subcontract" means any purchase order or agreement to perform all or any part of the work, or to make or furnish any commodity, required for the performance of another contract or subcontract.

(k) "Total unit costs" mean:

(1) When the manufacturer produces all the units of the part he sells, the direct unit cost of labor, materials, and subcontracted services plus a proportion of factory overhead, administrative, selling and other expenses, based on actual operating experience, properly allocable to the production of the part, but does not include provisions for income or excess profit taxes. The allocation of factory overhead, administrative and other expenses must be made without reference to temporary fluctuations of production.

(2) When the manufacturer purchases all the units of the part he sells, the weighted average of his supplier's invoiced net prices, freight in and freight out, other direct costs, and selling and administrative expenses normally applicable to the handling of the commodity which are properly allocable to the manufacturer's total cost of doing business, exclusive of any provisions for income or excess profit taxes.

(3) When the manufacturer produces some of the units and purchases the remainder of the units of the part he sells, the result obtained by adding together the amounts derived from the multiplication of total unit costs determined under subparagraph (1) for the units produced and the total unit costs determined under subparagraph (2) for the units purchased by the respective percentage each of these groups constituted of the total units sold by the manufacturer during the three months' period immediately preceding the date these direct costs are determined or during a preceding three months' period closest to that date in which a representative number of units were both produced and purchased.

(l) "Used part" is a part which has been previously used but which is not a rebuilt part as defined in paragraph (f).

(m) "War contract" means any contract with the United States, or any agency thereof, or with the government, or any agency thereof, of any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States, under the terms of the Lend-Lease Act, for the sale of a machine or part purchased (1) for the ultimate use of the armed forces of the United States or for lend-lease purposes, or (2) by any government (or agency thereof) of any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States under the terms of the Lend-Lease Act, or (3) for use in the production or manufacture of any commodity described in (1) or (2).

Instructions for the Form—Instructions for the use of Adjustment Application Form for Automotive Parts. In preparing this application, please consider that the form is intended to cover the cases of all persons who are manufacturers as defined in Section 1 (b) (1) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 452. Therefore, you will find that some of the questions do not apply to your case. Moreover, you may find that some point that is important in your case is not covered in the form. Adapt the form if this can be done, or state the information on a separate sheet if that will be clearer. If any difficulty is experienced in completing this form it may be taken to the nearest OPA district accountant who will give his assistance in its preparation.

Schedule C entitled "Unit Price and Cost Information" is subject to the following explanation:

1. Price data—(a) (1) (List) (Non-list) price. Please indicate whether the price is a list price or a non-list price by crossing out the term that does not apply.

2. Dealers' commissions. Where all dealers receive the same commission, use the full commission rate even if some sales are not subject to any commission. If several different rates affect the part covered by the application, use the rate that applies to the largest amount of sales.

3. Trade discounts. Deduct trade discounts at the average rate of discounts prevailing in your company for the part covered by this application.

(b) Period to be covered. Use a sufficient number of months prior to the date of the application to give an adequate understanding of the situation. Name the period in the allotted space and fill in commission rates or discounts.

2. Unit cost data—(a) (1) In general. A manufacturer who produces all the parts he sells should use Form (a). A manufacturer who purchases all the parts he sells should use Form (b). A manufacturer who produces some and purchases the remainder of the parts he sells should use both Forms (a) and (b) and should indicate under Form (a) or (b) what percentage group of parts constituted of the total number of parts sold during the period for which the data are submitted. (2) Only actual costs for materials should be included in unit cost data.

(b) Form (a). For Form (a) the following should be noted: State separately any charges added to costs of materials.

Where standard costs are used, adjust costs for over- or under-absorption during the period to which the costs apply.

The cost data for the ceiling date may be recomputed if the part covered by the application was not manufactured on or about that date. In the recomputation apply the wage rates prevailing in your plant on the ceiling date and material cost of the same date.

Under Items (6), (7) and (8) include only costs borne by the manufacturer and not billed separately to the buyer.

Effective date. This regulation shall become effective September 2, 1943.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 19th day of August 1943.

CHESTER BOWLES,
Acting Administrator.

Appendices A and B

Article I—Scope of Regulation and Prohibition

SECTION 1. To what transactions, persons, commodities and geographical area this regulation applies—(a) Transactions. This regulation applies to all sales by wholesalers and retailers of new, rebuilt and used automotive parts made in the 48 states of the United States or the District of Columbia.

(b) Persons. The regulation applies to all persons who sell at wholesale or retail the automotive parts subject to the regulation and to all persons who purchase such parts in the course of trade or business.

(c) Commodities. The regulation covers all new, rebuilt and used automotive parts.

(1) Automotive parts. Automotive parts as used in the regulation mean all engine parts, body parts, chassis parts, motors, electrical equipment and wheels, and all other component parts and subassemblies, of automobiles, trucks, busses, trailers, semi-trailers and motorcycles, and all accessories and optional, extra and special equipment designed for use on, or with, such motor vehicles, when in such form as to permit their use only as automotive parts, but do not mean any service or maintenance accessories such as anti-freeze, body polish, tools, etc., or tires, tubes, storage batteries, glass, or any parts, subassemblies or accessories specially designed for use in vehicles built primarily for military purposes, although parts, subassemblies or accessories originally designed for use in private or commercial motor vehicles but which are used both in military and private or commercial motor vehicles are considered as automotive parts. Illustrative lists of automotive parts covered by the regulation and parts not covered by the regulation are attached as Appendices A and B.

(d) Geographical area. The regulation applies to the 48 states of the United States and the District of Columbia, but not to the territories and possessions of the United States.

SEC. 2. Relation of this regulation to other regulations—(a) In general. The transactions, persons, and commodities subject to this Maximum Price Regulation No. 453 on and after its effective date shall not be subject to the General Maximum Price Regulation or any other regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration in so far as this Maximum Price Regulation No. 453 affects such transactions, persons and commodities.

(b) Sales of parts in connection with a service. The maximum prices for sales of parts in connection with a service, such as automobile repair work, shall be determined in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 165—Services.

(c) Sales for export. The maximum prices for sales for export of parts shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Price Regulation.[1]

(d) Imports. The provisions of this regulation do not apply to the sale, purchase or delivery of a part which is not manufactured in, but is imported into, the continental United States or the District of Columbia. Such a sale, purchase or delivery is governed by the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation and especially Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 12.

SEC. 3. Prohibition against dealing in parts at prices above the maximum. On and after September 2, 1943, regardless of any contract or other obligation,

(a) No wholesaler or retailer shall sell or deliver any part at a price higher than the maximum price permitted by the regulation;

(b) No person in the course of trade or business shall buy or receive any part from a wholesaler or retailer at a price higher than the maximum price permitted by the regulation, but if he, the purchaser, has received from the wholesaler or retailer a written statement that the price charged is not in excess of the maximum price, and has no knowledge to the contrary, he shall be deemed to have complied with this paragraph;

(c) No person shall agree, offer, or attempt to do any of the acts prohibited in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

SEC. 4. Less than maximum prices. Nothing in this regulation prevents the charging or paying of prices lower than those established by this regulation.

Article II—Maximum Prices

SEC. 5. Maximum prices for sales at wholesale and retail of new or rebuilt parts having resale list prices which the supplier has stated to be the maximum prices for resellers—(a) Maximum prices for sales at wholesale. Manufacturers of parts are told in Maximum Price Regulation No. 452—Manufacturers' Maximum Prices for Automotive Parts, under what conditions they must furnish copies of their suggested resale price lists to their customers. When manufacturers must do so, they are required to notify their customers that their resale list prices are maximum prices for wholesalers and retailers and that higher prices must not be charged. Resale list prices for new or rebuilt parts stated in a written notice from a manufacturer to a wholesaler to be the maximum prices for sales by the wholesaler of parts supplied by that manufacturer are the maximum prices which that wholesaler may charge for such parts.

(b) Notice by wholesalers to retailers or other wholesalers of maximum retail prices and maximum prices for wholesalers purchasing from other wholesalers After a wholesaler has received written notice from a manufacturer that the manufacturer's resale list prices for new or rebuilt parts are the maximum prices for resale, the wholesaler shall state the manufacturer's resale list prices for sales at retail on all invoices to retailers for any such parts, together with the statement that such prices are the retailer's maximum prices for such parts. As to sales of such parts to other wholesalers, a wholesaler shall state on the invoice both the maximum price for sales by wholesalers to retailers and for sales by retailers. A wholesaler who has purchased parts from another wholesaler and who has been notified on his invoice as to what is the maximum price for sales at retail shall notify retailers to whom he sells such parts that such price is their maximum selling price. His own maximum selling price for a sale to a retailer is the price stated to be his maximum price in the invoice to him. His maximum selling price if he should sell to another wholesaler is the manufacturer's resale list price for such a sale.

(c) Maximum prices for sales at retail. Resale list prices for new or rebuilt parts stated in writing by a manufacturer or wholesaler to be the maximum prices for sales by a retailer of parts supplied by the manufacturer or wholesaler, are the maximum prices which that retailer may charge for such parts.

(d) Distinction between new and rebuilt parts. A resale list price to be used as the maximum price under this section must be applicable to the particular part being priced. For example, to be used as the maximum price for a rebuilt part, the resale list price must be a resale list price suggested for a rebuilt part and may not be a price suggested for the part only if new.

SEC. 6. Maximum prices for sales at wholesale and at retail of all used parts and of new and rebuilt parts which do not have resale list prices which the supplier has stated to be the maximum prices for resellers. Maximum prices for sales at wholesale and at retail of all used parts and of new and rebuilt parts which do not have resale list prices which the supplier has stated to be the maximum prices for resellers, shall be established in accordance with the first applicable of the following paragraphs:

(a) Parts sold or offered for sale by the wholesaler or retailer during March, 1942. The maximum price a wholesaler or retailer may charge for a part sold or offered for sale during March, 1942, but for which he cannot determine his maximum selling price under Section 5, shall be the highest price he charged for such a part during March, 1942.

(1) Highest price charged during March, 1942 shall be: (i) Highest price charged by a wholesaler or retailer during March, 1942 shall be the highest price at which he sold the part during that month to a purchaser of the same class; or

(ii) If he did not sell the part during March, 1942 to the same class of purchaser, his highest offering price for the same part during that month to a purchaser of the same class; or

(iii) If he did not sell or offer to sell the part to a purchaser of the same class during March, 1942, the highest price charged by him during March, 1942 to a purchaser of a different class adjusted to reflect his customary differential between the two classes of purchasers.

(b) Parts not sold or offered for sale by the wholesaler or retailer during March, 1942. The maximum price a wholesaler or retailer may charge for a part which he did not sell or offer for sale during March, 1942 and which cannot be priced under section 5, shall be a price determined by adding to the net invoice cost, (not to exceed the applicable manufacturer's maximum price of such a part), the percentage mark-up the wholesaler or retailer added during March, 1942 to the net invoice cost of the part of the same type, the invoice cost of which is nearest to the invoice cost of the part being priced. Examples of types for the purpose of this regulation are engine parts, carburetor parts, electrical parts, etc.

(c) Maximum prices for parts for which maximum prices cannot be otherwise determined. The maximum price for a part for which a maximum price cannot be determined either under section 5 or paragraph (a) or (b) of this section shall be a price determined by the wholesaler or retailer after specific authorization from the Office of Price Administration. A wholesaler or retailer who seeks an authorization to determine a maximum price under the provisions of this section shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., an application setting forth (a) a description of the part or parts for which a maximum price is sought; (b) a statement of the reasons why such a part or parts cannot be priced under section 5 or paragraph (a) or (b) of this section; and (c) any other facts which the wholesaler or retailer wishes to submit in support of the application. The wholesaler or retailer shall also submit such additional pertinent information as the Office of Price Administration may require. Such authorization will be given in the form of an order prescribing a method of determining the maximum price.

SEC. 7. Maximum prices for sales at wholesale and retail of parts priced under section 6 the manufacturer's maximum prices for which are increased or decreased after September 1, 1943 in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 452. The maximum price for the sale by a wholesaler or retailer of a part priced under section 6, the manufacturer's maximum price for which is increased or decreased after September 1, 1943 in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 452—Manufacturers' Maximum Prices for Automotive Parts, shall be determined as follows:

The wholesaler or retailer shall multiply his previous maximum price for the sale of the part to a purchaser of the same class by a percentage to be determined by dividing the present price for the part in effect to him from his supplier by the price in effect to him prior to the increase or decrease in the manufacturer's maximum price.

Article III—Miscellaneous

SEC. 8. Federal and State Taxes. Any tax upon, or incident to, the sale, delivery, transportation or use of a part imposed by any statute of the United States or statute or ordinance of any State or subdivision thereof, shall be treated as follows in determining the wholesaler's or retailer's maximum price for the part and in preparing his records with respect thereto:

(a) A tax in effect on March 31, 1942. (1) If the wholesaler or retailer paid such tax, or if the tax was paid by any of his suppliers, even though the amount thereof was separately stated and collected from the wholesaler or retailer, but the wholesaler or retailer did not customarily state and collect separately during March, 1942, the amount of the tax paid by him or tax reimbursement collected from him by his supplier, the wholesaler or retailer may not collect such amount in addition to his maximum price.

(2) If, at the time the wholesaler or retailer determines his maximum price, the statute or ordinance imposing such tax does not prohibit him from stating and collecting the tax separately from his selling price and he did state it separately during March, 1942, he may collect, in addition to the maximum price, the amount of the tax actually paid by him or an amount equal to the amount of the tax paid by any of his suppliers and separately stated and collected from him by the supplier from whom he purchased the part, but the dealer shall not include such amount in the maximum price.

(b) A tax placed in effect after March 31, 1942. As to a tax or an increase in a tax placed in effect after March 31, 1942, if the statute or ordinance imposing such tax or increase does not prohibit the wholesaler or retailer from stating or collecting the tax separately from his selling price and he separately states the tax, he may collect, in addition to his maximum price, the amount of the tax or increase actually paid by him or an amount equal to the amount of tax paid by any of his prior suppliers and separately stated and collected from him by the supplier from whom he purchased.

(c) A tax on the transportation of parts imposed by section 620 of the Internal Revenue Act of 1942 shall, for purposes of determining the applicable maximum price, be treated as a cost of transportation. It shall not be treated as a tax for which a charge may be made in addition to the maximum price.

SEC. 9. Telephone, telegraph, and express or parcel post charges. There may be added to the maximum price established by this regulation, the cost of any long-distance telephone calls, or telegrams, or express or parcel post charges where such expenses have been incurred at the request of the purchaser in order to expedite a particular order, but the amount of these extra expenses shall be separately stated to the purchaser.

SEC. 10. Sales slips and receipts. Any wholesaler or retailer who has customarily given purchasers sales slips, receipts, or similar evidence of purchases shall continue to do so. Upon request from a purchaser, a wholesaler or retailer, regardless of previous custom, shall give the purchaser a receipt showing the date, name and address of the wholesaler or retailer, a description of each automotive part sold and the price received for each part.

SEC. 11. Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.* There shall be filed with such petition all relevant data showing the need for the amendment and that it would conform to the policy of this regulation and to the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, to control inflation.

SEC. 12. Transfer of business or stock in trade. If the business assets or stock in trade of any business are sold or otherwise transferred after September 1, 1943, and the transferee carries on the business or continues to deal in the same type of parts, in the same competitive area and in an establishment separate from any establishment which he may previously have owned or operated, the transferee shall be subject to the same maximum prices as those to which his transferor would have been subject under this regulation if no such transfer had taken place, and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferor in such cases shall either preserve and make available, or turn over, to the transferee all records of transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 13. Records. Every wholesaler or retailer who sells a part subject to the maximum prices established by this regulation shall preserve for examination, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall remain in effect, the following records:

(a) Base period records. (1) The wholesaler or retailer shall preserve for examination by the Office of Price Administration all his existing records relating to the prices which he charged for the parts he delivered or supplied on March 31, 1942, and his offering prices for delivery or supply of such parts on that date.

(2) The wholesaler or retailer shall prepare, if he has not already done so, and thereafter shall keep for examination by any person during ordinary business hours, a statement showing:

(i) The highest price which he charged for the parts he delivered or supplied on March 31, 1942 and his offering prices for delivery or supply of such parts on that date, together with an appropriate description or identification of each part.

(ii) All his customary allowances, discounts, and other price differentials.

(b) Current records—(1) Notifications of maximum prices. Wholesalers and retailers shall keep all notifications of the maximum prices of parts which may be charged by them.

(2) Customary records. The wholesaler or retailer who sells a part subject to this regulation shall keep, and make available for examination by the Office of Price Administration, records of the same kind as he has customarily kept, relating to the prices which he charged for the parts he sells after the effective date of this regulation; and, in addition, records showing, as precisely as possible, the basis upon which he determined maximum prices for such parts.

SEC. 14. Evasion. The price limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded (a) by reducing the period of any guaranty or warranty of performance; (b) by reducing discounts, exchange values, or other concessions to any purchaser; (c) except in those cases in which it was customary to sell them only in connection with a service, by refusing to sell parts separately; (d) by requiring the purchaser to buy other commodities or to perform any act as a condition of the sale of the part; (e) by requiring the purchaser to bear any greater proportion of transportation costs than he bore on March 31, 1942, or, when applicable, which are permissible in connection with any resale list price established as a maximum price in accordance with this regulation; or (f) by effecting any other hidden or indirect price increase above the applicable maximum price.

SEC. 15. Licensing—(a) License required. A license as a condition of selling is hereby required of every wholesaler or retailer now or hereafter selling any part for which a maximum price is established by this regulation. No person whose license is suspended shall sell any part during the period of suspension.

(b) License granted. Every person required to be licensed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section is, by this section, granted a license as a condition of selling any part. The provisions of this regulation, and any amendments thereto, shall be deemed to be incorporated in the license hereby granted, and any violation of any provision so incorporated shall be a violation of said license. Such license shall be effective on September 2, 1943, the effective date of this regulation, or whenever any person becomes subject to the provisions of the regulation, and shall, unless suspended in accordance with the provisions of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, continue in force so long as, and to the extent that, this regulation or any amendment or supplement thereto remains in effect.

SEC. 16. Enforcement. Persons violating any provisions of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, proceedings for suspension of licenses, and suits for treble damages provided for by the

* 7 F.R. 8961, 8 F.R. 3313, 3533, 6173.

TITLE 41—PUBLIC CONTRACTS

Chapter II—Division of Public Contracts

PART 202—MINIMUM WAGE DETERMINATION [1]

COTTON GARMENT AND ALLIED INDUSTRIES, KNITTING, KNITWEAR, AND WOVEN UNDERWEAR INDUSTRY AND RAINWEAR INDUSTRY

Whereas, the prevailing minimum wage determinations for the Cotton Garment and Allied Industries, issued by me on June 20, 1942, for the Knitting, Knitwear, and Woven Underwear Industry, issued by me on March 30, 1943, and for the Rainwear Industry, issued by me on November 4, 1942, provide that learners may be employed at subminimum rates in accordance with the applicable regulations issued by the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division under the Fair Labor Standards Act which were in effect on the respective dates of issuance of said minimum wage determinations; and

Whereas, on June 12, 1943, the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division issued Administrative Order No. 198, effective June 28, 1943, (I) amending the learner regulations of the Wage and Hour Division applicable to the employment of learners in the Rainwear, Robes, and Leather and Sheep-lined Garments Divisions of the Apparel Industry, to conform to the following provisions, to be effective for the duration of the war emergency:

1. Special learner certificates may be issued upon individual applications of employers provided that it is satisfactorily shown that:

(a) Experienced labor is not available in the locality from which the employer customarily draws his labor supply;

(b) Learners are available for employment at the established subminimum learner wage rate;

(c) The issuance of a certificate will not tend to impair working or wage standards established for experienced workers in the industry;

(d) The issuance of such certificates will not create unfair competitive labor cost advantages;

(e) The number of learners applied for will not tend to impair the statutory minimum wage rate in such plant;

(f) The applicant's piece work or hourly wage rates yield average earnings to experienced workers substantially above the minimum wage rate.

2. The subminimum wage rate which may be provided in special learner certificates shall be not less than 35 cents per hour.

3. Authorization to employ a number or percentage of learners for labor turnover in excess of that provided in industry learner regulations, issued pursuant to §522.4 of the regulations of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division and presently in effect, may be granted to the extent of the actual need of an individual applicant, when that need is due to an abnormal labor turnover resulting from the war emergency, and (II) amending, as of June 28, 1943, certificates presently in effect in the aforesaid divisions of the Apparel Industry to conform to paragraph 2; and

Whereas it appears advisable, for the purpose of coordinating the administration of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 and the Public Contracts Act, to adopt the above amendments for the purposes of the afore-mentioned prevailing minimum wage determinations, insofar as said learner regulations of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division are presently applicable to said minimum wage determinations,

Now, therefore, upon consideration of all the facts and circumstances, I hereby determine that learners may be employed at subminimum rates in the Cotton Garment and Allied Industries, Knitting, Knitwear, and Woven Underwear Industry, and Rainwear Industry, only in accordance with the present applicable regulations issued by the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division under the Fair Labor Standards Act, as amended on June 28, 1943, which I hereby adopt for the purposes of this determination.

This determination shall be effective and its provisions shall apply to all contracts subject to the Public Contracts Act, bids for which are solicited or negotiations otherwise commenced by the contracting agency on or after September 13, 1943, except that learners may be employed at subminimum rates, in accordance with the amended regulations of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, on or after September 13, 1943, in the performance of contracts, bids for which were solicited or negotiations otherwise commenced by the contracting agency prior to that date.

Nothing in this determination shall affect such obligations for the payment of minimum wages as an employer may have under any law or agreement more favorable to employees than the requirements of this determination.

Dated: July 30, 1943.

FRANCES PERKINS,
Secretary of Labor.

ORDER TERMINATING APPOINTMENT OF OPERATING MANAGERS

AUGUST 18, 1943.

Orders have been issued terminating Government possession and control of the coal mines for which the persons listed in Appendix A have served as Operating Managers for the United States, and the mining companies have duly executed and delivered to the Administrator, Instrument No. 1, as provided in section 40 of the Regulations for the Operation of Coal Mines under Government Control, as amended (8 F.R. 6655, 10712).

Accordingly, I hereby order and direct that the appointments of the Operating Managers for the United States listed in Appendix A, attached hereto and made a part hereof, be, and they are hereby, terminated.

[Order No. 1857]

ORDER TERMINATING GOVERNMENT POSSESSION AND CONTROL

AUGUST 18, 1943.

The Operating Managers for the United States for the coal mines of the mining companies listed in Appendix A have advised the Coal Mines Administrator that there has been no interruption in the operation of such mines since April 30, 1943, as a result of a strike or other labor disturbance, and have submitted factual evidence to that effect. Based on such evidence and advice, and after consideration of all the circumstances, I find that the possession and control by the Government of such mines are not necessary to insure the operation of such mines in the interest of the war effort, and that it is practicable to terminate the possession and control of such mines.

Accordingly, I order and direct that possession and control by the Government of the mines of the mining companies listed in Appendix A, attached hereto and made a part hereof, including any and all real and personal property, franchises, rights, facilities, funds, and other assets used in connection with the operation of such mines and the distribution and sale of their products, be, and they are hereby, terminated and that there be conspicuously displayed at the mining properties copies of a poster to be supplied by the Coal Mines Administration and reading as follows:

NOTICE

Government possession and control of the coal mines of this mining company have been terminated by order of the Secretary of the Interior.

Provided, however, That nothing contained herein shall be deemed to preclude the Administrator from requiring the submission of information relating to operations during the period of Government possession and control as provided in section 40 of the Regulations for the Operation of Coal Mines under Government Control, as amended (8 F.R. 6655, 10712), for the purpose of ascertaining the existence and amount of any claims against the United States so that the administration of the provisions of Executive Order No. 9340 (8 F.R. 5695) may be concluded in an orderly manner; and Provided further, That except as otherwise ordered, the appointments of the Operating Managers for the mines of the companies listed in Appendix A shall continue in effect.

Acting Secretary of the Interior.

Re: Interest in compensation claim owned by Maria Vivan, Guido Vivan, Vittorio Vivan, and Anza Vivan.

Under the authority of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, and Executive Order No. 9095, as amended, and pursuant to law, the undersigned, after investigation, finding:

1. That the last known address of Maria Vivan, Guido Vivan, Vittorio Vivan, and Anza Vivan is Pasiano Di Pordenone, Provincia di Udine, Italy, and that they are residents of Italy and nationals of a designated enemy country (Italy);

2. That Maria Vivan, Guido Vivan, Vittorio Vivan and Anza Vivan are the owners of the property described below;

3. That the property described as follows:

All right, title, interest, and claim of Maria Vivan, Guido Vivan, Vittorio Vivan, and Anza Vivan, in and to any and all causes of action arising out of the death of Giovanni Battisti Vivan, under the common law and any Federal or State statutes, including but not limited to those arising under the Workman's Compensation Law of the State of Michigan, and any and all claims against the Waterway Construction Company, Detroit, Michigan, and any and all claims arising out of Workman's Compensation Policy No. 10508, issued by the Associated Indemnity Company, San Francisco, California, to the Waterway Construction Company, Detroit, Michigan, including but not limited to all rights of compensation, indemnity, proceeds, judgments, and, specifically, the right to file, prosecute, enforce and collect such claims, including but not limited to the right to file a claim with the Industrial Accident Board of the Department of Labor, State of Michigan, and the right to prosecute, enforce and collect such claim, Hereby vests in the Alien Property Custodian the property described above, to be held, used, administered, liquidated, sold or otherwise dealt with in the interest, and for the benefit, of the United States.

Such property and any or all of the proceeds thereof shall be held in an appropriate account, or accounts, pending further determination of the Alien Property Custodian. This order shall not be deemed to limit the power of the Alien Property Custodian to return such property or the proceeds thereof in whole or in part, nor shall this order be deemed to indicate that compensation will not be paid in lieu thereof, if and when it should be determined to take any one or all of such actions.

It appearing that the carriers propose, by the plan, to coordinate their operations as common carriers of property by motor vehicle by utilizing the equipment and facilities, wherever consistent with the operations and schedules, of each other; by diverting shipments to each other for transportation between common points, which transportation by the diverting carrier would require the operation of a partially laden vehicle in over-the-road service; and by diverting shipments to each other, the transportation of which is required in collection and delivery service, over duplicate routes in the Cities of Baltimore, Maryland, New York City, New York, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Trenton and Newark, New Jersey, and Washington, D. 3. Shipments diverted in execution of the plan shall be transported pursuant to the lawfully applicable rates, charges, rules, and regulations of the diverting carrier.

4. The provisions of this order shall not be so construed or applied as to require any carrier named herein to perform any service beyond its transportation capacity, or to permit any carrier to alter its legal liability to any shipper. The coordination of operations directed by this order shall be subject to the carrier's possessing or obtaining the requisite operating authority.

5. All records of the carriers pertaining to any transportation performed pursuant to this order and to the provisions of such plan shall be kept available for examination and inspection at all reasonable times by accredited representatives of the Office of Defense Transportation.

PRIVATE CARRIERS OF PROPERTY BY MOTOR VEHICLE

RECOMMENDATION OF JOINT ACTION PLAN BY ITHACA, NEW YORK, FLORISTS

Pursuant to a provision of a general order issued by the Office of Defense Transportation for the purpose, among others, of conserving and providently utilizing motor vehicles and vital equipment, materials, and supplies (General Order ODT 17, as amended, 7 F.R. 5678, 7694, 9623; 8 F.R. 8278, 8377, 10910), I. Altschuler, doing business as Bool's Flowerdale, W. C. Lockwood, doing business as Lockwood Gardens—Florists, R. H. Lounsbery, doing business as Lounsbery Flowers, and Harold A. Pratt, doing business as Pratt's Flower Shop, have filed with the Office of Defense Transportation for approval a joint action plan relating to the transportation and delivery by motor vehicle of flowers and related articles in Ithaca, New York.

The four participants, comprising all of the florists of Ithaca and its immediate environs, plan to eliminate wasteful operations in the transportation and delivery of flowers and related articles by pooling the use of their trucks. Each of the participants will make one delivery of his own merchandise in each week, and in connection therewith will deliver merchandise for the other three participants: Provided, That the delivering participant will not make any deliveries forbidden or prohibited by any general or other order of the Office of Defense Transportation applicable to the transportation performed by the participants. In order that the delivering participant will be partly compensated in proportion to the number of packages being delivered, the other three participants will pay for such deliveries at the rate of 10¢ per package. Only those packages having a minimum retail value of $1.50 and which comply with the size and weight requirements of General Permit ODT 17–25 will be offered for delivery. No additional retail truck-deliveries or call backs will be made; the trucks of each of the four participants will be used for retail delivery only on one day in each week. The participants waive the privilege provided in General Permit ODT 17–25 of making a second delivery to hospitals during any one week. It is estimated that effectuation of the plan will result in a savings of approximately 1,700 truck miles per month. Joint selling activities are not contemplated.

It appearing that the proposed joint action plan is in conformity with General Order ODT 17, as amended, and that the effectuation thereof will accomplish substantial conservation and efficient utilization of motor trucks and vital materials and supplies, the attainment of which purposes is essential to the successful prosecution of the war, I have approved the plan and recommend that the Chairman of the War Production Board find and certify under section 12 of Public Law No. 603, 77th Congress (56 Stat. 357), that the doing of any act or thing, or the omission to do any act or thing, by any person in compliance with said joint action plan, is requisite to the prosecution of the war.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 14th day of August 1943.

Director,
Office of Defense Transportation.

(a) What this order does. This order establishes maximum prices which Peoria distributors may pay to producers for graded milk. Paragraph (b) of the order provides a basic maximum price which may be paid to any producer by any Peoria distributor. Paragraph (c) provides a premium price which may be paid only to certain producers. Paragraph (d) sets forth the producers to whom the premium price may be paid. To these prices may be added 5¢ for each one-tenth of a pound of butterfat in excess of 3.5%; and from these prices must be deducted a minimum of 5¢ for each one-tenth of a pound of butterfat below 3.5%.

NOTICE OF HEARING

Proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, and the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Cincinnati, Ohio, marketing area.

Pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 1940 ed. 601 et seq.), and in accordance with the applicable rules of practice and procedure (7 CFR, 1941 Supp., 900.1-900.17; 7 F.R. 3350; 8 F.R. 2815), notice is hereby given of a hearing to be held at the Netherland-Plaza Hotel, Cincinnati, Ohio, beginning at 10 a. m., e. w. t., August 25, 1943, with respect to proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, and the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Cincinnati, Ohio, marketing area. These amendments have not received the approval of the War Food Administrator.

This public hearing is for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to the economic or marketing conditions which relate to the amendments or any modification thereof, which are hereinafter set forth. The amendments which have been proposed are set forth below:

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED BY THE COOPERATIVE PURE MILK ASSOCIATION AND THE CINCINNATI SALES ASSOCIATION

1. Delete § 965.7 (a) (1) and (2) and substitute therefor the following:

(1) Class I milk, $4.35.

(2) Class II milk, $3.50: Provided, That in no event shall the Class II price be less than twenty-five cents ($.25) higher than the Class III price as provided in (a) (3) of this section.

2. Add as § 965.10 (c) the following:

(c) Cooperative payments. Any cooperative association of producers may apply to the Secretary for a determination of its qualifications to receive payments pursuant to this paragraph by reason of its having and exercising full authority in the sale of the milk of its members; arranging for and supplying, in a manner commensurate with the marketing capacity of the several types of cooperative associations designated in this paragraph, in times of short supply, Class I milk to the marketing area; securing utilization of milk, in times of long supply, in a manner to assure the greatest possible returns to all producers; having its entire activities under the control of its members; and complying with all provisions of this order applicable to it.

After the Secretary has determined any cooperative to be qualified to receive payments pursuant to this paragraph, such cooperative shall, from time to time, as requested by the market administrator, make reports to the market administrator with respect to services rendered to the market and the use of the sums received under this paragraph. Whenever the market administrator has reason to believe that any cooperative qualified by the Secretary is failing to perform the obligations covered by the payments under this paragraph, he shall suspend and hold in reserve such payments, notifying the Secretary and the cooperative of his action and the reasons therefor. Such suspended payments shall be held in reserve until the Secretary has, after hearing, disqualified such cooperative or ruled upon the performance of the cooperative and either ordered the suspended payments to be paid to the cooperative in whole or in part or disqualified the cooperative, in which event the balance of payments held in reserve shall be returned to the producer-settlement fund.

The market administrator shall make the payments authorized by this paragraph, or issue credit therefor, out of the producer-settlement fund on or before the 25th day of each month, subject to verification of the reports upon which such payment is based. Such payments shall be made to each cooperative association of producers under the following conditions and at the following rates:

1. One half of one cent per hundredweight of milk received from producers at any handler's plant which was caused to be delivered from its members by such association and on which such handler has made the reports and payments required by this order;

2. Three cents per hundredweight of milk received from producers at plants operated by such association and, if, in addition to the other qualifications, such association has been determined by the Secretary to have sufficient plant capacity to receive all the milk of producers who are members and to be willing and able to receive milk from producers not members, three cents per hundredweight of milk received from producers which was caused by it to be delivered to any other complying handler and which is reported and collected for by such association.

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED BY THE CINCINNATI SALES ASSOCIATION

1. Delete "(b), (c) and" from § 965.7 (a).

2. Delete § 965.7 (b) Price of Class I Milk Disposed of Outside the Marketing Area.

3. Delete § 965.7 (c) Price of Class I Milk Disposed of for Relief Distribution.

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED BY THE COOPERATIVE PURE MILK ASSOCIATION

1. Delete § 965.8 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) Computation of uniform price. For each delivery period, the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight of milk received by handlers from producers, as follows:

(1) Add together the values of milk as computed in § 965.7 (e) for handlers who made the payments to the producer-settlement fund as required by § 965.9 (b);

(2) Subtract the amounts computed pursuant to § 965.10 (a) (2);

(3) Subtract, if the weighted average butterfat test of all milk received from producers by handlers whose milk is represented in the sum computed under (1) of this paragraph, is greater than 3.5 percent, or add, if the weighted average butterfat test of such milk is less than 3.5 percent, an amount computed as follows: multiply the hundredweight of such milk by the variance of its weighted average butterfat test from 3.5 percent, and multiply the resulting amount by 50 cents if the average price of butter sold at wholesale in the Chicago market during the delivery period, as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture, was more than 40 cents; or by 40 cents if such average price of butter was more than 30 cents but not more than 40 cents; or by 30 cents if such average price of butter was 30 cents or less;

(4) Add the cash balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(5) Divide by the total hundredweight of milk of producers represented in the sum computed pursuant to (1) of this paragraph; and

(6) Subtract from the figure obtained in (5) of this paragraph not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents per hundredweight for the purpose of retaining a cash balance to provide against errors in reports and in payments by handlers. The result shall be known as the uniform price per hundredweight for such delivery period for milk of producers which contains 3.5 percent of butterfat.

2. Delete § 965.10 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) Calculation of payments for each producer. For each delivery period, the market administrator shall calculate the payment due each producer from whom milk was received during such delivery period by a handler who paid into the producer-settlement fund in accordance with § 965.9 as follows:

(1) Multiply the hundredweight of milk received from each producer by the uniform price computed in accordance with § 965.8 (a): Provided, That if the milk of such producer was of a weighted average butterfat content other than 3.5 percent, there shall be added or subtracted for each one-tenth of 1 percent variance above or below 3.5 percent, 5 cents if the average price of butter described in § 965.8 (a) (3) was more than 40 cents; 4 cents if such average price of butter was more than 30 cents but not more than 40 cents; or 3 cents if such average price of butter was 30 cents or less.

(2) Subtract in each case, the amount of the payment made pursuant to § 965.9 (a), and the charges and the deductions, if any, which are made pursuant to § 965.9 (b).

4. Amend the Class I, Class II, and Class III prices to the extent necessary to prevent the diversion of Cincinnati milk supplies to other fluid milk markets or to manufacturing milk plants.

5. Following the words "United States Department of Agriculture" in § 965.7 and § 965.8 add: "or such other agency as hereafter may be authorized to perform this price-reporting function."

6. Delete the word "Secretary" and substitute therefor "War Food Administrator" wherever the former appears in any section.
